

R E P O R T R E S U M E S

ED 012 811

48

AA 000 171

INTRODUCTION TO BENGALI, PART I.

BY- DIMOCK, EDWARD, JR. AND OTHERS

CHICAGO UNIV., ILL., SOUTH ASIA LANG. AND AREA CTR

REPORT NUMBER NDEA-VI-153

PUB DATE

64

EDRS PRICE MF-$1.50 HC-$16.04 401P.

DESCRIPTORS- *BENGALI, GRAMMAR, PHONOLOGY, *LANGUAGE INSTRUCTION, PHONOTAPE RECORDINGS, *PATTERN DRILLS (LANGUAGE), *LANGUAGE AIDS, *SPEECH INSTRUCTION,

THE MATERIALS FOR A BASIC COURSE IN SPOKEN BENGALI PRESENTED IN THIS BOOK WERE PREPARED BY REVISION OF AN EARLIER WORK DATED 1959. THE REVISION WAS BASED ON EXPERIENCE GAINED FROM 2 YEARS OF CLASSROOM WORK WITH THE INITIAL COURSE MATERIALS AND ON ADVICE AND COMMENTS RECEIVED FROM THOSE TO WHOM THE FIRST DRAFT WAS SENT FOR CRITICISM. THE AUTHORS OF THIS COURSE ACKNOWLEDGE THE BENEFITS THIS REVISION HAS GAINED FROM ANOTHER COURSE, "SPOKEN BENGALI," ALSO WRITTEN IN 1959, BY FERGUSON AND SATTERWAITE, BUT THEY POINT OUT THAT THE EMPHASIS OF THE OTHER COURSE IS DIFFERENT FROM THAT OF THE "INTRODUCTION TO BENGALI." FOR THIS COURSE, CONVERSATION AND DRILLS ARE ORIENTED MORE TOWARD CULTURAL CONCEPTS THAN TOWARD PRACTICAL SITUATIONS. THIS APPROACH AIMS AT A COMPROMISE BETWEEN PURELY STRUCTURAL AND PURELY CULTURAL ORIENTATION. TAPE RECORDINGS HAVE BEEN PREPARED OF THE MATERIALS IN THIS BOOK WITH THE EXCEPTION OF THE EXPLANATORY SECTIONS AND TRANSLATION DRILLS. THIS BOOK HAS BEEN PLANNED TO BE USED IN CONJUNCTION WITH THOSE RECORDINGS. EARLY LESSONS PLACE MUCH STRESS ON INTONATION WHICH MUST BE HEARD TO BE UNDERSTOOD. PATTERN DRILLS OF ENGLISH TO BENGALI ARE GIVEN IN THE TEXT, BUT BENGALI TO ENGLISH DRILLS WERE LEFT TO THE CLASSROOM INSTRUCTOR TO PREPARE. SUCH DRILLS WERE INCLUDED, HOWEVER, ON THE TAPES. (AL)

153

by Edward C. Dimock, Jr., Somdev Bhattacharji, and Suhas Chatterjee

A basic course in spoken Bengali, with emphasis upon speaking and understanding the language.

Asian Language Series

East-West Center Press — Honolulu

$5.00

INTRODUCTION TO BENGALI PART I

Introduction to Bengali, Part I

By

EDWARD DIMOCK

SOMDEV BHATTACHARJI

SUHAS CHATTERJEE

Published for

the South Asia Language and Area Center, University of Chicago

by EAST-WEST CENTER PRESS Honolulu

This volume is one in a series of experimental language textbooks in South Asian Languages written and prepared in the the South Asia Language and Area Center at the University of Chicago under contract, with the Office of Education, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Washington, D.C. The East-West Center Press distributes these volumes for the South Asia Language and Area Center.

© Copyright by the East-West Center Press

University of Hawaii

Library of Congress Catalog Card Number: 65-27254

Printed in the United States of America

PREFACE

The following materials for a basic course in spoken Bengali represent a revision of the work first produced by Edward Dimock and Somdev Bhattacharji and dated September, 1959. This revision has been made by Edward Dimock, Somdev Bhattacharji, and Suhas Chatterjee, on the basis of their experience with two years classroom work with the materials, and with the helpful advice and comments of those to whom the first draft was sent for criticism.

Since the first draft of these materials was finished in 1959, the first several units of Spoken Bengali by Ferguson and Satterthwaite, as well as materials for other modern South Asian languages, have become available. While we have profited by these, our materials differ somewhat in emphasis from them. As has often been pointed out, a language with the richness and breadth of Bengali warrants two, or even several, treatments in teaching materials. Our conversations and drills are oriented less toward practical situations than toward cultural concepts, facts of Bengali life and history, and selected grammatical points; to these considerations we have occasionally sacrificed the illusion of reality. This does not mean that we neglect the structure of the language and do not attempt to train people to speak. On the contrary, the heavy emphasis of our basic course is upon speaking and understanding the language. But in our approach we have aimed at a compromise between purely structural and purely cultural orientation. Student aims, as well as teachers' interests and methods, differ.

All except the explanatory materials and translation drills have been taped. The use of this book, in fact, assumes the use of these tapes. Much stress is laid, for example, on intonation, in the early lessons. This obviously cannot be understood properly unless it is heard. The work also assumes a certain amount of effort on the part of the instructor. For example, pattern drills, English to Bengali, are given in the text; Bengali to English drills of the same type are not

(although such drills are included on the tapes). The preparation of additional types of drills we have left, in this version at least, to the instructor.

We are grateful to Mr. Richard B. Martin of the language laboratory, University of Chicago, for his assistance in the preparation of the taped drills, to our students, for their patience while these materials were being developed and for their criticism, to Mrs. Arati John, to Muzaffar Ahmed and Roushan Jahan of the University of Chicago South Asian Languages Program, for their help with the preparation of the tapes, to Professor Punya Sloka Ray of the University of Chicago for his direct help, advice, and constant encouragement, and to various scholars who have given us their advice and criticism on previous versions of this work. Our thanks also go to the Ford Foundation and the United States Office of Education, to whom the second draft of this work was submitted in December, 1961, in fulfillment of contract. However, it goes without saying that neither of these agencies is in any way responsible for the materials in these pages or for the manner of their preparation.

Edward C. Dimock, Jr.
Somdev Bhattacharji
Suhas Chatterjee

The University of Chicago
May, 1964

CONTENTS

	Page
Introduction	ix
Part I. Phonology	1
Lesson I	55
Lesson II	71
Lesson III	89
Review I	105
Lesson IV	111
Lesson V	130
Lesson VI	144
Review II	160
Lesson VII	169
Lesson VIII	185
Lesson IX	198
Lesson X	213
Lesson XI	228
Lesson XII	240
Lesson XIII	256
Lesson XIV	266

	Page
Lesson XV	279
Lesson XVI	290
Lesson XVII	303
Lesson XVIII	313
Lesson XIX	329
Lesson XX	342
Lesson XXI	353
Lesson XXII	367

INTRODUCTION

I. THE LANGUAGE

The Bengali language is spoken by upwards of seventy millions of people in the eastern part of the Indian sub-continent; it is a recognized language in both the Republic of India and the Republic of Pakistan.

Bengali is an Indo-European language, and therefore of the same linguistic lineage as English and the other European languages, though of a different branch of the family. The branch of the family to which Bengali belongs is called Indo-Iranian; its sub-branch is called Indic. In the Indic family among the modern languages (of which the direct ancestor is a form of Sanskrit) are Bengali, Hindi, Marathi, Gujarati, Sindhi, Assamese, Oria, Punjabi, Nepali, Sinhalese, and Kashmiri. These languages are closely related to one another, as are, for example, Italian and Spanish of the European Romance branch of the Indo-European family. There are three other major language families in the sub-continent, the Dravidian (including Tamil, Telugu, Malayalam, and Kannada), the Tibeto-Burman languages of the north-east, and the Austric or Munda family (tribal languages of central and eastern India).

The immediate origins of the Bengali language are somewhat obscure.<sup>1</sup> The chances are that it derives directly from an Eastern variety of an Indic language closely related to Sanskrit, perhaps a "dialectical" variety of that language. In any case, in the stages of Indic language development known as Prakrit and Apabhramsa, it seems clear that in the eastern areas of the Indian sub-continent -- those areas now occupied by the states of Bengal, Assam, Orissa, the eastern parts of Bihar, and the Pakistani province of East Bengal -- divergent forms of language were developing. The earliest work in Bengali which has been so far discovered is that of the so-called carya-padas, late Buddhist religious verses.<sup>2</sup> Some scholars date these songs as early as the 8th century, though the 10th century would perhaps be more accurate. Interestingly, these songs have been claimed by the Assamese to be in Old Assamese, by speakers of Oriya to be Old Oriya, by speakers of Hindi to be Maithali, and by Bengalis to be Old Bengali.

---

1. For an extensive study of its history, see S.K. Chatterji, Origin and Development of the Bengali Language, Calcutta University, 2 vols., 1926.

Bengali has a very long and a very rich literary tradition. The high points of Bengali literary accomplishment have been in the periods of the 14th through the 17th centuries, when a great Vaiṣṇava religious literature including lyrics, biographies, and theological treatises was written, and the 19th and 20th centuries, when Bengali literature underwent a renaissance in contact with Western literary forms. This is the period in connection with which such names as Rabindranath Tagore and Bankim-chandra Chatterji are heard.

That Bengali literature has had these peaks does not mean that between them things were stagnant. On the contrary, in other periods much literature of interest and often of outstanding quality was being produced: for example, the Caṇḍī-maṅgal of Mukundarām and the Vidyā-sundar of Bhāratcandra. The Muslim rulers of Bengal, who held sway from the beginning of the 13th century until their defeat by the British in 1757, were in large part ardent patrons of Bengali literature. Under their patronage both Hindu and Muslim writers flourished.<sup>3</sup>

2. TYPE OF LANGUAGE

The language which you are about to begin learning is called "standard colloquial" Bengali. This is the form of the language which is spoken by a very large number of people throughout both West Bengal and East Pakistan today, though it includes elements peculiar to West Bengali speech, and originally was probably the language spoken in and around the city of Calcutta. This does not mean that it is the only form of the spoken language which exists. Dialectical varieties of Bengali occur, and the dialects of, say, Burdwan district in West Bengal, and Chittagong

---

2. The caryā-padas were discovered in a manuscript in Nepal by M.M. Haraprasad Shastri. They have been published several times in Bengali, and some of them translated into English (Sukumar Sen, Old Bengali Texts in Indian Linguistics, Calcutta, 1948), and into French (M. Shahidullah, Les chants mystiques, Adrien-Maisonneuve, Paris, 1928).

3. For full discussions, see Sukumar Sen, History of Bengali Literature, Sahitya Akademi, New Delhi, 1960; D.C. Sen, History of Bengali Language and Literature, Calcutta University, 1954; J.C. Ghosh, Bengali Literature, Oxford University, 1949.

in East Pakistan differ so widely as to be practically unintelligible to one another. And, the form of the language spoken in one of the major dialect areas of East Pakistan, in and around the city of Dacca, differs from that presented here not only in lexicon, but also to a considerable extent in phonology and morphology. But the "standard colloquial", or calit-bhasa, will be spoken and understood by educated people at both extremes.

3. THE MATERIALS

a. Aims

The title of this book is An Introduction to Bengali. We will not neglect the written language; part of our purpose is to teach you to read Bengali well, and An Introduction to Bengali, Part II, deals with this. But it has seemed to us sound practice to introduce you to the spoken language first. Before we begin to teach you the written language we want you to be able to carry on simple but reasonably fluent conversation in Bengali. Thus Part II of this Introduction, the reader, is designed to follow about five lesson units behind Part I. Our reasons for putting the spoken language first are three. First, it is assumed that you will be using the spoken language sometime in the future, that you will at some time be in Bengal. Secondly, the Bengali writing system is quite as deviant from the pronunciation of the language as is the English one; to learn to spell Bengali words in Bengali script is not the most elementary, and therefore not the first, task. Finally, and perhaps most important, we feel that reading the language will come easier to you if its sentence patterns have become familiar through speech. In other words, when you learn to read you will be able to think of a Bengali sentence or clause as a unit, and not be forced to read "word by word", trying to fit each word into the sentence pattern consciously and slowly. The importance of this will be seen when it is realized that Bengali is a "leftward-branching" language in its clause and sentence structure; the verb comes at the end of the clause or sentence. If you first learn to think of the verb as coming in that position, your eye will go there automatically; good habits are more easily established through speech. Further, Bengali is not a highly inflected language, in which there are many case-endings and other factors to make the relationships of words to each other obvious; on the contrary, Bengali, like English, is a language in which great subtlety is possible through syntactic variation. You would be more puzzled by this if you attempted to go directly to the written language than you will be by mastering the patterns of the spoken Bengali first.

b. Arrangement of materials.

The arrangement of each unit or lesson within the book is as follows:

1. Conversation. "Build-up", translation, and Bengali.
2. Grammatical points which occur in the conversation materials, and syntax diagrams.
3. Pattern Drills.
4. Translation drills: English to Bengali.
5. Vocabulary.

For the first several lessons, the system of taped drills will be outlined in the written text of the lesson as section 2.

The student is expected to deal with this material as follows:

1. Conversation.

The conversations and other drills are recorded on tape. Before each class, the student should spend time listening to the taped drills of the lesson, memorizing the sentences and mutations, and preparing himself to be able to reproduce them flawlessly in class. "Flawlessly" means not only in good grammatical form, but with good pronunciation and intonation as well. In the class, the instructor will move around the room, asking each student to reproduce the sentence, first in English, then in Bengali. As one student repeats, other students should repeat the sentence under their breaths. If a mistake is made, both instructor and student should repeat the sentence in full, with corrections. The sentences can then be used as conversations, with the instructor as A and the student as B, or with two students taking two parts, or with some other arrangement. The conversation is the base of the whole lesson. It is necessary, therefore, that the sentences in it should be perfected before going on.

2. Grammatical section.

This section is designed to give variants and to highlight formal types of structure which occur within the basic conversation. The grammatical section is not designed to stand alone, but to extend what has already been memorized. Knowing what is in this section will not enable you to speak the language. But occasionally verbal or other paradigms occur within this section; it will not hurt to memorize these. It is important that you know what is in this section -- read it with care, and drill on it where necessary. For the first several lessons also, there are charts of sentence structure included in the grammar section. Go through these charts carefully, forming possible Bengali sentences. The instructor may also use these charts as a basis for constructing Bengali sentences for comprehension drill. In such a comprehension drill, the instructor should speak the Bengali sentence; after him, the student will repeat the sentence and translate it into English.

2.1. Taped drills.

In addition to saturation, repetition, and response drills on the sentences of the basic conversation (which will be described in the text in Lesson 1), there will be on the tapes of each of the first ten lessons a series of "mutation drills". These will be rapid-fire sentences based on the grammar section and designed to fix in your minds the major grammatical concepts of the lesson.

3. Pattern drills.

These drills are based upon the sentence patterns which occur within the conversation, with variation first in vocabulary, and later with more elaborate variations. The purpose of these is to fix a sentence pattern in the student's mind, so that he can reproduce the pattern automatically, with his concentration only upon the substituted form or forms. This type of drill is good also for vocabulary. The instructor will move around the class, drilling each student on the pattern. It is to be noted that these pattern drills are designed only as a base; it is expected that the instructor will add variations of his own. It is to be noted also that the pattern drills are vertically constructed, so as to constitute a connected conversational sequence: i.e., 1a, 2a, 3a, etc.; 1b, 2b, 3b, etc. Although the patterns are given only in English in the text, on the tapes they are arranged as follows:

Bengali
Space for repetition
Bengali
Space for repetition

The student will follow the English with his eye, while listening to and repeating the Bengali.

4. Translation drills.

These also are based on the conversation, though they are more deviant than are the pattern drills. It is expected that the student will write these translations out, at first in transliteration and, after it has been learned, in the Bengali script. The vocabulary in the last section of each lesson is designed to go with both the pattern drills and with these translation exercises.

5. Vocabulary cards.

Flash cards, with a single item and its meaning on each card, should be made and kept up to date. These cards should be made out in transliteration and, after it is learned, in Bengali script.

6. It is to be noted that there are other types of drills which can be profitably used -- for example, completion drills, in which a correct but incomplete Bengali sentence is given, to be completed by the student with the appropriate item or items. It is also expected that unprepared conversations will be used, in which the instructor supplies a stimulus in the form of a physical object, or in the form of statements and questions to the students. Students will answer in Bengali, and, when corrected, repeat the complete Bengali sentence.

c. The method.

1. The materials presented here assume that one of the instructing staff will be a native-speaking Bengali. The following points should be remembered about this method of instruction, which may be new to some. First, as will be pointed out again, mimicking the speech of the Bengali speaker is not insulting or impolite in the learning situation. On the contrary, it is flattering to him that you want to learn his language correctly. Try to imitate his speech as closely as possible. It is his native language, and he knows how it should be spoken. Secondly, the speech of one Bengali speaker might differ slightly from that of another, just as an American from Boston will speak differently from one from Texas. But as both Bostonians and Texans speak good American English, so you will speak good Bengali if you imitate the speech of your instructor.

It is always a temptation for American students to trust their analytic ability more than their reflexes, and thus to want to think through each response carefully before making it. This method usually leads to the correct response, but at the expense of speed. The system presented here is based on a somewhat different concept. While in no sense do we discount the value and even the necessity of analysis on the part of the student in language learning (minds trained to reason will automatically seek to categorize and classify phenomena, grammatical and otherwise), we have arranged the material on the theory that by constant repetition and corrected drill on forms and patterns, a correct response becomes a reflex. It will thus be necessary for the student to unlearn certain habits, to learn to trust his reflexes. He will usually, to his surprise, find that his responses are right, even though he might not fully understand why. And do not worry about making mistakes; this also is part of the learning process, and you will have a chance to correct yourself.

2. It is wise to remember that you are about to begin learning a language which is perhaps different in grammatical and other concepts from those European languages with which you are used to dealing. Every language has its unique qualities. Do not try to impose the traditional grammatical concepts which you might have learned in Latin, for instance, on Bengali. In some cases it might work, but in others it might only serve to cloud the issue.

3. Learning a language is work. There are possibilities of easing the strain, and we have tried to help with this as much as possible; but there is a point beyond which nothing but your own effort will suffice. You will need to memorize vocabulary and patterns, you will need to work to perfect your pronunciation; there is no way around this in learning any foreign language by any method.

4. Finally, relax. When they reach the point at which they can read and speak the language with some competence, most people feel amply rewarded for their effort. In reaching that point, however, there might be some periods during which you feel that little progress is being made. All that we can say is that you can be taught the language if you are willing to learn. Do not be discouraged if things do not seem to go at first as fast as you had hoped they would. And do not be discouraged if you cannot read and speak the language like a Bengali at the end of two years, to say nothing of two months, of study. Whatever might be the advantages of modern language teaching methodology, it still falls short of the miraculous. To gain complete fluency in any language one must hear, speak, and read it constantly, and these are requirements which obviously cannot be met in the average American university situation. We can and will give you a good grounding in the language, and with practice you will soon reach the point where you will be able to read and speak: it will only take your cooperation.

AN INTRODUCTION TO BENGALI
PART I. PHONOLOGY

1. The following is a diagram with which you should become familiar. Examine the diagram and locate the parts of your mouth indicated with the help of your tongue and of a mirror. The proper reproduction of Bengali sounds is going to force your articulatory organs into positions which will be unfamiliar to you, unless you already happen to know some other Indo-Aryan language. The more aware you are of the location of the articulatory organs and points of articulation, the more control you will have over them, and the easier it will be for you to learn to put your tongue and other organs in proper position for the reproduction of a particular sound.

- (A -- nasal passage)
- B -- upper lip
- C -- upper teeth
- D -- alveolar ridge
- E -- palate
- F -- velum
- G -- tongue blade
- H -- tongue tip
- I -- lower teeth
- J -- lower lip

Diagram A.

2. At first, the reproduction of certain Bengali sounds may seem a bit awkward to you. It is important to remember that all people are given the same set of articulatory organs, and that almost any individual can learn to reproduce the sounds of any spoken language. The vocal muscles of some individuals, however, may be more fully developed than those of others, just as a particular individual may have a more fully developed and more controllable set of biceps or any other muscles. Therefore some may find that they can learn to reproduce unfamiliar sounds easily and rapidly; others may find that they have a little trouble at first. It is vital for those who do seem to have a little trouble at first to realize that learning to pronounce Bengali sounds well is a matter of establishing a new set of articulatory habits; these will come with time, effort, and practice. You will be able to pronounce the language well if you want to do so enough to work at it.

The student should be ready to mimic the speakers whom he hears. Every inflection, every lip movement, every tongue movement, every gesture -- oral and non-oral -- should be repeated by the student with as much fidelity as he can attain. He may "feel queer" in attempting to mimic but he should remember that he has a choice: (1) he may choose to appear queer to himself but less queer to the native because of the accurate reproduction of the sounds, or (2) he may choose to appear natural to himself but seem to the native speakers of the language to be very queer and "foreign" because of his carry-over of English sounds to the other language. In adult society within a single language group it is likely to appear highly discourteous for one person to mimic another, but when different languages are involved the speakers of the one are highly pleased when a foreigner attempts to speak their language flawlessly. The mimicry of foreign speakers with scrupulous attention to detail is socially commendable rather than rude. The student should take every opportunity, therefore, of trying to mimic native speakers, taking care to reproduce their sounds as accurately as possible.<sup>1</sup>

3. Symbols.

Since the roman alphabet does not allow for the representation of certain of the sounds which occur in Bengali, modifications of it have been made in the romanized transcription in which this part of An Introduction to Bengali has been partially written. We have tried to use as few unfamiliar symbols as possible, but a few are unavoidable. These will quickly become familiar to you. Those which may be unfamiliar are the following:

1. /ṭ/ (subscript dot). There is only one English sound represented by the symbol ṭ. In Bengali there are two, "dental" and "retroflex". The retroflex sound is represented therefore by a letter with a sub-script dot. The dot will occur with the letter symbols ṭ, ṭh, ḍh, and ṛ.

---

1. Kenneth L. Pike, Phonemics, A Technique for Reducing Languages to Writing, Ann Arbor: University of Michigan Press, 1947. p. 12.

2. /ŋ/. The sound is that represented in English orthography by the letter-sequence ng: the final sound in the word "ring" ([rɪŋ]). The sound is a single one, and therefore is represented by a single symbol in phonemic writing; this also saves orthographic confusion when there is a phone sequence [ŋg], as there sometimes is in Bengali.
3. /θ/. This symbol does not represent the sound which it represents in the English words "thin" or "then", but symbolizes an aspirated dental stop. For a discussion of aspiration, see below, section 4.1.4.
4. /ʃ/ is one of the common phonetic symbols for the sound represented by the English letter-sequence sh. The English word "shin", therefore, would be represented in our transcription as [ʃɪn].
5. /æ/ is the symbol for the vowel sound in the English word "cat" ([kæt]).
6. /ɔ/ is the symbol for the vowel which some American dialects have in the word "law" ([lɔ]) or "saw" ([sɔ]); those in whose dialects this sound does not occur will have to learn it as a new sound. See below, section 5.3.2.3.
7. In connected sequences of words, you will also find the signs ' and ". These are intonational signs, ' marking a pause within a sentence, and " the termination of a sentence.

3.1. Since Bengali orthography is quite as deviant from pronunciation as is English orthography, we will not introduce the Bengali script until a fair grasp of pronunciation, vocabulary, and word and sentence patterning has been gained. It is advisable, however, for the student to learn to work in Bengali script as quickly as possible after it has been introduced. Leaning too heavily on the transcription can be dangerous in learning the written language.

4. The Bengali sounds.

4.1. Consonants.

The following is a list of the significant Bengali consonant sounds. The list follows the Bengali alphabetical order: the way in which the consonants are arranged in a Bengali dictionary (consonants as a block follow the vowels as a block). Therefore it will save you trouble in the future if you learn them this way. The consonants are:

[kɔ, khɔ, gɔ, ghɔ, ɔŋ, cɔ, chɔ, jɔ, jhɔ, ʈɔ, ʈhɔ, ɖɔ, ɖhɔ, t, th, d, dh, nɔ, pɔ, phɔ, bɔ, bhɔ, mɔ, rɔ, lɔ, ʃɔ, (sɔ), ɦɔ]

4.1.1. A chart of Bengali phonemes (refer to Diagram A) is as follows:

		Labial		Dental		Palatal		Retroflex		Velar		Glottal
		Unaspirated	Aspirated	Unaspirated	Aspirated	Unaspirated	Aspirated	Unaspirated	Aspirated	Unaspirated	Aspirated
Stops	Voiceless	p	ph	t	th	c	ch	ʈ	ʈh	k	kh
	Voiced	b	bh	d	dh	j	jh	ɖ	ɖh	g	gh
Nasals		m		n						ŋ
Laterals				l
Flaps				r				ɽ
Spirants				s		ʃ						h

4.1.2. A chart of the Bengali sounds, in the traditional Indian arrangement, is as follows:

	Stops				Other
	Voiceless		Voiced			Voiceless
	Unaspirated	Aspirated	Unaspirated	Aspirated	Nasals	Flaps	Laterals	Spirants
Velar	k৩	kh৩	g৩	gh৩	৩ŋ
Palatal	c৩	ch৩	j৩	jh৩				ś৩
Retroflex	ʈ৩	ʈh৩	ɖ৩	ɖh৩
Dental	t৩	th৩	d৩	dh৩	ne	r৩	l৩	s৩
Labial	p৩	ph৩	b৩	bh৩	m৩
Glottal								h৩

4.1.3. Many of these consonant sounds will be completely familiar to speakers of American English. The familiar sounds are:

kh	as in American English "kit"	[khit]
g	as in American English "get"	[get]
ŋ	as in American English "ring"	[riŋ]
ch	as in American English "chat"	[chæt]
j	as in American English "jam"	[jæm]
ph	as in American English "pan"	[phæn]
b	as in American English "ban"	[bæn]
m	as in American English "man"	[mæn]
l	as in American English "lamb"	[læm]
ś	as in American English "shin"	[śin]
s	as in American English "sin"	[sin]
h	as in American English "ham"	[hæm]

It will be noticed that in some cases the normal English orthography is adequate for the transcription of Bengali. English has no distinction between aspirated (e.g., kh) and unaspirated (e.g., k) stops. Though the English word is spelled "kit", the sound is actually [khit]. There will be a discussion of aspiration in section 4.1.4., below.

4.1.4. Unfamiliar sounds.

The sounds which will be unfamiliar to most speakers of American English include:

4.1.4.1. The voiceless unaspirated stops. These are [k, c, t̪, t, p]. (For a discussion of [t̪, t], see below, section 4.1.4.3.)

The term "unaspirated" means that there is no forcible discharge of breath after the stop has been made and released. The term "stop" means that there is a complete stoppage of breath at some point in the mouth made by a closure of articulator against one of the points of articulation (e.g., the tongue stopping the breath by closing against the alveolar ridge makes an "alveolar stop"); as the breath is stopped completely, a "stop can be held as long as the breath can be held. The term "voiceless" means that the vocal cords are kept loose, and that there is therefore no sonorous vibration as there is in "voiced" sounds. The distinction is that between pairs, identical except for voicing: [k] (voiceless) and [g] (voiced); [p] (voiceless) and [b] (voiced); [c] (voiceless) and [g] (voiced). Say the pairs aloud and notice the difference between them.

Aspiration: Most English voiceless stops are aspirated, though they are aspirated with less force than are Bengali stops. Aspiration is easy to demonstrate. Take a piece of tissue paper or a lighted match or candle and hold it before your mouth. Then pronounce the following English words:

kit	cat	chat
pit	pat	tat

The tissue paper or the flame will move with the release of the initial stop in each of these words. The breath which moves the paper or flame is the normal English aspiration of an initial voiceless stop of a monosyllabic word or a stressed syllable.

Most English voiced stops are unaspirated. Taking the paper or the flame, pronounce the following English words:

gat	bat	dot
bit	jot	got

The paper or the flame will not move with the pronunciation of these words. It is clear, then, that normal American English has both aspirated and unaspirated sounds. However, aspiration in English is connected for the most part with voiceless stops, and non-aspiration with voiced stops. The two series are incomplete. Bengali, on the other hand, has complete series of aspirated and unaspirated stops both voiceless and voiced.

Pronunciation of voiceless unaspirated stops: English does have voiceless unaspirated stops in certain easily defined types of situations. These sounds therefore will not be entirely unfamiliar. Take the tissue paper or flame, and pronounce the following sets of English words:

p it	s p it
k it	s k it
c at	s c at
t op	s t op

In the pronunciation of the words in the first column, the paper or the flame should move. In the pronunciation of the words in the second column, it should not. Voiceless unaspirated stops in English occur when following s, and when final in a word. There is a third situation in which voiceless unaspirated stops occur. Pronounce the following English words:

c óncert	c oncérted
c óntrast (noun)	c ontrást (verb)
c ónvert (noun)	c onvért (verb)

In the pronunciation of the words in the first column, the paper or flame will move on the underlined syllable. In the pronunciation of those in the second column, it will move less or not at all. This is due to the stress pattern of English. Voiceless stops are unaspirated or nearly unaspirated in unstressed syllables.

There will be drills on the pronunciation of voiceless unaspirated stops below, in section 4.3.

4.1.4.2. Voiced aspirated stops.

To repeat, the term "voiced" means that in the pronunciation of the sound the so-called "vocal cords" are tightened; as the breath passes through them they vibrate, setting up a resonance, much like that from the plucked tight string of an instrument. The Bengali voiced unaspirated stops, (e.g., g, j, ḍ, d, b) are approximately the same as in English. The series of voiced aspirated stops, however, (e.g., gh, jh, dh, bh) will be less familiar. The closest one can come in English to approximating a voiced aspirated stop is in such sequences as:

doghouse
cardhouse

In English, however, there is a syllabic break between the ḍ or g and the following h, which is not present in the pronunciation of the Bengali sound. Polish and finesse in pronouncing voiced aspirated stops are important in speaking the language clearly and well.

4.1.4.3. Dental and retroflex stops.

American English has a set of stops represented by the letters t (voiceless) and d (voiced). Bengali has two sets of stops of this type: dental and retroflex. Dental stops are those represented symbolically in the charts and lists above as [t, th, d, and dh]. Retroflex stops are those represented by [t̪, t̪h, d̪, and d̪h]. A great deal of care should be taken in learning to hear and to reproduce these two types of sound. As will be seen, a mistake in pronunciation will make a difference in what you say. The distinction between dentals and retroflexes seems to give some American students trouble at first. There is no reason why it should long continue to do so -- proper pronunciation is a matter of practice. Care should be taken from the very beginning to make the contrasts clear. Otherwise, sloppy pronunciation habits will result.

4.1.4.3.1. Dental stops.

Diagram B.

The English sounds represented by the letters t and d are usually alveolar sounds -- i.e., sounds made by the contact of the tip of the tongue (A) with the area of the alveolar ridge (B). Pronounce the English words

tip	dip	tank
top	dim	dank

Notice the area of the alveolar ridge with which the tip of your tongue comes into contact.

The Bengali sounds represented by the symbols [t̪, t̪h, d̪, and d̪h] are dental sounds. They are made by contact of the tip of the tongue (A) with the back of the upper teeth near the gums (B).

Diagram C.

Practice making dental stops with the tongue in the proper position. Drill on dental stops will be in sections 4.4.4.ff., below.

4.1.4.3.2. Retroflex stops.

These stops are made with the tongue curled back (retroflexed) toward the mid-palate. Contact for the stop is made between the tip of the tongue (A) and the area just behind the alveolar ridge (B).

Diagram D.

It is interesting and perhaps instructive to note that the ordinary English alveolar stop often sounds to a speaker of Bengali like a retroflex stop. When writing English loan words in Bengali, the symbol for the retroflexed stop is most often used. This is because the alveolar area is closer to the retroflex region of the palate than to the dental area. More care, then, will have to be taken with the dental stops than with the retroflexed ones.

4.1.4.3. Nasals.

As is the case with stops, the ordinary American English nasal represented by n is usually an alveolar or pre-alveolar sound. The Bengali nasal represented by ṇ is usually, however, a dental sound; it is articulated with the tongue in about the same position as it is for the dental stops.

4.1.4.4. Flaps.

The flap is a type of sound familiar to speakers of British English, but not to most Americans. If you can say the word "very" as a Britisher would say it, you will be making a flap r (represented as [r]). A flap is a sound similar in manner of articulation to a stop, the essential difference between the two types of sounds being the duration of contact between the articulator and point of articulation. A stop by definition obstructs the breath completely, and can be held as long as the breath can be held. A flap, on the other hand, merely taps once the point of articulation with the tip of the tongue.

There are two types of flaps in Bengali. The first is a dental flap, made by contact of the tip of the tongue (A) with the post-dental or pre-alveolar region (B):

Diagram E.

The second is the retroflex flap, made by contact of the tip of the tongue (A) with the post-alveolar region (B):

Diagram F.

Neither of these sounds is difficult to make, but many American students have a tendency to use their own r, which is not a flap and quite a different sound from either of the Bengali sounds in question. A good deal of practice might be necessary with these sounds; drills are given in section 4.4.3.2., below.

4.2. Consonant drills.

For the time being, the meanings of the words given below are not important. You will read and hear the meanings of the words, and will remember some of them. But our first purpose is not to learn these words; it is to get their pronunciation correctly.

4.2.1. /kh/ (voiceless aspirated velar stop). Note that in word-final position, the aspiration tends to be lost. (With some Bengali speakers, the aspiration tends to be lost when the stop occurs in any position but syllable-initial.) Using the tape, drill on the pronunciation of the following Bengali words:

English	Bengali
Initial position:
envelope	kham
very	khub

canal	khal
empty	khali
ditch	khana
food	khavar
I eat	khai

Medial position:

mix	makha
branch (subdivision)	śakha

Final position:

lakh (unit of 100,000)	lakh (lak - free variant in this position <sub>1</sub> )
happiness	śukh (suk - f.v.)

Utterances:

I eat food	ami'kharar khai"
This piece (of cloth) is very bad	ekhara'khub kharap"

4.2.2. /g/ (voiced unaspirated velar stop).

EnglishBengali

Initial position:

song	gan
cheek	gal
body	ga
tree	gach (gac - f.v.)
round	gol

Medial position:

(to) strike	laga
within reach	nagale
fire	agun
garden	bagan

Final position:

snake (learned word); surname	nag
type of red powder	phag

---

1. Hereafter the abbreviation f.v. will be used.

Utterances:

I sing a song	ami'gan gai"
My cheek is red	amar gal'lal"

4.2.3. /ŋ/ (velar nasal). The phone /ŋ/ does not occur in initial position in Bengali.

Medial position:

violence (injury, harm)	hiŋśa plough	laŋol
world, family	śoŋśar (śoŋśar - f.v.)
Bengali (person)	baŋali
Bengali (language)	baŋla

Final position:

clown	śoŋ
-------	-----

4.2.3.1. The velar nasal /ŋ/ frequently occurs medially in cluster with /g/ and /k/, thus:

with (accompanying)	śoŋge
Ganges River	goŋga arithmetic sum	oŋko

Utterances:

(speak	bol-)
I speak Bengali	ami'baŋla boli"
I eat meat	ami'maŋśo khai"
He dresses like a clown	śe'śoŋ śaje"

4.2.4. /ch/ (voiceless aspirated palatal stop).

Initial position:

ashes	chai
skin, hide	chal
goat	chagol
(to) print, stamp	chapa
son, boy	chele

Medial position:

bed, bedding	bichana (common variant: bisna)
--------------	------------------------------------

year	bochor
child (affectionate)	bacha
I am	achi
false	miche
it is	ache

Final position:

tree	gach (gac - f.v.)
fish	mach (mac - f.v.)

Utterances:

The fire becomes ashes	agun'chai hœ"
The boy is bad	chele'kharap"
The boy sings a song	chele'gan gae"
(sit	boś-)
He sits in the tree	śe'gache bośe"

4.2.5. /j/ (voiced unaspirated palatal stop, the point of articulation which is slightly more toward the front of the mouth than is the English sound represented by j).

Initial position:

water	jol
net, snare (noun)	jal
(to) know	jana
(to) wake up	jaga
ship	jahaj
who (relative pronoun)	je that which	ja
I kindle	jalai
shirt	jama

Medial position:

(to) dress, decorate	śaja
(to) sound, ring	baja
I scour	maji

Final position:

easy	śohoj
work	kaj

Utterances:

Work is easy	kaj'śchoj"
He goes on a ship	śe'jahaje jae"
There is a fish in the water	jole'jal ache"
The net is in the water	jole'jal ache"
There is a fish in the net	jale'mach ache"

4.2.6. /ph/ (bilabial voiceless aspirated stop). In lax or rapid speech /ph/ tends to become a sound very much like the one represented in English by the letter f; some speakers of Bengali have a sound which is bi-labial spirant, made by an expulsion of breath through a narrow aperture in the lips. Note the tendency toward the loss of aspiration in the final position.

Initial position:

flower	phul
fruit	phol
whispering	phis phis
(to) return	phera
chip, slice	phala
(to) drop	phæla
kind of red powder	phag

Medial position:

(to) jump	laphano
fruitless	biphol

Final position:

pardon (noun)	maph (map - f.v.)
---------------	-------------------

Utterances:

(The) boy jumps	chele'laphae"
Flowers are in the garden	phul'bagane ache"
Fruit is on the tree	gache phol"

4.2.7. /b/ (bilabial voiced unaspirated stop).

Initial position:

flood	ban
sister	bon

(to) sit	bôśa
(to) speak, say	bôla
Bengali (language)	baṅla
(to) sound, ring	baja

Medial position:

father (affectionate)	baba
food	khavar
stupid, foolish	haba

Final position:

very	khub
all	śôb

Utterances:

He speaks Bengali	śe'baṅla bole"
Father eats	baba khan"
He sits with my sister	śe'amar boner śonge bôśe"
(play	khæl -)
All the boys play in the garden	śôb chele'bagane khæle"

4.2.8. /m/ (bilabial nasal).

Initial position:

mother	ma
maternal uncle	mama garland	mala
meat	maṅśo
fair	mæla
name of a month	magh (mag - f.v.)

Medial position:

(to) descend	nama
coat, jacket	jama
long, tall	lamba
I	ami

Final position:

name	nam
envelope	kham

mango

am

Utterances:

I am a Bengali.	ami baṅali"
My sister eats mangoes.	amar bon'am khac"
My name is Lal.	amar nam'lal"
My mother is tall.	amar ma'lamba"
My uncle sits with me.	amar mama'amar śonge baśen"

4.2.9. /l/ (dental lateral).

Initial position:

red	lal
(to) jump	laphano
long, tall	lamba
(to) hit, strike	laga
unit of 100,00	lakh (lak - f.v.)
(to) write	lekha

Medial position:

(to) play	khæla
(to) drop	phæla
empty	khali
gardener	mali
(to) speak, say	bola

Final position:

water	jol
cheek	gal
flower	phul
goat	chagol

Utterances:

My gardener is very tall.	amar mali'khub lamba"
My sister plays in the garden.	amar bon'bagane khæle"
He throws flowers in the water.	śe'phul jole phæle"
All the traps are empty.	śob jal'khali"

4.2.10. /ś/ (palatal sibilant). Although very like the English sound, the Bengali /ś/ is made with the tip of the tongue drawn further back from the front of the mouth than is normal in English.

Initial position:

shawl	śal
(to) dress	śaja
easy	śohoj
there	śekhane
he, she, it	śe
week	śoptaho

Medial position:

(to) come	aśa
(to) sit	bośa
dwelling-place, nest	baśa

Final position:

month	maś
end	śeś

Utterances:

All the boys sit in the garden.	śob chele'bagane bośe"
Next month will be the wedding.	agami maśe'bie hobe"
He comes there.	śe'śekhane aśe"

4.2.10.1. The sound represented in English by the letter s, the initial sound in the words "sill" and "sand", also occurs in Bengali, though in certain particular types of circumstances. In Bengali this sound, the dental sibilant, occurs only together with the dental consonants /t, th, n, and r/. It never occurs by itself initially or between vowels, nor does it occur finally together with other consonants except in loan words from English. Note the following pronunciations:

wife	stri (learned)
bath	snan (coll. /can/) place	sthan (learned) road	rasta
slowly	aste

head, skull

mostok (learned)

4.2.11. /h/ (glottal spirant).

Initial position:

crawling (noun)

hama violence, malice

hinśa periodic market

hat

hand

hat

/h/ occurs only rarely in medial position, and that primarily in words reborrowed by Bengali from Sanskrit. In most cases in spoken Bengali a medial h has been elided. The phone never occurs in final position, except in heavily Sanskritized Bengali and in monosyllabic interjections.

Utterances:

Mother goes to the market. ma'hate jan"

There are flowers in my hand. amar hate'phul ache"

The street becomes empty. rasta'khali hae"

4.3. Consonant drills: voiceless unaspirates.

4.3.1. /k/ (voiceless unaspirated velar stop).

Before undertaking the following drills on voiceless unaspirated stops, reread section 4.1.4., and with the help of a piece of tissue or flame, practice the aspirated and unaspirated sounds (represented by the symbols k and kh), until you are able to pronounce k with little or no aspiration.

AspiratedUnaspirated

kha

ka

khi

ki

khu

ku

khæ

kæ

khe

ke

kho

ko

Now pronounce the following Bengali words:

Initial position:

what	ki
who	ke
time	kal
desire	kamona
ear	kan
near	kache
paternal uncle	kaka
crow	kak (kag - f.v.)
paper	kagoj
black	kalo
why	kæno

Medial position:

remainder, balance	baki
type of plant	makal morning	śokāl
all	śokol
(to) scold	bōka

Final position:

let it go	jak
vegetable	śak (śag - f.v.)

Utterances:

Who is he?	śe ke"
In the morning he goes to the garden.	śe śokale'hagane jae"
I wake up in the morning.	ami'śokale jagi"
The crow is black.	kak kalo"
Kali is black	kali kalo"
She buys vegetables at the market	śe haṭe'śak kene"

4.3.1.1. The following are contrasts between /kh/ and /k/. You will see that in all cases the aspiration is all that makes the difference between two separate meanings. It will be clear that in order to understand Bengali and to be understood in it, you will have to learn to make very clear distinctions between aspirated and unaspirated stops.

Aspirated		Unaspirated
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
canal, creek	khal	time	kal
sheath	khap	cup	kap
empty	khali	ink; name of goddess	kali
he (honor.) eats	khan	ear	kan ditch	khana	blind of one eye	kana
very good	khaśa	(to) cough	kaśa scalp; I/we open	khuli	porter	kuli

Utterances:

Crows eat mangoes.	kag'am kahe"
Kali is very black.	kali'khub kalo"
The vegetables are very bad .	śak'khub kharap"

4.3.1.2. Sometimes the distinction between Bengali k and g is difficult for a speaker of English to hear. Listen to and then pronounce the following sets of contrasts:

Voiceless		Voiced
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
ear	kan	song	gan
time	kal	cheek	gal
name of goddess	kali	abuse (noun)	gali
crow	kak	let him sing	gak
nose	nak	snake, surname	nag

4.3.2. /c/ (voiceless unaspirated palatal).

Practice the following two sets of sounds until you are able to pronounce c with little or no aspiration:

Aspirated	Unaspirated
cho	cɔ
cha	ca
chi	ci
chu	cu
chæ	cæ

che cho ce

co

Now pronounce the following Bengali words:

Initial position:

tea	ca
I want	cai
he wants	cae
skin, leather	camra
wheel	caka
custom, habit, fashion	cal
(to) move, go	cola

Medial position:

(to) dance	naca
(to) wash (as clothes)	kaca
below, under	nice platform	maca
speech	bacon

Final position:

dance (noun)	nac
sound of crunching	kackac
creaking sound (as of shoes)	maccac

Utterances:

I want tea.	ami'ca cai"
My sister dances.	amar bon'nace"

4.3.2.1. The following are contrasts between /c/ and /ch/. Again, you will see that distinction of aspiration is vital to the meaning.

Aspirated		Unaspirated
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
ashes	chai	I want	cai
skin, hide	chal	fashion; rice	cal
big sack	chala	(to) drive, goad	cala
young of an animal	cha	tea	ca

knife	churi	robbery	curi
(to) print	chapa	(to) press	capa thick rope	kachi	I wash	kaci

Utterances:

I want tea.	ami'ca cai"
I want ashes.	ami'chai cai"
He sits under the tree.	śe'gacher nice bōśe

4.3.2.2. Sometimes the distinction between c and j is difficult for a speaker of English to hear. Listen to and then pronounce the following sets of contrasts:

Voiceless		Voiced
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
let him ask	cak	let it go	jak
tea	ca	go!	ja
fashion	cal	trap, net	jal
he wants	cae	he goes	jae
he (hon.) wants	can	he (hon.) goes	jan
below	nice	one's own, one's self	nije

4.3.3. /t̪/ and /t̪h/ (retroflex voiceless stops, unaspirated, aspirated). Before beginning to pronounce the following series of stops, practice putting your tongue in the proper position (see section 4.1.4.3.2.); then pronounce the following aspirated set. When the articulatory position seems comfortable to you, try the unaspirated set, checking yourself with the paper or the flame, as before.

Aspirated	Unaspirated
t̪hə	t̪ə
t̪ha	t̪a t̪hi	t̪i t̪hu	t̪u t̪hæ	t̪æ
t̪he	t̪e
t̪ho	t̪o

Now pronounce the following Bengali words:

English	Bengali
Initial position:
thick	ṭhaś
exactly	ṭhik
tap, knock	ṭhuk
deity; cook	ṭhakur
sacred place	ṭhan
Medial position:
gum, glue	aṭha
measure of land	kaṭha
stick, club	laṭhi
difficult	koṭhin
(to) rise up	oṭha
Final position:
wood, fuel	kaṭh (kaṭ - f.v.)
field, meadow	maṭh (maṭ - f.v.)
Utterances:
I don't exactly know.	ami'ṭhik jani na"
Mother goes to the field.	ma'maṭhe jan"
He has a club.	or'laṭhi ache"

Pronounce the following Bengali words with unaspirated retroflex stops:

English	Bengali
Initial position:
commentary (on a book)	ṭika
spindle, reel	ṭaku
tile	ṭali
(to) draw, pull	ṭana
money	ṭaka
hat	ṭupi
aim	ṭik, ṭip
Medial position:
(to) cut, divide	kaṭa

(to) pound to pulp	baṭa cup	baṭi
small	choṭo
(to) lick, lap	caṭa

Final position:

matted hair	jōṭ
sound of footsteps	gōṭ gōṭ
periodic market	haṭ

Utterances:

He cuts wood.	śe'kaṭh kaṭe"
He draws water.	śe'jōl ṭane"
Lila has money.	lilar'ṭaka ache"
The mali is a simple man.	maliṭa'śorol lok"

4.3.3.1. The following are contrasts between /ṭ/ and /ṭh/; practice them well. The distinctions are vital.

Aspirated		Unaspirated
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
deity; cook	ṭhakur	of the spindle	ṭakur measure of land	kaṭha	(to) cut	kaṭa
you (fam.) send	paṭha	plank	paṭa
exactly	ṭhik	aim	ṭik, ṭip
(to) hammer	ṭhoka	a knock; to copy	ṭoka be cheated	ṭhoke	becomes sour	ṭoke
on the back; cake	piṭhe	having hammered	piṭe

Utterances:

I want money.	ami'ṭaka cai"
I want a cook.	ami'ṭhakur cai"
There is a tree in the field.	maṭhe'gach ache"
He comes, making a gōṭ gōṭ sound.	śe'gōṭ gōṭ kore aśe"
Foreigners are cheated.	bideśira ṭhoke"

4.3.3.2. Sometimes the distinction between ṭ and ḍ is difficult for a speaker of English to hear. Listen to and then pronounce the following sets of contrasts:

Voiceless		Voiced
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
money, rupee	ṭaka	call (verb)	ḍaka
baldness	ṭak	call, mail (nouns)	ḍak
draw (verb)	ṭana	wing	ḍana
balance	ṭal	lentils, branch	ḍal

4.3.4. /t/ and /th/ (dental voiceless stops, aspirated and unaspirated). For this set also, first find with your tongue the dental position, and practice finding that position with your tongue until it feels natural and comfortable to you (see ante, section 4.1.4.3.1.). Then pronounce the following series:

Aspirated	Unaspirated
th <sub>h</sub>	t <sub>h</sub>
th <sub>a</sub>	t <sub>a</sub>
th <sub>i</sub>	t <sub>i</sub>
th <sub>u</sub>	t <sub>u</sub>
th <sub>æ</sub>	t <sub>æ</sub>
th <sub>e</sub>	t <sub>e</sub>
th <sub>o</sub>	t <sub>o</sub>

Now pronounce the following Bengali words with aspirated stops:

English	Bengali
Initial position:
(to) remain, stay	thaka
station, police station	thana
flat metal dish	thala
kind of borderless cloth	than bag, sack	tholi
(to) stop	thama
Medial position:
head	matha
pain	batha

word, story	kotha
Final position:
way, road	poth (pot - f.v.)
chariot	roth (rot - f.v.)
Utterances:
I stay here.	ami'ekhane thaki"
I stop here.	ami'ekhane thami"
I have pain.	amar'bætha ache"

Pronounce the following Bengali words with unaspirated dental stops:

Initial position:

foundation, base, area	tola shelf	tak
heat, warmth	tap
musical measure	tal
tune	tan
oil	tel
(to) stare	taka

Medial position:

how much, how many	koto
leaf, page	pata

Final position:

hand	hat
seven	śat

4.3.4.1. The following are contrasts between /t/ and /th/:

Aspirated		Unaspirated
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
(to) remain	thaka	(to) stare	taka piece of cloth	than	tune	tan
let it remain	thak	shelf	tak
head	matha	to be enthusi- astic	mata ocean	pathar (learned)	of the page	patar

flat metal dish	thala	lock, padlock	tala
bag	thole	picks up	tole

Utterances:

I remain on the road.	ami'pothe thaki"
I stop in the road.	ami'pothe thami"
I talk with him.	ami'tar songe'kotha boli"
How many words are on the page?	patae'koto kotha ache"

4.3.4.2. Sometimes the distinction between t and d is difficult for a speaker of English to hear. Listen to and then pronounce the following set of contrasts:

Voiceless		Voiced
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
tune	tan	right, gift	dan bottom	tol	group	dol
his, her	tar	door	dar
opinion	mot	liquor	mod

4.3.4.3. Contrasts between dentals and retroflexes are as significant as those between aspirates and unaspirates. Note and pronounce the following contrasting pairs:

Aspirates
Dental		Retroflex
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
police station	thana	cold	ṭhanda
stop	tham	posture	ṭham (poetic)
(to) remain	thaka	deity; cook	ṭhakur

Utterances:

It is cold there.	śekhane ṭhanda"
There is a police station there.	śekhane'thana ache"
My head is cold.	amar matha'ṭhanda"

Unaspirates

Dental		Retroflex
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
you (inf.) stare	taka	money	ṭaka
tune	tan	you (inf.) draw	ṭan
musical measure	tal	balance	ṭal
clapping of hands	tali	tile	ṭali
hand	hat	periodic market	haṭ

Utterances:

There is money in his hand. tar hate'ṭaka ache"

There is money in his market. tar haṭe'ṭaka ache"

4.3.5. /p/ (voiceless unaspirated bilabial stop).

Practice the following sets (the aspirated set will give you no trouble, as /ph/ is pronounced just as p is pronounced before a vowel in English), until you can pronounce /p/ with little or no aspiration:

Aspirated

pho
pha phi phu phæ phe
pho

Unaspirated

pə pa pi pu pæ pe
po

Now pronounce the following Bengali words:

EnglishBengali

Initial position:

leaf, page betel heap (village drama) ripe sail; a surname wing, fan

pata pan pala paka pal pakha

Medial position:

term of affectionate address	bapu
(to) print, (stamp)	chapa
(to) measure	mapa
(to) mutter a prayer	jopa

Final position:

snake, curse	śap
silence	cup

Utterances:

The snake bites the boy.	śapṭa'cheleke kaṭe "
I eat betel.	ami'pan khai"
He measures the field.	śe'maṭh mape"

4.3.5.1. The following are contrasting pairs of words illustrating bilabial voiceless stops:

Aspirated		Unaspirated
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
chip, (slice)	phala	heap	pala
flower	phul	bridge	pul
(to) crack	phaṭa	plank	paṭa

4.3.5.2. Sometimes the distinction between p and b is difficult for a speaker of English to hear. Listen to and then pronounce the following sets of contrasts:

Voiceless		Voiced
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
heap, (village drama)	pala	bangle	bala
betel leaf	pan	flood	ban
sin	pap	father (coll.) <sup>1</sup>	bap
term of affectionate address	bapu	a Bengali Hindu gentleman	babu

4.4. Consonant drills: voiced aspirates.

1. The usage of the term is restricted; it is never a form of address.

4.4.1. /gh/ (voiced aspirated velar stop).

The voiced aspirate series is one which will not be familiar to most speakers of American English. Before attempting the pronunciation of the Bengali words, try the following series of exercises, first the unaspirated, which will be familiar to you, and then the aspirated voiced stops. Practice the aspirated series until you can imitate the tape well.

Unaspirated

go ga gi gu gæ ge go

Aspirated

gho
gha ghi ghu ghæ ghe
gho

Now pronounce the following Bengali words:

EnglishBengali

Initial position:

water pot	ghoṭ
landing or bathing place	ghaṭ sweat	gham
grass	ghaś
clarified butter	ghi
oil-mill	ghani

Medial position:

blow	aghat
fierce (tiger-like)	bagha
lightness	laghob

Final position:

tiger	bagh (bag - f.v.)
name of a month	magh (mag - f.v.)

Utterances:

I go to the ghat.	ami'ghaṭe jai"
I cut the grass.	ami'ghaś kaṭi"
I fetch the ghi.	ami'ghi ani"

Is that a tiger?

oṭa ki'bagh"

4.4.1.1. The following are contrasts between /g/ and /gh/:

Unaspirated		Aspirated
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
you (fam.) manage	baga	tiger-like	bagha
(to) strike	laga	lightness	laghob round	gol	buttermilk	ghol.
fair colored	gora	(to) roam	ghora
body	ga	sore	gha
within grasp	bage	by the tiger	baghe

4.4.2. /jh/ (voiced aspirated palatal affricate).

Before attempting the pronunciation of Bengali words, try the following series of exercises, first the unaspirated, then the aspirated. Practice the aspirated series until you can imitate the sound well.

Unaspirated	Aspirated
jo	jho
ja	jha
ji	jhi
ju	jhu
jæ	jhæ
je	jhe
jo	jho

Now pronounce the following Bengali words:

English	Bengali
Initial position:
pungent (hot, as food)	jhal
sharp, clever	jhanu
plunge (jump)	jhup
maid-servant	jhi
Medial position:
among	majhe
(to) understand	bojha

Final position:

the middle

majh (maj - f.v.)

Utterances:

The food is hot.

khobarṭa jhal"

The boy is clever.

cheleṭa jhanu"

He sits among the flowers.

śe'phulgulor majhe bōśe"

I understand what you say.

tumi ja bōlo'ta ami bujhi"

4.4.2.1. The following are contrasts between /j/ and /jh/:

Unaspirated		Aspirated
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
he scours	maje	among	majhe
(to) be shut	boja	(to) understand	bojha respectful suffix	ji	maid-servant	jhi
net	jal	pugent, hot	jhal
shirt	jama	blackened brick	jhama
weave	jola	bag	jhola
I scour	maji	boatman	majhi

4.4.3. /ḍ/ and ḍh/ (retroflexed voiced stops, unaspirated and aspirated). Again, there are two problems for speakers of American English with the voiced retroflexed stops: first, the position in which the stop is made, and, secondly, the aspiration. Refer to sections 4.1.4.2. and 4.1.4.3.2. First practice placing the tongue in the proper position for retroflexed sounds, until that position seems natural and comfortable. Then try the following series, first the unaspirated stops, which will be natural to you, then the aspirated.

Unaspirated	Aspirated
ḍa	ḍha
ḍa	ḍha
ḍi	ḍhi
ḍu	ḍhu
ḍæ	ḍhæ
ḍe	ḍhe
ḍo	ḍho

Now pronounce the following set of Bengali words with unaspirated stops:

English	Bengali
Initial position:
(to) call	ḍaka
dry land	ḍaṇa
branch, lentil	ḍal
small boat	ḍiṇi
egg	ḍim
(to) sink	ḍoba
stick, staff	ḍaṇḍa
very, very much	bḍḍo

The voiced retroflex stop occurs in medial position in a word only as a doubled ("long" or "geminate") consonant or in some other consonant clusters -- see section 4.5.; the sound does not occur finally except in loan-words from English. An example of such a loan word is:

road	roḍ
------	-----

Utterances:

I sink in the water.	ami'jole ḍubi"
There is a staff in his hand.	tar hate'ḍaṇḍa"
The bird sits on the branch.	pakhiṭa'ḍale bḍḍe"
The egg is very small.	ḍimṭa'khub choṭo

Now pronounce the following Bengali words with voiced aspirated stops:

English	Bengali
(to) hide, conceal	ḍhaka shield	ḍhal
(to) pour out	ḍhala
mound	ḍhipi
loose, slack	ḍhil
a kind of drum	ḍhol

The voiced retroflex aspirated stop never occurs medially between vowels or finally.

Utterances:

I hide the book .	ami'boiṭa ḍhaki"
The drum sounds .	ḍholṭa baje"
He pours out the water .	śe'jɔl ḍhale"

4.4.3.1. The following are contrasts between /ḍ/ and /ḍh/:

Unaspirated		Aspirated
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
(to) call	ḍaka	(to) conceal	ḍhaka
in the egg	ḍime	slow	ḍhime branch	ḍal	shield	ḍhal

Utterances:

I call the boy .	ami'cheleṭake ḍaki"
I hide the boy .	ami'cheleṭake ḍhaki"

There is also in Bengali a retroflex flap /ɽ/ (see also section 4.4.5.1.). This sound occurs only medially and finally in Bengali words -- in places, in other words, where the stop /ḍ/ does not occur except in loans. Place your tongue in the proper position, practice making flaps, and then try the following series:

aɽo
 aɽa aɽi aɽu aɽæ aɽe
 aɽo

Now pronounce the following Bengali words:

English	Bengali
Medial position:
big	boɽo
house	baɽi
(to) fly	oɽa

(to) read, study	poṛa
(to) step over, thresh	maṛa section of a town	paṛa
reply	śaṛa
fence	bæṛa

Final position:

bone	haṛ
feeling, sensation	śaṛ

Utterances:

I read the book.	ami'boiṭa poṛi"
The boy is very big.	cheleṭa'khub boṛo"
The bird flies.	pakhiṭa oṛe"
My house is there.	amar baṛi'śekhane"

For contrasts between the retroflex and dental flaps, see section 4.4.5.1.

4.4.4. /d/ and /dh/ (voiced dental stops, unaspirated and aspirated). Again, there are two problems with these sounds: tongue position and aspiration. Refer to sections 4.1.4.2. and 4.1.4.3. Place your tongue, as before, in the proper position for dentals, and then pronounce the following series:

Unaspirated	Aspirated
dɔ	dhɔ
da	dha
di	dhi
du	dhu
dæ	dhæ
de	dhe
do	dho

Now pronounce the following set of Bengali words:

English	Bengali
Initial position:
price	dam
gift	dan
stain (blemish)	dag

day	din
chin, beard	darī
Medial position:
elder brother	dada
white	śada
river	nodi
first, original	adi
Final position:
omission	bad
taste	śad
Utterances:
Elder brother goes home.	dada'barite jan"
Giving is good.	dan kora'bhalo"
His beard is very long.	tar darī'khub lamba"

4.4.4.1. Now pronounce the following set of Bengali words with aspirated dental stops:

English	Bengali
Initial position:
abode	dham (learned)
unhusked rice (paddy)	dhan wealth	dhon
stream (current)	dhara dust	dhulo
smoke	dhum (learned)
(an exclamation)	dhik (learned) debt	dhar
Medial position:
ass; stupid person	gadha
honey (necter)	modhu
(to) entreat	śadha
straight (direct)	śidhe
Final position:
desire (wish)	śadh (śad - f.v.)

unobstructed

ɔbadh (ɔbad - f.v.)

Utterances:

I have many desires.

amar'onek śadh ache"

4.4.4.1. The following are contrasts between /d/ and /dh/:

Unaspirated		Aspirated
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
price	dam	abode	dham (learned)
gift	dan	unhusked rice (paddy)	dhan direction	dik	(an exclamation)	dhik (learned) afterwards	bade	is obstructed	badhe
heap	gada	ass	gadha
white	śada	(to) entreat	śadha

4.4.4.2. The following are contrasts between dental and retroflexed voiced stops.

4.4.4.2.1. Contrasts between /ɖ/ and /d/ (retroflex and dental voiced unaspirated stops):

Retroflex		Dental
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
dry land	ɖana	riot	danga
egg	ɖim	day	din
bucket	ɖol	swinging	dol

4.4.4.2.2. Contrasts between /ɖh/ and /dh/ (retroflex and dental voiced aspirate stops):

Retroflex		Dental
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
sound of swallow- ing a liquid	ɖhək ɖhək	palpitation	dhək dhək
you (ord.) doze	ɖhuɭo	dirt	dhulo
hollow sounding	ɖhəp ɖhəpe	dazzlingly white	dhəp dhəpe

4.4.5. There is in Bengali a dental (pre-alveolar) flap /r/, which occurs in all positions; try making the flap sound, using the following set:

ro
ra ri ru ræ re
ro

Now pronounce the following Bengali words:

English	Bengali
Initial position:
(to) keep, (place)	rakha
color	ron
(to) grow angry	raga
king	raja
night	rat
weak, thin, (ill)	roga
daily	roj
Medial position:
(to) wear	pora
whole, (entire)	śara
(to) strike, (kill)	mara
(to) do, make	kara

The flap /r/ sound is a little different in final position than in initial or inter-vocalic positions. In final position /r/ becomes somewhat voiceless. Pay special attention to the following examples:

Final position:

necklace; defeat	har
of the gift	daner
of me	amar
of you (ord.)	tomar
of you (hon.)	apnar
of him (ord.)	tar

Utterances:

I do work.	ami'kaj kori"
I put it on the table.	ami oṭa'tebile rakhi"
I go to the store every day.	ami roj'dokane jai"
Its color is white.	or roṅ'sada"
He has work.	tar'kaj ache"

4.4.5.1. The following are contrasts between /ɽ/ and /r/:

Retroflex		Dental
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
(to) read	pɔɽa	(to) wear	pɔra
(to) step over; thresh	maɽa	(to) strike	mara reply	śara	whole	śara
bone	haɽ	necklace	har
(to) fly	oɽa	they (yonder)	ora
reprimand; rebuke	tara	they (the same)	tara

4.4.6. /bh/ (voiced aspirated bilabial stop).

Before attempting the pronunciation of Bengali words, try the following series of exercises. Practice the aspirated series until you can imitate the sound well.

Unaspirated	Aspirated bɔ	bhɔ
ba	bha
bi	bhi
bu	bhu
bæ	bhæ
be	bhe
bo	bho

Now pronounce the following Bengali words:

English	Bengali
Initial position:
cooked rice	bhat
steam	bhap

pretence	bhan
(to) think	bhaba
(to) float	bhaśa
wet	bhije
(to) fry	bhaja
(to) forget	bhola

Medial position:

deep	gobhir
navel	nabhi
splendor	probha (learned)
meeting, assembly	śobha

Final position:

gain, result	labh (lab - f.v.)
--------------	-------------------

Note that in lax or rapid speech /bh/ tends to become a sound very like that one represented in English by y; some Bengali speakers have a sound which is made by expulsion of breath through a narrow aperture in the lips. Note the usual tendency toward loss of aspiration in final position.

4.4.6.1. The following are contrasts between /b/ and /bh/:

Unaspirated		Aspirated
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
father	bap	steam	bhap
arrow	ban (learned)	pretence	bhan thunder	baj	you (fam.) fry	bhaj nest; rented house	baśa	language	bhaśa
in the seed	bije	wet	bhije
time	bæla	raft	bhæla
sound	bol	you (fam.) forget	bhəl

4.4.7. /n/ (pre-alveolar nasal).

The American English sound represented by the letter n is, like the English stops t and d, an alveolar sound. The Bengali /n/, however, is pronounced with the tongue farther forward on the alveolar ridge. Put your tongue in the proper position, and pronounce the following Bengali words:

English	Bengali
Initial position:
dance	nac
nose	nak
many, various	nana
name	nam
(to) descend	nama
ruin	naś (learned word)
Medial position:
(to) draw, pull	ṭana
police station	thana
oil-mill	ghani
Final position:
gift	dan
ear	kan
betel leaf	pan

4.5. Geminate (doubled) consonants.

There is in Bengali a phenomenon of geminate or doubled consonants, which is unfamiliar to speakers of English. Any consonant which can be held for a period of time can be doubled -- in terms of Bengali, this means any consonant except for the flaps which are by definition sounds made by a single tap of the tongue. Doubling is made by holding the consonant sound for twice the ordinary amount of time it would take to pronounce that consonant. Examples:

4.5.1. /kk/

Single		Doubled
English	Bengali	English	Bengali
kind of bird (learned)	cɔkor	round	cɔkkor

4.5.2. /gg/

English	Bengali	English	Bengali
you (ord.) go away	bhago	luck	bhaggo

4.5.3. /cc/

choose	baça	little boy	baça (coll.)
--------	------	------------	--------------

4.5.4. /jj/

straight	soja	bed	sojja
amusement	maja	marrow	majja
worship	pujo	respectable	pujjo

4.5.5. /t̪t̪/

I lick	caṭi	a few, some	caṭṭi (khani) (coll.)
whole wheat flour	aṭa	eight	aṭṭa

4.5.6. /tt/

leaf, page	pata	whereabouts	patta
------------	------	-------------	-------

4.5.7. /dd/

beginning, initial	adi	kind of cloth	addi (coll.)
pertaining to wine	modo	wine (learned)	moddo

4.5.8. /nn/

weed which grows in water	pana	emerald	panna
blind in one eye	kana	weeping	kanna
(to) agree, obey	mana	surname	manna
(to) weave	bona	flood	bonna

4.5.9. /śś/

I bring up	puśi	adopted	puśśi (coll.)
in the poison	biśe	in the world	biśśe (learned) guilty	dośi	rascal	dośśi (coll.)

4.5.10. /ll/

garland	mala	boatman	malla
you (ord.) twist	malo	an expert in Kusti , -- a type of wrestling	mollo (learned) cotton	tulo	like	tullo (learned) radish

mulo

price

mullo (learned)

5. Vowels.

5.1. The significant Bengali vowel sounds (arranged according to the Bengali alphabetical order) are:

/ɔ, a, i, u, æ, e, o/

5.2. A chart of these vowels is as follows:

	Front	Central	Back
High	i		u
Mid	e		o
Lower-mid	æ		ɔ
Low		a

5.3. All of these sounds will be somewhat familiar to speakers of American English, with the possible exception of /ɔ/. Familiarity with the vowel /ɔ/ will depend upon the speaker's dialect.

5.3.1. Sounds which will be almost identical with some common American English vowel sounds are:

/æ/	as in some dialects of American English	"can"	[khæn]
/a/	as in some dialects of American English	"calm"	[kham]
/ɔ/	as in some dialects of American English	"law"	[lɔ]

Those in whose dialects these sounds do not occur will have to learn them by careful imitation of the Bengali.

5.3.2. Examples of these three vowels in Bengali are:

5.3.2.1. /æ/

English	Bengali
Initial position:
one	æk
now	ækhon
alone	æka
such	æmon
Medial position:
(to) play	khæla
(to) throw	phæla
as if	jæno
how	kæmon
why	kæno
time	bæla
fair (noun)	mæla

/æ/ never occurs in final position in standard Bengali.

5.3.2.2. /a/

Initial position:
(to) come	aśa
again	abar
light	alo
sky	akaś
you (honorific)	apni
and; also	ar
(to) fetch	ana
Medial position:
food	khavar
red	lal
shawl	śal
time	kal
ear	kan
bad	kharap
Final position:
(to) do	kora
(to) read	pora

(to) play

khæla

5.3.2.3. /ɔ/

Initial position:

silly

ɔga (coll.)

otherwise, (or) ɔthoba (learned) eternal ɔnonto powerless

ɔśokto

Medial position:

all śɔb possible

śɔmbhob

ten dɔś

juice, (sweetness)

rɔś fever

jɔr

room, (house)

ghɔr

(to) do

kɔra

Final position: The vowel /ɔ/ rarely occurs finally in standard colloquial Bengali. It is more frequent in some dialects, such as that of Dacca. There are, however, a few examples:

you (fam.) become

hɔ

you (fam.) bear

bɔ

5.4. Sounds which will be recognizable (though not identical to those in American English) are the following: /i, e, o, u/.

5.4.1. In American English, the front vowel sounds /i/ and /e/ are usually pronounced with what is known as an "off-glide". This means that while the vowel sound is being made, the tongue moves upward from its original position, thus varying the quality of the sound. In the following set of English words, listen for the off-glide.

key

[khiy]

hay

[hiy]

bee

[biy]

lee

[liy] sea

[siy]

gee

[jiy] fee

[fiy]

Now pronounce them yourself, feeling the way in which your tongue moves. Again, in the following set of English words, listen for the off-glides, and then pronounce them yourself:

kay	[khey]	hay	[hey]
bay	[bey]	lay	[ley]
say	[sey]	jay	[jey]
fey	[fey]

5.4.2. In American English, the so-called "back-rounded" vowels (/o/ and /u/) also have off-glides. These are characterized by upward movement of the tongue and by additional lip rounding. In the following sets of English words, listen for the off-glide:

bow	[bow]	hoe	[how]
sow	[sow]	low	[low]
foe	[fow]	joe	[jow]
coo	[khuw]	who	[huw]
foo	[few]	loo	[luw]
sue	[suw]	jew	[juw]
boo	[buw]

Now pronounce them yourself and feel the way in which your tongue and lips move.

5.4.3. The Bengali vowels /i, e, o, u/ are "pure" vowels -- that is, they are pronounced without an off-glide. The difference between American English and Bengali vowels is easy to hear, but less easy to make. You will have to break yourself of the habit of giving an off-glide to the vowels. But proper pronunciation of vowel sounds is a mark of a good speaker of the language. Listen carefully to the following sets of sounds, the first set pronounced by a speaker of English, the second by a speaker of Bengali:

English		Bengali
Orthographic	Phonetic bee	[biy]	bi gee	[jiy]	ji me	[miy]	mi bay	[bey]	be jay	[jey]	je may	[mey]	me
bow	[bow]	bo
joe	[jow]	jo
mow	[mow]	mo

boo	[buw]	bu
jew	[juw]	ju
moo	[muw]	mu

Now imitate the Bengali pronunciation of the following sounds:

bi ji mi be je me bo jo mo bu ju mu

5.4.4. /i/. Pronounce the following Bengali words:

English	Bengali
Initial position:
this one (hon.)	ini
(proper name)	ila
(interjection)	iś
Medial position:
day	din
he, she (hon.)	tini
in the seed	bije
wet	bhije
sesame seed	til
type of tree	nim
egg	ḍim
Final position:
what	ki
maid-servant	khi
I strike	mari
sari	śari
house	bari

5.4.4.1. It should be noted that in certain circumstances the vowel /i/ is pronounced slightly differently than in the above instances. Sometimes the Bengali vowel /i/ is pronounced almost as the American English vowel in the word "sit". Examples of this type of pronunciation of the vowel in Bengali are the following:

but	kintu
sound of laughter	khil khil
station	iśṭeśan

The circumstances in which this variation occurs are too complex to describe here. But listen for it; you will quickly become adjusted to its proper pronunciation.

5.4.5. /e/.

Initial position:

this	e
here	ekhane
of this	er
come!	eśo
this way	edik

Medial position:

(to) buy	kena
I play	kheli
girl	me.e
having eaten	khe.e
district	jela
country	deś

Final position:

who	ke
he, she	śe
there	śekhane
he, she buys	kene

5.4.5.1. It should be noted that in certain circumstances the vowel /e/ is pronounced slightly differently from the above. It is sometimes very like the American English vowel in "set". Examples of this are the following.

a little	ektu
boy	chele (note the difference between the two vowels)
thus, such	emni

5.4.6. /o/.

Initial position:

that	o
there	okhane

of that one	or
you (ord.) rise up	oṭho
that way	oḍik

Medial position:

(to) understand	bojha
sound	bol
(to) forget	bhola
sister	bon
sin; (fault)	doś
above	opor
kind of drum	ḍhol

Final position:

you (ord.) eat	khao
you (ord.) stay	thako
you (ord.) speak	baḷo
you (ord.) sit	baśo

5.4.7. /u/.

Initial position:

means	upae
camel	uṭ
upside down, reversed	ulṭo proper, right, necessary	ucit
both	ubhṇe
worship (Hindu)	upocar (learned)

Medial position:

very	khub
flower	phul
happy	khuśi
sounds, words	buli
root	mul (learned)
face, mouth	mukh (muk - f.v.)

Final position:

preceptor	guru
cow	goru

sun

bhanu (learned)

5.4.7.1. As with the other vowels, there are circumstances in which the vowel /u/ is pronounced differently -- in this case, almost like the vowel in the English "foot". For example:

son

puttro (learned)

5.4.8. Nasalization.

Nasalization (written as a tilde (~) over the vowel) is another Bengali language feature, especially in the speech of West Bengal, which is not significant in English. Nasalization of a vowel is made by simultaneous emission of air through both nasal and oral passages during the pronunciation of the vowel. During an ordinary vowel sound, the nasal passage is closed off. During a nasalized sound, it is opened, so that breath escapes through nose and mouth at the same time. Practice the following nasalized vowels with the tape:

Non-nasal

o
a i u
e æ
o

Nasal

ô ã ĩ ũ ẽ ã
õ

5.4.8.1. Nasalization of vowels in Bengali will make a difference in what you say. Distinguish carefully between the following:

Non-nasal

English

his (ord.)
(to) wash (cloth) that one's (ord.)
obstacle
(to) bloom in the market
(to) press

Bengali

tar kaca or badha phoṭa haṭe capa

Nasal

English

his (hon.)
young that one's (hon.)
(to) bind mark on forehead
he walks kind of flower

Bengali

tār
kāca ōr bādha phōṭa hāṭe
cāpa

5.4.9. Vowel sequences. Bengali vowels often occur in sequences of two and sometimes of three. Sequences of two vowels are of two types: either full vowel plus semi-vowel (a single syllable, written in our transcription as two vowels without any mark between), or full vowel plus full vowel (two syllables, written with a period (.) in between). As will be seen below, there are differences both in pronunciation and in meaning between the two types of sequences. Compare the following:

you (ord.) get	pao
leg also	pa.o
I get	pai
leg (emphatic)	pa.i
he (ord.) gets	pae
on the leg	pa.e
brother's or sister's father-in-law	talui
it is a palm, and nothing else	talui
this	ei
this is it, and nothing else	e.i
that	oi
that is he, and no one else	o.i lies down	soe
having endured	so.e
he carries	bœ
in the letter b	bœ.e
you (ord.) carry	bo
you (inf.) also carry	bo.o
he takes; legitimate	næ
in the legitimacy	næ.e
expenditure	bæ
in the expenditure	bæ.e
he sings	gae
in the body	ga.e
you (ord.) take	nao
not also	na.o

midwife	dai responsible	da.i
you (ord.) want	dai
the tea also	da.i
bag	thole
in the bag	thole.e

5.4.10. Syllable structure.

It has been suggested previously that word-stress is not phonemic in Bengali, that, in fact, all syllables of a multi-syllabic Bengali word are for all practical purposes stressed equally. The distinction between Bengali and English in this respect can perhaps best be shown by the pronunciation of loan-words from English current in Bengali. Listen to and pronounce the following:

railway station	re.lo.eś.ṭe.śan
coke oven	ko.ko.bhen
post office	poś.ṭa.phis
cabinet minister	mi.nis.ṭar
bath room	baṭ.ṭhrum
pastry	peś.ṭri
ice cream	a.iś.krim
gasoline (petroleum)	pet.ṭrol control	kṇn.ṭrol
bundle	ban.ḍil
multiplication	mal.ṭi.pli.ke.śan
night-rate, nitrate	na.iṭ.reṭ

Lesson 1, part 1. Conversation.

(To accompany tape).

Analysis and translation	Bengali
1. A. Greetings.	A. nomośkar "
2. B. Greetings.	B. nomośkar "
3. stem of first person pronoun "me" genitive case ending for stems with vowel final "of me, my" noun stem, "name" proper name	ama-  -r amar nam robi
A. My name is Robi.	A. amar nam ' robi "
4. stem of second person (honorific) pronoun "you" genitive case ending for stems with vowel final "of you, your" (honorific) interrogative, "what"	apna-  -r apnar ki
A. What is your name?	A. apnar nam ' ki "
5. proper name	ram
B. My name is Ram.	B. amar nam ' ram "
6. nominative singular of 2nd person (honorific) pronoun, "you"	apni

- |   |  |
|---|--|
| interrogative, "where" stem of verb "live, remain, stay" 2nd person (honorific) verbal ending "you (honorific) do live"   | kothae thak- -en (apni) thaken                                 |
| A. Where do you live?   | A. apni ' kothae thaken "  |
| 7. nominative singular of 1st person pronoun "I" locative case ending for stems having vowel final Chicago "in Chicago" first person verbal ending "I live" | ami -te śikago śikagote -i (ami) thaki           |
| B. I live in Chicago.   | B. ami ' śikagote thaki "  |
| 8. stem of verb "do, make" 2nd person (honorific) verbal ending "you (hon.) do"  | kər- -en (apni) køren   |
| A. What do you do?  | A. apni ' ki køren "   |
| 9. stem of verb "read, study" 1st person present ending "I study"  | pər- -i (ami) porī (note vowel change - Lesson 2, grammar, section 1) |
| B. I study in Chicago.  | B. ami ' śikagote porī "   |
| 10. stem of verb "read, study" 2nd person (honorific) ending "you (honorific) study"   | pər -en (apni) pøren  |
| A. What do you study?   | A. apni ' ki pøren "   |
| 11. "Bengali" (language)   | baṅla   |

- B. I study Bengali.
- B. ami ' banla pora " 12. interrogative particle (see grammar, section 8)
"difficult"
- ki śakto
- A. Is Bengali difficult?
- A. banla ki ' śakto " 13. "no"
"very"
"easy"
- na khub śohoj
- B. No, it is very easy.
- B. na ' khub śohoj " 14. "hot"
- gorom
- A. Is it very hot in Chicago?
- A. śikagote ki ' khub gorom "
15. stem of verb "be not"
3rd person or impersonal verbal ending
"it is not"
- no-
-e noe
- B. No, it is not very hot.
- B. na ' khub gorom noe " 16. "cold"
- thanda
- A. Is it very cold in Chicago?
- A. śikagote ki ' khub thanda " 17. "yes"
- hã
- B. Yes, it is very cold.
- B. hã ' khub thanda "
18. interrogative, "how much, how many"
"big, large"
- koto
boro
- A. How big is Chicago?
- A. śikago ' koto boro " 19. "city"
- śohor

- B. Chicago is a very big city.
20. "people"
- A. How many people are there in Chicago?
21. negative prefix
"one"
"not one", i.e., "many"
locative ending with stems ending in consonants
"in the city"
- B. There are many people in the city.
22. interrogative, "how"
stem of verb "strike" 3rd person/impersonal verbal
ending
"it strikes"
- A. How do you like Chicago?
(i.e., "How does Chicago strike you?")
23. "good, well"
- B. Very much.
I like Chicago very much.
- B. śikago ' khub boro śohor " lok
- A. śikagote ' koto lok "
- on-
-ek onek
-e śohore
- B. śohore ' onek lok "
- kamon lag-
-e lage
- A. apnar ' śikago ' kamon lage "
- bhalo
- B. khub bhalo "
amar śikago ' khub bhalo lage "

Lesson 1, part 2. Drills.

The taped drills based upon the conversation are arranged in the following manner:

1. Saturation drill #1. The saturation drills are the recorded Bengali conversations spoken by two native speakers of Bengali. You are to listen carefully to the conversation, following it in the printed text. Do not repeat the conversation at this time.
2. Saturation drill #2.
3. Saturation drill #3.
4. Saturation drill #4. In this drill, the English meanings will be given first, then the Bengali. The student will listen only.
5. Repetition drill #1. In this drill, the English translation will be given first, then the Bengali, then there will be a space left for the student to repeat the Bengali sentence. The student's Bengali repetition will be recorded, so that the student may check his Bengali pronunciation.
6. Response drill #1. Part A of the Bengali conversation will be given in Bengali, and the student will supply part B, in Bengali, in the space left following part A. The student's response will be recorded.
7. Response drill #2. Part B of the Bengali conversation will be given in Bengali, and the student will supply part A, in Bengali (i.e., the student will speak part A following the drillmaster's voice saying "A"). The student's voice will be recorded.
8. Saturation drill #5.

Lesson 1, part 3. Grammar.

1. /nomoškar/ is the most common form of greeting used between Hindus (or between a European and a Hindu) in Bengali. You should, however, always be aware that there are other forms of greeting: /šalam/ ("peace") or in full form /as salam o aleikum/ ("peace be with you") is used when greeting a Muslim. The return greeting to /as salam o aleikum/ is /o aleikum as salam/ ("with you be peace").

/nomoškar/ is used for a greeting when meeting and also when parting.

2. The simple present tense is used to denote habitual action. The use of the simple present, for example, in sentences 6-11, implies that the speaker resides habitually or permanently in Chicago, that he habitually studies at the University, etc.

3. -r (sentences 3 ff.) is the genitive (i.e., possessive) case suffix which is used with noun stems which have a vowel final. For stems with consonant final, see Lesson 3, sentence 2, and grammar.

4. -te (sentences 7 ff.) is the locative case (i.e., place in or to which) suffix used with noun stems which have a vowel final. -e is the locative case suffix used with noun stems with either vowel or consonant final, thus:

city	śohor	in or to the city	śohore
college	kolej	in or to the college	koleje
Bengali	banla	in Bengali	banlate banlae
Calcutta	kolkata	in or to Calcutta	kolkatate kolkatae

5. The verb "be" in the present tense affirmative is usually not expressed.

The verb "be not" in the present tense is expressed; i.e., in sentence 15, its stem is /nə-/, to which are attached the regular present tense verbal endings.

It is hot in Chicago.	śikagote ' gorom "
It is not hot in Chicago.	śikagote ' gorom nəe "
Chicago is a big city.	śikago ' boro śohor "
Chicago is not a big city.	śikago ' boro śohor nəe "
Is it cold in Chicago?	śikagote ki ' thaṇḍa "
It is not cold in Chicago	śikagote ' thaṇḍa nəe "

5.1. The sequence /həe na/ does occur in a limited number of utterances; these occurrences will be pointed out as they arise.

5.2. There is usually no verb in the present tense affirmation, and the present tense form of the verb /həoa/ can mean only (a) an event as a law or a habit, or (b) a narrated past event.

Chicago is hot	śikago gorom"
It gets difficult to drive on Saturdays	śonibare gaṛi calano śokto hae"
America was discovered four and a half centuries ago	amerika abiškar hae śare carśo bochor age "

5.3. Other verbs form their negatives by the addition of the participle /na/.

I study	ami poṛi	I do not study	ami poṛi na
you do	apni koren	you do not do	apni koren na

6. The simple present tense is formed by affixing the personal endings to the simple stem of the verb (the verbal noun minus the suffix /-a/; see Lesson 2, part 3, section 1). These endings are:

Person	Stem	Ending
1st (ami)	-	-i
2nd (honorific -- apni)	-	-en
3rd (ordinary -- śe)	-	-e

Examples:

I remain	ami thaki
you (hon.) remain	apni thaken
he (she, it) remains	śe thake
I sit	ami bośi
you (hon.) sit	apni bośen
he (she, it) sits	śe bośe

The stem-vowel change in the first person will be discussed in Lesson 2.

6.1. Drills. Taped drills on this section of the lesson are arranged in the following manner:

6.1.1. Mutation drill #1. The form of this drill will be as follows:

An English sentence will be given. The student is to translate the sentence into Bengali in the space left for it following the English. The correct Bengali of the sentence will then be given, and the student will repeat the answer, recording. An example:

Master (in English):	I live in the house.
Student (in Bengali):	ami ' barite thaki "
Master (in Bengali):	ami ' barite thaki "

Student (in Bengali):                      ami ' barite thaki "

7. Interrogatives begin with the phoneme /k/. Thus:

Bengali	English
ki	what, interrogative particle
kothae	where
kamon	how
koto	how much, how many kon	which
kano	why

The distinctions between /kamon/ and /koto/ and between /ki/ and /kon/ should be noted:

7.1. /koto/ is an interrogative with reference to quantity or size:

How big (i.e., how much big)    apnar bari ' koto boro " is your house?

How many people are there        ekhane ' koto lok " here?

7.2. /kamon/ is used in a non-quantitative sense:

How do you like it?                apnar ' kamon lage "

7.3. Between the interrogatives /ki/ and /kon/, possible confusion results from English equivalents. In English, the word "what" can be used in two ways: to indicate "which of several", and to indicate "what (general) thing". Thus, in English, we can have "in what city do you live" and "what do you do". Bengali distinguishes between these two usages. Thus:

In what (i.e., which) city        apni ' kon shohore thaken " do you live?

In what (i.e., which) chair        apni ' kon ceare bosen " do you sit?

What do you do?                    apni ' ki karen "

What do you study?                apni ' ki poron "

A simple rule is that where in English the word "which" can be used, the Bengali equivalent will be /kon/. A good minimal pair is:

What kind of job do you do?        apni ' ki kaj karen "

What particular work do you        apni ' kon kaj karen "
do?

Descriptively, it can be said that /kon/ must take a noun following it; /ki/ may or may not.

8. Intonation patterns.

Learning to speak a language well does not consist only of learning the correct reproduction of the individual sounds of that language; the rise and fall of the voice in the utterance of a sentence is also significant. This is true in English. For example, pronounce the utterance:

you're going

first as a statement, then as a question. The difference between the two is the intonation of the utterance. There is no other element which denotes the difference between a statement and a question in this case.

The situation is similar in Bengali. There are three types of intonation patterns so far met, one a statement intonation, and two question intonations.

Listen carefully to the tapes, until you are sure that you can reproduce Bengali intonation patterns exactly.

Pattern 1: Statement.

My name is Robi.	amar nam ' robi "
My name is Ram.	amar nam ' ram "
It is very hot in Chicago.	śikagote ' khub gərom "
You (hon.) live in Chicago.	apni ' śikagote thaken "
You (hon.) work (lit. you do work).	apni ' kaj kəren "
I study Bengali.	ami ' baṅla poṛi "
I study at the college.	ami ' kəleje poṛi "

Pattern 2: Questions with /ki/ involving a yes-no answer. (/ki/ is not verbally translatable in English).

Do you do?	apni ki ' kəren " apni kəren ' ki "
Do you work?	apni ki ' kaj kəren "
	apni kaj kəren ' ki "
Is it very hot in Chicago?	śikagote ki ' khub gərom " śikagote khub gərom ' ki "

Do you study Bengali?

apni ki ' banla poron "
apni ' banla poron ki "

Pattern 3: In the following sentences, /ki/ is translatable in English by the interrogative "what".

What do you do?

apni ' ki koren "
apni koren ' ki "

What do you study?

apni ' ki poron "
apni poron ' ki "

What is your name?

apnar ' ki nam "
apnar nam ' ki "

What is your work?

apnar ' ki kaj "
apnar kaj ' ki "

Where do you live?

apni ' kothae thaken "
apni thaken ' kothae "

How many people are there in Chicago?

śikagote ' koto lok "

How do you like Chicago?

apnar śikago ' kaemon lage "

How (much) different is Bengali?

banla ' koto śokto "

8.1. Drills. Taped drills on this section of the lesson are arranged in the following manner:

8.1.1. Intonation drill #1 (pattern 1, statement intonation)

An English sentence will be given, and the student will translate it into Bengali in the space given. The student will then hear the correct Bengali, and will repeat the correct Bengali in the space given.

8.1.2. Intonation drill #2 (pattern 2, question with /ki/ involving a "yes" or "no" answer)

An English sentence will be given, and the student will translate it into Bengali, recording in the space given. The student will then hear the correct Bengali and will repeat it, recording, in the space given.

8.1.3. Intonation drill #3 (pattern 3, questions with /ki/ meaning "what"). The system will be the same as for the drills above.

9. Word order: In Bengali a modifier precedes that which it modifies:

a hot city                      gorom śohor
Very good (very well)      khub bhalo easy Bengali                      śchoj banla

10. Bengali sentence formation: Form Bengali sentences (both as questions and statements -- note differences of intonation between the types of formations), from the following outlines and translate them into English. Use forms in parentheses (interrogatives) for question formation.

10.1.

Modifier	Noun	(Interrogative)	Noun	(Interrogative)
amar			robi
	nam	(ki)		(ki)
apnar			ram

10.2.

noun or pronoun	(Interrogative)	verbal modifier or object	verb stem	suffix	(Interrogative)
ami		ekhane	thak-		(ki)
	(ki)
apni		śekhane	khæl-
śe		śohore	bōś-i/en/e
ram		barite
robi		śikagote
		banla	poṛ-
			---
10.3.		kothae
		ki (what)	kōr-

10.4.

Noun	Interro- gative	Modifiers	Noun	(Verb)	Interro- gative
śikago		khub boro
	(ki)		śohor		(ki)
bari		choṭo		(noe)
ghor	koto
śohor
banla	(ki)	śokto
Noun (locative)
śikagote		gorom
	koto			(noe)
ekhane		ṭhaṇḍa barite
śohore	(ki)				(ki)

Lesson 1, part 4. Pattern drills.

1. Pattern: sentences 3, 4, 5.

- My name is Naresh ([nəreś]). What is your name?
- My name is Shuhash ([śuhaś]). What is your name?
- My name is Probash ([probaś]). What is your name?
- My name is Shomdeb ([śomdeb]). What is your name?
- My name is Shamir ([śomir]). What is your name?

2. Pattern: sentences 3, 5.

- My name is Nira ([nira]).
- My name is Rita ([rita]).
- My name is Shanta ([śanta]).
- My name is Shita ([śita]).
- My name is Shipra ([śipra]).

3. Pattern: sentences 6, 8, 10.

- Where do you live?
- Where do you sit?
- Where do you play?
- Where do you study?

e. What do you do?

4. Pattern: sentences 7, 9.

- a. I live in the city.
- b. I sit in the chair.
- c. I play here.
- d. I study in Chicago.
- e. I study here.

5. Pattern: sentences 6, 8, 10.

- a. What do you do?
- b. What do you study?
- c. What do you play?
- d. What do you study?
- e. What do you read?

6. Pattern: sentence 11.

- a. I study in the college.
- b. I study Bengali.
- c. I play games.
- d. I study language.
- e. I read English.

7. Pattern: sentence 12.

- a. Is the college difficult?
- b. Is Bengali difficult?
- c. Are the games easy?
- d. Is language easy?
- e. Is English very difficult?

8. Pattern: sentence 13.

- a. No, it is not difficult.
- b. No, it is not very difficult.
- c. No, not very easy.
- d. No, language is not easy.
- e. No, it is not difficult.

9. Pattern: sentence 12 and 14.

- a. Is it very hot in the city?

- b. Is it very cold in the house?
- c. Is it very hot there?
- d. Is it very cold in Chicago?
- e. Is it very cold here?

10. Pattern: 15 and 17.

- a. No, it is not very hot.
- b. No, it is not very cold.
- c. No, it is not very hot there.
- d. No, it is not very cold in Chicago.
- e. No, it is not very cold here.

11. Pattern: 12 and 14.

- a. Is it very cold in the city?
- b. Is it very hot in the house?
- c. Is it very cold there?
- d. Is it very hot in Chicago?
- e. Is it very hot here?

12. Pattern: 15 and 17.

- a. Yes, it is very cold.
- b. Yes, it is very hot.
- c. Yes, it is very cold there.
- d. Yes, it is very hot in Chicago.
- e. Yes, it is very hot here.

13. Pattern: 18.

- a. How big is the city?
- b. How difficult is Bengali?
- c. How cold is Chicago?
- d. How hot is your house?
- e. How easy is English?

14. Pattern: 19.

- a. Chicago is a very big city.
- b. Bengali is a very easy language.
- c. Chicago is a very cold city.
- d. My house is very hot.
- e. English is a very difficult language.

15. Pattern: 20.

- a. How many people are there in the city?
- b. How many people are there in the country?
- c. How many people are there in Chicago?
- d. How many people are there in your house?
- e. How many people are there in your college?

16. Pattern: 21.

- a. There are many people in Chicago.
- b. There are many people in the country.
- c. There are many people in the city.
- d. There are many people in my house.
- e. There are many people in my college.

17. Pattern: 22.

- a. How do you like the city?
- b. How do you like Bengali?
- c. How do you like Chicago?
- d. How do you like your house?
- e. How do you like the college?

18. Pattern: 23.

- a. I like the city very much.
- b. I like Bengali very much.
- c. I do not like Chicago very much.
- d. I do not like my house very much.
- e. I like the college very much.

Lesson 1, part 5. Drills.

Translate into Bengali:

Drill 1

- What is your name?
- My name is Naresh.
- Where do you sit?
- I sit here.
- Do you sit in this chair?

Drill 2

- Where is your house?
- My house is in the city.
- How big is your house?
- My house is very big.
- In what city is your house?

- No, I sit in that chair.
 -- What do you study?
 -- I study Bengali.
 -- How do you like Bengali?
 -- Very much.
 -- Is Bengali very difficult?
 -- No, it is not very difficult.
- It is in Chicago.
 -- How do you like Chicago?
 -- It is very hot there.
 -- Is Chicago a big city?
 -- Yes, there are many people in Chicago.

Lesson 1, part 6. Vocabulary

Nouns

Bengali	English bari	house
ghor	room
kaj	work
khæla	game
cear	chair
deś	country
inriji	English (language)
bhaśa	language
kolej	college

Verbs

(Note: verbs are given in stem form; the endings are added directly to the stem; see also Lesson 2, grammar.)

Bengali	English
bās-	sit
khael-	play
kar-	do, make

Adjectives

Bengali	English
śohoj	easy
śokto	difficult
choṭo	small

Other

Bengali	English
ei, e	this
oi, o	that ekhane	here
okhane	there
śekhane	there

Idioms

amar	bhalo	lage	me-of good	strikes-(it)	(I like/dont like it.)
	kharap		bad
apnar	kamon	lage	you-of how	strikes-(it)	(How do you like it?)

Lesson 2, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and translation

Bengali

1. 2nd person ordinary pronoun "you" stem of verb "do, make" 2nd person (ordinary) verbal
ending
"you (ordinary) do"

tumi kor-
-o (tumi) koro

A. What do you do?

A. tumi ' ki koro "

2. noun stem, "office" (note that Bengali /ph/ is frequently pronounced much like English f -- see Phonology, 4.2.6.
locative case ending for stems with consonant final
"in the (an) office"
noun stem, "work"
alternative (high) stem of verb "do, make" (see grammar, section 1)
"I do"

ophiś

-e ophiśe kaj

kor-
(ami) kori

B. I work in an office.

B. ami ' ophiśe kaj kori "

3. stem of 2nd person (ordinary) pronoun "you"
genitive case ending for stems with vowel final
"of you (ordinary)"
noun stem, "father"
"your father"

toma-
-r tomar baba tomar baba

- |                                 |         |
|---------------------------------|---------|
| demonstrative, "that"           | śe      |
| morpheme indicating place       | -khan-  |
| locative case ending            | -e      |
| "in that place, there"          | śekhane |
| 2nd/3rd person honorific ending | -en     |
| "he (honorific) does"           | koren   |
-
- |  |   |
|--|---|
| A. Does your father work there? | A. tomar baba ki ' śekhane kaj koren " |
|--|---|
-
- |  |      |
|--|------|
| 4. 3rd person honorific pronoun"he, she" | tini |
|--|------|
-
- |                                      |  |
|--------------------------------------|--|
| B. No, he doesn't work there. | B. na ' tini ' śekhane kaj koren na " |
|--------------------------------------|--|
-
- |  |                                   |
|--|-----------------------------------|
| 5. A. What does your father do? | A. tomar baba ' ki koren " |
|--|-----------------------------------|
-
- |                |             |
|----------------|-------------|
| 6. "some, any" | kono        |
| "none at all"  | kono ... na |
-
- |  |  |
|--|--|
| B. He doesn't do any work at all. | B. tini ' kono kaj ' koren na " |
|--|--|
-
- |   |      |
|---|------|
| 7. noun stem, "brother"   | bhai |
| present stem of defective verb"be"; see grammar, section 3. | ach- |
| 3rd person (ordinary) verbalending                          | -e   |
-
- |  |                                       |
|--|---------------------------------------|
| A. Do you have any brothers?(you-of ? any brother there is) | A. tomar ki ' kono bhai ache " |
|--|---------------------------------------|
-
- |   |      |
|---|------|
| 8. form of numeral "two" used incompounds             | du-  |
| qualifying suffix, used withreference to human beings | -jon |
-
- |   |   |
|---|---|
| B. Yes, I have two brothers.(yes, me-of two-(qualifier)brother there-is) | B. hē " amar ' dujon bhai ache " |
|---|---|

9. 3rd person (ordinary) pronoun stem nominative plural ending, used with pronouns and nouns having reference to living beings
"they, those people" (ordinary) 3rd person ordinary verbal ending (note that the ending is the same for singular and plural)
"they (ordinary) live"
- ta-
-ra tara
-e tara thake
- A. Where do they live? A. tara ' kothae thake " 10. noun stem, "house"
locative case ending
"in the house, at home"
- bari
-te barite
- B. They live at home. B. tara ' barite thake " 11. "big"
- boro
- A. Where does your older brother work? A. tomar boro bhai ' kothae kaj karen " 12. B. He works in an office. B. tini ' ophiśe kaj karen "
13. "little"
- choṭo
- A. What work does your younger brother do? A. tomar choṭo bhai ' ki kaj kare " 14. verb stem, "read, study"
- paṛ-
- B. My younger brother studies. B. amar choto bhai ' pare " 15. 3rd person (ordinary) pronoun stem "he/she/it" genitive case ending for stems with vowel final
"of him/her (ordinary)"
noun stem, "age"
- ta-
-r tar boś

- A. How old is he?
(how much is his age?)
16. "twenty"
- B. He is twenty.
(his age is twenty)
17. A. Does your younger brother study in college?
18. B. Yes, he studies in college.
19. stem of verb "go"
3rd person (ordinary) ending
"he goes"
"daily, every day"
- A. Does your younger brother go to college every day?
20. noun stem, "week"
locative case ending
"in the week"
"four"
noun stem, "day"
- B. No, four days a week he does not go to college.
21. "which"
"which (plural)"
"which day"
"which days"
- A. Which days of the week does he not go to college?
22. Sunday
Monday
- A. tar bəes ' koto "

kuri
- B. tar bəes ' kuri "
- A. tomar choto bhai ki ' kəleje pəre "
- B. hāe " še ' kəleje pəre "
- ja-
-e (še) jae
roj
- A. tomar choto bhai ki ' roj kəleje jae "
- śoptaho
-e śoptahe (see grammar, section 8) car din
- B. na ' śoptahe ' car din ' še kəleje jae na "
- kon kon kon kon din
kon kon din
- A. še śoptahe ' kon kon din ' kəleje jae na "
- robibar
śombar

Tuesday Wednesday
 "and"

mongolbar budhbar
 ar

B. He does not go to college Sundays, Mondays, Tuesdays, or Wednesdays.

B. še robibar ' sombar ' mongolbar ' ar budhbar ' koleje jae na "

23. "only"
 Thursday Friday Saturday

kebol brihošpotibar šukrobar šonibar

B. He goes to college only Thursdays, Fridays, and Saturdays.

B. še kebol ' brihošpotibar ' šukrobar ' ar šonibar ' koleje jae "

Lesson 2, part 2. Drills.

The taped drills will follow the same pattern as in Lesson 1.

Lesson 2, part 3. Grammar.

1. Many Bengali nouns, pronouns, and verbs have two alternative stems. The two alternative verb stems will hereafter be distinguished as "high" and "low" stems, the terms referring to the height of the stem-vowel (see chart below). The low-stem form is the basic form, the form which you will be given throughout this text, since through it the system of vowel change is more easily understood.

1.1. The basic form -- low stem -- can be considered as the verbal noun minus the nominal suffix:

Verbal noun		Basic stem
kora	"doing"	kor-
kena	"buying"	ken-
khæla	"playing"	khæl-
jaoa	"going"	ja-

1.2. The system of Bengali vowels is charted as follows:

	Front	Middle	Back
High	i		u
	e		o
Mid	æ		ɔ
Low		a

1.2.1. The system of vowel alternation is as follows:

When the low-stem vowel is /e/,	the high-stem vowel is /i/.
/æ/,	/e/.
/o/,	/u/.
/ɔ/,	/o/.

The stem-vowel /a/ presents a special case, and will be considered in detail at a later time; for the present, we can consider stems with /a/ as having no vowel change. Stems in /i/ and /u/, these being the highest vowels, have no higher form.

1.3. In some cases the stem-vowel alternation can be phonologically defined, as for example in sentences 1 and 2 in this exercise. In sentence 1, the verb "do, make" occurs with the stem /kər-/. In sentence 2, the same verb occurs with the stem /kor-/. Note that the 1st person (personal ending -i) form of the verb, i.e., /kori/, is the form which occurs in sentence 2. It is a general phonological rule for the language that when a word of this shape: consonant-vowel-(consonant), has for the second vowel either /i/ or /u/, the preceding vowel of the word is high. In sentence 2, the second vowel of /kori/ is /i/, and the /o/ vowel of the low stem becomes the high vowel /o/.

1.3.1. Other examples of this type of vowel-alternation in verb stems are:

Vowel Alternation	Stem	Simple Present Tense Paradigm
e/i	ken~	ami kini	"I buy"
		tumi keno	"you (ord.) buy"
		apni kenen	"you (hon.) buy"
		śe kene	"he (ord.) buys"
		tini kenen	"he (hon.) buys"
æ/e	khæl-	ami kheli	"I play"
		tumi khælo	"you play"
		apni khælen	"you play"
		śe khæle	"he plays"
		tini khælen	"he plays"
o/o	boś-	ami bośi	"I sit"
		tumi bośo	"you sit"
		apni bośen	"you sit"
		śe bośe	"he sits"
		tini bośen	"he sits"
o/u	oṭh-	ami uṭhi	"I rise up"
		tumi oṭho	"you rise up"
		apni oṭhen	"you rise up"
		śe oṭhe	"he rises up"
		tini oṭhen	"he rises up"

1.4. Stems with /a/ have no change in the simple present tense.

Stem	Simple Present Tense Paradigm
-------------	--------------------------------------	--

jan-	ami jani	"I know"
	tumi jano	"you know"
	apni janen	"you know"
	śe jane	"he knows"
	tini janen	"he knows"
ja-	ami jai	"I go"
	tumi jao	"you go"
	apni jan	"you go"
	śe jae	"he goes"
	tini jan	"he goes"

Note that stems with vowel final have the ending /-n/ in the honorific forms.

1.5. Drills on these vowel changes will follow the same pattern as in Lesson 1.

1.6. Examples of this type of alternation in pronoun and noun stems are:

Vowel Alternation	Genitive	Nominative
o/u	tomar "of you"	tumi "you (ord.)"
	Masculine	Feminine
o/o	noṭ "actor"	noṭi "actress"

1.7. There are other stem-vowel changes which are not phonologically definable; these will be considered at a later time.

1.8. Write the simple present tense paradigms for the following verb stems:

(to) read	poṛ-
(to) drop, throw	phæl-
(to) know, recognize	cen-
(to) hear	śon-
(to) remain	thak-

1.9. The verb /de-/, "give", is irregular in the simple present tense, and has the following paradigm.

ami dii	"I give"
---------	----------

tumi dao	"you (ord.) give"
apni dæn	"you (hon.) give"
śe dæe	"he (ord.) gives"
tini dæn	"he (hon.) gives"

2. The /khan/ morpheme, indicating place, as in sentence 3, is usually used in the locative, i.e., /-khane/. Various kinds of demonstratives and interrogatives can be substituted as the first element of a word, e.g.,

ekhane	"in this place, here"
okhane	"in that place, there" (with specific reference) śekhane	"in that place, there" (used in a more generalized way than the preceding) konkhane	"in which place, where"

3. The defective verb /ach-/, sentence 7.

3.1. In statements which imply a permanent condition, some form of the verb /ach-/, which exists only in the simple present and simple past forms, is used. A good rule of thumb is that this verb can be used in statements or questions which may have the expression "there is" in English. In sentence 7, for example, the literal translation is: "Is there any brother of you?"

3.2. The negative form of the verb /ache/, "there is", is /nei/, "there is not":

tomar ki 'kono bhai ache"	Do you have any brothers?
na " amar 'kono bhai nei"	No, I don't have any brothers.

4. There is no simple Bengali equivalent for the transitive English verb "have, possess". As in sentence 7, a possessive construction is formed by the use of the genitive case for the subject and the 3rd person (or impersonal) form of the verb /ach-/, thus:

amar 'ækṭa boi ache "	me-of one-(qualifier) book (there)-is	I have a book.
tar 'ækṭa boro kukur ache "	him-of one-(qualifier) big dog (there)-is	He has a big dog.

5. We have now had two types of second person pronoun -- the stems

/apn-/ and apna-/, in Lesson 1, and /tum-/ and /toma-/, in Lesson 2. The distinction between these two forms is that /apn- apna-/ (used with verbal ending /-en/) is an honorific form of address, while /tum- toma-/ (used with the verbal ending /-o/) is an ordinary form of address.

5.1. There is also a distinction between ordinary and honorific forms of address in the 3rd person. The 3rd person ordinary pronoun forms are /še/ (nominative) and /ta-/ (stem to which inflectional endings are added). The 3rd person honorific pronoun form is /tini/. Note that the honorific verbal endings are the same for both 2nd and 3rd persons.

apni koren	you do
tini koren	he/she does
apni janen	you know
tini janen	he/she knows
apni jan	you go
tini jan	he/she goes

5.2. The circumstances which govern the distribution of these forms are not easily defined, but a basic rule of thumb might be the following:

The polite or honorific form is used by Bengalis when addressing or referring to a person of superior rank, an elder, or an equal with whom the speaker is not on intimate terms. The ordinary form is used with intimate equals and members of one's immediate family; it is also used by Bengalis when addressing servants. It is to be noted, however, that a non-native Bengali speaker will not go wrong by using the honorific form in every circumstance except perhaps when addressing servants. It is a matter about which it is well to be careful, since the form you use indicates to the listener your attitude toward him.

5.3. There is another degree of second person address, of which the pronoun stem is /to- tu-/. The inflection of this pronoun is:

Nominative:	tui
Genitive:	tor
(Objective:	toke)

The verbal ending is /-iś/, thus: tui janiś "you know"

This form is sometimes used for addressing very intimate friends and younger family members, sometimes for servants and children, and for animals. It is not a form which a foreigner can often use; therefore there will be little stress laid upon it in these lessons.

6. The nominative stem of the 3rd person pronoun is /śe/ or, in the honorific, /tini/. The inflectional stem, however, is /ta-/ or, in the honorific, /tã-/. Thus:

He reads his book.	śe'tar boi pəre"
He (hon.) reads his book.	tini'tār boi pəren"

7. The nominative plural ending for pronouns and nouns which have reference to human beings is /-ra/ (for stems with vowel final) and /-era/ for stems with consonant final). Thus:

chele	boy
chelera khæ	the boys eat
ta-	3rd person pronoun stem tara jane	they know
manuś	man
manuśera jae	men go

Note that the rule is not inflexible: the forms /manuśra/ and /lokra/ (people) are possible.

7.1. The personal endings of the verb are identical for singular and plural:

English	Bengali
I do	ami kori
you (ord.) do	tumi koro
you (inf.) do	tui koriś
you (hon.) do	apni koren
he (she, it) does	śe kore
he (she, it - hon.) does	tini koren
we do	amra kori
you (ord.) do	tomra koro
you (inf.) do	tora koriś

you (hon.) do      apnara koren they (ord.) do    tara kore they (hon.) do    tãra koren

7.2. Make complete paradigms, singular and plural, for the following verbs:

(to) buy              ken-
 (to) go                ja-
 (to) play            khæl-
 (to) hear            son-
 (to) know            jan-

7.3. Note that, as in sentence 8, when the noun is accompanied by a plural adjective (here /dujon/), it takes no plural suffix.

8. Noun stems ending in /-o/ are inflected by the replacement of final /o/ by the inflectional suffix.

"week"                sonptaho
 "of the week"      sonptaher
 "in the week"      sonptahe

9. Sentence formation: construct possible Bengali sentences:

9.1.

Modifier	Noun or Pronoun	Interrogative	Verbal Modifier	Verb Stem	Suffix
	ami tumi apni se tini tara	(ki)	ekhane sekhane barite ghore schore koleje (etc.)	ja- kor- khæl- por- thak-	i/o/en/e amar apnar tomar tar tãr	baba dada bhai bon ma bondhu
			kothae

9.2.

Modifier	Noun or Pronoun	In-terr.	Modifiers and Nouns	Verb	Suffix	In-terr.
	(Genitive) (ki) tomar amar apnar	(ki)	kono baba dada choṭo bhai boro bondhu	ach-	e	(ki)
amar tomar apnar bondhur	bœś bœś	koto kuri tiriś

9.3.

Noun or Pronoun	Modifier	Modifier	Noun	Verbal Modifier	Verb	Suffix
ami tumi apni śe ram bhai	śoptahe	kon kon kon æk du tin robibar śonibar roj	din	koleje ekhane bariṭe śohore	ja- khæl- poṛ aś-	i/o/en/e

Lesson 2, part 4. Pattern drills.

1. Pattern: sentences 1, 5.

- What does your younger brother do?
- What does your younger brother study?
- What does your older brother do?
- What does your older brother study?
- What work does your father do?

2. Pattern: sentences 2, 12.

- He (ord.) goes to college.
- He (ord.) studies Bengali.
- He (hon.) works at the college.
- He (hon.) studies English.

e. He (hon.) works in an office.

3. Pattern: sentence 3.

- a. Does your younger brother study there?
- b. Does your younger brother speak Bengali?
- c. Does your older brother study there?
- d. Does your older brother study at the college?
- e. Does your older brother work there?

4. Pattern: sentence 4.

- a. Yes, he (ord.) studies there.
- b. Yes, he (ord.) speaks Bengali.
- c. Yes, he (hon.) studies there.
- d. No, he (hon.) does not study at the college.
- e. No, he (hon.) does not work in the office.

5. Pattern: sentence 5.

- a. What work does your younger brother do?
- b. What language does your older brother know?
- c. What work does your older brother do?
- d. What books does your older brother read?
- e. What work does your older brother do?

6. Pattern: sentence 6. (Use appropriate pronoun and verb forms.)

- a. He doesn't do any work at all.
- b. He doesn't know any Bengali at all.
- c. He doesn't do any work at all.
- d. He doesn't read any books at all.
- e. He doesn't study any books at all.

7. Pattern: sentence 7.

- a. Do you have any older brothers?
- b. Does he have any Bengali books?
- c. Do you (hon.) have any younger brothers?
- d. Does he have any English books?
- e. Does he have any work?

8. Pattern: sentence 8.

- a. Yes, I have one older brother.

- b. Yes, he has some Bengali books.
- c. Yes, I have four younger brothers.
- d. Yes, he has some English books.
- e. Yes, he has some work.

9. Pattern: sentences 9, 11.

- a. Where does he live?
- b. Where does he buy books?
- c. Where do they study?
- d. Where does your older brother live?
- e. Where does he work?

10. Pattern: sentences 10, 12.

- a. He lives at college.
- b. He buys books in the city.
- c. They study in the room.
- d. He lives at home.
- e. He works at the college.

11. Pattern: sentence 15.

- a. How old is he?
- b. How old is your younger brother?
- c. How old is your older brother?
- d. How old is your older sister?
- e. How old is your father?

12. Pattern: sentence 16.

- a. He is thirty.
- b. He is twenty.
- c. He is twenty-five.
- d. He is forty.
- e. He is fifty.

13. Pattern: sentence 17.

- a. Does he study at the college?
- b. Does your younger brother study at the college?
- c. Does he live at home?
- d. Does he study at home?

e. Does your father live in the city?

14. Pattern: sentence 18.

- a. Yes, he studies at the college.
- b. Yes, my younger brother studies at the college.
- c. Yes, my older brother lives at home.
- d. Yes, he studies in the room.
- e. Yes, he lives in the city.

15. Pattern: sentence 19.

- a. Does he go home every day?
- b. Does he study at the college every day?
- c. Does he come home every day?
- d. Does he study every day?
- e. Does your father go home every day?

16. Pattern: sentence 20.

- a. No, two days a week he does not go home.
- b. No, three days a week he does not go to college.
- c. No, four days a week he does not come home.
- d. No, five days a week he does not study.
- e. No, one day a week he stays at the college.

17. Pattern: sentence 21.

- a. Which days of the week does he not go home?
- b. Which days of the week does he not go to college?
- c. Which days of the week does he not come home?
- d. Which days of the week does he not study?
- e. Which day of the week does he stay at the college?

18. Pattern: sentences 22, 23.

- a. He does not go home Sunday and Monday.
- b. He does not go to college Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday.
- c. He does not come home Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday.
- d. He does not study Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.
- e. He stays at the college Saturday.

- a. He goes home only Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.
- b. He goes to college only Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, and Saturday.
- c. He comes home only Friday, Saturday, and Sunday.
- d. He studies only Saturday and Sunday.
- e. He comes home Sunday, Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

Lesson 2, part 4. Sentence Drill.

Drill 1

--Where do you (ord.) work?
 --I work at the college.
 --Do you study there?
 --No, I work in the office.
 --What work does your father do?
 --My father is (a) doctor.
 --Where does he live?
 --He lives in Calcutta.
 --Do you have any brothers?
 --Yes, I have three brothers.
 --What do they do?
 --They study at the college.
 --Do you stay at home Mondays?
 --Yes, I stay at home two days
 a week, Monday and Tuesday.

Drill 2

--Have you any sisters?
 --Yes, I have two sisters.
 --What does the older sister do?
 --She studies English.
 --Does she speak English?
 --No, she speaks only Bengali.
 --Where does your younger sister live?
 --She lives at my father's house.
 --Does your sister have any sons?
 --Yes, she has two sons and one daughter.
 --How old is the daughter?
 --She is ten.

Lesson 2, part 5. Vocabulary.

Nouns

Bengali	English	Bengali	English
rākom	kind	bon	sister
ḍaktar	doctor	ma	mother
kolkata, kolikata	Calcutta	dada	older brother
pōciś	twenty-five	chele	son, boy
tiriś	thirty	mee	daughter, girl
colliś	forty	bondhu	friend
pōncaś	fifty

Verbs		Adjectives
Bengali	English	Bengali	English nac-	dance	Cardinal Numbers:
bol-	say	æk	one
cs	come	dui, du	two tin	three car	four pāc	five chæ	six śat	seven aṭ	eight
		næ	nine doś	ten
		kaṛi, biś	twenty Days of the Week:
		robibar	Sunday
		śombar	Monday
		mongolbar	Tuesday
		budhbar (budbar)	Wednesday
		brihośpotibar	Thursday
		śukrobar	Friday
		śonibar	Saturday

Other mattro
kebol	only
kichu	some, a few

Lesson 3, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and translation

Bengali

- |    |   |                                       |
|----|---|---------------------------------------|
| 1. | "news"  | khōbor                                |
|    | "what news" -- form of greeting                 | ki khōbor                             |
|    | A. What news?                            | A. ki khōbor "                 |
| 2. | "of you (ordinary)"                             | tomar                                 |
|    | B. Good. What's the news with you?       | B. bhalo " tomar ' ki khōbor " |
| 3. | demonstrative, "that"                           | o                                     |
|    | qualifying suffix; see grammar, section 2.      | -ṭa                                   |
|    | "that (particular)"                             | oṭa                                   |
|    | A. Good. What book is that?              | A. bhalo " oṭa ' ki boi "      |
| 4. | "one"   | æk                                    |
|    | qualifying suffix; see grammar, section 2.      | -ṭa                                   |
|    | "a, an"   | ækṭa                                  |
|    | noun stem, "poetry, poem"                       | kobita                                |
|    | genitive case suffix for stems with vowel final | -r                                    |
|    | "of poetry"                                     | kobitar                               |
|    | "book of poetry"                                | kobitar boi                           |
|    | B. (It is) a book of poetry.             | B. ækṭa ' kobitar boi "        |

11. A. Who is he? A. tini ke "
12. "one"
qualifying suffix, used with reference to human beings
"one (person)"
noun stem, "poet"
- B. He is a poet. B. tini ' ækjon kobi "
13. noun stem, "song"
- A. Does he write songs? A. tini ki ' gan lekhen " 14. for this use of the future tense,
see grammar, section 3.1.
basic stem of verb "hear" śon-high stem of verb "hear" śun-sign of the future tense -b-2nd person (ordinary) verbal ending used with future tense -e
"you (ordinary) will hear" (tumi) śunbe
- B. Yes. Would you like to hear a song by Rabindranath? B. hã " tumi ki ' robindronather gan ' śunbe "
15. for this use of the genitive case,
see grammar, section 4.
verb stem, "hear" śun-
sign of the future tense -b-1st person verbal ending, future tense -o
"I will/shall hear" (ami) śunbo
- A. Yes, I should like to hear a song by him. A. hã " ami ' tãr gan ' śunbo " 16. type of Indian stringed instrument śetar verb stem, "play (an instrument)" bajayou (ordinary) will play" (tumi) bajabe

brother	bhai	bhaier
wife	bou	bouer

But the genitive of /kobi/, "poet", is /kobir/, the word being of CVCV shape.

2. The use of qualifiers.

2.1. There are various qualifiers (sometimes called "particles") in Bengali, which have different usages and meanings. The most commonly used one is the one which we have in sentences 3, 4, 5, 6, 7, and 8 -- i.e., /-ṭa/. It is often difficult to assign a lexical meaning to these qualifiers. They are frequently added to adjectives or, as here, demonstrative pronouns, which are not accompanied by a noun.

Examples:

English	Bengali
What book is that (or, depending on the intonation, "Is that a book?")	oṭa ki boi"
What book is this (or: Is this a book?)	eṭa ki boi"
Is this easy?	eṭa ki'śohoj"
Is that bad?	śeṭa ki'kharap"
That is bad.	śeṭa'kharap"
That is easy work.	oṭa'śohoj kaj"

When the demonstrative is accompanied by a noun, the qualifier is affixed to the noun. Note also differences in meaning.

What is that book?	o boiṭa'ki"
That work is easy.	o kajṭa'śohoj"
This poetry is very beautiful.	o kobitaṭa'khub śundor"

Drill carefully (using the tapes) on these usages and distinctions.

2.1.1. How would you say the following?

That work is difficult.
 That is difficult work.
 That book is good.
 That is a good book.

That poem is beautiful.
 That is a beautiful poem.
 Is that difficult work?
 Is that work difficult?

2.1.2. The difference might be defined in this way: that when the demonstrative (/e/, /o/, or /sé/) is used adjectivally (i.e., accompanying a noun), the noun takes the qualifier. When it is used pronominally (i.e., standing alone, as the subject or object of the sentence), the demonstrative itself takes the qualifier.

2.2. Qualifiers are usually added to numerals and other adjectives of quantity even when accompanied by a noun, as in sentence 4. Again, in such cases, there is no transferrable meaning in English. An exception to this rule is when adjectives of quantity accompany nouns referring to money or measure. For example:

"two annas"	du ana
"five rupees"	pāc ṭaka
"two seers"	du śer

The numerals /du/ ("two"), /tin/ ("three") and /car/ ("four") usually take special forms of the qualifier, thus:

I want two books.	ami'duṭo boi cai"
I shall hear three songs.	ami'tinṭe gan śunbo"
I shall eat four mangoes.	ami'carṭe am khabo"

Note that when adjectives of quantity are used, the nouns which they accompany are singular in form.

2.3. The qualifier /-ṭa/ can be used with reference to any person or object. The qualifier /-jon/, however, as in sentence 2, can be used only in reference to human beings. Although /-ṭa/ can also be used with human reference, the use of /-jon/ is preferable in this situation.

2.4. Examples of these various usages are as follows:

I shall fetch a book.	ami'ækṭa boi anbo"
I shall fetch that book.	ami'o boiṭa anbo"
I shall fetch that.	ami'oṭa anbo"

He (hon.) will sing a song.	tini'ækʈa gan gaiben"
He (hon.) will sing two songs.	tini'duʈo gan gaiben"
He (hon.) will sing that song.	tini'o ganʈa gaiben"
He (hon.) will sing that (one).	tini'oʈa gaiben"
I have a book.	amar'ækʈa boi ache"
I have a brother.	amar'ækjon bhai ache"

3. The simple future tense.

3.1. The two uses of the future tense which are illustrated in this lesson are the following:

- The indication of action that will take place in the future time.
- An expression equivalent to the English "would you ..." (i.e., do you want to) as in sentence 15.

3.2. The future tense is formed by the addition of the future sign /-b-/ to the high stem of the verb, unless the vowel of the verb stem is /a/, and with the exception of the stem /hə-/. If the vowel of the stem is /a/ or the stem is /hə-/, the low vowel is preserved in the future tense. The personal endings of the future tense are then added to the stem + b complex. The future tense personal endings are:

1st person (ami)	-o
2nd person (ordinary -- tumi)	-e
2nd person (inferior -- tui)	-i
2nd person (honorific -- apni)	-en
3rd person (ordinary -- še)	-e
3rd person (honorific -- tini)	-en

3.3. Sample simple future paradigms are:

śon- "hear"

ami śunbo	I shall hear
tumi śunbe	you (ord.) will hear tui śunbi	you (inf.) will hear apni śunben	you (hon.) will hear še śunbe	he (ord.) will hear tini śunben	he (hon.) will hear ken- "buy"

ami kinbo

I shall buy

tumi kinbe

you (ord.) will buy

tui kinbi

you (inf.) will buy

apni kinben

you (hon.) will buy

śe kinbe

he (ord.) will buy

tini kinben

he (hon.) will buy

khæl- "play"

ami khelbo

I shall play

tumi khelbe

you (ord.) will play

tui khelbi

you (inf.) will play

apni khelben

you (hon.) will play

śe khelbe

he (ord.) will play

tini khelben

he (hon.) will play kor- "do, make"

ami korbo

I shall do

tumi korbe

you (ord.) will do

tui korbi

you (inf.) will do

apni korben

you (hon.) will do

śe korbe

he (ord.) will do

tini korben

he (hon.) will do

jan- "know"

ami janbo

I shall know

tumi janbe

you (ord.) will know

tui janbi

you (inf.) will know

apni janben

you (hon.) will know

śe janbe

he (ord.) will know

tini janben

he (hon.) will know

ja- "go"

ami jabo

I shall go

tumi jabe

you (ord.) will go

tui jabi	you (inf.) will go
apni jaben	you (hon.) will go
śe jabe	he (ord.) will go
tini jaben	he (hon.) will go

3.4. There are two types of verbs which are irregular in the future. The first is the stem /hə-/ "be, become". This preserves its low stem in the future, except where it is changed by a final high vowel:

hə- "be, become"

ami həbo	I shall become tumi həbe	you (ord.) will become tui hobi	you (inf.) will become apni həben	you (hon.) will become śe həbe	he (ord.) will become tini həben	he (hon.) will become

Note however that there are other stems of shape Cə-, which take the high stem in the future.

3.5. The second class of verbs which is irregular in the future tense is the one which includes the stems /ca-/ "want", /ga-/ "sing", /śə-/ "bear, endure", and /bə-/ "carry". They are conjugated thus:

ca- "want"

ami caibo	I shall want
tumi caibe	you (ord.) will want tui caibi	you (inf.) will want apni caiben	you (hon.) will want
śe caibe	he (ord.) will want tini caiben	he (hon.) will want śə- "endure"

ami śoibo	I shall endure
tumi śoibe	you (ord.) will endure
tui śoibi	you (inf.) will endure
apni śoiben	you (hon.) will endure

śe śoibe
tini śoiben

he (ord.) will endure
he (hon.) will endure

4. The genitive case can be used to denote authorship, as in sentences 15 and 16. Another example:

noun stem "story"                      gōlpo
"Is that a story by Mitra?"    oṭa ki'mittreṛ gōlpo"

5. Syntax.

Form possible Bengali sentences:

	Modifiers	Noun	Interro- gative	Complement	Noun	Interro- gative
5.1.		eṭa oṭa śeṭa boiṭa	(ki)	bhalo śōkto śōhoj
5.2.		oṭa eṭa śeṭa boiṭa	(ki)	gōlper bhalo śōkto śōhoj	boi	(ki)

	Modifiers	Noun	Interro- gative	Noun	Verb	Interro- gative
5.3.	boiṭar robindronather ramer	nam	(ki)		jan-	(ki)
	or oṭar er	lekhōk	(ke)			(ki)
	eṭar boiṭar	lekhōk	(ki)	robindronath ram

5.4.

Modi- fiers	Noun (Subject)	Interro- gative	Modi- fiers	Noun (Object)	Verb	Interro- gative
	ami	(ki)	amar	gan	baja-	(ki)
	tumi		tomar	śetar	śon-
	tomra		apnar	tābla
			tar	golpo
amar	bhai		tār
tomar	ma		bhalo
ramar	baba		kharap
			śohoj śokto ækṭa

Lesson 3, part 3. Pattern Drills.

1. Pattern: grammar, section 2.1.

- Is that a book?
- Is that a poem?
- Is that a novel?
- Is that a play?
- Is that a story?

2. Pattern: grammar, section 2.1.

- Yes, this is a book.
- Yes, this is a poem.
- Yes, this is a novel.
- Yes, this is a play
- Yes, this is a story.

3. Pattern: sentence 3.

- What book is that?
- What poem is that?
- What novel is that?
- What play is that?
- What story is that?

4. Pattern: sentence 4.
  - a. It is a book of songs (use singular form).
  - b. It is a poem by (i.e., of) Rabindranath.
  - c. It is a novel by Rabindranath.
  - d. It is a play by Rabindranath.
  - e. It is a story by Somdev.
5. Pattern: sentence 5.
  - a. What is the name of that book?
  - b. What is the name of that poem?
  - c. What is the name of that novel?
  - d. What is the name of that play?
  - e. What is the name of that story?
6. Pattern: sentence 6, grammar section 2.
  - a. That book's name is Bicitra [bicittra]. That is the name of the book.
  - b. That poem's name is Balaka [balaka]. And that is the name of the book.
  - c. That novel's name is Gora [gora]. That is the name of the novel.
  - d. That play's name is Raja [raja]. That is the name of the play.
  - e. That story's name is Trene [trene]. That is the name of the story.
7. Pattern: grammar, section 2.
  - a. Is that a very good book?
  - b. Is that a book of poetry?
  - c. Is that a good novel?
  - d. Is that a difficult play?
  - e. Is that a Bengali story?
8. Pattern: grammar, section 2.
  - a. Yes, it is a good book.
  - b. Yes, it is a book of poetry.
  - c. Yes, it is a very good novel.
  - d. No, it is an easy play.
  - e. Yes, it is a Bengali story.

9. Pattern: sentence 7.

- a. Who is the author of it?
- b. Is Rabindranath the author of the book?
- c. Is Rabindranath the author of it?
- d. Is Rabindranath the author of the play?
- e. Is Somdev the author of the story?

10. Pattern: sentences 8, 9.

- a. Rabindranath is the writer of the book. Do you know his name?
- b. Yes, he is the writer of it. Do you know his name?
- c. Yes, he is the writer of the novel. Do you know his name?
- d. Yes, he is the writer of the play. Do you know his name?
- e. Yes, he is the writer of the story. Do you know his name?

11. Pattern: sentences 10, 11.

- a. No, I don't know his name. Who is he?
- b. Yes, I know his name.
- c. Yes, I know his poetry.
- d. Yes, I know his stories.
- e. No, I don't know his name. Who is he?

12. Pattern: sentence 12, 13.

- a. He is a writer. You will hear his name.
- b. He is a good writer. You will read his poetry.
- c. He is a very good writer. You will read his novels.
- d. He is a poet. You will hear his songs.
- e. He is a friend. And he is a writer.

13. Pattern: sentence 14.

- a. Is he a poet of Bengal? *
- b. Is he a writer of poems?
- c. Is he a writer of many novels?
- d. Is he a writer of stories?
- e. Is he a friend of yours (i.e., of you)?

14. Pattern: sentence 15.

- a. Yes. Would you like to hear his Bengali?

---

* /banladeser ækjon kobi/ -- "one of Bengal's poets."

- b. Yes. Would you like to hear a song by him? (i.e., a song of his?)
- c. Yes. Would you like to read his novels?
- d. Yes. Would you like to read his stories?
- e. Yes. Would you like to hear a song by him?

15. Pattern: sentence 16.

- a. Yes, I should like to hear his Bengali.
- b. Yes, I should like to hear a song by him.
- c. Yes, I should like to read his novels.
- d. Yes, I should like to read his stories.
- e. Yes, I should like to hear a song by him.

Pattern: sentence 17.

- a. Will you read his poetry?
- b. Will you play the sitar?
- c. Will you read a novel?
- d. Will you read a story?
- e. Will you sing a song?

16. Pattern: sentence 18.

- a. Yes, I shall read a poem.
- b. No, I shall play the tabla.
- c. No, I shall read a story.
- d. No, I shall read a poem.
- e. Yes, I shall sing a song.

17. Pattern: sentence 19.

- a. I shall read with you.
- b. I shall play the sitar with you.
- c. I shall read a story with you.
- d. I shall read a poem with you.
- e. I shall sing a song with you.

Lesson 3, part 4. Sentence Drill.

Drill 1

--What book is that?

--This book? Its name is Gitanjali [gitanjoli].

--I do not know that name. Who is its author?
 --It is a book by Rabindranath.
 --Is it a novel?
 --No, it is a book of poetry.
 --Is it a good book?
 --Yes, it is a very good book.
 --Is it in Bengali?
 --No, it is in English. Shall I read a poem?
 --Yes, I should like to hear a poem (i.e., I shall hear ...).
 --I shall read the first poem.

---

--That is a good poem. Now will you sing a song by Rabindranath?
 --No, I shall not sing. My brother will sing.
 --Will you play the tabla?
 --Yes, I shall play the tabla. Will you dance?
 --Yes, I shall dance.

Drill 2

--This is a good story.
 --What story?
 --A story by Bonaphul [bonaphul].
 --Is that his real name?
 --No, his real name is Balai Chand Mukhopadhyay [balai cand mukhopaddhael]. He is a good writer.
 --In which country does he live?
 --He lives in Bengal. Will you read this story?
 --I cannot. I do not know Bengali.
 --Will you learn Bengali?
 --My brother speaks Bengali well. He will read it.
 --Is Bengali difficult?
 --No, it is easy. You will learn Bengali quickly.
 --That will be good.
 --Yes, that will be good.

Lesson 3, part 5. Vocabulary.

naṭok	play
noḅhel	novel
kobita	poetry, poem

inriji	English (language)	gan ga-	sing (a song)
banla	Bengali (language)	(Fut.: gan gai-)
gan	song	par-	be able des	country	sekh-	learn banlades	Bengal
golpo	story
lekha	writing
prothom	first	ba	or
ditio	second	ar	and
tritio	third	pore	after, afterwards
asol	true, original	age	before taratar	quick, quickly	akhon	now
kon	which
ke	who

Idiom: ta hole      that becomes-(if)      then, if that is so

Review I

1. The following items and formations should now be at your command and you should know their particular place of occurrence in a sentence.

Noun stems:

nam	name	bari	house
banla	Bengali (language)	ghar	room
śikago	Chicago	kolkata	Calcutta
śohor	city	bœś	age
kaj	work	śaptaho	week
baba	father	din	day
ma	mother	boi	book
bhai	brother	galpo	story
bon	sister	kobita	poem, poetry
chele	son, boy	nabhel	novel
mee	daughter, girl	lekhok	writer
rokom	kind	kobi	poet
daktar	doctor	gan	song
ingriji	English (language)

Personal Pronouns:

ami	I	lamra	we
tumi	you (ordinary)	[tomra	you (ordinary)]
tui	you (inferior)	[tora	you (inferior)]
apni	you (honorific)	[apnara	you (honorific)]
śe	he, she (ordinary)	[tara	they (ordinary)]
tini	he, she (honorific)	[tāra	they (honorific)]

Adjectives:

bhalo	good	thanḍa	cold
gorom	hot	boro	big

choṭo	small	śoḥoj	easy
onek	many	śokto	difficult kichu	a few, some

Other modifiers:

ei, e	this
oi, o	that
śei, śe	that (non-specific reference)
ekthane	here
śekthane	there
prae	about
khub	very

Interrogatives:

ki	what
ki	? (i.e., involving yes-no answer) ke	who
koto	how many, how much
kota	how many (an easily countable number)
kamon	how
kothae	where
kon	which

Verb stems:

kor-/kor-	do, make
thak-	be, remain, live
por-/por-	read, study
lag-	strike, touch
boś-/boś-	sit
khæl-/khel-	play (a game)
ach-, (ache)	be, (have)
ja-	go
jan-	know, recognize śon-/śun-	hear
baja-	play (an instrument)
nac-	dance
bol-/bol-	say, speak
gan ga-/ gan gai-	sing
par-	be able

śekh-                  learn

Other:

ar                      and ba                      or

Numbers, 1-10 (See Lesson 2, part 5.)

Days of the week (See Lesson 2, part 5.)

2. Genitive case suffix.

Thus far we have seen that the genitive suffix in Bengali appears in two variant forms, /-er/ and /-r/. Their selection depends upon the structure of the word taking the ending.

2.1. The suffix is /-er/:

2.1.1. If the word ends in a consonant; examples are:

robindronath	robindronather	"of (or by) Rabindra-nath"
śohor	śohorer	"of city"
ghor	ghorer	"of room"
gan	ganer	"of song"
kaj	kajer	"of work"

2.1.2. If the word is monosyllabic and ends in a sequence of two vowels; examples are:

boi	boier	"of book"
bhai	bhaier	"of brother"
bou	bouer	"of wife"

2.2. The suffix is /-r/:

2.2.1. If the word is not monosyllabic and ends in a vowel; examples are:

bari	barir	"of house"
śikago	śikagor	"of Chicago"
kobita	kobitar	"of poetry"

2.3. The suffix is either /-er/ or /-r/ if the word is monosyllabic and ends in /-a/ or /-i/; examples are:

ma	maer, -mar	"of mother"
pa	paer, par	"of foot"
ghi	ghier, ghir	"of ghi" (i.e., butter)

3. Locative case suffix (place in or to which).

The locative suffix in Bengali has two variants, /-e/ and /-te/. The choice of a particular suffix is determined phonologically.

3.1. The suffix is /-e/:

3.1.1. If the word ends in a consonant; examples are:

śohor	śohore	"in city"
kolej	koleje	"in college"
gan	gane .	"in song"

3.1.2. If the word is monosyllabic and ends in a vowel or a sequence of vowels:

pa	pa.e	"on foot"
boi	boi.e	"in book"

3.2. The suffix is /-te/ if the word is multisyllabic and ends in a vowel:

bari	barite	"in house"
goru	gorute	"on cow"

3.3. The suffix /-te/ is freely variant with /-e/ if the word is multisyllabic and ends in either /-a/ or /-o/:

śikago	śikagote, śikagoe	"in Chicago"
kolkata	kolkatate, kolkatae	"in Calcutta"

4. The following inflections should now be at your command:

Person	Nominative	Genitive
1st	ami	ama-r
2nd (ord.)	tumi	toma-r
2nd (hon.)	apni	apna-r
2nd (inf.)	tui	tor

3rd (ord.)	śe	ta-r
3rd (hon.)	tini	tã-r

5. The following inflectional endings of finite verbal forms should now be at your command:

5.1. Simple present tense:

Person	Stem		Tense sign	Ending
	V-stem	C-stem		V-stem	C-stem
1st (ami)	ja-	jan-	-	-i	-i
2nd (ord. - tumi)				-o	-o
2nd (inf. - tui)				-ś	-iś
2nd (hon. - apni)				-n	-en
3rd (ord. - śe)				-e	-e
3rd (hon. - tini)				-n	-en

5.2. Simple future tense:

Person	Stem		Tense sign	Ending
	V-stem	C-stem		V-stem	C-stem
mi	ja-	jan-	-b-	-o	-o
tumi				-e	-e
tui				-i	-i
apni				-en	-en
śe				-e	-e
tini				-en	-en

6. The formation of negatives:

We have had so far three types of negatives, the negative verb "be not" (/nə-/), the negative particle /na/, which serves to negate other verbs, and the particle /nei/, "there is not".

6.1. Negative verb "be not":

It is hot in the city.      śəhore'gərom"
 It is not hot in the city. śəhore'gərom nəe"

6.2. Negatives of other verbs:

I know.

ami jani"

I do not know.

ami jani na"

I like it.

amar'bhalo lage"

I do not like it.

amar'bhalo lage na"

6.3. The particle /nei/:

There are trees in the garden.

bagane'gach ache"

There is no tree in the garden.

bagane'gach nei"

I have a pen.

amar'kolom ache"

I have no pen

amar'kolom nei"

Lesson 4, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and Translation

Bengali

- |   |  |
|---|--|
| 1. 2nd person (ord.) pronoun stemgenitive plural ending (forpronouns and nouns with referenceto human beings)"of you, your" (ordinary plural)"so many""people""why""why so many people" | toma--dertomaderætolokkænoæto lok kæno |
| A. Why are there so many people atyour house?   | A. tomader barite ' æto lokkæno "                      |
| 2. "today"noun stem, "sister""of sister"noun stem, "wedding"  | ajbenbonerbie  |
| B. Today is my sister's wedding.   | B. aj ' amar boner ' bie "                                  |
| 3. "that is why"noun stem, "people""of people"noun stem, "crowd""a crowd of people"   | tailoklokerbhirloker bhir                          |
| B. That is why there is a crowdof people.   | B. tai ' loker bhir "                                       |

- |   |  |
|---|--|
| 4. noun stem, "sister"         genitive plural ending (for nouns with reference to human beings)         "of sisters"         "among" (post-position with preceding genitive)         "among sisters"         inflectional stem of interrogative pronoun "who"         genitive case ending         "of whom" | bon         -eder         boneder         moddhe         boneder moddhe         ka-         -r         kar |
| A. Who among your sisters is getting married?         (your sisters among whose wedding)   | A. tomar boneder moddhe ' kar bie "  |
| 5. B. It is my little sister's wedding.   | B. amar ' choṭo boner bie "  |
| 6. "of whom"         post-position "with", with preceding genitive         "with whom"         verb stem, "be"         "(he/she/it) will be"   | kar         śonge         kar śonge         hṇ-         hṇbe  |
| A. Whom is she marrying?         (with whom her wedding will-be)   | A. kar śonge ' tar bie hṇbe "  |
| 7. surname, "Sen"  | śen   |
| B. She will marry the Sens' son.  | B. śeneder cheler śonge ' tar bie hṇbe "   |
| 8. noun stem, "boy"         qualifying suffix, see grammar, section 4.         "the boy"   | chele         -ṭi         cheleṭi   |
| A. What does the boy do?  | A. cheleṭe ' ki kṇre "   |

9. noun stem, "student"
"college student"      chattro kolejer chattro
- B. He is a college student.      B. śe ' kolejer chattro " 10. nominative plural suffix for nouns with reference to human beings      -era
- A. Where do the Sens live?      A. śenera ' kothae thaken " 11. 3rd person (honorific) pronoun stem      tã-nominative plural case ending for      -ra pronouns and noun stems with reference to human beings
"they (honorific)"      tãra
name of a town      rajpur noun stem, "market"      bajar post-position, "near", with preceding genitive      kache
"near the market"      bajarer kache
- B. They live in Rajpur, near the      B. tãra 'rajpure ' bajarer market.      kache ' thaken " 12. noun stem, "brother" nominative case plural ending for noun stems      bhai
"brothers"      -ra
"to the wedding"      bhaira
verb stem, "come"      biete 3rd person future "(he/she/it/they) will come"      aś-aśbe
- A. Will your brothers come to the      A. tomar bhaira ' biete wedding?      aśbe ki " 13. "all, every one" (reference to human beings)      śokole
- B. Yes, they will all come.      B. hã " tara śokole ' aśbe "

14. 2nd person (ord.) pronoun stem
nominative case plural ending
"you (ord. plural)"
noun stem, "night"
"in/on the night"
"on the night of the wedding"
noun stem, "song"
verb stem, "sing"
"will (you) sing songs"
Note irregular future; see Lesson 3, part 2. Section 3.5.

tom-
-ra tomra rattri rattre bier rattre gan
ga-gan gaibe

A. Will you sing songs on the night of the wedding?

A. tomra ' bier rattre ' gan gaibe ki "

15. first person pronoun stem nominative plural ending
"we"

am-
-ra amra

B. Yes, we shall sing songs.

B. hã " amra ' gan gaibo "

16. noun stem, "girl" genitive plural suffix
"of the girls"
"among", post-position with preceding genitive
"among the girls"
inflectional stem of interrogative, "who"
nominative plural suffix
"who" (nominative plural)

mee
-der meeder moddhe meeder moddhe

ka-
-ra kara

A. Who among the girls will sing songs?

A. meeder moddhe ' kara gan gaibe "

17. noun stem, "friend"
"friends" (nominative plural)
"friends of my sister" bondhu

bondhura
amar boner bondhura

B. Friends of my sister will sing.

B. amar boner bondhura ' gan gaibe "

18. A. What songs will they sing? A. tara ' ki gan gaibe "
19. name of a 14th or 15th century Vaisnava religious poet "servant of Candi" conḍidaś name of goddess conḍi
 "servant, slave" daś
 type of religious (Vaisnava) song kirtton
- B. They will sing kirtan (songs) of Candidas. B. tara conḍidaśer kirtton gaibe " 20. conjunction, "and, also" o
 "you also" tum.o
- A. Will you also sing songs? A. tumi.o ki ' gan gaibe "
21. B. Yes, I also will sing songs. B. hã ' ami.o 'gan gaibo "
22. 1st person pronoun stem ama-genitive plural suffix -der
 "of us, our" amader
- B. Will you listen to our songs? B. tumi ki 'amader gan ' sunbe "
23. A. Yes, I should like to listen. A. hã " sunbo "
24. "all right" beś
 "in that case" ta hole 2nd person ordinary pronoun stem tomaobjective case suffix (see Grammar, Section 1.) -ke verb stem, "call" ḍak-
 "I shall call" ḍakbo
 "I shall call you" tomake ḍakbo
 "I shall call on you tonight" rattre tomake ḍakbo
- B. All right. In that case, I shall call on you tonight. B. beś " ta hole ' rattre tomake ḍakbo "

25. "seven" śat
 qualifying suffix, see grammar,
 section 4.2. -ṭa
 "seven o'clock" śatṭa post-position, "before", with preceding genitive age
 "before seven o'clock" śatṭar age
- A. Will you call before seven o'clock? A. tumi ki ' śatṭar age ' ḍakbe " 26. "eight" aṭ
 qualifying suffix, see grammar,
 section 4.2. -ṭa
 "eight o'clock" aṭṭa post-position, "after", with preceding genitive pore
 "after eight o'clock" aṭṭar pore
- B. No, I shall call after eight. B. na " ami 'aṭṭar pore ḍakbo "

Lesson 4, part 2. Grammar.

1. The objective case, sentence 24.

1.1. For the time being, we can consider that the objective case in Bengali takes the singular case ending /-ke/ and the plural case ending /-der/ or /-derke/ for pronouns and nouns which have human reference. A more elaborate statement describing this case inflection will be given in Lesson 7.

1.2. The objective case suffix indicates that a personal noun or pronoun is the object of the verb. The object of the verb has no case suffix when it has an inanimate or abstract reference. For example.

Uninflected:

He speaks Bengali.
 I will hear the song.

śe'baṅla bole"
 ami'ganta śunbo"

Inflected:

I shall call your brother.      ami'tomar bhaike dakbo"
 I know him.                      ami'take jani"

2. Plurals.

2.1. A plural of a noun or pronoun indicates that the referent is more than one in number. Note that when a noun is accompanied by an adjective of number, the noun does not take a plural suffix. For example:

boy	chele	boys	chelera	two boys	dujon chele
sister	bon	sisters	bonera	many sisters	onek bon book	boi	books	boigulo	some books	kichu boi

2.2. The plurals of nouns referring to animate beings and of pronouns are formed by the addition of one of a set of plural suffixes to the noun or pronoun stem. These case suffixes are:

Nominative	-ra / -era
Genitive	-der / -eder
Objective	-der / -eder, -derke / -ederke

Except in pronominal stems and noun stems with /e/ final, where the suffix is always /-ra/, /-der/ (or /-derke/), there is free variation between /-ra ~ -era/, etc., irrespective of whether the stem has a consonant or vowel final.

2.3. A sample plural paradigm of /chele/, "boy" is:

"boys" (nominative)	chelera
"of boys" (genitive)	cheleder
"(to) boys" (objective)	cheleder, chelederke

2.4. A sample plural paradigm of the personal pronouns is:

Person	Nominative	Genitive	Objective
1st	amra	amader	amader, amaderke
2nd (ordinary)	tomra	tomader	tomader, tomaderke
2nd (inferior)	tora	toder	toder, toderke
2nd (honorific)	apnara	apnader	apnader, apnaderke
3rd (ordinary)	tara	tader	tader, taderke

3rd (honorific)      tāra                      tāder                      tāder, tāderke

Note: Pronouns and nouns referring to human beings are very rarely used in the locative. For such an expression as "among the boys", Bengali usually employs a so-called post-position or similar device -- /cheleder moddhe/ (see below, section 6.).

2.5. Although only nouns denoting animate objects and personal pronouns can form their plurals by means of the suffixes /-ra/, etc., all nouns (but not personal pronouns) can form plurals by means of the suffix /-gulo/. A sample plural paradigm of /boi/, "book", is:

"books" (nominative)	boigulo
"of books" (genitive)	boigulor
"books" (objective)	boiguloke (very rare -- inanimate nouns are usually uninflected in the objective case)
"on/in books" (locative)	boigulote

2.6. The suffix /-gulo/, when used with nouns referring to animate beings, indicates particularization:

what do boys (in general) do?	chele'ki kore"
what do (those particular) boys do?	chelegulo'ki kore"

2.7. Nouns denoting both animate and inanimate objects are uninflected in the plural when the reference is general (i.e., there is no contrast between singular and plural formations):

"mango falls", or "mangos fall"	am pɔre
"flower blooms", or "flowers bloom"	phul phote
"boy plays", or "boys play"	chele khæle

When the reference is particular, nouns denoting both animate and inanimate objects take /-gulo/ in the plural:

"mangos (in general) fall"	am pɔre
"(those particular) mangos fall"	amgulo pɔre
"flowers (in general) bloom"	phul phote
"(those particular) flowers bloom"	phulgulo phote
"boys (in general) play"	chele khæle
"(those particular) boys play"	chelegulo khæle

2.8. In sum:

2.8.1. With animate nouns and pronouns:

-ra/-era	nominative plural suffix, group reference.
-der/-eder	genitive plural suffix, group reference.
(-der/-eder, -derke/-ederke)	objective plural suffix, group reference.

2.8.2. With all nouns:

-gulo	nominative plural suffix, particular reference.
-gulor	genitive plural suffix, particular reference.
-guloke	objective plural suffix, particular reference.
-gulote	locative plural suffix, particular reference.

2.8.3. To put it another way: plurals of animate nouns can be formed in three ways:

2.8.3.1. The noun is uninflected, when the reference is to a general class of beings:

one girl	ekti mee
two girls	duṭi mee
He has one or more daughters.	tār mee ache "

2.8.3.2. The noun takes the suffix /-ra/-era, -der/-eder, -derke/-ederke/ when the reference is to a class or species or clan.

On the night of the wedding, the girls (all or some) will sing.	bier rattre ' meera gan gaibe "
---	---------------------------------

2.8.3.3. The noun takes the suffix /-gulo, -gulor, -guloke/ when the reference is to a particular or specific surveyed concrete group.

On the night of the wedding, those particular girls will sing.	bier rattre ' meegulo gan gaibe "
--	--------------------------------------

2.8.4. Plurals of inanimate nouns can be formed in two ways:

2.8.4.1. The noun is uninflected, when the reference is to the general class of objects:

Flowers are red.	phul lal
------------------	----------

2.8.4.2. The noun takes the suffix /-gulo, -gulor, -guloke, -gulote/ when the reference is to a particular group within the class:

Those flowers are red.                      phulgulo lal

2.9. Mutation drills.

2.10. In a sequence of plural nouns, only the last noun in the sequence takes the plural suffix. For example,

"the mangos and bananas and berries"      am kola ar jamgulo

3. Interrogative pronoun (ordinary) stem /ka-/, as in sentence 4.

The interrogative pronoun "who" is declined in this way:

	Singular	Plural
Nominative	ke (hon. ke)	kara (hon. kãra)
Genitive	kar (hon. kãr)	kader (hon. kãder)
Objective	ake (hon. kãke)	kader (hon. kãder)

The equivalent non-personal pronoun, "which", is /konṭa/:

which of your dogs	tomar kukurgulor'konṭa"
which of your books	tomar boigulor'konṭa"

4. Qualifier -ṭi, as in sentence 8.

4.1. In addition to the uses of the qualifier already mentioned (see Lesson 3, part 2. Section 2.) the qualifier can be added to a noun stem to give the force of the English definite article "the" or of the demonstrative "that". So here, /cheleṭi/, "the boy, that particular boy".

4.2. The use of the qualifiers /-ṭi/ and /-ṭa/.

The two qualifiers are used under the same circumstances with both animate and inanimate nouns. There is a slight qualitative distinction between the two. The qualifier /-ṭi/ is frequently used to suggest that the speaker has a personal, positive feeling with reference to the person or object about whom or which he is speaking, and /-ṭa/ in more ordinary circumstances. It is to be noted, however, that the /-ṭi/ suffix is often considered a polite form; as such, it can be used exclusively and in all types of circumstances with complete correctness.

5. Formation of the feminine.

5.1. Many, though by no means all, nouns in Bengali form a feminine by the addition of the suffixes /-i/, /-ini/, or /-ni/.

5.2. Some nouns which have /-o/ final replace the final /-o/ with /-i/, as:

chattro	"student" (masc.)	chattri	"student" (fem.)
---------	-------------------	---------	------------------

5.3. Nouns which have other vowels final frequently add the /-ni/ suffix to the noun stem, as:

dhopa	"washerman"	dhopani (l.t.)	"washerwoman"
-------	-------------	----------------	---------------

5.4. Nouns which have consonants final frequently add the suffix /-ini/ to the stem, as:

bagh	"tiger"	baghini	"tigeress"
------	---------	---------	------------

5.5. It should be carefully noted that the feminines in Bengali are a "closed class", that is, that one cannot always predict what the feminine of a given noun will be, or even if it has a feminine form. The student, therefore, will have to learn by experience and by rote which feminines exist and what their forms are.

6. Bengali phrases of place or time, in which, accompaniment, agency, etc., are expressed by means of post-positions. Most of these post-positions govern a preceding genitive. Some of the most common ones are:

śonge	"with"	amar śonge	"with me"
moddhe	"among"	meeder moddhe	"among the girls"
pore	"after (time)"	eṭar pore	"after this"
age	"before (time)"	eṭar age	"before this"
jonne	"for (the sake of)"	tar jonne	"for him/it, for his/ its sake"
opore	"on top of"	ṭebiler opore	"on top of the table"

7. Form possible Bengali sentences.

7.1.

Modifiers		Post-positional phrase		Subject	Verb
kader		kar	śonge	bie	habe
amar	boner, -eder	tar
tomar	bhaier -der	tomar
apnar	bondhur, -der	apnar
tar	cheler, -der	meer
amader		bondhur

7.2.

Post-positional phrase			Subject	Object	Verb
amar	boner, -eder	śonge	ami	gan	gai-b-	o/
tomar	bhaier, -der	moddhe	tumi	kaj	kor-b-	e/
tar	bondhur, -der	jonne	apni	ki		en
		pare	ke
			kara

Lesson 4, part 3. Pattern Drills.

1. Pattern: sentence 1.

- Why are there so many people in your room?
- Why are there so many friends at your house?
- Why are there so many people here?

-
- Why are there so many books on your table?
  - Why are there so many books in your room?

2. Pattern: sentences 2, 3.

- Today is my brother's wedding; that is why there is a crowd.
  - Today is my sister's wedding; that is why there is a crowd there.
  - Today is my son's wedding; that is why there is a crowd at my house.
-

- d. Today is my exam; that is why there are so many books.
- e. Today is my exam; that is why there are so many books here.

3. Pattern: sentence 4.

- a. Which of your brothers is getting married?
- b. Which of your sisters is getting married?
- c. Which of your sons is getting married?

-
- d. To which of your friends do the books belong * (i.e., of your friends, whose book?)
  - e. To which of your brothers do the books belong?

4. Pattern: sentence 5.

- a. It is my elder brother's wedding.
- b. It is my younger sister's wedding.
- c. It is my younger son's wedding.

-
- d. They are Ram's books.
  - e. They are my younger brother's books.

5. Pattern: sentence 6.

- a. Whom is he marrying? (use /bie hɔ-/)
- b. Whom is your sister marrying? (use /bie hɔ-/)
- c. Whom is your son marrying? (use /bie hɔ-/)

-
- d. With whom does your friend live?
  - e. With whom does your brother study?

6. Pattern: sentence 7.

- a. He is marrying Ram's daughter.
- b. She is marrying Ram's son.
- c. He is marrying my friend's daughter.

---

* There is an idiomatic peculiarity here. Any of the following is acceptable:

- tomar bondhuder moddhe'kar boi"
- tomar bondhuder moddhe' eigulo kar boi"
- tomar bondhuder moddhe'ei boigulo kar"

- d. He lives with his friends.
- e. He studies with me every day.

7. Pattern: sentence 8.

- a. What does your elder brother do?
- b. What work does the boy do?
- c. What work does your friend do?

-
- d. What does he study?
  - e. What do you (plural) study?

8. Pattern: sentence 9.

- a. He is a student.
- b. He is a college student.
- c. He is an artist.

-
- d. He studies Bengali.
  - e. We learn songs.

9. Pattern: sentence 10.

- a. Where do they live?
- b. Where does the boy live?
- c. Where does he live?

-
- d. Where does he study?
  - e. Where will you (plural) study?

10. Pattern: sentence 11.

- a. They live near the city.
- b. He lives in Calcutta, near my house.
- c. He lives in Calcutta, near your house.

-
- d. He studies at the college near the market.
  - e. We will study here, near the window.

11. Pattern: sentence 12.

- a. Will your sisters come to your brother's wedding?
- b. Will your friends come to your sister's wedding?
- c. Will your friends come to your son's wedding?

-
- d. Will you go to his college?
  - e. Will he come daily to your room?

12. Pattern: sentence 13.

- a. Yes, they will come.
- b. Yes, they will all come.
- c. Yes, they will all come to the wedding.

-
- d. Yes, I will go to his college.
  - e. Yes, he will come to my room every day.

13. Pattern: sentence 14.

- a. Will you (plural) hear songs on the night of the wedding?
- b. Will they sing good songs on the night of the wedding?
- c. Will they sing kirtan [kirtton] (songs) on the night of the wedding?

-
- d. Will you study Bengali at the college?
  - e. Will you study music with him?

14. Pattern: sentence 15.

- a. Yes, we will listen to many songs.
- b. Yes, they will sing many good songs.
- c. Yes, they will sing many kirtan (songs).

-
- d. Yes, I will study Bengali there.
  - e. Yes, we will learn music.

15. Pattern: sentence 16.

- a. Who among the boys will sing songs?
- b. Who among the girls will sing songs?
- c. Who among you (plural) will sing songs?

-
- d. Who among your friends will study Bengali?
  - e. Who among your friends will learn music?

16. Pattern: sentence 17.

- a. Friends of my son will sing songs.

- b. Friends of my daughter will sing songs.
- c. Friends of mine will sing songs.

-
- d. They all will study Bengali.
  - e. My friends all will learn music.

17. Pattern: sentence 18.

- a. What songs will they sing?
- b. What songs will her friends sing?
- c. What songs will your friends sing?

-
- d. What writing will they read?
  - e. What songs will they learn?

18. Pattern: sentence 19. (Use /-gulo/ throughout, where plural is required.)

- a. They will sing many songs.
- b. They will sing kirtan songs.
- c. We will sing Rabindranath's songs.

-
- d. They will read poetry.
  - e. They will learn bhajan [bhajon] (songs).

19. Pattern: sentence 20.

- a. Will you also sing many songs?
- b. Will you also sing kirtan (songs)?
- c. Will you also sing Candidaś's [conḍidaśer] songs?

-
- d. Will you also read poetry?
  - e. Will you also learn bhajan (songs)?

20. Pattern: sentence 21, 22.

- a. Yes, I also shall sing songs. Will you listen?
- b. Yes, I also shall sing kirtan (songs). Will you listen to the songs?
- c. Yes, I also shall sing his songs. Will you listen?

-
- d. Yes, I also shall read poetry. Will you listen to poetry?
  - e. Yes, I also shall learn bhajan (songs). Will you listen to a bhajan (song)?

21. Pattern: sentence 23.

- a. Yes, I should like to listen.
- b. No, I should not like to listen.
- c. Yes, we all should like to listen.

-
- d. Yes, I should like to listen to a poem.
  - e. Yes, I should like to hear a song.

22. Pattern: sentence 24.

- a. All right. In that case, you will hear the songs tonight.
- b. All right. In that case I shall not call you tonight.
- c. All right. In that case, you will come here tonight.

-
- d. All right. In that case, I shall read a poem tonight.
  - e. All right. In that case, I shall call you tonight.

23. Pattern: sentence 25.

- a. Will I come before eight o'clock?
- b. Will you sing before nine o'clock?
- c. Will you call me before ten o'clock?

-
- d. Will you read before seven o'clock?
  - e. Will you call me before six o'clock?

24. Pattern: sentence 26.

- a. No, I shall call you after nine.
- b. No, I shall sing after ten.
- c. No, I shall call you after ten.

-
- d. No, I shall read after eight.
  - e. No, I shall call you after seven.

Lesson 4, part 4. Sentence Drill.

Note: Use ordinary plural forms throughout.

Drill 1

--There will be a celebration at our house today. Will you come?
 --What time will it be?

- It will be at eight o'clock tonight.
- Will there be a crowd of people?
- Yes, many people will come.
- Then I shall not come. I do not like a crowd.
- But they are all your friends. Ram and Naresh will come there.
- All right, then, we shall come. What is the celebration?
- Today is Sarasvati-puja [śrośśoti-pujo]. Do you know who Sarasvati is?
- Yes, she is the goddess of learning and of art.
- Yes. We shall sing songs on the day of Sarasvati-puja.
- What kind of songs will you sing?
- Kirtan [kirtton] songs. The tune of these songs is very beautiful.
- Who are the writers of kirtan-songs?
- Vaisnava-bhaktas. Their names are Candidas [conḍidaś], Jnanadas, [gāndaś], and Vidyapati [biddapoti].
- Are they modern writers?
- No, they are very ancient.
- Who (plural) will sing their songs?
- Some [baijis] will come. My friends will also sing.
- I shall not sing. My voice is bad.

Drill 2

- Somdev will come to my house tonight. Will you come with him?
- What time will he go?
- He will come at seven o'clock sharp. Probhas will come too.
- Will Ila sing? She has a beautiful voice.
- Yes, she will sing kirtan songs.
- Then I shall come. Those songs are very sweet.
- Many people will be coming. They will all bring their instruments.
- What is the celebration?
- Today is Sarasvati [śrośśoti] puja in Bengal.
- Will the people of Bengal sing songs for her?
- Yes, she is the goddess of music.
- Then I shall come at seven.

Lesson 4, part 5. Vocabulary.

porikkha	examination
utśob	celebration

bidda	learning	śekh-	learn kāla	art	aś-	come
śongit	music	an-	bring, fetch śur	melody	pachondo kar-	like
śomae	time
boisṇab	Vaiṣṇava	roj; protidin	everyday, daily
bhaktō	devotee	aj	today
pachondo	liking	kal (agami kal--)	tomorrow
dada	elder brother	kal (gato kal --)	yesterday
gula	throat, voice	śakole	all rattri	night
śorośśoti	Sarasvati
debi	goddess	tai	therefore, that is why jontro	instrument	kintu	but
śilpi	artist
baiji	professional female singer and dancer
bandhobi	friend (feminine) adhunik	modern purono	old
miśṭi	sweet pracin	ancient
Idioms:	kāṭar śomae aśbe	What time will you come?
	aṭṭar śomae aśbo	I shall come at eight.
	aj rattre (rate)	tonight

Lesson 5, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and translation	Bengali
1. honorific suffix attached to the given name of a male person addressed. noun compound, "mother and father" (see grammar, section 1.)	-babu ma-baba
A. Ram, where do your mother and father live?	A. rambabu ' apnar ma-baba ' kothae thaken "
2. "before, formerly" name of a city, capital of East Pakistan "in Dacca" simple past tense stem of verb /ach-/, "be" sign of the simple past tense honorific verbal ending "(they - honorific) were"	age dhaka dhakae chi- -l- -en (tāra) chilen
B. My mother and father were in Dacca before.	B. amar ma-baba age ' dhakae chilen "
3. "this" morpheme indicating time "this time, now" name of a city, capital of West Bengal	e/æ -kon ækhon kolkata
B. Now they live in Calcutta.	B. ækhon ' kolkatae thaken "

4. 2nd person (hon.) pronoun stem genitive case plural suffix
"of you (hon. plural)"
- apna-
-der apnader
- B. Where is your home?
- B. apnader bari ' kothae "
5. 1st person pronoun stem
genitive case plural suffix
"of us"
name of a city and a district in western West Bengal 3rd person simple past tense verbal ending
"it (she/ he) was"
- ama-
-der amader

birbhum

-o
chilo
- A. Our house was in Birbhum before.
- A. amader bari age ' birbhume
chilo "
6. 1st person nominative pronoun stem
nominative plural case suffix
"we"
conjunctive, "too, also"
"we also"
- am-
-ra amra
o amra.o
- A. Now we also live in Calcutta.
- A. ækhon amra.o ' kolkatae thaki "
7. "which"
noun stem, "place"
"in which place"
"in which part of Calcutta"
- kon
jaega kon jaegae
kolkatae kon jaegae
- B. In which part of Calcutta do you live?
(Calcutta-in which place-in you live)
- B. kolkatae ' kon jaegae ' thaken "
8. noun stem, "tank" -- small man-made pond for water storage noun stem, "bank, edge, side"
- dighi
dhar

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| "on the side of the tank"   | dighir dhare  |
| A. Now we live by the side of the tank.  | A. amra ækhon ' dighir dhare ' thaki "             |
| 9. name of a section of north Calcutta1st person simple past verbal ending"(we) were"   | śambajar-um(amra) chilum                   |
| A. Formerly we were in Syambazar.  | A. age ' śambajare chilum "                        |
| 10. post-position, "with" with preceding genitive"with you (honorific)""more, and, in addition""who in addition, who else" | śongeapnar śongearar ke                    |
| B. Who else lives with you in Calcutta?  | B. apnar śonge ' kolkatae ' ar ke thaken "         |
| 11. noun stem, "family"   | śonśar  |
| A. Our family is very large.   | A. amader śonśar ' khub boro "                     |
| 12. noun stem, "elder brother"noun stem, "elder brother's wife"  | dadaboudi  |
| A. My mother, father, elder brother, and sister-in-law live with me.   | A. amar śonge ' ma-baba ' dada ' ar boudi thaken " |
| 13. "how many"qualifier"how many"noun stem, "boy"noun stem, "girl"compound noun, "boys and girls, children"      | kə--ṭikəṭichelemeechele-mee |
| B. How many children does your elder brother have?   | B. apnar dadar ' kəṭi chele-mee "                  |

14. alternative stem of numeral "one"
qualifier
"one"
stem of numeral "two", used in compounds
qualifier
"two"
- ek-
-ṭi ekṭi

du-ṭi duṭi
- A. My elder brother has a son and two daughters.
- A. amar dadar 'ekṭi chele '
ar duṭi mee "
15. noun stem, "father's younger brother"
noun stem, "father's younger brother's wife"
compound noun, "father's younger brother and his wife"
nominative plural case suffix
"father's younger brothers and their wives"
- kaka

kakima

kaka-kakima
-ra

kaka-kakimara
- B. Do your aunts and uncles live with you?
- B. apnar kaka-kakimara ki '
apnar sange thaken "
16. "now"
emphatic suffix, here translatable as "even"
"even now, still"
- ækhon

-o ækhono
- A. No, my aunts and uncles still live in Syamabazar.
- A. na " kaka-kakimara ' ækhono sambajare thaken " 17. B. What does your eldest uncle do?
- B. apnar boro kaka ' ki koren "
18. loan word, "professor"
- prophasar
- A. Before, he was a professor.
- A. tini age ' prophesar chilen "
19. "some, something"
emphatic suffix, see Grammar,
section 7.
- kichu

-i

"something (emphatic)" kichui

"nothing at all" see Grammar, section 7.

kichu na

A. Now he does nothing at all.

A. ækhon ' kichui koren na "

20. "that"

śe

"what"

ki

"what is that?" or "how can that be?"

śe ki

3rd person (honorific) pronoun stem

tā

objective case ending

-ke

"him (objective)"

tāke

high stem of verb "see"

dekh-

simple past tense sign

-l-

1st person past tense suffix

-um

"I saw"

dekhlum

B. How can that be? I saw him in the office (just) now.

B. śe ki " ami ækhon ' tāke ophiśe dekhlum "

21. A. In what office did you see him?

A. kon ophiśe ' tāke ækhon dekhlen "

22. B. I saw him in his office.

B. ami tāke ' tār ophiśe '
dekhlum "

23. perhaps

hæto

A. Perhaps he has some business in the office.

A. tār hæto ' ophiśe kono kaj ' ache "

24. but

kintu

A. But he doesn't work there.

A. kintu tini śekhane ' kaj koren na "

Lesson 5, part 2. Grammar

1. Compound nouns.

Compound nouns are common in Bengali; they are made up of two or more noun stems. The case or number inflection, where there is one, is added to the last member of the compound only. Therefore such compounds are treated inflectionally as simple nouns. Examples:

ma-baba	"mother-father, mother and father"
bhai-bon	"brother-sister, brother and sister"

In some cases, meanings of compound nouns are extended beyond the meaning of their elements:

gach-pala	"trees and things like that"
bone'gach-palagulo' taratari gojae"	"In the forest trees and other things (i.e., vines, bushes, etc.) grow very quickly."

2. Simple past tense.

2.1. The primary uses of the simple past tense are:

- a. Connected narrative to describe a series of actions in past time.
- b. To express action which has taken place in the immediate past.

2.2. The sign of the simple past tense is -l-, which is added to the high stem of all verbs except those of CVC- shape with /a/-vowel stems.

2.3. The personal endings for the simple past tense are:

1st	-um (Note alternatives: -am, -em.)
2nd (ordinary)	-e
2nd (inferior)	-i
2nd (honorific)	-en
3rd (ordinary)	-o
3rd (honorific)	-en

2.4. Examples:

ken-	"buy"	ami	kin-l-um
		tumi	kin-l-e
		tui	kin-l-i
		apni	kin-l-en

		śe	kin-l-o
		tini	kin-l-en
kər-	"do"	ami	korlum
		tumi	korle, etc.
khæl-	"play"	ami	khellum
		tumi	khelle
oṭh-	"rise up"	ami	uṭhlum
		tumi	uṭhle, etc.

But CaC- stems have no vowel change:

jan-	"know"	ami	janlum, etc.
------	--------	-----	--------------

Stems of shape CV-, even where the stem-vowel is /a/, take the high stem. For example:

pa-	"get"	ami	pe-l-um
		tumi	pe-l-e
		tui	pe-l-i apni	pe-l-en
		śe	pe-l-o
		tini	pe-l-en

2.5. The verb /ja-/, "go", has an irregular stem in the simple past. The stem /ja-/, is inflected in this way:

ami	ge-l-um
tumi	ge-l-e
tui	ge-l-i
apni	ge-l-en
śe	gæ-l-o
tini	ge-l-en

2.6. Give full paradigms for the following verb stems.

por-	"read"	phæl-	"drop"
śon-	"hear"	de-	"give"
par-	"be able"	kha-	"eat"

2.7. In lesson 7, more intensive work on the simple past is given.

3. The stem of the simple past tense of the verb "be" (/ach-/) is /chi-/. The sign of the simple past and the simple past personal endings are added to this stem. The simple past is the only past tense in which this verb occurs.

4. Plural verbal endings. Note that there is no variation in verbal personal endings between the singular and plural numbers. Thus:

ami jani	"I know"	amra jani	"we know" etc.
----------	----------	-----------	----------------

5. The qualifier /-ṭi/, as in sentence 13.

The form /kṛ-/ is an adjective of quantity. The use of the qualifier in sentences 13 and 14 is the use which we have noticed before -- namely, that the qualifier is added to numerals and other adjectives denoting quantity when followed by a noun.

6. The bound morpheme /-khon/ indicates time:

ækhon	"this time, now"
kṛkhon	"which time, when"
ṇekkhon	"much time"

7. There are two particles, /-i/ and /-o/, which give emphasis to the word to which they are attached. Often an emphatic negative is expressed in Bengali by the use of the construction

(positive)-(emphatic) ... (verb) + na

as in sentence 19:

something-(emphatic) does-do not	kichui koren na
He does nothing at all.

Other examples, using the /-o/ emphatic suffix as in sentence 16, might be:

they sometimes-(emphatic) there do-go not	tara kṛkhono'śekhane jae na"
They never go there (at all).
they somewhere-(emphatic) do-go not	tara kothao'jae na"
They do not go anywhere (at all).
He reads no books (at all).	śe kono boi'pore na"

8. When the subject of a sentence is plural the complement takes no plural suffix; e.g.,

They are writers.

tāra'lekhok"

They were students.

tāra'chattro chilen"

9. Construct possible Bengali sentences:

Modifier	Subject	Verbal Modifiers		Verb
amar	ma-baba/ra		kothae	chi -	-l-	um/e/en/o
amader	bhai-bon/era	pore	kolkatae	thak -	-b-	o/e/en/e
tor	chele-mee/ra	ekhon	śohore
toder		age	ekhane
tomar			e jaegae
tomader
	ami/amra	pore	dighir dhare
	tui/tora	ekono	tader śonge
	tumi/tomra		tar kache
	apni/apnara

Lesson 5, part 3. Patterns.

1. Pattern: sentence 1.

- Where do your brother and sister live?
- Where do your children live?
- Where do your brothers and sisters live?
- Where do your aunts and uncles live?
- Where do their children live?

2. Pattern: sentence 2.

- They were in Calcutta before.
- They were in Dacca before.
- Their house was in Faridpur [phoridpur].
- They were with Ram before.
- They were in Ram's house before.

Pattern: sentence 3, 4.

- a. Now they live in Dacca. Where is your home?
- b. Now they live in Calcutta. Where is your home?
- c. Now they live in Burdwan [bɔrdhoman]. Where is your brother's home?
- d. Now they live with me. Where is your uncle's home?
- e. Now they live with their father. Where is your children's home?

3. Pattern: sentence 5, 6.

- a. Now we also live in Dacca.
- b. Now we also live in Calcutta.
- c. Now he also lives in Burdwan.
- d. Now he also lives with his children.
- e. Now they also live with us.

4. Pattern: sentence 7.

- a. In which part of Dacca do you live?
- b. In which part of the city do you live?
- c. In which part of Burdwan does he live?
- d. In which part of the house does he live?
- e. In which room of the house do they live?

5. Pattern: sentence 8.

- a. Now we live by the side of the river.
- b. Now we live by the side (use /paśe/) of the Kali temple.
- c. Now he lives by the side (use /paśe/) of the temple.
- d. Now he lives beside (use /paśe/) me.
- e. Now they live in the big room.

6. Pattern: sentence 10.

- a. Who else lives with you?
- b. Who else lives by the side of the temple?
- c. Who else lives with him?
- d. Who else lives beside you?
- e. Who else lives in that room?

7. Pattern: sentence 11.

- a. Our family is very large.

- b. Many large families.
- c. His family is very large.
- d. My brother lives with his large family.
- e. Our family is very small.

Pattern: sentence 12.

- a. My aunts and uncles live with us.
- b. My brothers and sisters live near (/kache/) us.
- c. His children live with him.
- d. My uncle also lives with him.
- e. Only the children live in that room.

8. Pattern: sentence 13.

- a. How many children do they have?
- b. How many children does your sister have?
- c. How many children does he have?
- d. How many children does your brother have?
- e. How many children do you have?

9. Pattern: sentence 14.

- a. They have two sons and two daughters.
- b. She has one son and two daughters.
- c. He has three sons and four daughters.
- d. My brother has one son and one daughter.
- e. We have one son and one daughter.

10. Pattern: sentence 15.

- a. Do your mother and father live with you?
- b. Do your aunts and uncles live near you?
- c. Do his brothers live with him?
- d. Does your sister live with him?
- e. Do your brothers live with you?

11. Pattern: sentence 16.

- a. No, they still live in Calcutta.
- b. No, they still live in Dacca.
- c. No, they still live in the city.
- d. No, she still lives with my brother.
- e. No, they still live with my father.

12. Pattern: sentence 17.

- a. What does your father do?
- b. What does your uncle do?
- c. What do your brothers do?
- d. What does your brother do?
- e. What do they do?

13. Pattern: sentence 18.

- a. Formerly, he was a writer.
- b. Formerly, he was a poet.
- c. Formerly, they were writers.
- d. Formerly, he was an artist.
- e. Formerly, they were students.

Pattern: sentence 19.

- a. Now he writes nothing at all.
- b. Now he reads nothing at all.
- c. Now they write nothing at all.
- d. Now he does nothing at all.
- e. Now they study nothing at all.

14. Pattern: sentence 20.

- a. How can that be? I saw his writing just now.
- b. How can that be? I saw his book of poetry just now.
- c. How can that be? I saw their writing just now.
- d. How can that be? I saw him in the studio just now.
- e. How can that be? I saw them in class just now.

15. Pattern: sentence 21.

- a. Which book of his* did you see?
- b. Which poetry book did you see?
- c. Which writing did you see?
- d. In which studio did you see him?
- e. In which class did you see them?

16. Pattern: sentence 22.

- a. I saw his poetry book.

---

* tār kon boita

- b. I saw his big book.
- c. I saw their new book.
- d. I saw him in his friend's studio.
- e. I saw them in Bengali class.

17. Pattern: sentence 23, 24.

- a. He wrote poetry, but he doesn't write now.
- b. He wrote books, but he doesn't write now.
- c. They wrote books, but they don't write now.
- d. He went there, but he doesn't work there now.
- e. They went to class, but they don't study there now.

Lesson 5, part 4. Sentence Drill.

Drill 1

- Shall I sit with you a while?
- Yes, we shall gossip a while. I have (just) finished my work.
- How many children do you have?
- I have two sons and two daughters.
- How old are your daughters?
- My older girl is twenty. The younger is only four.
- Where does the older one live?
- She lives with us at home.
- What does she do?
- She used to be a student before. Now she is a teacher in Calcutta.
- In what part of Calcutta is her school?
- It is in north Calcutta, by the side of Citpur Road.
- How many children are there in her class?
- About ten, I think. There were twenty, but ten have just gone home.

Drill 2.

- Where do your brother and sister-in-law live now?
- They used to live in Birbhum. Now they live in Calcutta, near you.
- Where in Calcutta do they live?
- In south Calcutta, near the Kali temple.
- What does your brother do?
- He used to be a teacher. Now he is an artist.

- Yes, I know now.* Their children go to school with our children.
 --Do they do often to the temple?
 --Yes, but I never go to the temple. He often comes into my shop.
 --Is he well?
 --Yes, I saw him a little while ago. He is well.

Lesson 5, part 5. Vocabulary.

śikkhək	teacher (m.)	dəkh-	see, look
śer		ja-	go
maśtar mosae		śeś kər-	finish
sikkhoitri	teacher (f.)
didimoni		paśe	beside
chattro	student (m.)	bhirore	within (post-position)
chattri	student (f.)	bhitore
dhopa	washerman	kache	near (post-position)
dhopani	washerwoman
dokan	shop	kichukkhon	a while mondir	temple	əkhon	now
iśkul	school	ekhuni	now (emphatic); just now śonśar	family	prae	often poribar		kəkhono na	never roḍ	road
rasta		uttor	north
bharot	India	dokkhin	south
bharotbərśo		purbo	east
		pościm	west
Idioms:	amar mone həe	I think, it seems to me
	golpo kər-	talk, gossip
	eimattro	just now
	śe ki'bhalo ache"	Is he well?
	apni ki'bhalo achen"	Are you (hon.) well?
	tumi ki'bhalo acho"	Are you (ord.) well?

* Use simple past -- the recognition has taken place in the immediate past.

Lesson 6, part 1. Conversation.*

Analysis and translation	Bengali
1. Note: no subject is expressed; /apni/ is understood from the context and verbal suffix. verb stem, "want" honorific verbal ending "(you honorific) want"	ca- -n can
A. What do you want?	A. ki can "
2. B. I want a book.	B. ekta boi cai "
3. 1st person pronoun stem objective case ending (see grammar, section 1.1) "(to) me" (objective) "that, (those)" "new" "history" noun stem, "book" plural suffix "books" verb stem, "show" honorific ending for verb stems with vowel final	ama- -ke amake oi notun itihās boi -gulo boigulo dækha- -n

* With apologies to the booksellers of Bengal, who do not act this way at all, and suffer from our attempt to combine the bargaining situation with vocabulary and grammar useful to the student.

"please show" (for this imperative usage, see grammar, section 2.2.)

dækhan

B. Please show me those new history books.

B. amake ' oi notun itihas boigulo ' dækhan "

4. high stem of verb "buy"
sign of future tense
honorific verbal ending
"(you hon.) will buy"

kin-
-b-en (apni) kinben

A. Will you buy the books now?

A. apni ki ækhon ' boigulo kinben "

5. high stem of verb "look,
look at"
sign of future tense
1st person future verbal ending
"(I) shall look at"

dekh-
-b-
-o dekhbo

Note: the change in word order, with /ækhon/ coming first in the sentence, emphasizes the concept now, at this time.

B. No, I shall look at the books
now.

B. na " ækhon ami ' boigulo
dekhbo "

6. "afterwards"
"this"
"plural suffix"
"these"
high stem of verb "take" ending for past active participle
PAP, "taking, having taken",
see Grammar, section 4.
stem of verb "go"
"take away (i.e., take and go)"

pore
e
-gulo egulo ni-
-e nie janie ja-

B. Afterwards I shall take them.
(Afterwards I them having-taken shall-go)

B. pore ami ' egulo nie jabo "

- |  |  |
|--|--|
| 7. "the books"         "of the books"         noun stem, "price"         verb stem, "give"         sign of future tense         honorific verbal ending         "you (hon.) will give"  | boigulo         boigulor         dam         de-         -b-         -en         (apni) deben |
| A. Will you pay for the books now?   | A. apni ki ækhon ' boigulor dam         deben "   |
| 8. noun stem, "brother"         objective case ending         "(to) brother"         verb stem, "send"         "you (hon.) will send" --         indicative or imperative;         for the imperative usage,         see grammar, section 3. | bhai         -ke         bhaike         paṭha-         paṭhaben   |
| B. No, send (them) to my brother.  | B. na " amar bhaike ' paṭhaben "   |
| 9. B. He will pay.   | B. še ' dam debe "   |
| 10. "the price"         high stem of irregular verb         "give"         honorific ending         "please give"         (imperative -- see grammar,         section 5.1.)   | damṭa         di-         -n         din   |
| A. No, please pay now.   | A. na " apni ækhon ' damṭa din "   |
| 11. "all right"         "how much"         "how much (price)"   | accha         koto         koto dam   |
| B. All right. How much are         the books?   | B. accha " boigulor ' koto dam "   |

12. numeral, "three" tin-form of qualifier used with /tin/ -te Note: no plural suffix is used with the noun when the noun is accompanied by an adjective of quantity.
 "these three books" ei tințe boi
 "the price of these three books" ei tințe boier dam
- A. The price of these three books is five rupees. A. ei tințe boier dam ' pãc țaka " 13. "very great, excessive" beși
 "very greatly excessive" boro beși
- B. That's too much. B. boro beși dam " 14. numeral, "four" car
 "rupee" țaka
 locative case ending -te in (within) four rupees" car țakate
- B. Give me the books for (i.e., within) four rupees. B. car țakate ' ei boigulo din "
15. noun stem, "book" boi plural suffix -gulo
 locative case ending -te
 "in books" boigulote
 "five" pãc
 "hundred" só
 "page" pata
- A. No. There are five hundred pages in these books. A. na " ei boigulote ' pãc só pata "
16. "so much" æto
 "small" kəm
 "so small" æto kəm
 noun stem, "price" dam
 locative case ending -e

locative case ending
 "in (within) price"
 "within (for) so small a price"

-e dame
 æto kəm dame

A. I shall not give (them to you) for such a small price.

A. æto kəm dame ' debo na "

17. "book"
 "the (particular) book"
 "this (particular) book"

boi boiṭa
 ei boiṭa

B. How much will you sell this book for.

B. kəto dame ' ei boiṭa deben "

18. A. I'll give (you) this one for two rupees.

A. du ṭakate ' eṭa debo "

19. "but"
 "in this (particular) book"
 Note that the locative suffix comes after the qualifier.
 "only"
 "hundred"
 "one hundred"
 "one hundred pages"

kintu
 ei boiṭate mattro
 śo æk śo
 æk śo pata

B. But there are only one hundred pages in this book.

B. kintu ' ei boiṭate ' mattro
 æk śo pata "

20. B. Why is it so expensive?

B. æto dam kəno "

21. "this"
 "this (particular) one"
 "in this (particular) one"
 "picture"
 "there is, there are"

e eṭa eṭate chobi ache

A. There are many pictures in this one.

A. eṭate ' ŋnek chobi ache "

22. B. Will you give me the book for one rupee?

B. æk takate ' boiṭa deben ki "

23. "another"

onno

"shop"

dokan

"in another shop"

onno dokane

high stem of verb "look"

dekh-

honorific imperative ending

-un

"please look"

dekhun

A. No, please go and look in another shop.

A. na " apni onno dokane ' dekhun "

Lesson 6, part 2. Grammar.

1. The objective case inflectional ending, as in sentences 3 ff.

1.1. The objective case ending is used with pronouns and nouns denoting persons. Except in certain circumstances, inanimate nouns are left uninflected in the objective case (see below, 1.3.)

1.2. When a verb has both a "direct" and an "indirect" object, the case ending is used with the indirect object, and the direct object is left uninflected. Thus, in sentence 3, the indirect object /amake/ takes the case inflection, while the direct object /boigulo/ is left uninflected.

Another example of this situation is:

amake'tomar cheleṭa dao"

Give your son to me / give me your son

1.3. A rare exception to the rule that inanimate nouns do not take objective case inflection, is when a particular object or group of objects is designated. In sentence 14, for example, where particular books are under discussion, the objective case ending may be used, thus:

Give me the (particular) car takate'ei boiguloke din" books for four rupees.

This option is, however, not usually taken in normal speech.

1.4. Some Bengali verbs do not take indirect objects. Among these verbs are "read" and "sing"; in such cases, a post-positional construction is used. This will be treated in its proper place.

2. The formation of the present imperative, as in sentence 3.

Do not let our use of the term "imperative" confuse you. There are reasons for our using it to designate both a command, ("Go!", "Read!", "Please go!", "Please read!") and what is sometimes called an "optative", ("Let me/him go", "Let me/him read"). The grammatical analysis of the construction "let me go" in English and Bengali is too complex to allow explication here. Assume, then, that we arbitrarily assign the term "first person imperative" to such constructions as "let me read", and the term "third person imperative" to such constructions as "let him read".

2.1. The present imperative of regular verb stems is formed by the use of the present indicative, usually without the personal pronoun in the first and second person ordinary. Thus:

kini	"let me/us buy"	jai	"let me/us go"
keno	"buy!"	jao	"go!"

2.2. In the 3rd person ordinary and in the 2nd and 3rd person honorific forms, the imperative is formed by the addition of the suffixes /-uk, -k/ and /-un, -n/, respectively; the use of the alternative suffixes depends upon whether the verb stem has a consonant or vowel final.

kinun	"please buy"	jan (colun)	"please go"
kinuk	"let him/her/it (ord.) buy"	jak (coluk)	"let him/her/it (ord.) go"
kinun	"let him (hon.) buy"	jan (colun)	"let him (hon.) go"

2.3. Give imperative forms for the following:

por-kor-sonothphael-
pa-

3. Future imperative, as in sentence 8.

The future imperative (i.e., the indicated action is to be performed at some time in the future) of all persons except for the 2nd person ordinary is the simple future without the personal pronoun. The formation of the future imperative of the 2nd person ordinary will be discussed in a later lesson.

4. Formation and use of the past active participle, as in sentence 6.

The past active participle is formed by the high stem of a verb with the ending /-e/. There are many "compound verbs" in Bengali, as here in sentence 6, some of which consist of the non-finite past active participle plus an inflected or finite form of another verb. The past active participle is often translatable either as "-ing" or "having ...-en"; here, for example, either "taking" or "having taken". There will be a more full discussion of the past active participle and of compound verbs in Lesson 8.

5. The verbs /de-/, "give" (as in sentence 9) and /ne-/, "take" form an irregular verb class. A paradigm of the simple present, past, and future tenses will be:

Person	Present	Past	Future
1st	dii	dilum	debo/dobo
2nd (ord.)	dao	dile	debe
2nd (hon.)	dæn	dilen	deben
2nd (inf.)	diś	dili	dibi
3rd (ord.)	dæe	dilo	debe
3rd (hon.)	dæn	dilen	deben

5.1. The 3rd person ordinary and the honorific imperative forms are also irregular, being formed by means of the high-stem /di-/:

3rd (ord.)	dik
2nd and 3rd (ord.)	din

6. The use of the locative in various contexts, including the buying and selling context, is a peculiar one. The best translation for such a use might be "within what price ..." "within five rupees ...", etc. Thus:

koto dame deben

how-much price-within give-will
How much will you sell it for?

7. Form possible Bengali sentences:

7.1.

Subject	(Int.)	Indirect Object	Direct Object	Verbal Modifier	Verb	(Neg.)
ami	(ki)	amake	ki			(na)
tumi		tomake	eṭa	ækhon
apni		apnake	oṭa	pore	dækhaśe		take	ækṭa		de-
tini		tāke	duṭo	aj	paṭha-
amra		amader (ke)	baṅla	kal
tomra		tomader (ke)	boi	śekhane	ken-apnara		apnaker (ke)	notun	onno	nie ja-tara		tader (ke)	itihāś	dokane
tāra		tāder (ke)	boṛo	dam	de-
ram			boier
lekhok		ramke	boigulor bhaike lekhokke

7.2.

Subject	Modifier	Object	(Int.)	Verb
ami	boier	dam		antumi	boigulor			de-
	eṭar		koto
	oṭar		ki egulor

7.3.

Subject	Indirect Object	Modifier	(Int.)	Direct Object	Verb	(Neg.)
ami	amake	æk takate	(ki)	eṭa	de-	(na)
tumi	tomake	du tin		oṭa	paṭhabhaike	koto dame		boiṭa	kenboṛo
		choṭo

7.4.

Modifier	Subject
boiṭate	mattro æk śo pata
boigulote	du śo
	onek

Lesson 6, part 3. Patterns.

Note: from this point for the next several lessons, only the first three of the patterns will be heard on the tape. The last two you will be expected to produce in class.

1. Pattern: sentence 1. (use honorific)

- a. What do you hear?
- b. What do you see?
- c. What do you buy?

-
- d. What do you read?
  - e. What do you want?

2. Pattern: sentence 2.

- a. I hear a song.
- b. I see a book.
- c. I buy books.

-
- d. I read books.
  - e. I want many books.

Pattern: sentence 3, grammar section 1.4.

- a. Please sing that song.
- b. Please show me that book.
- c. Please show me those new books.

-
- d. Please send me those new books
  - e. Please send me those new Bengali books.

3. Pattern: sentence 4.

- a. Will you hear the song now?
- b. Will you listen to the poetry now?
- c. Will you buy the books in this shop?

-
- d. Will you buy the books now?
  - e. Will you read the books afterwards?

4. Pattern: sentence 5.

- a. No, I shall read this book now.
- b. No, I shall read the poetry now.
- c. No, I shall read the books here.

-
- d. No, I shall read the books now.
  - e. Yes, I shall not read the books now.

Pattern: sentence 6.

- a. Afterwards I shall listen to the song.
- b. Afterwards I shall listen to the poetry.
- c. Afterwards I shall take them.

-
- d. Afterwards I shall buy them.
  - e. Afterwards I shall read them.

5. Pattern: sentence 7.

- a. Will you pay for that book now?
- b. Will you pay for that poetry book now?
- c. Will you pay for those books now?

-
- d. Will you pay for them now?
  - e. Will you pay for the Bengali books now?

6. Pattern: sentence 8.

- a. No. Send it to my brother.
- b. No. Send the book to my sister.
- c. No. Send them to my father.

-
- d. No. Send the books to my brother.

- e. No. Send the books to me.

Pattern: sentence 9.

- a. He will pay you.
b. She will pay you.
c. He will pay for the books (i.e., "he will give the price of the books").

-
- d. He will pay for them.
e. I shall pay you afterwards.

7. Pattern: sentence 10.

- a. No, please pay (me) now.
b. No, please pay us now.
c. No, let him pay now.

-
- d. No, let him pay for them now.
e. No, please pay for them now.

8. Pattern: sentence 11.

- a. All right. How much is it?
b. All right. How much is the book?
c. All right. How much are the books?

-
- d. All right. How much are they?
e. All right. How much are the Bengali books?

9. Pattern: sentence 12.

- a. The price of that book is three rupees.
b. Its price is five rupees
c. The price of these five books is ten rupees.

-
- d. The price of those two books is four rupees.
e. Their price is thirty rupees.

10. Pattern: sentence 13.

- a. That is too little. (khub kam dam)
b. That is too much.
c. That price is too much.
-

- d. That price is too little.
- e. That is too much.

Pattern: sentence 14.

- a. Give (me) the book for four rupees.
- b. Give it to me for three rupees.
- c. Give (me) the five books for five rupees.

-
- d. Give them to me for six rupees.
  - e. Give them to me for ten rupees.

11. Pattern: sentence 15.

- a. No. There are only two hundred pages in this book.
- b. No. There are many pages in this book.
- c. No. There are six hundred pages in these five books.

-
- d. No, there are only two pictures in these books.
  - e. No, there are many pictures in these books.

Pattern: sentence 16.

- a. I shall not sell it (i.e., give it) for such a large price.
- b. I shall not sell it to you for such a small price.
- c. I shall not sell them for five rupees.

-
- d. I shall not sell them for six rupees.
  - e. I shall not sell them to you for such a small price.

12. Pattern: sentence 17.

- a. All right. How much will you sell these for?
- b. All right. How much will you sell those for?
- c. All right. How much will you sell these books for?

-
- d. All right. How much will you sell these pictures for?
  - e. All right. How much will you sell me these books for?

13. Pattern: sentence 18.

- a. I'll give those for ten rupees.
  - b. I'll give you those for seven rupees.
  - c. I'll give you these books for five rupees.
-

- d. I'll give you those pictures for one rupee.
- e. I'll give you these books for nine rupees.

14. Pattern: sentence 19, 20.

- a. But there are only one hundred pages in those books. Why are they so expensive?
- b. But there are only two pictures in them. Why are they so expensive?
- c. But there are only two hundred pages in them. Why are they so expensive?

-
- d. But there are two pictures here. Why are they so cheap?
  - e. But there are only three books here. Why are they so expensive?

15. Pattern: sentence 21.

- a. There are many pictures in those books.
- b. There are five hundred pages in them.
- c. There are twenty pictures in them.

-
- d. There are many pictures in this shop.
  - e. There are many pictures in those three books.

16. Pattern: sentence 22.

- a. Will you give me the books for five rupees?
- b. Will you give me them for four rupees?
- c. Will you give me those books for three rupees?

-
- d. Will you give me this one for two rupees?
  - e. Will you give me those three books for six rupees?

17. Pattern: sentence 23.

- a. No, please look in another shop.
- b. No, please look in another place.
- c. No, please look in that shop.

-
- d. Yes. Please look at these other pictures.
  - e. No. Please go to another shop.

Lesson 6, part 4. Sentence Drill.Drill 1

- What do you want?
--I want a sari.
--For your wife?
--No, for my sister. Please show me those two red silk saris.
--These are very fine Murshidabad silk saris. Your sister will like them.
--This is not very good material. How much will you sell them for?
--Fifty rupees. But for you, I shall give them for thirty.
--That is too much. Give me the saris for twenty-five.
--All right. For you they are twenty-five. Please pay now.
--No, send the saris to my sister. I shall pay you later.
--No, sir, please pay me now, or I shall not give them to you.
--Then I shall not buy them. I am an honest man.
--But I am a poor man. I shall sell you these saris for such a small price and make no profit.
--Then I shall go to another shop.
--Yes, please go.

Drill 2

- How much will you sell these sandals for?
--I shall sell you the sandals for ten rupees, sir.
--That is too much.
--They are very fine sandals, sir.
--They are very bad sandals. Please show me those Kashmiri shawls.
--I shall sell you this shawl for thirty rupees.
--The color is very dark. Have you any light-colored shawls?
--This one is exactly the color of ivory. Its price is fifty rupees.
--All right. I shall give you twenty-five.
--For forty I shall sell it, sir.
--All right. Send it to my brother. He will pay you.
--I shall send it to him. Please give me twenty rupees now.
--All right. You will become very rich.
--There will be no profit, sir. I am a poor man.

Lesson 6, part 5. Vocabulary.

śari	sari	bæc-	sell
silk	silk	ken-	buy
kapoṛ	cloth, material
mośae, mośae	sir, gentleman	śundor	fine, beautiful
labh	profit	śot	honest
coppol, coṭi	sandals	gorib	poor
śal	shawl	phike,
hatirdāt	ivory	halka	light
raṇ	color	ghono	dark; thick
		dhoni	rich
accha	all right, OK	lal	red
		pōciś	twenty-five
		tiriś	thirty colliś	forty
		pōncaś	fifty

Review II

1. Bring up to date your file of word cards, to include all the new vocabulary of Lessons 4-6.

1.1. bhir	crowd
bie	wedding
bajar	market
gan	song
bondhu	friend
kirtton	type of religious song
boisṇob	Vaiṣṇava
mababa	mother and father
jaega	place
dighi	tank
śonśar	family
boudi	sister-in-law
kaka	paternal uncle (father's younger brother)
kakima	father's younger brother's wife
chelemee	children
śilpi	artist
śikkhok	teacher (m.)
śikkhoittri	teacher (f.)
chattro	student (m.)
chattri	student (f.)
dhopa	washerman
dhopani	washerwoman
dokan	shop
mondir	temple
iśkul	school
itihās	history

dam ʔaka pata chobi rasta śaʔi silk kapoʔ mośae; mośae
 labh cəppol, coʔi śal hatirdāt roŋ

price
 rupec page, leaf picture street sari
 silk cloth, material sir, gentleman profit sandals shawl ivory color

1.2. æto koʔa, koʔi ka -

so many how many who (inflectional stem)

1.3. kəno

why

1.4. aśśon-ʔakpochoŋdo koʔrchil-oʔh pajage-/gædækʰśeś koʔrcadækʰanie ja-
 paʔhabæc-ken-come hear, listen to call, shout like simple past stem of ach-, "be"

 rise up get, receive go past stem, "go" see, look finish want show take (away) send sell buy

- |       |   |  |
|-------|---|--|
| 1.5.  | śokoleuttordokkhinpurbopościm   | allnorthsoutheastwest  |
| 1.6.  | conḍidaśbiddapotigændaś   | proper name of medieval poetproper name of medieval poetproper name of medieval poet                     |
| 1.7.  | puronomiśṭipracinbeśiśundorśotgoribphike, halkaghonodhoni | oldsweetancienta lot, very muchfine, beautifulhonestpoorlightdark; thickrich |
| 1.8.  | ajkalgotokalagamikalækhonprothomekichukkonkichuprae           | todayyesterday, tomorrowyesterdaytomorrownowat firsta whilesome, a littleoften   |
| 1.9.  | taiokintu   | conjunction - "that is why""also"but   |
| 1.10. | śongekachemoddheage   | withnearwithin, amongbefore (time or place)  |

pore	after (time or place)
dhare	beside, on the edge of paše	beside
bhitore; bhetore	within, inside

1.11. beś	all right
accha	OK, all right

1.12. pōncaś	fifty
tiriś	thirty
pōciś	twenty-five colliś	forty
śo	hundred

2. The plural.

2.1. Nouns can be divided into two broad classes. Class I is a class of nouns which denote animate objects. This class may be subdivided into nouns which denote human beings and nouns which denote other types of animate beings. These subdivisions will be referred to as Class I.a. and Class I.b. respectively. Class II nouns include all other types of nouns.

2.2. The plural suffixes:

Nominative	-ra, era	chelera	lokera
Genitive	-der, -eder	cheleder	lokeder
Objective	-der (ke), -eder (ke)	chelederke, cheleder	lokederke, lokeder

These suffixes are used by Class I nouns, and within that class only rarely by Class I.b. nouns.

2.3. The plural suffix /-gulo/, to which are added the case endings of the singular, can be used with both classes of nouns:

Nominative	chelegulo	kukurgulo	gachgulo
Genitive	chelegulor	kukurgulor	gachgulor
Objective	cheleguloke	kukurguloke	gachguloke
Locative	---	---	gachgulote

2.4. These two sets of suffixes are often used interchangeably. The use of one or the other of the suffixes, however, may have significance. Frequently, the /-ra, -era/ suffix is used to indicate particulars within the class.

Examples:

/lok'śohore thake"/	"(all) people live in the city"
/lokera'śchore thake"/	"the people live in the city"
/lokgulo'śohore thake"/	"those (particular) people live in the city"

2.5. There are, then, three levels of plural usage, though the distinctions are not always kept perfectly clear by Bengali speakers.

2.5.1. No plural suffix (see below, section 2.6.):

/dhopa'kapoṛ kace"/	"(all) washermen (i.e., washermen as a class) wash clothes"
---------------------	---

2.5.2. /-era, -ra/ plural suffix:

/dhopara'kapoṛ kace"/	"the washermen (as opposed to others) wash clothes"
-----------------------	---

2.5.3. /-gulo/ plural suffix:

/dhopagulo'kapoṛ kace"/	"(those particular) washermen (within the caste) wash clothes"
-------------------------	--

2.6. The plural number is not always expressed by means of suffixes.

2.6.1. When an adjective implying plural number is present, the plural suffix is not used.

Example:

/śekhane'onek lok"/	"many people are there"
---------------------	-------------------------

2.6.2. Reduplication frequently has a plural or a distributive meaning (see below, Lesson 8).

Examples:

/ke ke'aśbe"/	"who all will come, what (various) people will come"
/kothae kothae'jabe"/	"to what (various) places will you go"

2.6.3. If the subject of the sentence is plural, its complement does not have to agree in number.

Example:

/tara'duṣṭu chele"/ "they are naughty boys"

2.6.4. When the reference is to a class of objects, the plural suffix may be omitted:

Example:

/boier dam'beśi"/ "books are expensive"

2.6.4.1. When the reference is to a particular group within a class, however, the plural suffix can be used:

Example:

/boigulor dam'beśi"/ "(those) books are expensive"

2.7. The suffix /-gulo/ may be used with certain adjectives of quantity, e.g., /koto/ and /onek/, and with demonstrative pronouns and adjectives.

2.7.1. The plural suffix /-gulo/ may be used with the demonstratives /e, o/, "this, that", when they are used as pronouns.

Example:

/egulo ki'boi"/ "are these books?"

2.7.2. When the demonstrative is used as an adjective, the plural suffix is attached to the noun which it modifies.

Example:

/e boigulo ki'bhalo"/ "are those books good?"

3. Qualifiers.

3.1. There are two sets of qualifiers which are commonly used in Bengali. These sets are /-ṭa, -ṭi/ and /-khana, -khani/.

3.1.1. The qualifier /-ṭa, -ṭi/ may be used with all nouns.

3.1.2. The qualifier /-khana, -khani/ (increasingly rare in spoken Bengali, thus not stressed in the lessons) is used with inanimate objects which are square, flat, or cubical in shape, e.g., /boi/, "book", /baṛi/,

"house", etc.

Example:

/amake'boikhana din"/

"Please give me the book."

3.2. The qualifiers/-ṭa, -khana/, of which the final vowel is /a/, are used with reference to ordinary objects, toward which the speaker feels no special emotion.

The qualifiers /-ṭi, -khani/, of which the final vowel is /i/, are used with reference to objects toward which the speaker feels a particular attraction.

3.3. Qualifiers are used with numerals and other adjectives of quantity when followed by a noun.

Example:

/ækṭa boi cai"/

"I want a book."

3.4. Qualifiers may be added to a singular noun to give the force of the English definite article.

Example:

/kəto dame'boiṭa deben"/

"How much will you sell the book for?" (lit. give the book for)

3.4.1. The case endings are added after the qualifier, in cases of this kind.

Example:

/cheleṭake'boiṭa dao"/

"Give the book to the boy."

3.5. Qualifiers may be added to demonstratives without a following noun -- i.e., when the demonstrative is the subject or object of the sentence. When the demonstrative functions as an adjective, the qualifier is used with the following noun.

Examples:

/oṭa'ki boi"/

"What book is that?"

/o boiṭa'ki"/

"What is that book?"

4. Verbal inflection.

You should now have three verb tenses at your command: the simple present the simple future, and the simple past.

4.1. Future

Verbs except for /a/-stem verbs form their future tense by the addition of the future morpheme /-b-/ and the future personal endings to the high stem of the verb. The following are exceptions to this rule.

4.1.1. The verb /hə-/, "be, become" forms its future with the low stem.

ami həbo
tumi həbe
tui hobi -- (Note: the stem changes here for apni həben phonological reasons) śe həbe
tini həben

4.1.2. Other vowel-stem verbs, of which the vowel is /ə/, take the alternate stem /Coi-/ in the future. Thus the verb /śə-/, "bear", ami śoibo

tumi śoibe
tui śoibi
apni śoiben
śe śoibe
tini śoiben

4.1.3. Certain vowel stem verbs in /a/ also take an alternate stem for the future: /Cai-/; thus the verbs /ca-/ "want" and /ga-/ "sing":

ami      caibo      gaibo tumi      caibe      gaibe etc.

4.1.4. Vowel-stem verbs in /e/, i.e., /de/, "give" and /ne-/, "take", preserve their low stems in the future.

4.2. Simple past

The simple past is formed by the addition of the /-l-/ (past) morpheme and the past tense personal endings to the high stem of the verb, except for CaC- verbs, which preserve their low stems.

5. We have had the various uses and meanings of /o/.

Demonstrative, "that"	amake o boiṭa dao	"Give me that book"
Conjunctive, "and"	amra. o jabo	"We too will go"
Emphatic	ækhono o barite thake	"Even now they live in the house"
2nd person ord. personal ending	tumi śekhane jao o	"You go there"

Lesson 7, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and Translation

Bengali

1. noun stem, "river"
noun stem, "bank"
"bank of the river"
post-position, "from",
preceding genitive
optional
"from the river-bank"
- alternative stem of verb
"come"; see Grammar,
section 3.
sign of simple past tense
honorific verbal ending
"you came" (simple past)
"you came now" (i.e., "you just came")
- A. Rambabu, have you just come from the river bank?
2. "daily"
noun stem, "bank"
locative case ending
"to/on the bank"
"to the river bank"
- nodī নদী
dhar ধার
nodir dhar নদীর ধার
theke থেকে
- nodir dharer theke, nodir dhar theke
নদীর ধারের থেকে, নদীর ধার থেকে
- e- এ
-l- ল-
-en এন
apni elen আপনি এলেন
apni ækhon elen আপনি এখন এলেন
- A. rambabu " apni ki ækhon ' nodir dhar theke ' elen "
রামবাবু, আপনি কি এখন নদীর ধার থেকে এলেন ।
- roj রোজ
dhar ধার
-e -এ dhare ধারে
nodir dhare নদীর ধারে

B. Yes, I go to the river bank every day.

B. hã "ami roj ' nodir dhare ' jai "

হ্যাঁ, আমি রোজ নদীর ধারে যাই।

3. A. Why do you go?

A. kæno jan "

কেন যান ?

4. verb stem, "walk"
verbal noun suffix
verbal noun, "walking"

hãṭ- হাঁট-

-a -া hãṭa হাঁটা

B. Walking on the river bank is good.

B. nodir dhare hãṭa ' bhalo "

নদীর ধারে হাঁটা ভাল।

5. noun stem, "fish"
high stem of verb "buy"

mach মাছ

kin- কিন-

B. And I buy fish every day.

B. ar ami roj ' mach kini "

আর আমি রোজ মাছ কিনি।

6. high stem of verb "buy"
sign of simple past tense
honorific verbal ending
"you bought (simple past)"

kin- কিন-

-l- -ল-

-en

apni kinlen আপনি কিনলেন

A. Did you buy fish there today?

A. apni ki aj ' sêkhane ' mach kinlen "

আপনি কি আজ সেখানে মাছ কিনলেন?

7. name of a type of fish
name of a type of fish
high stem of verb "buy"
sign of simple past tense
1st person verbal ending for simple past tense
"I bought (simple past)"

rui mach রুই মাছ katla mach কাতলা মাছ

kin- কিন-

-l- -ল-

-um -ম

ami kinlum আমি কিনলুম

B. Yes, I bought rui and katla fish.

B. hã "ami 'rui ar katla mach 'kinlum "

হ্যাঁ, আমি রুই আর কাতলা মাছ কিনলুম।

8. noun stem, "fisherman"
objective case ending
"(to) the fisherman"
high stem of verb "give"
sign of simple past tense
honorific verbal ending
"you gave (simple past)" jele জেলে

-ke -কে
jeleke জেলেকে di- দি-
-l- -ল-
-en -এন

apni dilen আপনি দিলেন

Note: /jeleke/ is the indirect object of the verb /dilen/; /dam/ is the direct object of the verb.

A. How much did you pay the fisherman?

A. jeleke 'koto dam 'dilen "

জেলেকে কত দাম দিলেন ?

9. B. I gave the fisherman one rupee.

B. ami jeleke 'æk taka dilum "

আমি জেলেকে এক টাকা দিলুম।

10. "very, quite"
adjective, "cheap"
adverb, "cheaply"
high stem of verb "get, acquire"
"you got (simple past)"

beś বেশ śosta সস্তা śostae সস্তায়

pe- পে-

apni pelen আপনি পেলেন

A. You got the fish very cheaply.

A. apni machgulo 'beś śostae 'pelen "

আপনি মাছগুলো বেশ সস্তায় পেলেন।

11. verb stem, "come"
2nd person honorific imperative ending
Why don't you come, please come

aś আস-
-un -আন

asun na আসুন না

Note: /na/ here does not have the force of a negative, see Grammar, section 7.

"together, in one group"

æksaŋge একসঙ্গে

B. Yes. Why don't you come to our house; then we will eat together.

B. hã " amader barite aśun na " ta hole ' æksaŋge khabo "

হ্যাঁ, আমাদের বাড়ীতে আসুন না ! তা হলে একসঙ্গে খাবো ।

12. A. All right, I shall come tonight.

A. accha " ami aj rattere ' aśbo "

আচ্ছা , আমি আজ রাতে আসবো ।

13. alternative stem, "how much" qualifier (see Grammar, section 6, for this usage)
noun stem, "time"
idiomatic usage: "at what time"

ko- ক-

-ta -টা śomae সময়

koṭar śomae কটার সময়

B. At what time will you come?

B. apni ' koṭar śomae ' aśben "

আপনি কটার সময় আসবেন ?

14. numeral "eight"
qualifier
"at eight o'clock"

atṭa আট

-ta -টা

atṭar śomae আটটার সময়

A. I shall come at eight o'clock.

A. atṭar śomae ' aśbo "

আটটার সময় আসবো ।

15. verb stem "come"
alternate verbal noun suffix genitive case ending
"of coming"
post-position, "before", with preceding genitive
"before coming"
loan word, "telephone"
compound verb, "(to) telephone"

aś আস-

-ba- -বা-

-r -র aśbar আসবার

age আগে

aśbar age আসবার আগে

phon ফোন

phon kor- ফোন কর-

"(please) phone (future)"

phon korben ফোন করবেন

For this use of the future imperative, which is identical in form with the simple future honorific, see Grammar, section 4.2.)

B. All right. (Please) phone me before you come.

B. accha " aśbar age ' amake phon korben "

আচ্ছা , আসবার আগে আমাকে ফোন করবেন ।

16. verb stem, "telephone"
verbal noun suffix
genitive case ending
"of telephoning"
post-position, "after",
with preceding genitive
"after calling"

phon kor- ফোন কর-

-ba- -বা-

-r -র

phon korbar ফোন করবার

pore পরে

phon korbar pore ফোন করবার পরে

A. All right. I shall come after calling you.

A. accha " apnake phon korbar pore ' ami aśbo "

আচ্ছা , আপনাকে ফোন করবার পরে আমি আসবো ।

17. post-position, "with" with preceding genitive
"with you (honorific)"
Note that below, /apnar/ is not noun stem, "wife"
verb stem, "bring, fetch"

śonge সঙ্গে

apnar śonge আপনার সঙ্গে stri স্ত্রী

an- আন-

B. Will you bring your wife with you?

B. śonge ' apnar strike ' anben ki "

সঙ্গে আপনার স্ত্রীকে আনবেন কি ?

18. Note: for this usage of the future tense, see Grammar, section 4.1.

A. She is going to her sister's house.

A. śe ' tar boner barite ' jabe "

সে তার বোনের বাড়ীতে যাবে ।

19. "so, therefore"

tai তাই

verb stem, "bring"

verbal noun suffix

verbal noun, "bringing"

Note that the verbal noun, like other verbal forms, can take an object. /take/ in this sentence is the object of the verbal noun /ana/.

"possible"

"it will not be possible"

an- আন-

-a -া ana আনা

śambhob সম্ভব

śambhob hobe na সম্ভব হবে না

A. So it won't be possible to bring her.

(i.e., Bringing her will not be possible)

A. tai ' take ana ' śambhob hobe na "

তাই তাকে আনা সম্ভব হবে না।

20. "then, in that case"

"sons" (objective case plural)

ta hole তা হলে

chelederke, cheleder

ছেলেদেরকে , ছেলেদের

B. Then will you bring your sons?

B. ta hole ' apnar chelederke ' anben ki "

তা হলে আপনার ছেলেদেরকে আনবেন কি ?

21. "them" (objective case plural)

PAP of verb /ne-/, "take"

verb stem, "go"

compound verb stem "take" (from this place to that)

"taking them"

verb stem, "go"

alternative verbal noun suffix, (see Grammar, section 2.2.)

verbal noun, "going"

"difficult"

"going will be difficult"

taderke, tader তাদেরকে , তাদের nie নিয়ে

ja- যা

nie ja- নিয়ে যা- taderke nie jaoa তাদেরকে নিয়ে যাওয়া

ja- যা-

-oa -ওয়া

jaoa যাওয়া

śokto শক্ত

jaoa śokto hobe যাওয়া শক্ত হবে

A. It will be difficult to take them.

(i.e., Taking them will be difficult.)

A. taderke nie jaoa ' s'okto hobe "

তাদেরকে নিয়ে যাওয়া শক্ত হবে ।

22. alternative verb stems,
"sleep"

ghuma-, ghumo- ঘুমা-, ঘুমো-

A. They will be sleeping tonight.

A. tara ' rattre ghumobe "

তারা রাতে ঘুমোবে ।

Lesson 7, part 2. Grammar.

1. Review the formation of the simple past tense: Lesson 5, Grammar, 2.

2. The formation and usage of verb nouns (sentences 4, 15, 16, 19, 21).

2.1. Verbal nouns are formed by the addition of one of the suffixes /a/, /oa/, (or /ano/, which will be dealt with in a later lesson) to the simple stem of the verb, or the suffix /ba/ to the high stem of all verbs except /a/-stems. To the verbal noun suffix is added the inflectional case ending, if any. A verbal noun can be inflected for all four cases, as any other noun.

Stem	Verbal noun suffix	Inflected forms
bol- ("speak")	-a	bola bolar (bolake -- rare) bolate
bol- ("speak")	-ba	bolba bolbar
pa- ("get")	-oa	paoa paoar (paoake -- rare) paoate
	-ba	paba pabar

2.2. The use of the suffixes /a/ and /oa/ depends upon the shape of the verb stem. When the stem shape is Ca-, the suffix is /oa/:

jaoa	"going"
paoa	"getting"
deoa	"giving"

When the stem has the shape CVC-, the suffix is /a/:

kena	"buying"
poṛa	"reading"

2.3. The verbal noun suffix /-ba/ is frequently used, with stems of all shapes, when the case of the verbal noun is genitive. The genitive case suffix is added to the verbal noun suffix:

jabar age ' ami ḍakbo "	I shall call (i.e., call aloud) before going.
eṭa kenbar pore ' ami aśbo "	I shall come after buying it.

2.4. The verbal noun suffix is usually translatable by the English verbal noun suffix "-ing":

baṅla bōla ' śokto "	Speaking Bengali is difficult.
śekhane jaoa ' ośombhōb "	Going there is impossible.
eṭa paoa ' śhoj hōbe "	Getting it will be easy.

2.5. The verbal noun can take an object, as can any other verbal form; in the second example in 2.3., the object of the verbal noun is /eṭa/.

2.6. A verbal noun is used in Bengali in some cases in which an "infinitive" can be used in English.

śekhane jaoa ' ośombhōb "	To go there is impossible. Going there is impossible.
---------------------------	--

2.6.1. Note that in English, the "infinitive" has two separate functions; though in both functions its form is the same, there is a difference in functional characteristics. Take these two examples:

To study is a good thing.
I ought to study now.

In the first of these two examples, "to study" is the subject of the sentence; it functions as a noun. In the second example, "to study" is a function of "ought". In the first example, "to study" can be replaced by "studying", with no change of meaning; it is, then, a verbal noun, and must be translated by one in Bengali. Thus:

para'bhalo jiniś"

To study is a good thing. or:
Studying is a good thing.

3. The verb /aś-/ , "come" (sentence 1).

3.1. The verb /aś-/ is an irregular verb, having the two stems /aś-/ and /e-/. The stem /e-/ occurs in the present ordinary imperative /eśo/, and in free variation with /aś-/ in the simple past. Thus:

aślum	elum
aśle	ele
aśli	eli aślen	elen
aślo	elo
aślen	elen

Like other verbs with /a/-vowel stems, /aś-/ retains its low stem in the simple future.

4. Uses of the future (sentences 15, 18).

4.1. In Bengali the simple future tense may be used for any action which will take place, regardless of what tense occurs in the English.

śe śekhane jabe"

He will go there.

He is going there (in the future).

4.2. The future honorific imperative is identical in form with the simple future honorific. When the imperative is signified, the personal pronoun is usually omitted:

apni jaben"
jaben"

You (hon.) will go.

(Please) go (in the future).

5. As in sentences 3 and 17, a personal pronoun can frequently be omitted, when the reference is clear from context. When such a pronoun is the subject of a verb and is omitted, the person of the subject will of course be indicated by the personal ending of the verb. The number of the subject, however, will not be clear. Therefore take care, in the omission of a pronoun subject, that there is no confusion between, say, 2nd and 3rd person honorific, or as to the number of the subject.

6. Use of the qualifier /-ṭa/ as in sentences 13 and 14. Refer to Lesson 3, Grammar, 2.2.: Qualifiers are added to numerals and other adjectives of quantity when accompanied by a noun.

7. Use of /na/ as in sentence 11.

When used with a present imperative form, /na/ does not have the force of a negative, but as a polite request, "why don't you ...". Examples:

(apni) aśun na"

Why don't you come; please come.

(apni) khan na"

Why don't you eat; please eat.

8. Form possible Bengali sentences:

Subject	Indirect Object	Interr.	Verbal Modifiers	Direct Object	Verb
ram ami apni tumi śe tini tara	jeleke amake tāke amaderke taderke tomaderke meeke	ki	roj aj ækhon rattre kṛṭar śomoe nodir dhar(er) theke śohorer kache śekhane	mach (gulo) eṭa śeṭa æto ṭake	aś- ja- ken- ne- an- de-

Lesson 7, part 3. Patterns.

1. Pattern: sentence 1.

- Ram, have you just come from the city?
- Ram, has he (ord.) just come from the city?
- Ram, has he (hon.) just gone to the city?
- Ram, has he (hon.) just gone to the river bank?
- Ram, has he (ord.) just come from the store?

2. Pattern: sentence 2.

- a. Yes, I go to the city every day.
- b. Yes, he comes from the city every day.
- c. Yes, he goes to the city every day.
- d. Yes, he walks on the river bank every day.
- e. Yes, he goes to the store every day.

3. Pattern: sentence 3.

- a. Why do you go?
- b. Why does he (ord.) come?
- c. Why does he (hon.) go?
- d. Why does he (hon.) walk?
- e. Why does he (ord.) go?

4. Pattern: sentence 4.

- a. Going to the city is fun.
- b. Coming here is easy.
- c. Buying there is easy.
- d. Walking there is good.
- e. Going to the store is fun.

5. Pattern: sentence 6.

- a. Did you buy things there today?
- b. Did he buy food here today?
- c. Did he buy books there today?
- d. Did he eat there today?
- e. Did he walk there today?

6. Pattern: sentence 7.

- a. Yes, I bought cloth and sandals.
- b. Yes, he bought rice and sweets.
- c. Yes, he bought poetry and history books.
- d. Yes he ate fish and rice today.
- e. Yes, he took his clothes there today.

7. Pattern: sentence 8.

- a. How much did you pay the weaver ?
- b. How much did he pay the sweet-maker?

- c. How much did he pay the grocer?
- d. How much did he pay the fisherman?
- e. How much did he pay the washerman?

8. Pattern: sentence 9.

- a. I gave the weaver ten rupees.
- b. He paid him three rupees.
- c. He paid him twenty rupees.
- d. He paid the fisherman two rupees.
- e. He paid the washerman five rupees.

9. Pattern: sentence 10.

- a. You got the cloth very cheaply.
- b. You got the sweets very cheaply
- c. You got the books very cheaply
- d. He did not get the fish very cheaply.
- e. He did not give the washerman very much.

10. Pattern: sentence 11.

- a. Yes. Why don't you come to my house and see the cloth.
- b. Yes. Why don't you come to his house and eat the sweets.
- c. Yes. Why don't you come to his house and read the books.
- d. Yes. Why don't you come to his house and eat the fish.
- e. No. Why don't you go to the washerman's house and give him ten rupees.

11. Pattern: sentence 12.

- a. All right. I shall come tomorrow.
- b. All right. We shall go this evening.
- c. All right. We shall go tomorrow evening.
- d. All right. We shall go tonight.
- e. All right. I shall go afterwards.

12. Pattern: sentence 13.

- a. At what time will you come?
- b. At what time shall we go?
- c. At what time tomorrow shall we go?
- d. At what time tonight shall we go?
- e. At what time will you go?

13. Pattern: sentence 14.

- a. I shall come at five o'clock.

- b. We shall go at six o'clock.
- c. We shall go at seven o'clock.
- d. We shall go at nine o'clock.
- e. I shall go at ten o'clock.

14. Pattern: sentence 15.

- a. All right. Will you phone me before you come?
- b. All right. Will you phone me before we go?
- c. All right. Will you phone him before we go?
- d. All right. Will you tell me before we go?
- e. All right. Will you phone me before you see him?

15. Pattern: sentence 16.

- a. All right. I shall come after calling you.
- b. All right. We shall go after my calling you.
- c. All right. We shall go after my calling him.
- d. All right. We shall go after my telling you.
- e. All right. I shall see him after calling you.

16. Pattern: sentence 17.

- a. Will you bring your sister with you?
- b. Shall we bring our wives with us?
- c. Shall I bring my brother with me?
- d. Shall we bring our friends with us?
- e. Will you bring your son with you?

17. Pattern: sentence 18.

- a. No, I won't bring her. She is going to her friend's house.
- b. No, we won't bring them. They are going to a friend's house.
- c. No, you won't bring him. He is going to his friend's house.
- d. No, we won't bring them. They are going to Ram's house.
- e. No, I won't bring him. He is going to Lila's house.

Pattern: sentence 19.

- a. So, it won't be possible to bring her.
- b. So, it won't be possible to bring them.
- c. So, it won't be possible to bring him.
- d. So, it won't be possible to bring Ram.
- e. So, it won't be possible to bring Lila.

18. Pattern: sentence 20.

- a. Then will you bring your brother?
- b. Then will they bring their friend?
- c. Then will we bring his friend?
- d. Then will we bring our children?
- e. Then will you bring your daughter?

19. Pattern: sentence 21.

- a. No, it will be difficult to bring him.
- b. No, it will be difficult to bring their friend.
- c. No, it will not be possible to bring him.
- d. No, it will not be possible to bring them.
- e. No, it will be difficult to bring her.

Pattern: sentence 22.

- a. He will be studying in the evening.
- b. Their friend will be sleeping in the evening.
- c. He will be going home in the evening.
- d. They will be sleeping in the evening.
- e. She will be working in the evening.

Lesson 7, part 4. Sentence Drill.

Drill 1

--Hello, Ram. Is Naresh-babu at home?

--Yes, sir. He came in a little while ago. (Please) come in the house.

--Will you tell him that I am here?

--Yes sir. I shall call him.

--Hello, Naresh.

--Hello Probhas. Why are you in Calcutta?

--I arrived this morning. I have some work outside the city. I have brought some souvenirs for your children.

--Fine. Will you come and eat with us this evening?

--All right. What time?

--At eight sharp. Is your wife with you?

--No, but my three sons are at the station.

--Good. Will you bring them with you?

- No, they are going (i.e., "will go") to their friends' house tonight.
 --How long will you be here?
 --I leave tomorrow. Will you come with me to Ashim's [ošimer] house?
 --When are you going?
 --Right now.
 --No, I just came from the university, and I'm very tired. I'll see you tonight.
 --All right. See you later.

Drill 2

- Where have you just come from?
 --I have just come from the tank. It is beautiful there in the evening.
 --Do you have business (i.e., "work") there?
 --No. It is beautiful; that is why I go there every evening.
 --What is that in your hand?
 --It is a garland. I just bought it from a man on the side of the road.
 --To whom will you give it?
 --I shall give it to my sister. She is coming to my house tomorrow morning.
 --Will she stay with you long?
 --She will leave before tomorrow night. She lives outside the city.
 --I shall come and see her. Will her children be with her?
 --No, her children are at home. Come at six tomorrow evening.
 --Good. I'll see you then.

Lesson 7, part 5. Vocabulary.

śokal	morning	ṭhik	exactly
bikel	afternoon	klanto	tired śondhe, śondhebæla	evening	śonge	with sśndesś	type of Bengali sweet	jonne	for, for the sake of mala	garland	theke	from (place)
hat	hand	kachtheke	from (person)
maja	fun	bhetore, bhitore	within tāti	weaver	baire	outside mæra	sweet-maker
mudi	grocer

Expressions of time:

kichukkhon	a little time, a little while
kətokkhon	how much time, how long (when the answer is expected to be in terms of a short while --i.e., minutes or hours).
ənekkhon	much time, a long time (in terms of minutes or hours).
kichu din	a few days
kəto din	how long (when the answer is expected to be in terms of days or weeks)
ənek din	a long time (not necessarily literally "many days").
kəkhon	when, at what time (on the same day)
kəbe	when, on what day
kətar śəmoē	at what time, at what hour
ektu age	a little while ago

Idioms:

dækha kəbe	See you later (lit. "seeing will be").
dækha korbo	See you later (lit. "seeing (I) shall make").

The full forms of these idiomatic expressions are:

apnar sange'dækha həbe"
apnar sange'dækha korbo"

In the first of them, the subject of the sentence is the verbal noun /dækha/ -- therefore the verb is in the third person and is the inactive verb /hə-/. The subject of the second is the pronoun /ami/, and the verb is the active /kər-/ -- the subject of the sentence is actively bringing the "seeing" about.

Lesson 8, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and Translation

Bengali

1. "when, on what day, after how long"
noun stem, "Bengal"

kabe কবে
banladeś বাংলাদেশ

A. Ram, when are you going to Bengal?

A. ram 'tumi kabe ' banladeśe jabe "
রাম , তুমি কবে বাংলাদেশে যাবে ?

2. name of a Bengali month -- April-May noun stem, "end"
"at the end of Boiśakh" boiśakh, bośek বৈশাখ , বোশেখ śeś শেষ

boiśakher śeśe বৈশাখের শেষে

B. I shall go at the end of Boiśakh.

B. ami ' boiśakher śeśe ' jabo "
আমি বৈশাখের শেষে যাবো ।

3. inflectional stem of interrogative pronoun "who"
objective case suffix
"whom" (objective)
high stem of verb /ne-/,
"take"
past active participial ending, (see Grammar, 1.)
"taking, having taken"
compound verb, "take away"

ka- ক-
-ke -কে kake কাকে ni- নি-
-e -য়ে
nie নিয়ে
nie ja- নিয়ে যাওয়া

A. Whom will you take with you?

A. tomar sange ' kake nie jabe "

তোমার সঙ্গে কাকে নিয়ে যাবে ?

4. noun stem, "wife"

stri স্ত্রী

Note that the objective case suffix is attached to the last member of the series /stri ... cheleke/.

B. I shall take my wife and little boy.

B. ami ' amar stri ' ar choto cheleke ' nie jabo "

আমি আমার স্ত্রী আর ছোট ছেলেকে নিয়ে যাবো ।

5. noun stem, "road, way, path" path (pat) পথ

"on the road, on the way"

pathe পথে

"where"

kothae কোথায়

"what various places"

kothae kothae কোথায় কোথায়

(For this type of reduplication see Grammar, 2.)

high stem of verb /ghur-/
"turn around, spin around" ghur- ঘুর-

past active participial ending

-e -এ

"having turned around"

ghure ঘুরে

compound verb, "visit"

ghure ja- ঘুরে যা-

A. What various places will you visit on the way?

A. tumi pathe ' kothae kothae ' ghure jabe "

তুমি পথে কোথায় কোথায় ঘুরে যাবে ।

6. name of the city, London london লন্ডন

B. Having visited London, I shall go to Calcutta.

B. ami london ghure ' kolkatae jabo "

আমি লন্ডন ঘুরে কলকাতায় যাবো ।

7. alternative stem of verb /ja-/, "go" -- See Grammar, 3.
past active participle ending gi- গি-

-e -য়ে

"going, having gone"
 "having gone to Calcutta"

gie গিয়ে
 kolkatae gie কলকাতায় গিয়ে

A. What will you study when you get to Calcutta?

A. tumi kolkatae gie ' ki porbe "

তুমি কলকাতায় গিয়ে কি করবে ?

8. B. When I go to Calcutta I shall study Bengali.

B. kolkatae gie ' ami banla porbo "

কলকাতায় গিয়ে আমি বাংলা পড়বো ।

9. "again"
 high stem of verb, /pher-/
 "turn, return"
 past active participial ending
 "returning, having returned"
 compound verb, "return"
 (from there to here)

abar আবার

phir- ফির-

-e -ে phire ফিরে

phire as- ফিরে আস-

A. When will you come back again to this country?

A. abar kabe ' e deśe phire asbe "

আবার কবে এ দেশে ফিরে আসবে ?

10. noun stem, "year"
 post-position, "after"
 (preceding genitive optional)
 compound verb, "return" (from here to there)" bochor বছর

pore পরে

phire ja- ফিরে যা-

B. After two years. When will you go back to Bengal?

B. du bochor pore "tumi kabe 'banla deśe phire jabe "

দু বছর পরে । তুমি কবে বাংলা দেশে ফিরে যাবে ?

11. loan word, "degree"
 (Note: for this usage of the term /deś/, see Grammar, 5.)

ḍigri ডিগ্রী

A. I shall return to the country after taking my degree.

12. "which"
"which (various)"
"seeing, having seen"

B. What various places will you see on the way home?

13. noun stem, "Europe"
high stem of verb /bæra-/,
"wander about"
"wandering about, having wandered about"

A. I also shall wander about Europe and then return home.

(I also Europe-in having-wandered-about home re-turning shall-go)

14. "from" post-position, preceding genitive
optional
loan word, "camera"
"for me"
PAP, "taking, having taken"
compound verb, "bring" (lit.
"having taken come")

B. Will you bring me a camera from Europe?

A. ami digrita nie ' deśe phire jabo "

আমি ডিগ্রীটা নিয়ে দেশে ফিরে যাবো । kon কোন kon kon কোন কোন

dekhe দেখে

B. tumi pōthe ' kon kon jaega dekhe ' deśe phirbe "

তুমি গথে কোন কোন জায়াগা দেখে দেশে ফিরবে ?

iurop ইউরোপ

berī- বেড়ি-

berie বেড়িয়ে

A. ami.o ' iurop berie ' bari phire jabo "

আমিও ইউরোপ বেড়িয়ে বড়ী ফিরে যাবো । theke থেকে

kamera ক্যামেরা

amar jonne আমার জন্যে

nie নিয়ে

nie aś- নিয়ে আস-

B. tumi ki amar jonne ' iurop theke ' ækta kamera nie aśbe "

তুমি কি আমার জন্যে ইউরোপ থেকে একটা ক্যামেরা নিয়ে আসবে ?

15. high stem of verb /an-/,
"bring, fetch"
"bringing, having brought"
"I shall give", alternative forms

en- এন-ene এনে

debo, dobo দেবো , দোবো

- A. Yes, I shall bring one (for you.) What priced camera do you want?

- A. hã " ene dobo " koto damer ' kæmera cao "

হ্যাঁ , এনে দোবো । কত দামের
ক্যামেরা চাও ?

16. negative verb stem,
"be not"
"twenty"
high stem of verb "buy"
"buying, having bought"

no- নkuṛi কুড়ি kin- কিন-

kine কিনে

- B. Not very expensive. Buy one for twenty rupees and bring it.

- B. beśi damer noe " kuṛi taka die ' æktæ kæmera kine ' nie eśo "

বেশী দামের নয় । কুড়ি টাকা দিয়ে একটা ক্যামেরা কিনে নিয়ে এসো ।

17. quickly, immediately

taratari তড়াতাড়ি

- A. Do you want the camera right away?

- A. tumi ki ' kæmerata ' taratari cao "

তুমি কি ক্যামেরাটা তড়াতাড়ি চাও ?

18. genitive verbal noun,
"of coming"
noun stem, "time" or
"at the time"
"at the time of coming,
when (you) come"

aśbar আসবার

śomoe সময়

aśbar śomoe আসবার সময়

- B. No, bring it with you
when you come.

- B. na " aśbar śomoe ' tomar songe ' nie eśo "

না । আসবার সময় তোমার সঙ্গে নিয়ে এসো ।

Lesson 8, part 2. Grammar.

1. Formation and usage of the past active participle.

1.1. The past active participle is formed by the addition of the suffix /-e/ to the high stem of the verb.

Stem	Past Active Participle	Translation
ken-	kin-e	buying, having bought
khæl-	khele	playing, having played śon-	śun-e	hearing, having heard
kṛr-	kor-e	doing, having done
jan-	jen-e	knowing, having known <hr/>
de-	di-e	giving, having given pa-	pe-e	received, having received

1.2. There are large numbers of what are called "compound verbs" in Bengali; these compound verbs are made up, in some cases, of a non-finite verbal form (here a past active participle) plus an inflected or finite verbal form. The semantic signalling of these compounds is often clear. We have, for example, in sentence 3, the compound /nie ja-/, "taking (or 'having taken'), go" i.e., "take away". In other cases, as will be seen later, the meaning is not so easily derived from the elements. It is therefore wise to consider these compound verbs for the present as verbal units, rather than as a cluster of two or more separate verbal elements. The verb "take" will thus be considered as /nie ja-/, rather than as /nie/ plus /ja-/.; the verb "wander about", as in sentence 5, will be considered as /ghure ja-/, rather than as /ghure/ plus /ja-/.

1.3. The past active participle is frequently used to express sequences of thought, and avoids a series of clauses connected by "and". An example is in sentence 6, which could be translated, "I shall visit London, and (then) I shall go to Calcutta". When used in this way, and not as an element of a compound verb, the past active participle marks the end of a clause and of a breath-group.

1.4. Note carefully that this sequential type of construction can be used only when the subjects of all clauses are the same. Thus, you can say:

kolkatae gie ' ækʈa boi likhbe " When he goes to Calcutta, he will write a book.

This type of construction could not be used to express:

When I go to Calcutta, he will write a book.

There must be one inflected verb for each subject in the sentence.

2. Repetition, as in sentence 5, gives either a distributive or intensive meaning. In sentence 5, the meaning is distributive, i.e., "what different or various places". Other examples might be: /din din/, "daily, day after day, every day"; /bone bone/, "throughout the forest, in all the parts of the forest".

3. The irregular verb /ja/, "go", as in sentence 7.

The verb /ja-/ is regular, within its class of vowel-stem verbs in /a/, for the simple present and simple future, i.e., /ami jai/ "I go", and /ami jabo/ "I shall go", etc. In the simple past and in the past active participle forms, there are alternative stems. A paradigm of the simple past is:

ami gelum
tumi gele
tui geli
apni gelen
śe gælo
tini gelen

The stem for the past active participle is /gi-/. Therefore, PAP /gie/, "going, having gone".

4. There is sometimes some confusion as to which of the several equivalents of the verb "be" should be used in which circumstances. At this point, the following rules of usage might be noted:

4.1. The stem /thak-/ is used when permanence or habitual condition is implied:

chelemee'barite thake"      The children are (i.e., reside) in the house

4.2. The stem /ach-/ is used when continuity is implied:

chelemee'barite ache"

The children are (still, even now) in the house.

4.3. No verb is used when the condition is temporary:

chelemee'barite"

The children are in the house (but they may not be there much longer).

4.4. The stem /hɔ-/ is used in the sense of "to become, to be born, to be posted at some place".

chelemee'barite hɔe"

The children get born in the house.

5. The term /deś/ has several meanings in Bengali. A Bengal villager may mean by it his village and the countryside he knows well. A sophisticated Bengali may mean by it all India. The meaning of the term varies according to the sophistication of the speaker, and the place where he is when he is speaking. A Bengali in the United States might mean by /deś/, India; a Bengali in Delhi might use the term to refer to Bengal; a Bengali villager might use it to refer to his village. In this sense, it is used much like the English "home".

6. Form possible Bengali sentences:

Subject	Verbal Modifier	Verb <sub>1</sub>	Verbal Modifier	Verb <sub>2</sub>
ami amra tumi tomra apni apnara	london paris kothae kothae kothae śekhane	ghure gie dekhe	kolkatae śohore barite	aś ja-
	Direct Object		Direct Object
	eṭa oṭa coppol śariṭa	nie kine dekhe gie	eṭa oṭa boigulo	nie aś- nie ja- phire ja- dekhe pher- kine an-

Lesson 8, part 3. Patterns.

1. Pattern: sentence 1.
  - a. When will you go back to India?
  - b. When will you go back to Bengal?
  - c. When will you come back to Bengal?
  - d. When will you come back here?
  - e. When will he come back here?
2. Pattern: sentence 2.
  - a. I shall go at the end of Caitro [coittromaś].
  - b. I shall go at the beginning of Asarh [aśarṃmaś].
  - c. I shall come back at the end of Phalgun [phalgunmaś].
  - d. I shall come back at the end of the month.
  - e. He will come back here at the end of the week.
3. Pattern: sentence 3.
  - a. Whom will you take with you?
  - b. What will you take with you?
  - c. Whom will you bring with you?
  - d. What will you bring with you?
  - e. Whom will he bring with him?
4. Pattern: sentence 4.
  - a. I shall take my wife with me.
  - b. I shall take my clothes with me.
  - c. I shall bring my children with me.
  - d. I shall bring my books with me.
  - e. He will bring his brother with him.
5. Pattern: sentence 5.
  - a. What (various) countries will you visit on the way?
  - b. What (various) cities will you visit on the way?
  - c. What (various) places will you visit on the way?
  - d. What (various) shops will you visit on the way?
  - e. What (various) places will he visit on the way?
6. Pattern: sentence 6 (use PAP).

- a. Having visited Europe, I shall go to India.
- b. Having visited London, I shall go back to Bengal.
- c. Having visited Paris, we shall go back to Bengal.
- d. Having visited the book shops, I shall come back here.
- e. Having visited Calcutta, they will come back here.

7. Pattern: sentence 7 (use PAP, though other constructions are possible).

- a. What will you do when you go to India?
- b. What will you do when you go back to Bengal?
- c. What will you do when you come back to Bengal?
- d. What will you do when you come back here?
- e. What will they do when they come back here?

8. Pattern: sentence 8 (use PAP).

- a. When I go back to India, I shall write a book.
- b. When I go back to Bengal, I shall buy a sari.
- c. When I come back to Bengal, I shall study Bengali.
- d. When I come back here, I shall call you.
- e. When they come back here, they will call us.

Pattern: sentence 9.

- a. When will you come back?
- b. When will you come back to Bengal?
- c. When will you go back?
- d. When will you come back home?
- e. When will we come back here?

9. Pattern: sentence 11 (use PAP).

- a. I shall return after taking my degree.
- b. I shall return to Bengal after taking my degree.
- c. I shall go back after finishing my work.
- d. I shall come back after buying the books.
- e. We shall come back after buying the cloth.

10. Pattern: sentence 12 (use PAP).

- a. What (various) countries will you see on the way home?
- b. What (various) places will you see on the way home?
- c. What (various) cities will you see on the way home?
- d. What (various) shops will you see on the way home?

e. What (various) places will we see on the way home?

11. Pattern: sentence 13.

- a. I also shall wander in many countries and then return home.
- b. I also shall wander in many places and then return home.
- c. I also shall wander in various cities and then return home.
- d. I also shall wander in many shops and then return home.
- e. We also shall wander in many places and then return home.

12. Pattern: sentence 14.

- a. Will you bring me books from Europe?
- b. Will you bring me cloth from London?
- c. Will you bring me sandals from Poona [puna]?
- d. Will you bring me sweets from the shop?
- e. Will we bring them a sari from the shop?

13. Pattern: sentence 15.

- a. Yes, I shall bring (one). What priced books do you want?
- b. Yes, I shall bring (some). What priced cloth do you want?
- c. Yes, I shall bring (some). What priced sandals do you want?
- d. Yes, I shall bring (some). What priced sweets do you want?
- e. Yes, we shall bring (one). What priced sari does she want?

14. Pattern: sentence 16.

- a. Buy some for fifty rupees and bring them.
- b. Buy the cloth for twenty rupees and bring it.
- c. Buy the sandals for ten rupees and bring them.
- d. Buy the sweets for five rupees and bring them.
- e. Buy one for thirty rupees and bring it.

Pattern: sentences 17, 18.

- a. I do not want them right away. Bring them with you when you come. (/tomar/ optional)
- b. I do not want it right away. Bring it with you when you come. (/tomar/ optional)
- c. I do not want them right away. Take them with you when you go. (/tomar/ optional)
- d. I do not want them right away. I shall eat them when I come.
- e. She does not want it right away. She will wear it when she goes.

Lesson 8, part 4. Drills.

Note: Use compound verb forms wherever possible.

Drill 1

- Rahim [rohim], are you going back to Calcutta soon?
- Yes, I shall be going there at the end of next month.
- Will you stop at many places on the way?
- Yes, I shall visit Delhi [dilli] and Benares [banar:ś] on my way.
- Will you take your family with you?
- No, not this time. I shall go alone.
- Do you know how long you will be staying in Calcutta?
- About two months.
- Will you study when you have reached Calcutta?
- Yes, I shall write a book.
- Will you do me a favor? (i.e., will you do a favor of me?)
- What favor shall I do for you?
- Will you bring me a sari and sandals form Calcutta?
- Yes, I shall bring them. What price sari do you want?
- Not very expensive. Buy a sari for thirty rupees and sandals for ten.
- Do you want the sari right away?
- No, bring it with you when you come.

Drill 2

- I'll go home now. But I'll come back tonight.
- Will you stop on the way home and give this to Somdev?
- Yes, I'll stop there on the way. Where does he live?
- Get down from the tram at the corner of Hajra Road and go (use simple future) to the third house on the left.
- All right. I won't get lost. Where shall I catch the tram (or: "get up on the tram")?
- In front of the house.
- All right. What shall I take for him?
- Take this watch for him. I brought (use simple past) it for him from America.
- How much did it cost?
- I got it for thirty dollars.

- It is a nice watch. What did you bring for me?
 --Nothing. Why do you keep sitting there? Go along.
 --All right. I'll come back and see you tonight.

Lesson 8, part 5. Vocabulary.

śuru	beginning	tham-	stop
śaṇśar	family	harie ja-	get lost (/haṛa-/ "lose") upokar	favor, help	neme aś-	get down (/nam-/ "descent")
jama, kapoṛ	clothes	bośe thak-	remain sitting (/boś-/ "sit") ghoṛi	watch, clock	bośe ach-	remain sitting moṛ	corner, junction	nie aś-	bring (/ne-/"take") mas	month	lekh	write
beral	cat	dhor-	catch
onek, nana	various	por-	wear
ekhuni	right away	śamne	in front of -- post position with genitive
eka	alone
ebar	this time
bā dik	left (side)
dan dik	right (side)
agami	next, approaching

Bengali months:

bośek, boiśakh	April-May
jośṭi, joiśṭho	May-June
aśar	June-July
srabon	July-August
bhaddro	August-September
aśśin	September-October
kartik	October- November
ogghran, ogrohaon	November-December
poś, pouś	December-January
magh (mag)	January-February
phalgun	February-March
cot, coittro	March-April

Lesson 9, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and Translation	Bengali
1. proper name (Muslim) noun stem, "necessity" "there is" "it is necessary" "it is necessary to go, there is a necessity of going"	mustapha মাস্তাফা dorkar দরকার ache আছে dorkar ache দরকার আছে jabar dorkar ache যাবার দরকার আছে
A. Mustafa, is it necessary for you to go home now?	A. mustapha ' tomar ækhon ' barite jabar ' dorkar ache ki "  মাস্তাফা , তোমার এখন বাড়ীতে যাবার দরকার আছে কি ?
2. emphatic suffix "right now, right away" Note: the locative suffix on /bari/ is optional in this context.	-i -ই ekhuni এখন  Note: the locative suffix on /bari/ is optional in this context.
B. Yes, I have to go home right away.	B. hæ " amar ekhuni ' bari jabar ' dorkar ache "  হ্যাঁ , আমার এখন বাড়ী যাবার দরকার আছে ।
3. alternative stem of verb "go" past active participial ending "going, having gone"	gi- গি-  -e -য়ে gie গিয়ে

- A. When you go home, what will you do?
4. "much, many"
noun stem, "work"
(singular)
"much work, many jobs"
- B. I have a lot of work.
5. "that"
plural suffix
"those"
Note that /onek kaj/ in sentence 4 is a plural formation, though singular in English.
noun stem, "end, finish"
compound verb, "finish"
- B. When I go home, I shall finish that.
6. "again"
verb stem, "return"
PAP, "returning, having returned"
compound verb, "returning come, return here"
- A. Will you come back here again?
7. B. No, I won't come back here today.
8. "once more, again"
- A. tumi bari gie 'ki korbe " তুমি বার্তী গিয়ে কি করবে ?
- onek অনেক kaj কাজ
onek kaj অনেক কাজ
- B. amar 'onek kaj ache "
আমার অনেক কাজ আছে ।
- śe সে
-gulo -গুলো
śegulo সেগুলো
- śeś শেষ
śeś kor- শেষ কর-
- B. bari gie ' śegulo śeś korbo " বার্তী গিয়ে সেগুলো শেষ করবো ।
- abar আবার
pher- ফের-
- phire ফিরে
phire aś' ফিরে আস-
- A. tumi ekhane ' abar phire aśbe ki " তুমি এখানে আবার ফিরে আসবে কি ?
- B. na " ekhane aj ' phire aśbo na " না , এখানে আজ ফিরে আসবো না ।
- ekbar একবার

- A. When you finish your work, will you meet me again?
- A. tumi ' kaj śeś kore ' amar śonge ' ekbar dækha korbe ki " তুমি কাজ শেষ করে আমার সঙ্গে একবার দেখা করবে কি ?
9. B. No, I won't be able to see you again today.
- B. na " tomar śonge ' aj abar ' dækha kora ' śombhob hobe na "
না , তোমার সঙ্গে আজ আবার দেখা করা সম্ভব হবে না ।
10. noun stem, "time"
"get time, find time"
- śomoe সময়
śomoe kor- সময় কর-
- A. Can't you find a little time today?
- A. aj tomar ' ektu śomoe kora ' śombhob hobe na "
আজ তোমার একটু সময় করা সম্ভব হবে না ?
11. B. Why? Is there some need?
- B. kano " kichu dorkar ache ki "
কেন ? কিছু দরকার আছে কি ?
12. A. Yes, there is some need.
- A. hã " ektu dorkar ache "
হ্যাঁ , একটু দরকার আছে ।
13. B. OK, in that case I'll come back tonight.
- B. accha " ta hole ' ami rattre ' phire aśbo " আচ্ছা , তা হলে আমি রাত্রে ফিরে আসবো ।
14. 2nd person ordinary imperative stem of /as-/
"come"
"come!" (2nd ordinary imperative)
- eś- এস-
eśo এসো

A. No, come back when you have finished your work.

A. na "tumi ' tomar kaj śeś kore ' phire eśo "

না, তুমি তোমার কাজ শেষ করে ফিরে এসো।

15. proper name (f.)

roti রতি

B. Look, I have to meet Roti today.

B. dækho " aj rotir śange ' amar dækha korar ' dorkar ache "

দেখ, আজ রতির সঙ্গে আমার দেখা করার দরকার আছে।

16. verb stem, "learn"
verb stem, "teach"
"today"
"today also"

śekh- শেখśekha- শেখা- aj আজ
ajo আজও

A. Why? Is she going to teach you English again today?

A. kæno " śe ki ajo tomake ' inriji śekhave "

কেন? সে কি আজও তোমাকে ইংরিজী শেখাবে?

17. "some" - a bound form
"some (plural)"
3rd person ordinary genitive pronoun
post-position, "from (a person)" with preceding genitive
"from him, from her"

kɔtok- কতক-kɔtokgulo কতকগুলো tar তার
kach theke কাছ থেকে

tar kach theke তার কাছ থেকে

B. No, I have to get some poetry books from her today.

B. na " aj tar kach theke ' amar kɔtokgulo kobitar boi ' nebar dorkar ache "

না, আজ তার কাছ থেকে আমার কতকগুলো কবিতার বই নেবার দরকার আছে।

18. adjective (bound), "coming"
"tomorrow"

agami- আগামী- agamikal আগামীকাল

- A. Go and get the books of poetry tomorrow.
19. B. No, I won't be able to go tomorrow.
20. PAP of /an-/, "bring, fetch" compound verb, "bring and give"
- A. Then I shall get you the books tomorrow.
21. A. I can go.
22. B. Good. In that case, I shall come back right away.
23. "much, a lot"
"much time" verbal noun, "remaining"
- B. But I won't be able to spend much time with you.
24. adjective, "right, exact"
idiom: "that's all right"
noun stem, "word, story, subject matter"
- A. tumi ' agamikal gie ' kobitar boigulo ' nie eso " তুমি আগামীকাল গিয়ে কবিতার বইগুলো নিয়ে এসো ।
- B. na " agamikal ' amar jaoa ' s̄ombhob hobe na "
না , আগামীকাল আমার যাওয়া সম্ভব হবে না ।
- ene এনে
ene de- এনে দে-
- A. ta hole ' ami tomake ' agamikal ' boigulo ene dobo " তা হলে , আমি তোমাকে আগামীকাল বইগুলো এনে দোবো ।
- A. amar jaoa ' s̄ombhob hobe " আমার যাওয়া সম্ভব হবে ।
- B. beś " ta hole ' ami taratari ' phire asbo "
বেশ । তা হলে , আমি তাড়াতাড়ি ফিরে আসবো ।
- beśi বেশী
beśikkhon বেশীকণ
thaka থাকা
- B. tobe ' tomar s̄onge ' amar beśikkhon thaka ' s̄ombhob hobe na " তবে তোমার সঙ্গে আমার বেশীকণ থাকা সম্ভব হবে না ।
- thik ঠিক thik ache ঠিক আছে
kotha কথা

"speak, say"
"converse"

bol- বল-
kotha bol- কথা বল-

A. That's all right. I have to talk to you.

A. thik ache "amar tomake kothagulo kotha bolar dorkar ache"

ঠিক আছে । আমার তোমাকে কতগুলো কথা বলার আছে ।

25. idiom, "good enough"

beś to বেশ তো

B. Good enough. When I come back I'll listen.

B. beś to "ami phire eśe 'śunbo"

বেশ তো । আমি ফিরে এসে শুনবো ।

26. A. When you come back, bring Nina with you.

A. phire aśbar śomoe 'ninake tomar songe 'nie eśo"

ফিরে আসবার সময় নীনাকে তোমার সঙ্গে নিয়ে এসো ।

27. A. She also has to hear it.

A. taro 'kothagulo śonar 'dorkar ache"

তারও কতগুলো শোনার দরকার আছে ।

Lesson 9, part 2. Grammar.

1. The purpose of this lesson is primarily to summarize the usages of the verbal noun and past active participle forms which we had in the previous two lessons. There are two general types of usage:

1.1. As the verb in a subordinate clause, the PAP has two types of English equivalents: having done (gone, said, etc.)", and "when I (you, he, etc.) did (went, said, etc.)". For example:

a) ami'śekhane gie'boiṭa nie aśbo"

When I go there I shall take (away) the book. (i.e., I shall bring the book from there to here.)

Having gone there, I shall take (away) the book. (i.e., I shall bring the book from there to here.)

b) ganṭa śune'śe'amar kache'elo"

When he heard the song, he came to me.

Having heard the song, he came to me.

It is important to remember that in a structure of this kind, the subjects of both clauses must be the same.

1.2. Note that in the English of sentence a) above, there are two semantic categories:

1. To go with the purpose of getting the book.
2. To go with some purposes, including getting the book.

It is important that these two categories, formally undistinguished in English, are formally distinguished in Bengali. The formation /ami sékhane gie .../ refers to category 1, i.e., to go with the purpose of getting the book. Category 2 cannot be expressed by the PAP. This type of expression will be dealt with in a later lesson.

1.3. As a part of a compound verb.

A compound verb in Bengali has at least two members, one of which, the second member, is a finite verb (i.e., a verb which is inflected for person and tense). The first member may be one of a number of classes of words -- nouns, adjectives, verbs -- but in the cases before us at present, the first member of the compound is a past active participle. PAP + verb is in fact the commonest form of the compound verb. Also, in the cases before us, the nucleus of meaning of the compound verb is the participial form. For example:

tumi phire eśo	you come back (lit., "returning come")
tumi (eṭa) nie eśo	you bring (it) back (lit., "taking come")

In these two examples, the second member of the compound is the same, yet the meaning of the compound changes. In Bengali, as we shall see later on, this type of formation lends itself to great subtlety where by variation of one or another member of the compound, minute shades of distinction can be attained.

2. Bengali tends toward economy of expression. Note that in sentences 2 and 3, the locative case ending /-te/ on bari is not used, since there is no possibility of confusion. The use of case endings in cases of this kind is optional. We have noticed before that there are places in which the pronoun subject may be omitted also.

3. The use of /dārkār/, "necessity".

The form /dorkar/ functions as a noun, and is best considered as equivalent to the English "necessity". It does not imply compulsion or obligation; each of these types of expression has its own form in Bengali. Note that when /dorkar/ is used, it takes a possessive case of noun or pronoun (i.e., there is a necessity of something); in cases where the necessity is related to someone, that noun or pronoun is also in the possessive case. Bengali would phrase it this way:

There is a necessity of me of going (i.e., it's necessary for me to go).

amar jabar'dorkar ache"

There is a necessity of him reading (i.e., it is necessary for him to read).

tar porbar'dorkar ache"

4. Uses of /-ke/ and /jonne/.

4.1. There are several ways of expressing an indirect object. Sentence 20 is "I shall get you the books tomorrow". The Bengali for this, depending upon the speaker's stylistic choice, can be either:

ami tomar jonne'agamikal'boigulo nie asbo", or, ami tomake'agamikal'boigulo ene dobo"

The use of the verb /de-/ in either its simple form or in a compound, permits the /-ke/ suffix denoting the indirect object. But with /de-/, the post-positional phrase with /jonne/ may be used. Thus another possibility, depending entirely on the speaker's stylistic choice, is:

tomar jonne'boigulo ene dobo"

4.2. There are some Bengali verbs such as /ga-/ which do not take indirect objects. In "I shall sing you a song," "you" will not be translated as /tomake/. In Bengali, the expression will be either:

ami tomar jonne'gan gaibo"

"I shall sing a song for your benefit" (i.e., to bring you some kind of profit).

or:

ami tomar pokkhe'gan gaibo"

"I shall sing a song on your behalf."

4.3. Note that "to you", as in the English expression "I shall come to you" does not use the suffix /-ke/. Here also a post-position is required, namely /kache/, "near, in the vicinity of":

ami'tomar kache aśbo"

5. To this point, we have had verbal nouns used only with such formations as:

eṭa kara'śokto"

It is difficult to do this.

(The doing of this is difficult.)

In such formations, /śokto, śambhāb, śohoj/ etc., are adjectives. In this lesson, we have another use of the verbal noun, this time as the object of the verb. Examples:

śekhane jaoa'pachando kori"

I like to go there.

(I like going there.)

ami'banla para'pachando kori"

I like to read Bengali.

(I like reading Bengali.)

ami tomake'banla para śekhabo"

I will teach you to read Bengali.

(I will teach you reading Bengali.)

apni ki take'tābla bajano śekhaben"

Will you teach him to play the tabla?

(Will you teach him playing the tabla?)

6. The formation of PAP from -a final verb stems (/dækha/, /bæra-/, etc.)

6.1. The PAP of -a final verb stems takes the high stem-vowel, except where the stem-vowel is /a/, and replaces stem-final -a by -i, thus:

Stem	PAP	Gloss
dækha-	dekhie	showing, having shown bæra-	berie	wandering, having wandered śekha-	śikhie	teaching, having taught
ghuma-	ghumie	sleeping, having slept
But: jana-	janie	informing, having informed

Lesson 9, part 3. Pattern Drills.

1. Pattern: sentence 1.

- a. Is it necessary for you to study now?
- b. Is it necessary for you to go there now?
- c. Is it necessary for him to go tonight?
- d. Is it necessary for them to come tomorrow?
- e. Is it necessary for us to come to the office?

2. Pattern: sentence 2.

- a. Yes, I have to study right away.
- b. Yes, I have to go there right away.
- c. Yes, it is necessary for him to go tonight.
- d. Yes, it is necessary for them to come tomorrow.
- e. Yes, it is necessary for you to come to the office.

3. Pattern: sentence 3.

- a. When you finish, what will you do?
- b. When you go there, what will you do?
- c. When he arrives* there, what will he do?
- d. When they come here, what will they do?
- e. When I come to the office, what will I do?

4. Pattern: sentence 4.

- a. I have a lot of work.
- b. I have a lot of studying.
- c. He has a lot of studying.
- d. They have a lot of work.
- e. You have a lot of work.

Pattern: sentence 5.

- a. When I finish studying, I shall do that.
- b. When I go there, I shall do that.
- c. When he goes there, he will finish that.
- d. When they come here, they will finish that.
- e. When you come here, you will do that.

---

* either /poũche/ or /poũchie/ is possible.

5. Pattern: sentence 6.

- a. Will you finish studying tonight?
- b. Will you come back home tonight?
- c. Will he go back home tonight?
- d. Will they come back home tonight?
- e. Will I come back to the office tomorrow?

6. Pattern: sentence 7.

- a. No, I will not finish tonight.
- b. Yes, I shall come back home tonight.
- c. Yes, he will go back home tonight.
- d. No, they will not come back home tonight.
- e. Yes, you will come back tomorrow.

7. Pattern: sentence 8.

- a. When you finish your studying, will you meet me again?
- b. When you come back home, will you meet me again?
- c. When he goes back home, will he meet Lila?
- d. When they come back home, will they meet us again?
- e. When I come back, will I meet you here?

8. Pattern: sentence 9.

- a. No, I won't be able to meet you.
- b. Yes, I will be able to meet you again.
- c. No, he won't be able to meet her today.
- d. No, they won't be able to meet us tomorrow.
- e. No, you won't be able to meet me here.

9. Pattern: sentences 10, 11, 12.

- a. Can't you find a little time tonight? There is some need.
- b. Can't you find a little time today? There is some need.
- c. Can't he find a little time tonight? There is some need.
- d. Can they find a little time today? There is some need.
- e. Can you find a little time today? There is some need.

10. Pattern: sentence 13.

- a. OK. In that case I'll come back this evening.
- b. OK. In that case, I'll come back this morning.

- c. OK. In that case, he'll come back tonight.
- d. OK. In that case, they'll come back this evening.
- e. OK. In that case, I'll come back soon.

11. Pattern: sentence 14.

- a. No, come back when you have finished your studying.
- b. No, come back home when you have finished your work
- c. No, he'll come back when he has finished everything.
- d. No, they'll come back when they have bought everything.
- e. No, come back when you have bought the books.

12. Pattern: sentence 15.

- a. Look, I have to meet Ram today.
- b. Look, I have to meet Lila today.
- c. Look, he has to meet me today.
- d. Look, they have to study today.
- e. Look, I have to study Bengali today.

13. Pattern: sentence 16 (use verbal nouns).

- a. Why? Is he going to teach you to speak Bengali?
- b. Why? Is she going to teach you to play the tabla?
- c. Why? Are you going to teach him to eat Bengali sweets?
- d. Why? Are they going to learn to read Bengali?
- e. Why? Are you going to learn to read the language?

14. Pattern: sentence 17.

- a. No, I have to take some history books from him.
- b. No, I have to take some history books for her.
- c. No, I have to take some new books for him.
- d. No, they have to bring some new books for me.
- e. No, I have to buy some Bengali books from Ram.

15. Pattern: sentence 18.

- a. Go and get the history books tomorrow.
- b. Go and get the history books for her tomorrow.
- c. Go and bring the new books to him tomorrow.
- d. Go and get the new books tomorrow.
- e. Go and buy the books from Ram tomorrow.

16. Pattern: sentence 19.

- a. No, I won't be able to get them tomorrow.
- b. No, I won't be able to get them for her tomorrow.
- c. No, I won't be able to get them tomorrow.
- d. No, I won't be able to go there tomorrow.
- e. No, I won't be able to buy them tomorrow.

17. Pattern: sentences 20, 21 (note: refer to grammar, 4.1.)

- a. Then I shall get you the books tomorrow. I can go.
- b. Then I shall get the books for you tomorrow. I can go.
- c. Then I shall bring them for you tomorrow. I can go.
- d. Then I shall get you them tomorrow. I can go.
- e. Then I shall buy you them tomorrow. I can go.

18. Pattern: sentences 22, 14.

- a. In that case, I shall come back when I have finished my studying.
- b. In that case, I shall come home when I have finished my work.
- c. In that case, he will come when he has finished everything.
- d. In that case, they will come back when they have bought everything.
- e. In that case, I shall come back when I have bought the books.

Pattern: sentence 23.

- a. But I won't be able to stay here long.
- b. But I won't be able to stay with you long.
- c. But he won't be able to stay with you long.
- d. But they won't be able to stay long.
- e. But I won't be able to stay in the office long.

19. Pattern: sentence 24.

- a. That's all right. I have to give you a new sari.
- b. That's all right. I have to give you a new shawl.
- c. That's all right. I have to send* him some new books.
- d. That's all right. I have to show them some new things.
- e. That's all right. I have to tell you some good news.

---

* Either /paṭhabar/ or /paṭhanor/ (which you will hear on the tape) is possible.

20. Pattern: general.

- a. Good. I like to get new saris.
- b. Good. I like to get new shawls.
- c. Good. He likes to get new books.
- d. Good. They like to see new things.
- e. Good. I like to hear good news.

21. Pattern: sentence 26.

- a. When you come back, bring Lila with you.
- b. When you come back, bring your daughters with you.
- c. When he comes back, he will bring his children with him.
- d. When they come back, they will bring Nira with them.
- e. When you come back, bring Sipra with you.

Pattern: sentence 27.

- a. She also has to get a sari.
- b. They also have to get new shawls.
- c. They also have to get new books.
- d. She also has to see the new things.
- e. She also has to hear the news.

Lesson 9, part 4. Sentence Drills.Drill 1

- I must go home right away.
- Why do you have to go so soon? Do you have work there?
- Yes, a few things need to be done. When I finish my work, I shall come back.
- Good. When we have bathed and eaten, shall we take these things to Lila's house?
- Yes. I heard that she is sick.
- No, she fell on the ice this morning and broke her arm.
- Then let us bring her flowers and sweets. Then let's come back here and sleep a while.
- All right. After we have slept a while, we shall have to go to the market.
- All right. Shall I buy some fruit on my way home and bring it back?
- Yes, bring it back when you come. What else shall we bring to Lila?
- We'll buy some flowers on the way and give them to her.

--Good. Then I'll see you later.

Drill 2

--When will you go to Puri?

--Next week. I shall stay a week in Puri, and then return to Calcutta.

--Will you also go to Cattack [kəʈok]?

--Yes, after I have seen the temple of Jagannath [jəgonnath] in Puri, I shall go to Cuttack.

--There is a beautiful temple there also.

--Yes, I shall wander around Cuttack a day and then come back.

--Will you see the images?

--No, I shall not be able. I shall have to remain standing outside the temple walls.

--It will be a nice trip. What will you do after you have seen Puri and Cuttack?

--Then I shall return to Calcutta and sleep. Travelling makes me tired.

Lesson 9, part 5. Vocabulary.

misṭi	sweet (meats)	bəṛa-	wander around
murti	image	beṛie ja-
bhromon	travelling, trip	snan kər-	bathe
bajar	market	can cər-
bəroph	ice	pəṛ	fall
jiniś	thing (material goods)	poṛe ja-
hat	hand, arm	bhaṇ-	break
ṛśukh	illness	dāṛa-	stand, wait
cād	moon	ghuma-	sleep
kagoj	paper	(ghumie-PAP)
deoal	wall	poūcha	arrive
		opor	on, over
lal	red	karon	because
nil	blue
holde	yellow
śobuj	green	ṛśukh kər	get sick (with genitive)
begune	violet	tar ṛśukh korlo	she/he got sick
begne		bhalo kore	well
		bhalo kore śekho	learn (it) well

Lesson 10, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and Translation

Bengali

1. proper name (m.)
"a little"
"before, ago"
"a little while ago"

montu মন্টু ektu একটু
age আগে
ektu age একটু আগে

A. Montu, I called you on the phone a little while ago.

A. montu ' tomake ektu age ' phone daklam "

মন্টু , তোমাকে একটু আগে ফোনে ডাকলাম ।

A. Where were you?

A. tumi ' kothae chile "

তুমি কোথায় ছিলে ?

2. noun stem, "food"; see Grammar, 3.
PAP "eating, having eaten"
"a little"
high stem of verb /śo-/, "lie down"
PAP "lying down, having lain down" to be (in a condition of) lying down khavar খাবার

khee খেয়ে

ektu একটু

śu- শু- śue শুষে

śue ach- শুষে আছ-

B. After I had eaten, I was lying down for a while.

B. ami khavar khee ' ektu śue chilam "

আমি খাবার খেয়ে একটু শুষে ছিলাম ।

"suddenly"

hoṭhat হঠাৎ

PAP, "sleeping, having slept"
high stem of verb /por/,
"fall"
"fall asleep"

ghumie ঘুমিয়ে
por- পড়-
ghumie por- ঘুমিয়ে পড়-

B. But suddenly I fell asleep.

B. kintu hothat ' ghumie porlam "
কিন্তু হঠাৎ ঘুমিয়ে পড়লাম ।

3. noun stem, "matter"

bæpar ব্যাপার

Note that the tense is understood by the context of the conversation.

A. What was the matter?

A. ki bæpar "

কি ব্যাপার ?

noun stem, "body"
idiom, "be feeling badly" (with 3rd person verb)
For /naki/, see Grammar, 2.

śorir শরীর
śorir kharap ho- শরীর খারাপ হ-

A. Were you feeling badly?

A. tomar śorir ' kharap holo naki "
তোমার শরীর খারাপ হলো নাকি ?

4. demonstrative, "that"

ta তা

B. No, it wasn't exactly that.

B. na ' thik ta nae "
না , ঠিক তা নয় ।

"but"

tobe তবে

adjective, "whole, entire"

śara সারা

"the whole day"

śara din সারা দিন

adjective, "tired"

klanto ক্লান্ত

For the use of the verb /ach-/, see Grammar, 4.

B. But all day long I've been very tired.

B. tobe ami aj ' sara din ' khub klanto achi "

তবে আমি আজ সারা দিন খুব ক্লান্ত আছি ।

5. noun stem, "rest"
compound verb, "rest"

bissram বিগ্রাম
bissram kor- বিগ্রাম কর-bissram ne- বিগ্রাম নে-

A. In that case, rest today. A. ta hole ' aj bissram nao "

তা হলে , আজ বিগ্রাম নাও । proper name (f.)

gita গীতা

A. I'll come again tomorrow after seeing Gita.

A. ami gitake dekhe ' kal abar asbo "

আমি গীতাকে দেখে কাল আবার আসবো ।

6. "again, this time"
"what happened"
"what happened to Gita"

abar আবার
ki holo কি হলো
gitar ki holo গীতার কি হলো

B. What happened to Gita this time?

B. gitar ' abar ki holo "

গীতার আবার কি হলো ?

7. noun stem, "ice"
PAP, "falling, having fallen"
compound verb, "fall"
PAP of compound, "falling, having fallen" noun stem, "hand, arm"
PAP of verb, /bhan-/ ,
"break"
to be (in a condition of) sitting boroph বরফ

porē গড়ে
porē ja- গড়ে যা-

porē gie গড়ে গিয়ে hat হাত

bhege ভেঙে

bośe ach- বসে আছ-

A. She fell on the ice and broke her arm, and she is laid up.

A. śe ' b̥oropher opor pore gie ' hat bhene ' bośe ache "

সে বরফের ওপর পড়ে গিয়ে হাত ভেঙে বসে আছে ।

8. idiom, "is that so?", an expression of concern

tai naki তাই নাকি

B. Is that so? In that case, I'll go with you to see her and come back.

B. tai naki " ta hole ' ami tomar śonge gie ' take dekhe aśbo "

তাই নাকি ? তা হলে , আমি তোমার সঙ্গে গিয়ে তাকে দেখে আসবো ।

9. "decide"
conjunctive, "that"

thik kor- ঠিক কর-je যে

A. But I decided that I'll see her in the evening.

A. kintu ' ami thik korlum je ' ami take ' śondhebāla ' dekhe aśbo "

কিন্তু আমি ঠিক করলুম যে আমি তাকে সন্ধ্যাবেলা দেখে আসবো ।

"then, at that time"
PAP, "picking up, having picked up" compound verb, "pick up a and take"

takhon তখন tule তুলে

tule ne- তুলে নে-

A. Shall I call you then and pick you up?

A. takhon ' ami tomake deke ' tule nebo ki "

তখন আমি তোমাকে ডেকে তুলে নেবো কি ?

10. noun stem, "car, cart"

gari গাড়ী

B. Will you take your car?

B. tumi ' tomar garita ' nie jabe ki "

তুমি তোমার গাড়ীটা নিয়ে যাবে কি ?

11. A. Yes, I'll take my car.

A. hā " ami ' amar garita ' nie jabo "

হ্যাঁ , আমি আমার গাড়ীটা নিয়ে যাবো ।

12. B. Good. Then when you are going will you call and pick me up?

B. beś " ta hole ' jabar śomoe ' amake deke ' tule nebe ki "

বেশ । তা হলে যাবার সময় আমাকে ডেকে তুলে নেবে কি ?

13. A. Yes. Shall I pick you up at seven o'clock?

A. hñ " tomake śattar śomoe ' tule nebo ki "

হ্যাঁ , তোমাকে সাতটার সময় তুলে নেবো কি ?

14. adjective, "ready, prepared"
"be (remain) ready"

toiri তৈরী

toiri thak- তৈরী থাক-

(a.)

B. All right. I shall be ready at seven o'clock.

B. beś " ami ' śattar śomoe ' toiri thakbo "

বেশ । আমি সাতটার সময় তৈরী থাকবো ।

(b.)

B. What time will you come back home?

B. tumi ' kṛtar śomoe ' bari phire aśbe "

তুমি কটার সময় বাড়ী ফিরে আসবে ?

15. nine

no, noe ন , নয়

A. I'll come home at nine o'clock.

A. ami ' notar śomoe ' bari phire aśbo "

আমি নটার সময় বাড়ী ফিরে আসবো ।

16. verb stem, "reach, arrive at" PAP of stem /poũcha-/
see Grammar, 1.

poũcho-, poũcha- পৌছো-, পৌছা- compound verb, "cause to reach"

poũche de- পৌছে দে-

For this use of /de-/, see Grammar, 5.

B. When you come back will you leave me at my house?

B. pherbar śomoe ' tumi amake ' barite poũche debe ki "

ফেরবার সময় তুমি আমাকে বাড়ীতে পৌছে দেবে কি ?

17. A. Yes, I shall.

A. hã ' dobo "

হাঁ, দোবো ।

18. PAP of verb /ken-/,
"buying, having bought"
compound verb, "buy and bring"
imperative form of stem /an-/ kine কিনে

kine an- কিনে আন-

eno এনো

B. Look, when you come,
bring some flowers.

B. dækho ' aśbar śomoe ' kichu phul '
kine eno "

দেখ , আসবার সময় কিছু ফুল কিনে এনো ।

19. A. For whom?

A. kar jonne "

কার জন্যে ?

20. For this use of the future, see Lesson 2.

B. I want to bring Gita flowers.

B. ami gitar jonne ' phulgulo ' nie
jabo "

আমি গীতার জন্যে ফুলগুলো নিয়ে যাবো ।

21. A. All right. Then when I come, I shall bring some flowers.

A. accha " ta hole ' aśbar śomoe ' ami
kichu phul ' kine anbo "

আচ্ছা । তা হলে আসবার সময় আমি কিছু ফুল কিনে আনবো ।

22. "afterwards, later"

pore পরে

B. Good. Then I'll see you later.

B. beś " ta hole ' pore dækha hobe "

বেশ । তা হলে পরে দেখা হবে ।

23. A. OK. See you later.

A. accha " dækha korbo "

আচ্ছা , দেখা করবো ।

Lesson 10, part 2. Grammar.

1. The stem /poŭcha-/ has alternative forms in the PAP, namely /poŭche/ (as in sentence 16) and /poŭchie/.

2. The particle /naki/.

A Bengali speaker will use the particle /naki/ to express surprise or consternation at the unexpectedness of an action that is taking place, has taken place, or will take place. There is a contrast with the simple interrogative particle /ki/:

tumi jaccho ki'

Are you going?

tumi jaccho naki"

Are you going? (i.e., I am surprised or disturbed that you are going.)

Note also the difference in intonation.

3. The form /khabar/.

The verbal noun of the stem /kha-/, "eat", is formed with the suffix /-ba/; as in sentence 2, however, there is another form /khabar/, a noun meaning "food".

4. The form /achi/, sentence 4.

In Bengali, the expression of actions or conditions originated in the past but continuing in the present necessitates a present form of the verb, even though a translation in the English present tense might not make sense. So it is in sentence 4. In this case, tiredness is a condition which originated at an earlier time, but which is still existent.

A fragment question a foreigner in Bengal will hear is:

apni'koto din achen"

How long have you been here?

5. The use of /de-/, sentence 16.

The use of /de-/ as an "auxilliary" in Bengali is very complex. First of all, as in this lesson, there is the sense of giving assistance to someone in doing something. Thus, using sentence 16 as an example, tumi'barite poŭchobe ki"

Will you reach the house?

tumi amake'barite poŭche debe ki"

Will you help me reach my house? or
Will you get me to my house?

Another example:

ami'eṭa korbo"

I shall do it.

ami'eṭa kore debo"

I shall do it (for him, you, etc.).

There are other usages, which we shall deal with later on.

6. The nominative form of the word "someone, anyone" is /keu/; the stem is /kau-/ before the objective suffix -ke. Thus:

kauke'die aśbo"

I shall come and give (it) to anyone.

6.1. The negative of this formation is /kauke ... na/:

kauke'die aśbo na"

I shall not come and give (it) to anyone, or

I shall come and give it to no one.

7. The use of the morphemes /śomoe/, /-khon/, and /-bar/, indicating time.

7.1. /ṇek śomoe/ -- many times, much time continuously spent /ekṭu śomoe/ -- a little time, continuously spent

7.2. /ṇek-bar/ -- many times, separated by intervals
/kṇek-bar/ -- a few times, separated by intervals

7.3. /ṇekkhon/ -- quite a while, quite some time (in terms of hours)
/ekṭukkhon/ -- a little while (in terms of hours)

8. Form possible Bengali sentences:

	Clause I		Clause II
Subj.	Obj./VM	Verb <sub>1</sub>	Obj./VM	Verb <sub>2</sub>
ami tumi tomra tara	khabar take śekhane tomar śonge eṭa tomake	khee dekhe poṛe gie eśe nie ḍeke	tomake eṭa boiṭa	ḍak- pher- phire ja- phire aś- dekh- dekhe aś- dekhe ja- ne- nie aś- nie ja- tol- tule ne- poũcho-, poũcha pouche de- ken- kine an- kine de- kine nie aś-
			Verb <sub>2</sub> de- die aś- die ja-

Lesson 10, part 3. Patterns.

1. Pattern: sentence 1.

- I sent you a letter a while ago. Did you receive it?
- I sent Robi some books a while ago. Did he receive them?
- I called Robi on the phone a while ago. Where was he?
- I saw him on the street a while ago. Where were you?
- I saw them in the library last night. Where were you?

2. Pattern: sentence 2.

- After I read it, I gave it to Das.
- After he got them, he put them on a table.
- After he had eaten, he lay down for a while.
- After I had studied, I lay down for a while.
- After I had finished my work, I lay down for a while.

- a. After that, I didn't see it. (use simple past)
  - b. After that, I didn't see them. (use simple past)
  - c. After that, he fell asleep.
  - d. But for a long time, I didn't fall asleep. (use simple past)
  - e. And suddenly I fell asleep.
3. Pattern: sentence 3 (use simple past).
- a. What was the matter? Didn't you show it to Gita?
  - b. What was the matter? Did you fall asleep?
  - c. What was the matter? Was he very tired?
  - d. What was the matter? Weren't you well?
  - e. What was the matter? Are you well?
4. Pattern: sentence 4.
- a. No. She was very tired all day. She fell asleep.
  - b. Yes. All day long I was very tired. So I fell asleep.
  - c. Yes. All week long he's been very tired. He fell asleep.
  - d. Yes, but I was very tired. Sleeping was not possible.
  - e. Yes, but I'm a little tired. So suddenly I fell asleep.
5. Pattern: sentence 5, Lesson 9.
- a. Then tell her that it's necessary that she rest today.
  - b. Then it's necessary that you rest today.
  - c. Then it's necessary that he rest today.
  - d. Then it's necessary that you rest this week.
  - e. Then it's necessary that you rest now.
- a. I'll come back after seeing Ram.
  - b. Come back after resting.
  - c. Will he come back tomorrow, after resting?
  - d. Come back next week, after resting.
  - e. Rest now and come back tomorrow.
6. Pattern: sentence 6.
- a. What happened to Ram?
  - b. What happened to Ram yesterday?
  - c. Yes. What will happen to him tomorrow?
  - d. What will happen next week?
  - e. All right. What will happen tomorrow?

7. Pattern: sentence 7.
- a. He fell from a tree and broke his arm.
  - b. He fell from a tree and broke his leg.
  - c. He will go to the library and study.
  - d. You will come to my house and study.
  - e. You will come to my house and eat.
8. Pattern: sentence 8 (use verbal noun where possible).
- a. Is that so? In that case, I will go with you to see him and come back.
  - b. Is that so? In that case, I will go with you to see him now.
  - c. Is that so? In that case, it will be difficult to see him tomorrow.
  - d. Is that so? In that case, it will be difficult to rest this week.
  - e. Is that so? In that case, it will be necessary to work now.
9. Pattern: sentence 9.
- a. I decided that I'll see him tomorrow morning.
  - b. I decided that I'll see him afterwards.
  - c. I decided that it's necessary for us to see him now.
  - d. I decided that it's necessary for you to rest this week.
  - e. I decided that it's necessary for you to rest now.
- a. Shall I call you tomorrow morning and pick you up?
  - b. Shall I call you and take you there?
  - c. Shall I call him now and take you there?
  - d. Shall I call you next week and pick you up?
  - e. Shall I call you tomorrow and bring you here?
10. Pattern: sentence 10.
- a. Will you take your car tomorrow?
  - b. Will it be possible to take your car afterwards?
  - c. Will it be difficult for you to take your car now?
  - d. Will it be possible for you to take your car next week?
  - e. Will it be possible for you to take your car tomorrow?
11. Pattern: sentence 12.
- a. Yes. When I am going, I shall call you and pick you up.
  - b. Yes. When I reach home, I shall call you and pick you up.

- c. No. When I reach home, I shall take my car and pick you up.
- d. Yes. When I call you, I shall come and pick you up.
- e. Yes. When you call me, I shall come and pick you up.

12. Pattern: sentence 13.

- a. Will you pick me up at eight?
- b. What time will you pick me up?
- c. What time will you call me and pick me up?
- d. What time will you come and pick me up?
- e. Will you pick me up at nine sharp (i.e., "exactly nine")?

13. Pattern: sentence 14 (a).

- a. Will you be ready at eight?
- b. What time will you be ready?
- c. Will you be ready at nine?
- d. Will you be ready at ten?
- e. Will you be ready before nine?

14. Pattern: sentence 14 (b).

- a. Yes. Will it be possible to come home at ten sharp?
- b. At six. Will you come home before nine?
- c. Yes. It will be difficult to be ready before nine.
- d. Yes. It will be impossible to be ready before ten.
- e. Yes. It will be possible to be ready at eight.

15. Pattern: sentence 15.

- a. Yes. We shall come back at ten.
- b. Yes. We shall come back before nine.
- c. All right. We shall come back home before ten.
- d. All right. We shall come back home before eleven.
- e. All right. We shall come back at nine.

Pattern: sentence 16.

- a. When we come back, I shall leave you at your house.
- b. On the way back we shall leave Ram at his house.
- c. On the way back I shall leave you at Ram's house.
- d. After coming back, I shall leave Ram at your house.
- e. After leaving you, I shall leave Ram at his house.

16. Pattern: sentence 18.

- a. When you come, will you bring some flowers?
- b. When we go, shall we take some sweets?
- c. When I go to Ram's house, shall I take some flowers?
- d. When Ram comes, will he bring* some new books?
- e. When you go, will you take some things for Ram?

Pattern: sentence 20.

- a. I want to bring Gita some flowers.
- b. I want to bring her some sweets.
- c. I want to bring him some flowers.
- d. He wants to bring me new books.
- e. I want to give Ram some new things.

17. Pattern: sentence 21.

- a. All right. When I come, I shall bring some flowers from the store.
- b. All right. When I come, I shall bring some sweets for you.
- c. All right. When we go, we shall take him some flowers.
- d. Yes. When he comes, he will bring you some new books from the store.
- e. Yes. When I go, I shall take the new things for him.

Lesson 10, part 4. Drills.Drill 1

- Did you call me on the phone a while ago? I fell asleep.
- But what's the matter? Don't you feel well, or do you always sleep in the middle of the day?
- I don't exactly know. I've been feeling tired all week long. But let that go. What time is it?
- Almost half-past four. Are you going to class today?
- Yes. Look, will you do me a favor? When you are ready, will you pick me up? It's impossible for me to walk.
- Of course. I'll bring my car and pick you up in (i.e., "within"--use either /bhetore/ or the locative case) half an hour.
- There is one other matter. Will you buy the new books at the store and bring them to me when you come?
- That won't be possible for me. I won't go to the store today.

* "buy and bring"

- It doesn't matter. Will it be possible for you to leave me back here before half-past seven?
- Why? What will happen at half-past seven?
- Robi is coming. It is necessary for me to buy and cook the food before half-past eight.
- All right. I shall drop you back here by (i.e., "within") half-past seven.

Drill 2

- Will you come to the museum with me today? I'll go at about three-thirty.
- Yes, I'll certainly come. There's a Jamini Roy exhibition (i.e., "an exhibition of Jamini Roy's work"), isn't there?
- Yes. Ila likes his work very much. I told her that I would take her.
- Good. Will you take your car?
- Yes. I'll call you before I pick you up.
- Do you know Jamini Roy?
- Yes. I go to his house often. He is a wonderful man and a wonderful painter.
- People say that he is a truly Bengali painter. Is that so?
- I think so. Other painters copy European work or the work of the Mogul school. Jamini Roy copies no one.
- I hear that he paints in the manner of Bengali folk artists. Is that true?
- That's not exactly true. His colors and his forms are like Bengali folk art. But he is not a folk artist.
- How would you describe him, then?
- It is impossible to describe him. That is why he is a great artist.

Lesson 10, part 5. Vocabulary.

khabar	food	iuropio	European (adj.)
śilpo, kola	art	bharotio	Indian (adj.)
āka (verbal noun)	painting	cōmotkar	wonderful śilpi	painter, artist	aśol	true, genuine loko-śilpi	folk artist	śotti	true dharon	form (as in painting)	niścoi	certainly mogol	Mogul	moto, mōton	like, similar ciṭhi	letter	agami	next, approaching pa	leg, foot

rakh-	keep, put, place	majhe, moddhe	in the middle āk-	paint	śare	half-past barnona kor-	describe	śare carṭe	half-past four nakol kor-	copy	śare carṭa
ranna kor-	cook	adh	half katha bol-	converse	adh ghaṇṭa	half an hour
dakha-	show

Idioms:

akebare	at all
kaṭa baje	what time is it?
tai na	isn't that so?
tai naki	is that so?
jak
ta jete	let it go ta charo
ar akṭa	one more, another
tate khoti nei	there's no harm in that, that doesn't matter

Lesson 11, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and translation

Bengali

1. "noun, "crowd"
"crowd of people"

bhir ভীড়
loker bhir লোকের ভীড়

A. There is a crowd of people over there.

A. okhane ' loker bhir "
ওখানে লোকের ভীড় ।

2. high stem of verb
"be, become"
continuative suffix for vowel stems; see Grammar, 2.
3rd person present
verbal ending
"it is becoming"

ho- হ-
-cch- -ছে-
-e -এ hocche হচ্ছে

B. What is happening?

B. ki hocche "
কি হচ্ছে ?

3. "perhaps"
noun, "game"

bodhøe বোধ হয়
khæla খেলা

A. I don't know. Perhaps there is some game going on.

A. ami jani na " bodhøe ' kono khæla '
hocche "

আমি জানি না । বোধ হয় কোনও খেলা হচ্ছে ।

4. B. Will you go over and see what is happening?      B. tumi ki ' gie dekhbe ' ki hocche " আমি কি গিয়ে দেখবে কি হচ্ছে ?
5. idiom, "think"      mone ho-      মনে হ-"mutual striking";
 see Grammar, 7.      maramari      মারামারি verb, "fight" (i.e., physical combat)      maramari kor-      মারামারি কর-high stem of verb      kor-      কর-
 "do, make"      -ch-      -ছcontinuative suffix for consonant stems      -e      -এ 3rd person present
 verbal ending      (tara) maramari korche
 "(they) are fighting"      (তারা) মারামারি করছে
- A. I think that people are fighting.      A. amar mone hocche je ' lokera ' maramari korche "
 আমার মনে হচ্ছে যে লোকেরা মারামারি করছে ।
6. loan word, "riot"      raot      রায়ট "beginning"      suru      শুর compound verb, "be begun"      suru ho-      শুর হ-
- B. Do you think a riot is beginning?      B. tomar ki mone hocche je ' ekta raot ' suru hocche " তোমার কি মনে হচ্ছে যে একটা রায়ট শুর হচ্ছে ?
7. verb stem, "flee"      pala-      পালা-
 Note: for this use of the future, see Grammar, 5.
- A. No, if that were so, people would be fleeing.      A. na " ta hole ' lokera palabe " না , তা হলে লোকেরা পালাবে ।
- noun, "crowd"      bhir      ভীড় verb, "form a crowd"      bhir kor-      ভীড় কর-

A. They wouldn't form a crowd.

8. B. Then who are fighting?

9. noun, "fight" (either physical or verbal conflict)
verb, "fight"

A. I think that little boys are fighting.

present imperative, "move";
idiomatic, "let's go"

1st person present imperative, "let's see"

A. Come on, let's go see.

10. noun, "snake"
noun, "game"
"snake charmer's performance"

B. No, I think that there's a snake charmer's performance going on.

noun, "fear"
verb, "be afraid of, fear"

B. I am afraid of snakes.

A. bhir ' korbe na "

ভীড় করবে না ।

B. ta hole ' kara ' maramari korche "

তা হলে কারা মারামারি করছে ?

lorai লড়াই

lorai kor- লড়াই কর-

A. amar mone hœ je ' choto chelera ' lorai korche "

আমার মনে হয় যে ছোট ছেলেরা লড়াই করছে । colo চলো

dekhi দেখি

A. colo dekhi "

চলো , দেখি । śap সাপ

khæla খেলা

śap khæla সাপ খেলা

B. na " amar mone hœ je ' śap khæla hocche "

না , আমার মনে হয় যে সাপ খেলা হচ্ছে । bhœ ভয়

bhœ kor- ভয় কর-

B. ami śapke ' bhœ kori "

আমি সাপকে ভয় করি ।

11. "both" dujon দুজন
For the /-e/ suffix, see Grammar, 6.
- A. All right, come on.
Let's both go see
what's happening.
- A. accha colo " dujone gie dekhi " ki hocche "
আচ্ছা , চলো । দুজনে গিয়ে দেখি কি হচ্ছে ।
12. B. No, I won't go. You go.
- B. na " ami jabo na " tumi jao "
না , আমি যাবো না । তুমি যাও ।
13. A. Why won't you go?
- A. kano jabe na "
কেন যাবে না ?
14. high stem of verb, "see" dekh- দেখ-present continuative suf-fix for consonant stems -ch- -ছ-1st person present verbal ending -i -ি noun, "bull" śār ষাঁড়
- B. I can see now that bulls are fighting (i.e., that a bull-fight is happening).
- B. ami ækhon dekhchi je ' śārer lorai
hocche "
আমি এখন দেখছি যে ষাঁড়ের লড়াই হচ্ছে ।
- B. People are running away.
- B. lokera palacche "
লোকেরা পালাচ্ছে ।
15. A. In that case, move.
Let's run too.
- A. ta hole ' colo " amra.o palai "
তা হলে , চলো । আমরাও পালাই ।

Lesson 11, part 2. Grammar.

Note that from this lesson on, there will be no mutation drills given on the tapes. The reason for this is that by this time the student has at his command a variety of correct ways to express a thought; the usage of one or another form is a matter of style. All of these alternatives cannot be given on the tape. It is expected, however, that the instructor will continue the mutation drills in class, where allowance can be made for the student's style.

1. The use of the present continuative, as in sentences 1 ff.

1.1. The primary use of the present continuative (sometimes termed present imperfect) is indication of an action that is taking place at the time of speaking, that an action begun in the past is not completed. Bengali often uses this emphasis on continuity where English, for example, is content with a simple present. A frequent Bengali phrasing is:

ami bujchi "	I understand (i.e., I am understanding) what you are saying.

1.2. Further, Bengali frequently uses the present continuative if the action is going on in the present, even if that action was originated in the distant past:

hajar bāchor dhore'śāotalera ' ekhane baś korche"
Santals have been living (i.e., "are living") here for 1000 years.

1.3. A less frequent but still common usage of the present continuative is expression of action that is to take place in the immediate future. An exchange might be:

ekhane eśo '	Come here!
accha"ami aśchi"	All right, I am coming.

2. The formation of the present continuative:

2.1. The present continuative of consonant-final verb stems is formed by the high stem (except for /a/ stems) of the verb plus the suffix /-ch-/, plus the present tense personal endings. Thus:

śon	"hear"	ami śun-ch-i tumi śun-ch-o tui śun-ch-is apni śun-ch-en śe śun-ch-e tini śun-ch-en
khæl-	"play"	ami khel-ch-i, etc.
kōr-	"do"	ami kor-ch-i, etc.

2.2. Consonant stems with the /a/-vowel retain their low stems, thus:

jan- "know" ami jan-ch-i, etc.

2.3. Stems with vowel final follow the same pattern: /a/-stems retain their low stem form, others take their high-stems. However, all stems of CV-shape double the /ch/ affix, thus: /-cch-/.

de-	"give"	ami di-cch-i, etc.
kha-	"eat"	ami kha-cch-i, etc.
ho-	"be, become"	ami ho-cch-i, etc.

2.3.1. Stems of CVV-shape do not double the /ch/ affix:

ga-/gai- "sing" ami gai-ch-i, etc.

3. Review of formation and use of the verbal noun.

3.1. Verbal nouns of consonant-stem verbs are formed by the addition of the suffixes, /-a/ or /-ba/ to the low stem of the verb. Verbal nouns of vowel-stem verbs are formed by addition of the suffixes /-oa/ or /-ba/ to the low stem of the verb, thus:

de-	deoa or deba-
pa-	paoa or paba-
ho	h <sub>o</sub> oa or h <sub>o</sub> ba-

3.2. The suffixes /-a/ or /-oa/ are usual when the noun is in the nominative, objective, or locative cases; the suffix /-ba-/ occurs only when the noun is in the genitive, being freely variant with /-a/ or /-oa/.

3.3. Constructions with the verbal noun are very common in Bengali. For example:

Nominative: khæla hocche" tar aśa'holo na"

Playing is going on.
of him coming was not
(He did not come.)

Genitive: tar aśbar / aśar śomoe'brīṣṭi holo"

It was raining when he came.

Objective:	baṅlae pan kṛake'	In Bengali, "drinking water" is (rare)	jol khaoa bole"	called "jol khaoa".
Locative:	e kṛtha bolate' amra	On being told this, we went away.
	cole gelum"

4. The form /maramari/ (sentences 5 ff.):

4.1. This type of reduplicated formation is frequent in Bengali, and in fact in many modern languages of India. The significance is often mutual action of some type. For example:

karakari	mutual snatching
laṭhalathi	mutual fighting with sticks
gūtogūti	mutual pushing aside with elbows

4.2. The first vowel of the reduplicated portion of the expression (except where /a/), is the high vowel, due to the presence of the final high vowel -i.

5. Uses of the future tense, as in sentence 7.

5.1. It is not infrequent in Bengali to use the simple future to express the English conditional, as here. Another example might be:

tumi śekhane'kano jabe"	Why should you go there?
-------------------------	--------------------------

5.2. In sentence 7, the conditional aspect of the sentence is stated in the first clause, "if that were so".

6. Use of the locative, as in sentence 11.

6.1. The locative case form is frequently used in nominative constructions to indicate mutual action or reciprocity.

7. Note that sentences 9 and 14 suggest the transitive-intransitive equivalence which we have seen before. Note the distinction between:

śār'lorai korche"	bulls are fighting
-------------------	--------------------

and

śārer'lorai hocche"	bulls are fighting (i.e., a fight of bulls is happening)
---------------------	--

or between

	chelera'loṛai korche"	boys are fighting and	cheleder'loṛai hocche"	boys are fighting (lit., a fight of boys is happening)

7.1. The contrast is clearest in cases in which there is no case inflection. For example:

	oṭa'śuru hocche	It is beginning. (intransitive)
and	oṭa'śuru korche"	He is beginning it. (transitive)

Lesson 11, part 3. Patterns.

Note: from this lesson on, only the first two patterns will be heard on the tape.

1. Pattern: sentences 1, 2, Grammar, 6.
  - a. What is happening in that crowd of people?
  - b. What are those people doing?
  - c. What is he doing in that crowd of people?
  - d. Are you listening to the story?
  - e. Are you looking at the crowd of people?
2. Pattern: sentence 3, Grammar, 6.
  - a. Perhaps there is a riot going on.
  - b. Perhaps a riot is beginning.
  - c. Perhaps he is starting a riot.
  - d. No, I am looking at this book.
  - e. No, I am listening to his reading of poetry.
3. Pattern: sentence 4.
  - a. Shall we go and see what is happening?
  - b. Shall we go and see what they are doing?
  - c. Shall we go and listen to what he is saying?
  - d. Shall we go and listen to his reading?
  - e. Shall we go and see what the crowd is doing?

4. Pattern: sentence 5.
- a. No. I think that they are fighting.
  - b. No. I think that they are only shouting.
  - c. No. I think that he is saying nothing.
  - d. No. I think that I shall sit here and read.
  - e. No. I think that I shall remain here and listen.
5. Pattern: sentence 6.
- a. Do you think that some trouble is beginning?
  - b. Do you think that a fight is starting?
  - c. Do you think that he is starting a riot?
  - d. What are you reading now?
  - e. What poem is he reading now?
6. Pattern: sentence 7.
- a. No. If that were so, everyone would be running away.
  - b. No. If that were so, people would not be staying there.
  - c. No. If that were so, everyone would be shouting.
  - d. I am reading a new novel by Buddhadev ([buddhadev]).
  - e. He is reading some poems by Jibananda Das ([jibananda das]).
7. Pattern: sentence 8.
- a. Then what do you think is going on?
  - b. Then do you think that people are fighting?
  - c. Then why do you think the crowd is forming?
  - d. Is Buddhadev writing another novel now?
  - e. Which poems of Jibananda is he reading?
8. a. I think that some boys are fighting.
- b. Yes, perhaps people are fighting.
  - c. I think that boys are fighting; that is why the crowd is forming.
  - d. Yes. I think that he is writing a new novel.
  - e. I don't know. I am not hearing it very well.
9. Pattern: sentence 10.
- a. Let's go see. Perhaps a snake-charmer's performance is going on.

- b. Let's go see. Perhaps there is a football game going on.
- c. Let's go see. Perhaps he is beginning a snake-performance.
- d. I see. How is that novel striking you? (use /lag-/.)
- e. Why? Are the people shouting too loudly?

10. Pattern: sentence 10.

- a. I'm not going. I'm afraid of snakes.
- b. I'm not going. I don't like football.
- c. I'm not going. I don't like snake-performances.
- d. I like it very much. He writes well.
- e. Yes. Also he is reading very softly (/cup kore/).

11. Pattern: sentence 11.

- a. Come on; let's both go and see the snake-performance.
- b. Come on; let's both go and watch the football game.
- c. Come on; let's both go and see the snake.
- d. Yes. He writes simple but very strong Bengali.
- e. Yes. It's difficult to hear. Let's go sit near him.

12. Pattern: sentence 14.

- a. No. Now I see that some boys are fighting.
- b. No. Now I see that a snake and a mongoose are fighting.*
- c. No. Now I see that the snake-performance is ending.
- d. Yes. He is becoming very famous.
- e. Yes, let's go. Let's sit in front of him and listen.

13. Pattern: sentence 14.

- a. Yes. And people are becoming tired of it.
- b. Yes, and little boys are fleeing.
- c. Yes, and people are going home.
- d. These days he is writing only in colloquial Bengali ([colit bhaśal]), is he not?
- e. Yes. But now he is finishing his reading.

14. Pattern: sentence 15.

- a. In that case, let's not go.

---

* either /śap-neuler lōrai/ or /śaper ar neuler lōrai/.

- b. In that case, let's go and see.
- c. In that case, let's go home too.
- d. Yes. He is certainly not writing literary Bengali ([śadhu bhaśa]).
- e. Yes. It is being finished. Let's go home.

Lesson 11, part 4. Sentence Drill.

Drill 1

- What are those people doing over there?
- I don't know. Let's go see.
- No, there is a lot of elbowing going on in that crowd.
- All right, then, get up on that wall and look.
- I can see now (i.e., I am seeing now).
- What is going on?
- A snake and a mongoose are fighting.
- Who is winning?
- The mongoose always wins.
- Come on, let's look.*
- No, I am afraid of snakes. Before I came to Calcutta a snake bit me.
- There is a magician there too. He is doing tricks.
- What kind of tricks is he doing?
- He is walking bare-foot (i.e., in bare feet) on a fire.
- Why is he doing that?
- Because people are giving him money.
- It's finishing now. The people are coming away (i.e., returning back).
- All right, then, let's go home. I am getting hungry.

Drill 2 When in doubt, use present continuative.

- How are you getting on?
- Fine.
- Are you studying Bengali?
- Yes, I am studying the language and the literature.
- How do you like it?
- I like it very much. But it is becoming more difficult.
- Are you studying tonight?
- No, I don't think that I will study tonight. It is getting very hot.

---

* an idiomatic possibility is /dækha jak/.

- Good. Then come to the movies with me.
 --All right. When are you going?
 --Right now. Come on.
 --All right, I'll get (i.e., take) my coat, and be right back.

Lesson 11, part 5. Vocabulary.

jadukar	magician	jet-	win, conquer
jadu	trick	kamra	bite
pa	foot	citkar kar-	shout
agun	fire
śahitto	literature	bikkhato	famous sinema	cinema	joralo	strong golmal	trouble, hubbub	aste	slowly, softly
		aro	more, even more
		khali	empty, bare
		jore	loud, loudly
		cup kore	quietly, softly

Idioms:

kamon colche	how is it going (with you), how are you getting on?
kono rokome colche	so-so, somehow or other it's going garom porche	it is getting hot - lit. "heat is falling"
taka paise	money - lit. "rupees and lesser coins"
khid pa-	to get hungry

Lesson 12, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and translation	Bengali
1. verb stem, "go" continuative suffix with vowel stems 2nd person present ending "(you) are going"	ja- যা- -cch- -চ্ছ- -o -ও jaccho যাচ্ছে
A. Where are you going?	A. tumi ' kothae jaccho " তুমি কোথায় যাচ্ছে ?
2. proper name (Muslim)	rahim রহিম
B. I am going to Rahim's house.	B. ami ' rohimer barite ' jacchi " আমি রহিমের বাড়ীতে যাচ্ছি।
3. A. What is happening there?	A. śekhane ' ki hocche " সেখানে কি হচ্ছে?
4. noun, "birth" noun, "day" compound noun, "birthday" noun, "celebration" "birthday celebration"	jonmo জন্ম din দিন jonmodin জন্মদিন utśob উৎসব jonmodine utśob জন্মদিনে উৎসব

B. Rahim's son's birthday celebration is going on.

B. rohimer oheler ' jonmodine utśob ' hocche "

রহিমের ছেলের জন্মদিনে উৎসব হচ্ছে।

5. "who"
pluralizing reduplication, "who (all)"

ke কে

ke ke কে কে

A. Who (all) are coming there?

A. śekhane ' ke ke aśche "

সেখানে কে কে আসছে ?

6. B. I don't know exactly. But aren't you coming?

B. ami ' thik jani na " tōbe ' tumi ki aścho na "

আমি ঠিক জানি না । তবে তুমি কি আসছো না ?

7. A. Yes, I'm also going.

A. hā " ami.o jacchi "

হ্যাঁ , আমিও যাচ্ছি।

8. noun, "present"

upohar উপহার

B. Are you taking any present for him?

B. tumi ki ' tar jonne ' kono upohar ' niccho "

তুমি কি তার জন্যে কোন উপহার নিচ্ছে ?

Note: this formation, using /ache/, indicates that the present was bought some time ago, that it has been in existence for some time.

B. I have a present for him.

B. tar jonne ' amar ækta upohar ' ache "

তার জন্যে আমার একটা উপহার আছে ।

9. "now"
emphatic suffix
"even now, up until now"
negative past tense particle; see Grammar, 2.

ækhon এখন

-o -ত ækhono এখনো

ni নি

- A. As of now I have bought no present for him.      A. ami ' tar jonne ' ekhono ' kono upohar kini ni " আমি তার জন্যে এখনো কোন উপহার কিনি নি ।
- A. But before going, I am going to buy a present.      A. tobe jabai age ' ekta upohar ' kinchi "
 তবে যাবার আগে একটা উপহার কিনছি ।
10. B. What present are you taking?      B. ki upohar niccho " কি উপহার নিচ্ছে ?
11.      noun, "story"      golpo      গল্প
- A. I am taking a story-book.      A. ekta golper boi ' nicchi " একটা গল্পের বই নিচ্ছি ।
12.      /je ... tar .../, see Grammar, 3.
 /-khana/, qualifying suffix; see Review II, 3.2.
- B. What is the name of the book which you are bringing?      B. je boikhana niccho ' tar nam ki " যে বইখানা নিচ্ছে তার নাম কি ?
13. A. The book's name is Deśe-bideśe.      A. boitar nam ' deśe-bideśe " বইটার নাম দেশে-বিদেশে ।
14.      Present completive tense, "you have read", see Grammar, 1.      porecho      পড়েছো
- B. Have you read the book?      B. tumi ki ' boikhana porecho " তুমি কি বইখানা পড়েছো ?
15.      negative particle, indicating past time; see Grammar, 2.      ni      নি

A. No, I haven't read it.

A. na ' pori ni "

না , গড়ি নি ।

present completive tense,
"I have heard"; see
Grammar, 1.

śunechi শুনেনিছি

A. But I have heard that the book is very good.

A. tobe ' śunechi je ' boita khub bhalo "

তবে শুনেনিছি যে বইটা খুব ভাল ।

16. present completive tense,
"he has said"; see Grammar,
1.

boleche বলেছে

B. Who has said (so)?

B. ke boleche "

কে বলেছে ?

17. A. My brother has said (so). A. amar bhai ' boleche "

আমার ভাই বলেছে ।

A. He has read the book.

A. śe ' boita poreche "

সে বইটা পড়েছে ।

18. /ja ... ta .../, see Grammar, 3.
"true"

śotti সত্যি

B. What he said is true.

B. ja śe boleche ' ta śotti "

যা সে বলেছে তা সত্যি ।

19. A. What present are you taking?

A. tumi ' upohar niccho "

তুমি কি উপহার নিচ্ছে ?

20. noun, "bird"

pakhi পাখী

B. I am going to take a bird.

B. ami ækta pakhi ' nie jacchi "

আমি একটা পাখী নিয়ে যাচ্ছি ।

21. noun, "color"

রণ রং

A. What color is the bird which you are taking?

A. je pakhita 'tumi niccho 'tar ran ki "

যে পাখীটা তুমি নিচ্ছে তা রং কি ?

22. "green" (see Grammar, 4.)
noun, "parrot"

śobuj সবুজ
tiapakhi টিয়াপাখী

B. The bird is green. It's a parrot.

B. pakhita śobuj "ota 'ekta tiapakhi "

পাখীটা সবুজ । ওটা একটা টিয়াপাখী ।

23. "wonderful"

comotkar চমৎকার

A. A green colored bird! Wonderful!

A. ekta śobuj roner pakhi "comotkar "

একটা সবুজ রংয়ের পাখী । চমৎকার । noun, "word, story" compound verb, "talk, converse" katha কথা

katha bol- কথা বল-

A. The parrot talks, doesn't it?

A. tiapakhita 'katha bole naki "

টিয়াপাখীটা কথা বলে নাকি ?

24. B. Yes, he talks a little.

B. hã 'ektu ektu katha bole "

হ্যাঁ , একটু একটু কথা বলে ।

25. A. What does he say?

A. ki katha bole "

কি কথা বলে ?

26. B. He only says, "Give food!"

B. kebol bole 'khabar dao "

কেবল বলে , খাবার দাও ।

Lesson 12, part 2. Grammar.

1. The formation and use of the present complete (or "present perfect") tense.

1.1. The present completive is a frequently used past tense in Bengali; it is fairly general in reference. In general, it is a fair rule of thumb to consider that any English construction which has or can have the form "has/have (read, shut, done, eaten, etc.)" will take the present completive in Bengali. The tense is frequently used where English would have a simple past, but its primary usage is to indicate an action which has been completed in the recent past but which has results which continue into the present.

1.2. The PAP forms the base of the present completive with the -ch- suffix and the present tense personal endings added to it, thus:

Stem			PAP	Suffixes
ken-	"buy"	ami	kine-	ch-i
		tumi	kine-	ch-o
		tui	kine-	ch-iś
		apni	kine-	ch-en
		śe	kine-	ch-e
		tini	kine-	ch-en
khæl-	"play"	ami	khele-	ch-i	etc.
jan-	"know"	ami	jene-	ch-i	etc.
kər-	"do"	ami	kore-	ch-i	etc.
bojh-	"understand"	ami	bujhe-	ch-i	etc.
de-	"give"	ami	die-	ch-i	etc.
kha-	"eat"	ami	khee-	ch-i	etc.
hə-	"be"	ami	hoe-	ch-i	etc.

1.3. The present completive of /ja-/ "go" is irregular. The stem is /gæ- ~ gie-/ and the paradigm runs thus:

ami	gechi, giechi
tumi	gæcho, giecho
tui	gechiś, giechiś
apni	gæchen, giechen
śe	gæche, gieche
tini	gæchen, giechen

2. The past negative, as in sentence 15.

2.1. The past tenses in the negative are formed by the use of the simple present tense with the negative particle /ni/, thus:

ami śunechi"	I have heard.
ami śuni ni"	I have not heard.
ami'oi boiṭa poṛechi"	I have read that book.
ami'oi boiṭa poṛi ni"	I have not read that book.

2.2. An exception* to this rule is the simple past tense. The particle /na/ may optionally be used with a simple past verbal form:

ami poṛlum na	I did not read (in recent past).
ami poṛi ni	I did not read (non-definite past).

3. Relative clauses.

In Bengali, correlative constructions have the following forms:

3.1. Personal pronouns, with reference to human beings only:

3.1.1. je ... śe ...	(he, she) who ... he, she ...
je aśche ' śe ke "	Who is he/she who is coming?

3.1.2. jara ... tara ...	(those) who ... they ...
jara'ei baṛite thake' tara chattro"	Those who live in this house are students.

3.2. Impersonal references:

ja ... ta ...	(that) which ... that
ja ami dekhchi'ta ki"	What is that which I see?
jegulo amicaichi'śegulo bhalo"	Those which I want are good.

3.3. Adjectival formations:

3.3.1. The relative /je/ accompanied by a noun:

je ... śe ...	(that) which ... that ...
je boiṭa'tomake diechi' seṭa kothae"	Where is that book which I have given you?

*Another exception is the past habitual tense, which we have not yet met.

je chelegulo eśeche'śegulo bostir chele"

The boys who have come are boys of the busti (slum).

3.3.2. joto ... tato ... tomar'joto taka ache'toto taka ami cai"

as much as ... so much ...
I want as much money as you have.

3.4. Other types of formations:

3.4.1. jekhane ... śekhane jekhane tumi jabe'śekhane
ami jabo"

where ... there ...
I shall go where you go.

3.4.2. jokhon ... tokhon ...
tumi jokhon jabe'tokhon ami
jabo"

when ... then ...
When you go, I shall go.

3.4.3. jakhoni (jokkhuni) ...
tokhoni (tokkhuni) ...
jakhoni tumi bolbe'takhoni boiṭa ene dobo"

the very monent ... at that moment

The moment you tell me (at that very moment), I'll bring the book.

3.4.4. jamon ... tamon ... jamon apni bolben'tamon ami
korbo"

as ... so ...
As you will tell (me), so I will do.

jemni ... temni ...
jemni apni bolben'temni ami
korbo"

just as ... just so ...
Just as you will tell me, just so I will do.

3.5. Note that the correlative can be inflected, as in sentence 12.
Other examples:

je aśche'tar (śe lokṭir) nam ki"

What is the name of him who is coming?

jara aśche'tader (śe lokgular) nam ki"

What are the names of those (people) who are coming?

je chelera'śekhane bośche' taderke (śe chelederke)
pachondo koro ki"

Do you like those boys who are sitting there?

je bondhura eśeche'tara ramer
bondhu"

Those friends who have come are Ram's friends.

3.6. Drills on tape.

4. Use of adjectives of color.

4.1. Some adjectives of color have two forms, the usage of each of which is limited. For example:

holde, holud                      yellow

The distribution of these forms is as follows:

pakhiṭa holde	The bird is yellow.
pakhiṭa holud raṅer
holde pakhiṭa	The yellow bird.
holud raṅer pakhiṭa

Note that these pairs are not in absolute contrast; for example, the form /holde raṅer/ is possible.

4.2. The following vocabulary items occur with or without following /raṅ/ "color".

Bengali	English
lal	red
kalo	black
śada	white
nil	blue
śobuj	green
holde	yellow
begne	violet
golapi	rosy
badami	brown
khæri	toast brown

4.2.1. Examples:

śariṭa'lal raṅer"	The sari is of red color.
śariṭa lal"	The sari is red (color).
śariṭar raṅ'lal"	The color of the sari is red.

4.3. The following vocabulary items must be followed by /raṅ/ "color".

kamla lebu raṅ	orange color, or color of an orange chai raṅ	ash color, or color like ash
mourkonṭhi raṅ	color like the peacock's neck

ghie rɔŋ	color like clarified butter
tūte rɔŋ	color like turquoise holud rɔŋ	of turmeric color
dudhe alta rɔŋ	color of milk and alta mixed - a kind of red dye which women use to decorate their feet.
aśmani rɔŋ	sky color
śonali rɔŋ	golden color
rupoli rɔŋ	silvery color
koci kɔlapatar rɔŋ	color of a young banana leaf
abir rɔŋ	color of red powder used at Holi festival
sīdur rɔŋ	vermillion

5. For purposes of the pattern drills, it is important to note the distinction between /koækjon/ and /kono kono/:

koækjon lok	a few people (a small number that can be specified)
kono kono lok	some people (indefinite number)

6. Form possible Bengali sentences:

6.1.

Possessive noun or pronoun	Post-positional phrase	Noun or pro-noun subject	Negative verb "there is not"
amar	tar jonne	upohar	nei
tomar	rader	boi
apnar	boner	pakhi
tar	rohimer	ṭaka
tār
amader
cheleder

6.2.

Correlative Clause			Relative Clause
Pronoun/ adjective	Subject	Verb	Pronoun	Subject	Interrogative je	boiṭa pakhiṭa cheleṭi kukurṭa beralṭa lokṭa	niccho kincho aśche bośche khacche	tar	nam raṇ	ki
			-----	śe
ja	śe	boleche poṛeche dekheche aśche	ta	śotti bhalo śokto śohoj ----- ki

Lesson 12, part 3. Patterns.

1. Pattern: sentence 1.
  - a. Where are you going now?
  - b. What are you reading now?
  - c. Where is he going now?
  - d. What are you listening to now?
  - e. What are the boys doing now?
2. Pattern: sentence 2.
  - a. I am going to class.
  - b. I am reading a play.
  - c. He is going to Somdeb's house
  - d. I am listening to a kirtan.
  - e. They are playing in the field.
3. Pattern: sentence 3.
  - a. What is happening in class today?

- b. What play are you reading?
- c. What is happening at Somdeb's house?
- d. What kirtan are you listening to?
- e. What are they playing?

4. Pattern: sentence 4.

- a. Somdeb is teaching us Bengali.
- b. I am reading Tagore's Raja.
- c. A party is going on today.
- d. I am listening to an old kirtan.
- e. A football game is going on.

5. Pattern: sentence 5.

- a. Who (all) is coming to class today?
- b. Who (all) is reading in class today?
- c. Who (all) is going there?
- d. Who (all) is singing the kirtan?
- e. Who (all) is playing football?

6. Pattern: sentence 6.

- a. Everyone. Aren't you coming to class?
- b. Somdeb. Are you coming to class today?
- c. I don't know. Aren't you going there?
- d. Some Vaisnavas. Aren't you listening to the song?
- e. Some boys. Aren't you playing football today?

7. Pattern: sentence 7.

- a. Yes, I'm coming.
- b. Yes, I'm going today.
- c. Yes, I'm going there.
- d. Yes, I'm listening.
- e. No, I'm not playing.

8. Pattern: sentence 8.

- a. Do you have the books for the class?
- b. Do you have the papers for the class?
- c. Do you have any present for Somdeb?
- d. Do you have the book for me?
- e. Do you have some time for me?

9. Pattern: sentence 9.

- a. No, I do not have the books.
- b. No, I do not have the papers.
- c. No, I do not have a present.
- d. No, I do not have the book.
- e. No, I do not have any time.

Pattern: sentence 9.

- a. Before going I am going to get (i.e., I am getting) the books.
- b. Before going I am going to get (i.e., I am getting) the work.
- c. Before going I am going to get (i.e., I am getting) a present.
- d. Before going I am going to get (i.e., I am getting) the book.
- e. Before meeting you I am going to get (i.e., I am getting) a book.

10. Pattern: sentence 10.

- a. What books are you getting?
- b. What work are you doing?
- c. What present are you buying?
- d. What book are you buying?
- e. What book are you reading?

11. Pattern: sentence 11.

- a. I am getting poetry books.
- b. I am studying Bengali history.
- c. I am buying a history book.
- d. I am buying a poetry book.
- e. I am reading a Bengali novel.

12. Pattern: sentence 12.

- a. What are the names of the books which you are getting?
- b. What are the names of the books which you are studying?
- c. What is the name of the history book which you are buying?
- d. What is the name of the poetry book which you are buying?
- e. What is the name of the novel which you are reading?

13. Pattern: sentence 13.

- a. The books' names are Balaka [bolaka] and Gitanjali [gitanjoli].
- b. The books are histories of Bengal.

- c. The book's name is Bangalir itihas [baṅalir itihāś].
- d. The book's name is Ityadi [ittadi].
- e. The name of the novel is Gora [gora].

Pattern: sentence 14.

- a. Have you read the books?
- b. Have you studied history?
- c. Have you read that book?
- d. Have you seen that book?
- e. Have you read that novel?

14. Pattern: sentence 15.

- a. No, I haven't read them.
- b. No, I haven't studied history.
- c. No, I haven't gotten that book.
- d. No, I haven't seen that book.
- e. No, I haven't read that novel.

Pattern: sentence 15.

- a. I have heard that they are very difficult.
- b. I have heard that history is very difficult.
- c. I have heard that it is very difficult to get.
- d. I have heard that it is very good.
- e. I have heard that it is very difficult to read.

15. Pattern: sentence 16.

- a. Who has said that they are difficult?
- b. Who has said that it is difficult?
- c. Who has said that it is difficult to get?
- d. Who has said that it is good?
- e. Who has said that it is difficult to read?

16. Pattern: sentence 17.

- a. My friend has said so.
- b. My sister has said so.
- c. My brother has said so.
- d. My friends have said so.
- e. My teacher has said so.

17. Pattern: sentence 18.

- a. What he has said is not true.
- b. What she has said is right.
- c. What he has said is true.
- d. What they have said is not true.
- e. What he has said is not correct.

Pattern: sentences 19, 20, 21.

- a. The books which I have read are not difficult.
- b. The history which I have studied is difficult.
- c. The books which I have wanted I have not found.
- d. The book which I have read is not very good.*
- e. The book which I have read is very easy.

18. Pattern: sentence 18.

- a. Then the friend who told me was not correct.
- b. Then what she told me was correct.
- c. Then what my brother told me was correct.
- d. Then the friends who told me were not correct.
- e. Then the teacher who told me is not a good teacher.

Lesson 12, part 4. Sentence Drill.

Drill 1

- Where are you going?
- I am going to Somdev's house.
- Have you gone to the market?
- Yes, I have bought all the things that you have asked for.
- And have you finished your work and bathed?
- Yes, I have finished everything.
- All right, then, go along. What's going on at his house?
- I don't know exactly. I think that his brother has returned from Europe.
- I have not heard that he has returned. I have heard that he will stay in America for two years.

---

* The English is ambiguous; the Bengali /khub bhalo nae/ means that the book is good, but not very good. This construction may be used here.

- Those who leave Bengal often come back quickly. Are you coming with me?
 --Yes, I'm coming. But I have not bought a present for him.
 --That's all right. We will buy one on the way.

Drill 2

- Have you read the paper today?
 --No, I have not seen it yet (i.e., 'even now'). What does it say?
 --It says that there was a hartal [hərtall] in Bombay.
 --What is happening there?
 --Yesterday there was a riot, and three people were
 --Is there any good news?
 --Yes, the paper says that the summer will be very hot this year, and that the monsoon will be late (i.e., 'will come after').
 --Has Buddadev written about my book?
 --Yes, he says that it is a very bad book.
 --Is that all?
 --Yes, he has not written much.
 --I think that I shall lie down for a while

Lesson 12, part 5. Vocabulary.

khəbor	news	aghat pa-	get a blow, get injured
kagoj	paper
aghat	injury, blow	ca-, cai-	want, ask for bərsā, briśṭi	rain	bissram kər-	rest, take a rest
kal	time, season	śo-	lie down
bissram	rest, nap	śue ne-	lie down naṭoke	drama, play	pa-	get, find
		khūje pa-	find after searching
beśi	much, very much	chaṛ-	leave, abandon śommondhe, śombondhe	post-position, "about, in regard to", with genitive

Idioms:

ṭhik ache	that's all right
gorom kal	summer
bərsā kal	rainy season
bəro beśi	too much

Lesson 13, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and Translation

Bengali

1. high stem of verb /ja-/,
"go"
infinitive ending
"to go"

je- যে-
-te -তে
jete যেতে

For use of the infinitive, see Grammar, 1.

- A. Have you told Ram to go to the market?

- A. ramke ' bajare jete ' bolecho ki "

রামকে বাজারে যেতে বলেছো কি ?

2. alternative stem of verb
/ja-/, "go" -- see Lesson 5
"he/she has gone"

gæ- গে- gæche গেছে

- B. Yes, I gave him two rupees; he has gone to the market.

- B. hã " du taka diechi " še bajare gæche "

হাঁ, দুটাকা দিয়েছি। সে বাজারে গেছে।

3. A. Has he come back from the market?

- A. še ki bajar theke ' phire ešeche "

সে কি বাজার থেকে ফিরে এসেছে ?

4. "just now"

eimattro এইমাত্র

- B. Yes, he has just come back.

- B. hã " še ' eimattro phireche "

হাঁ, সে এইমাত্র ফিরে এসেছে।

5. compound verb, "(buy and) bring"

kine an- কিনে আন-

A. What has he brought from the market?

A. śe ' bajar theke ' ki kine enechē "

সে বাজার থেকে কি কিনে এনেছে ?

6. noun, "fish"

mach মাছ

noun, "meat"

maṇśo মাংস

noun, "vegetables"

tarkari তরকারী

B. He has brought fish, meat, and vegetables.

B. śe mach ' maṇśo ' ar tarkari ' kine enechē "

সে মাছ , মাংস আর তরকারী কিনে এনেছে ।

7. high stem of verb /ken-/, "buy"

kin- কিন-

infinitive ending

-te -তে

"to buy"

kinte কিনতে

past negative particle

ni নিন

A. Didn't he go to buy fruit?

A. śe ki ' phol kinte jae ni "

সে কি ফল কিনতে যায় নিন ?

8. noun, "banana" kola কলা

noun, "mango"

am আম

noun, a small, violet-colored fruit

jam জাম

B. Yes, he has bought bananas, mangoes, and jam.

B. hā " śe kola ' am ' ar jam ' kine enechē "

হাঁ , সে কলা , আম আর জাম কিনে এনেছে ।

9. high stem of verb /kha-/, "eat"

khe- খে-

infinitive ending

-te -তে

"to eat"

khete খেতে

A. Have you given Binu the bananas to eat?

A. tumi binuke ' kolagulo ' khete diecho ki "

তুমি বিনুকে কলাগুলো খেতে দিয়েছো কি ?

10. "outside"
high stem of verb
/khæl-/, "play"
infinitive ending
"to play"

baire বাইরে
khel- খেল-
-te -তে
khelte খেলতে

B. No, he has gone outside to play.

B. na " še baire ' khelte gæche "
না , সে বাইরে খেলতে গেছে ।

11. a snack taken between the two main meals (one around noon, the other in the late evening)

khavar খাবার

A. Won't he come back to have a snack?

A. še ki ' khavar khete ' phire aşbe
na "

সে কি খাবার খেতে ফিরে আসবে না ?

12. noun, "afternoon"

bikelbæla বিকেলবেলা

B. Yes, I think that he will come back home for a snack in the afternoon.

B. hæ " amar mone hæ je ' še khavar khete ' bikelbæla ' bari phirbe "

হ্যাঁ , আমার মনে হয় যে সে খাবার খেতে বিকেলবেলা বাড়ী ফিরবে ।

13. high stem of verb
/dækh-/, "see"
infinitive ending
"to see"
verb stem, "want"

dekh- দেখ-
-te -তে dekhte দেখতে
ca- চা-

A. Good. I want to see him.
(i.e., I have never seen him before and want to meet him)

A. beş " ami oke ' dekhte cai "
বেশ । আমি ওকে দেখতে চাই ।

14. noun, "field"
compound verb, "cause to come by calling"

maṭh মাঠ
ḍeke an- ডেকে আন-

B. In that case, I shall go to the field and call Binu back right away.

B. ta hole 'ami maṭhe gie ' binuke '
taratari ḍeke anchi "

তা হলে, আমি মাঠে গিয়ে বিনুকে তড়াতাড়ি ডেকে আনিছি।

Lesson 13, part 2. Grammar.

1. The formation and use of the infinitive:

1.1. The most frequent use of the infinitive form is as supplement to another verb, as in English:

ami'jete cai"	I want to go.
ami'dekhte pari na"	I cannot see; I am not able to see.
oke'ašte bollum"	I told him to come.

1.2. The infinitive of consonant-final stems is formed by the high stem of the verb (except where the stem-vowel is /a/) plus the infinitive ending /-te/.

ken-	buy	kinte	to buy
khæl-	play	khelte	to play
kør-	do	korte	to do
śon-	hear	śunte	to hear
But: jan-	know	jante	to know

1.3. The infinitive of all CV- stems, regardless of stem-vowel, is formed by the high stem plus /-te/:

hə-	be, become	hote	to be, to become de-	give	dite	to give
kha-	eat	khete	to eat

The stem /ja-/ is regular in this form. Its infinitive is /jete/.

1.4. Stems of CVV- or CVCa- shape, however, preserve their low vowels:

ga-/gai-	sing	gaite	to sing
bəṛa-	wander about	bəṛate	to wander about

2. It should be noted that there are two ways of expressing such a phrase as "he bought (it) for me":

- |    |                               |  |
|----|-------------------------------|--|
| a. | śe'amar jonne'eṭakineche" | He has bought it for me (but has notgiven it to me yet). |
| b. | śe amake'eṭa kinedieche"  | He has bought (and given) it to me.                          |

Note that in b., /amake/ is the indirect object of the verb /de-/. In Bengali, verbs such as /ken-/ cannot take indirect objects and require /jonne/.

3. Form possible Bengali sentences from the following:

Subj.	Ind. O.	VM	D.O.	(Int.)	V <sub>1</sub> .	V <sub>2</sub>	Neg.
ami tumi tui apni śe tini amra tomra tora apnara tara tāra ram binu	ramke take bhaike kobike	bajare dokane ekhane barite ghore śohore eimattro taratarī tarpore	mach mañśo torkari am khabar	(ki)	jete aste kinte nite khete bolte ante phire nie kine	bol- ca- ja- de-	na ni
Subj.	VM	V	D.O.	(Int.)	V <sub>1</sub>	V <sub>2</sub>
ami tumi tui apni śe tini amra tomra tora apnara tara tāra ram binu	taratarī ekhon eimattro dokane maṭhe  bajar theke klaśer theke	gie eśe phire	binuke kaporṭa amake take boiṭa cheleke	(ki)	ḍeke nie bole  dekhe	an- aś- ja-

Lesson 13, part 3. Patterns.

1. Pattern: sentence 1.
  - a. Have you told Ram to go to the river?
  - b. Have you told him to go to the store?
  - c. Have you told her to bring it here?
  - d. Have you told them to come back here?
  - e. Have you not told them to come back here?
2. Pattern: sentence 2.
  - a. Yes, I gave him ten rupees and he has gone there.
  - b. Yes, I gave him six rupees and sent him there.
  - c. Yes, I gave her some money and told her that.
  - d. Yes, I sent them money and told them to come back here.
  - e. No, I have not told them to come back here.
3. Pattern: sentence 3.
  - a. Has he come back from the river?
  - b. Has he come back from the store?
  - c. Has she brought it back from the market?
  - d. Have they come back here?
  - e. Have they not returned from the class?
4. Pattern: sentence 4.
  - a. Yes, he has just come back.
  - b. No, he has just gone there.
  - c. Yes, she has just brought it back.
  - d. No, they have not come back.
  - e. Yes, they have just returned.
5. Pattern: sentence 5.
  - a. What has he brought from the store?
  - b. What have you told him to bring from the store?
  - c. What book has she bought and brought back from the store?
  - d. What have you told them to bring with them?
  - e. What have they brought from class?
6. Pattern: sentence 6.

- a. He has brought meat and vegetables from the store.
- b. I told him to bring fruit and flowers from the store.
- c. She has brought several Bengali books from the store.
- d. I have told them to bring many kinds of things.
- e. They have brought nothing at all from class.

7. Pattern: sentence 7.

- a. Didn't he go to buy fish?
- b. Didn't you tell him to bring vegetables?
- c. Didn't you tell her to bring English books?
- d. Didn't you tell them to bring only clothes?
- e. Didn't you tell them to bring me some Bengali newspapers?

8. Pattern: sentence 8.

- a. Yes, he has brought rui and hilsa fish.
- b. Yes, but he has bought only mangoes and berries.
- c. Yes, but she has not been able to buy English books.
- d. Yes, but they have not been able to bring many clothes.
- e. Yes, but they have not been able to bring newspapers.

9. Pattern: sentence 9.

- a. Have you given the boy the hilsa fish to eat?
- b. Have you given the girl the mangoes to eat?
- c. Have you given her the books to take back?
- d. Have you given them clothes to wear?
- e. Have you told them to send the newspapers to me?

10. Pattern: sentence 10.

- a. No, he has not come in to eat.
- b. No, she has gone to the field to play.
- c. No, she has gone back to the store again.
- d. No, they have said that they don't want to wear these clothes.
- e. No, they have told me that they were not able to send them.

11. Pattern: sentence 11.

- a. Won't he come back to eat the fish?
- b. Won't she come back to eat the mangoes?
- c. Won't she come back to rest?
- d. Won't they go back to buy the papers?

e. Won't they go back to bring their clothes?

12. Pattern: sentence 12.

- a. Yes, I think he will come back this evening.
- b. Yes, I think that she will come back quickly.
- c. Yes, I think that she will come back in the afternoon.
- d. Yes, I think that they will go back to buy them.
- e. Yes, I think that they will go back to bring them.

13. Pattern: sentence 13.

- a. Then I want to see him.
- b. Then I will be able to see her.
- c. Then I will come back to see her.
- d. I will go with them to buy them.
- e. I will go to bring them.

Lesson 13, part 4. Sentence Drills.

Drill 1

- Have you told Tipu to buy milk at the market?
- No, I forgot to tell him that. He has brought only rice and bananas.
- Then he has already come back from the market?
- Yes, he has just come back.
- Then where has he gone? I cannot find him anywhere.
- I don't know. Perhaps he has gone to take a bath. I think he'll come back soon.
- Tell him that I want to see him. He will take this letter to Ballygunge [baliganj].
- He cannot go today. He has not finished his work in the house.
- He can finish his work later. Go and call him.
- All right, I'll go.

Drill 2

Note: pay special attention to the order of relative clauses; see ante, Lesson 12, Grammar.

- Ram, do you want to go to the market with Tipu?
- Yes, I like to go with him. He buys me sweets.
- I don't like that. The sweets which you buy at the market are not good to eat.

- Why not? I have eaten them often. They taste good.
 --Those sweets are made of bad milk. That is why Binu has gotten sick.
 --But you like to drink gholer śorbot. You have not gotten sick.
 --That is another matter. I have told you what I want. Go with Tipu.

- Tipu, will you buy me sweets?
 --No, your mother does not want you to eat them.
 --Then I shall tell her that you have bought me sweets.
 --All right, then, what kind of sweets do you want to eat?
 --I have not eaten the red kind before. Buy me those.

Lesson 13, part 5. Vocabulary.

gholer śorbot	buttermilk preparation	toiri	made, prepared make, preparation
bæpar	matter	onno	another
rōkom	kind	jōthesō	enough
dudh	milk	kothao	anywhere
ciṭhi	letter	age	already (previously) er moddhe	already (in the meantime) pōchondo kōr-	like
kine di-	buy and give
kha-	eat, drink
par-	be able (physical ability)
bhule ja-	forget
dekhṭe pa-	find
khūje pa-	find (after searching)
pōr-	wear
harie ja-	get lost
nie ja-	take (from here to there)

Idioms:

tate hōbe na	that will not do (i.e., it is insufficient)
khete bhalo	taste good (good to eat)
khaoa bhalo	good (i.e., healthy) to eat

Lesson 14, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and translation	Bengali
1. A. What are you going to do tonight?	A. tumi aj rattere ' ki korbe " তুমি আজ রাতে কি করবে ?
2. compound verbal noun stem, "studying" verb, "study"	porasona পড়াশোনা porasona kor- পড়াশোনা কর-
B. I'm going to study tonight.	B. ami aj rattere ' porasona korbo " আমি আজ রাতে পড়াশোনা করবো ।
3. loan word, "cinema" infinitive of verb /ja-/, "go" verb stem, "be able"	sinema সিনেমা jete যেতে par- পার-
A. Then won't you be able to go to the movies with us?	A. ta hole ' tumi ' amader sange ' sinemate jete parbe na " তা হলে তুমি আমাদের সঙ্গে সিনেমাতে যেতে পারবে না ।
4. verb stem, "wander around" Note the use of the present tense /pari/; the meaning in this context is "I may be able".	barate বেড়াতে- tense /pari/; the meaning in this
B. No, but I may be able to go about with you for a little while.	B. na " kintu ami ' tomader sange ' kichukkhon jonne ' barate pari " না, কি আমি তোমাদের সঙ্গে কিছুক্ষণের জন্যে বেড়াতে পারি ।

5. "studying"
post-position, "after"      paraśona    পড়াশোনা por, pore    পর , পরে
- A. Good. What are you going to do after studying?      A. beś " paraśonar por ' tumi ki korbe " বেশ , পড়াশোনার পর তুমি কি করবে ?
6. variant stem of verb /ghuma-/,
"sleep"; see Grammar, 1.      ghumo-    ঘুমো-
- B. After studying, I am going to go to sleep.      B. ami ' paraśonar por ' ghumote jabo " আমি পড়াশোনার পর ঘুমোতে যাবো ।
7. A. Will you not go to eat before sleeping (i.e., before going to sleep)?      A. tumi ' ghumobar age ' khete jabe na "
তুমি ঘুমোবার আগে খেতে যাবে না ?
8. high stem of verb /kor-/,
"do"
ending for conditional conjunctive      kor-    কর-
-le    -লে
"if I (you, he) do (does)";
see Grammar, 2.      korle    করলে
- B. Yes, if I finish studying quickly, I shall go to eat.      B. hã " taratari ' paraśona šeś korle ' khete jabo "
হ্যাঁ , তাড়াতাড়ি পড়াশোনা শেষ করলে খেতে যাবো ।
9. infinitive of verb
/por-/, "study"      porte    পড়তে
- A. Will Ram also go to study with you?      A. ram.o ki ' tomar sange ' porte jabe " রামও কি তোমার সঙ্গে পড়তে যাবে ?
10. high stem of verb
/pa-/, "get"
ending for conditional conjunctive      pe-    পে-
-le    -লে
"if (he) gets"      pele    পেলে

B. Yes, if he gets the time, he will come.

B. hã "śomoe pele ' še aśbe "

হাঁ , সময় পেলে সে আসবে ।

11. A. But I heard that he wants to go to the city tonight.

A. kintu ' ami śunlum je ' še aj rattre ' śohore jete cae "

কিন্তু আমি শুনলুম যে সে আজ রাতে শহরে যেতে চায় ।

12. alternative stem of verb /ja-/, "go" ending for conditional conjunctive
"if (he) goes"

ge- গে-

-le -লে

gele গেলে

B. In that case, if he goes to the city, he will not be able to come to study.

B. ta hole ' še śohore gele ' porte aśte parbe na "

তা হলে , সে শহরে গেলে পড়তে আসতে পারবে না ।

13. A. Do you know what he is going to do tomorrow?

A. tumi ki jano ' še agami kal ' ki korbe "

তুমি কি জানো সে আগামী কাল কি করবে ?

14. "in the morning" noun, "picture"
verb stem, "paint"

śokale, śokalbæla সকালে , সকালবেলা chobi ছবি
āk- আঁক-

B. Yes, he has told me that he is going to the river-bank to paint tomorrow morning.

B. hã " še amake boleche je ' še kal śokale ' nodir dhare ' chobi ākte jabe "

হাঁ , সে আমাকে বলেছে যে সে কাল সকালে নদীর ধারে ছবি আঁকতে যাবে । noun, "noontime"

verb stem, "come"
conditional conjunctive ending
"if (he) comes"

dupur, dupurbæla দুপুর , দুপুরবেলা
aś- আস-

-le -লে

aśle আসলে

- B. If he comes back before noon, he will come to my house to eat.
15. noun, "afternoon"
- A. What will he do in the afternoon?
16. loan word, "football"
(like American soccer) variant stem of /ca-/,
"want"
conditional conjunctive
ending
"if (he) wants"; see
Grammar, 2.3.
noun, "field"
- B. I don't know exactly, but if he wants to see a football game, we shall both go to the field.
17. noun, "evening"
- A. After that, will you go to wander around in the city in the evening?
18. high stem of verb
/ho-/, "be, become" conditional conjunctive
ending
"if (it) finishes"
- B. śe dupurbælar age ' phire aśle ' amar barite ' khete aśbe " সে দুপুরবেলার আগে ফিরে আসলে আমার বাড়িতে খেতে আসবে ।
- bikel, bikelbæla বিকেল , বিকেলবেলা
- A. śe bikelbæla ' ki korbe " সে বিকেলবেলা কি করবে ?
- phuṭbəl ফুটবল
- cai- চাই-
- le -লে
- caile চাইলে
- maṭh মাঠ
- B. ami ' thik jani na " tabe ' śe ' phuṭbəl khæla dekhite caile ' amra dujone ' mathe jabo "
আমি ঠিক জানি না , তবে সে ফুটবল
খেলা দেখতে চাইলে আমরা দুজনে মাঠে যাবো ।
- śondhe, śondhebæla সন্ধ্যা , সন্ধ্যাবেলা
- A. tarpər ' tomra ki ' śondhebæla ' śohore bərate jabe " তারপর , তোমরা কি সন্ধ্যাবেলা শহরে বেড়াতে যাবে ?
- ho- হ-
- le -লে
- śeś hole শেষ হলে

B. Yes, if the game is over soon, we shall go to the city.

B. hã " taratari khala śeś hole ' amra śohore jabo "

হাঁ, তাড়াতাড়ি খেলা শেষ হলে আমরা শহরে যাবো।

19. A. Can I come with you?

A. ami.o ki ' tomader śonge ' ašte pari "

আমিও কি তোমাদের সঙ্গে আসতে পারি ?

20. B. Yes, you can come.

B. hã " tumi ' ašte paro "

হাঁ, তুমি আসতে পারো।

Lesson 14, part 2. Grammar.

1. Stems of CVCV-verbs, as in sentences 4, 6, and 7.

1.1. The verbal noun and the infinitive of this type of stem are usually formed by the addition of the infinitive or verbal noun suffix to the low stem of the verb:

Stem		Infinitive	Verbal Noun
bãka-	"bend"	bãkate	bãkano, bãkaba-
kamra-	"bite"	kamrate	kamrano, kamrabajiro-	"rest"	jirate	jirono, jiroba-

1.2. Verb stems which have /u/ or /ou/ as the stem-vowel, however, have the alternative stem CVCo- before the suffixes /-te/, /-no/, and /-ba-/.

Stem		Infinitive	Verbal Noun
ghumo-	"sleep"	ghumote	ghumono, ghumoba-
poũcho-	"arrive at"	poũchote	poũchono, poũchoba-

2. The conditional conjunctive is formed by the addition of the suffix /-le/ to the high stem of the verb, except for verbs of shape CVC- where the vowel is /a/, and verbs of CVC- shape (1.1. and 1.2. above).

ken-	"buy"	ami kin-le	"if I buy"
		tumi kin-le	"if you buy"
		tui kin-le	"if you (inf.) buy"
		apni kin-le	"if you (hon.) buy"

		śe kin-le	"if he buys"
		tini kin-le	"if he (hon.) buys"
khæl-	"play"	ami khel-le	"if I play"	etc.
kər-	"do"	ami kor-le	"if I do"	etc.
śon-	"hear"	ami śun-le	"if I hear"	etc.
But: jan-	"know"	ami jan-le	"if I know"	etc.

Also:

de-	"give"	ami di-le	"if I give"	etc.
hə-	"be"	ami ho-le	"if I were"	etc.
kha-	"eat"	ami khe-le	"if I eat"	etc.
bāka-	"bend"	ami bāka-le	"if I bend"	etc.
kamṛa-	"bite"	kamṛa-le	"if I bite"	etc.
jiro-	"rest"	jiro-le	"if I rest"	etc.
ghumo-	"sleep"	ghumo-le	"if I sleep"	etc.
poūcho-	"reach"	poūcho-le	"if I reach"	etc.

2.2. Note that the conditional conjunctive is a non-finite form; it does not change with change of person or number.

2.3. CVV-stems with /a/ also preserve the low vowel in the conditional conjunctive:

ca-	"want"	caile	"if I want"	etc.
ga-	"sing"	gaile	"if I sing"	etc.

2.4. The commonest use of the conditional conjunctive is that which we have in this lesson: the expression of a condition, using English "if":

oke dekhle'ami bolbo"	If I see him, I shall tell him.
ami śunle'bujhte parbo"	If I hear (it), I shall be able to understand (it).
tumi ekhane aśle'ami ṭaka dobo"	If you come here, I shall give (you) money.

Other usages will be seen in Lesson 15.

2.5. Note that although this is a non-finite verb form, the subjects of the two clauses may differ, as they do in the third example above. When they do differ, however, both subjects must be expressed.

3. Note that in a conditional clause, the negative particle precedes the verb:

tumi na gele'ami jabo na" If you do not go, I shall not go.
 briṣṭi na hole'phoṣol habe na" If there is no rain, there will be no harvest.

4. Form possible Bengali sentences.

4.1.

Subject	Verbal Modifier	(Int)	Direct Object	V <sub>1</sub>	V <sub>2</sub>	Neg.
ami tumi śe amra dujone ram	agami kal kal śokale aj rattre kichukkhon śondhebela	(ki)	poṛaśona śeś kaj chobi khabar khaborer kagoj	korte  poṛte ākte khetē	par- ja- aś kor-	na ni

4.2.

Subject	Noun/Object	Conditional Conjunctive	Subject	Modifier	Finite Verb
poṛaśona khæla	śeś	hole korle	ami śe tara apnara	śekhane	jaśe amra tini ram apnara tomra	śomoe boiṭa cāppol dapoṛṭa chobi	pele kinle becle ākle		barite	ja-

Lesson 14, part 3. Patterns.

1. Pattern: sentence 1.
  - a. What are you going to do tonight?
  - b. Where are you going to go tonight?
  - c. Whom are you going to meet tonight?
  - d. What are you going to buy tonight?
  - e. What are you going to read tonight?
2. Pattern: sentence 2.
  - a. I'm going to read tonight.
  - b. I'm going to sleep tonight.
  - c. I'm going to see my mother tonight.
  - d. I'm going to buy clothes tonight.
  - e. I'm going to read books tonight.
3. Pattern: sentence 3.
  - a. Then you won't be able to go to the store with us.
  - b. Then you won't be able to come home with us.
  - c. Then you won't be able to meet my brother with us.
  - d. Then you won't be able to come to the museum with us.
  - e. Then you won't be able to come to class with us.
4. Pattern: sentence 4.
  - a. No, but I'll be able to come home with you for a little while.
  - b. Yes, I'll be able to go with you for a little while.
  - c. No, but I'll be able to come to your house for a little while.
  - d. Yes, I'll be able to talk with you for a little while.
  - e. Yes, I'll be able to go and stay for a little while.
5. Pattern: sentence 5.
  - a. What are you going to do when you have finished your reading?*
  - b. What are you going to do after you have finished sleeping?*
  - c. What are you going to do after coming back from the store?

---

* Either the PAP construction or verbal noun plus post-position /par, pare/ is acceptable.

- d. What are you going to do after you meet your brother?
  - e. What are you going to do after you meet your mother?
6. Pattern: sentence 6.
- a. After I finish reading I am going to go to sleep.
  - b. After I finish sleeping I am going to go to the library.
  - c. After I come back from the store I am going to Suhas's house.
  - d. After I meet my brother I am going to study.
  - e. After I meet my mother I am going to the store.
7. Pattern: sentence 7.
- a. Will you want to rest before sleeping?
  - b. Will you want to eat before going to the library?
  - c. Will you want to sleep before going to Suhas's house?
  - d. Will you come to see me before studying?
  - e. Will you want to wander around a little before coming back?
8. Pattern: sentence 8.
- a. Yes, if I finish reading* before nine, I shall rest a little.
  - b. Yes, if I go to the library before eight, it will be good.
  - c. Yes, if I come back from the store before seven, I shall sleep a little.
  - d. Yes, if I come back from my brother's house before six, I shall come to see you.
  - e. Yes, if I come back from my mother's house before five, I shall wander around the city.
9. Pattern: sentence 9.
- a. Will Ram also study with you tonight?
  - b. Will Ram also go with you to eat?
  - c. Will Ram also go with you to Suhas's house?
  - d. Will Lila also come to see me?
  - e. Will Sita also go with you to wander around?
10. Pattern: sentence 10.
- a. Yes, if he gets the time, he will come to study with me.
  - b. Yes, if he finishes writing, he will go with me.
  - c. Yes, if he is able to come, he will come.

---

* Either transitive or intransitive form is acceptable.

- d. Yes, if she gets the time, she will come.
- e. Yes, if she finishes studying, she will come with me.

11. Pattern: sentence 11.

- a. But I heard that he wants to go to Lila's house tonight.
- b. But I heard that he wants to come to my house tonight.
- c. But I heard that he wants to study tonight.
- d. But I heard that she wants to paint pictures tonight.
- e. But I heard that she does not want to go tonight.

12. Pattern: sentence 12.

- a. If he wants to go to Lila's house, he will not be able to come with me.
- b. If he wants to go to your house, he will not be able to come with me.
- c. If he wants to study tonight, he will not be able to come.
- d. If she wants to paint tonight, she will not be able to come.
- e. If she does not want to go to the city, then she will not go.

13. Pattern: sentence 13.

- a. Do you know what Lila wants to do tomorrow?
- b. Do you know what he will do tomorrow morning?
- c. Do you know what he wants to do on Saturday?
- d. Do you know what she will do tomorrow night?
- e. Do you know what she wants to do tomorrow night?

14. Pattern: sentence 14a.

- a. Yes, she has told me that she is going to the office to work.
- b. Yes, he has told me that he is going to start writing another novel.
- c. Yes, he has told me that he is going to see a movie.
- d. Yes, she has told me that she is going to meet Probhas.
- e. Yes, she has told me that she is going to meet Lila.

Pattern: sentence 14b.

- a. If she comes back quickly, she will study.
- b. If he feels tired, (use /klanto bodh kor-/) he will go to paint.
- c. If he comes back before night, he will come to my house.
- d. If they eat before ten, they will come to my house.
- e. If they come to the city, they will come to my house.

15. Pattern: sentence 15.

- a. Do you know what she will do tomorrow night?
- b. Do you know what he will do in the evening?
- c. Do you know what he will do in the morning?
- d. Do you know what they will do tomorrow morning?
- e. Do you know what they will do on Sunday?

16. Pattern: sentence 16.

- a. If she wants to go to the movies, we shall both go.
- b. If he wants to go to Ram's house, we shall both go.
- c. If he wants to go to the city, we shall both go.
- d. If they want to study in the library, we shall all go.
- e. If they want to eat, we shall all go to eat.

Pattern: sentence 18.

- a. And if she wants to go walking (use /bæʁate/), I shall go with her.
- b. And if he wants to begin work, we shall both work.
- c. And if he wants to stay at home, I shall stay with him.
- d. And if they want to rest, we shall stay here.
- e. And if they want to begin writing, we shall all work.

Lesson 14, part 4. Sentence Drills.Drill 1

- Will you be able to come to the movies with us tonight?
- No, I am going to work tonight. Perhaps I'll be able to come for a little while.
- We are going to see Pathar Pancali [pəˈθer pāˈcali]. You'll be able to finish your studying after the movie.
- No, it's a long picture. I won't be able to go.
- We are going to eat something after the picture is over. Will you be able to come with us then?
- Yes, I like to eat a little before going to sleep.
- Then if we come back soon, will you come with us?
- Yes. Is Ram going with us too?
- No, he is going to see Lila this evening. He won't be able to come.
- What is he going to do tomorrow?

- He said that he is going to look at pictures in the museum in the morning. But he'll come to my house to eat tomorrow night.
 --Good. Can I come to see (i.e., "to meet") him then?
 --Yes, you can come.

Drill 2

- Ila, will you be able to come with me to the movies tonight?
 --No, my mother does not want me to go with you. She doesn't like you.
 --Then if you come, don't tell her. Why doesn't she like me?
 --You don't have any money. My mother says that if you work you can make money.
 --I have not begun to work. After I get my degree, I shall make lots of money.
 --Then after you take your degree, I'll be able to go to the movies with you.
 --After the movie we'll go dancing.
 --No, I am going to study tonight. After I have finished studying, I am going to sleep.
 --And after dancing, we'll go to listen to some music.
 --No, I am going to work. What music?
 --There is a good singer of folk-songs here. We'll go to hear his songs.
 --Can you come at eight sharp?

Lesson 14, part 5. Vocabulary.

chobi	picture (i.e., either painting or motion picture)
polli-giti	village-song (i.e., "folk song")
gaeok	singer
pøther pācali	name of a novel and a motion picture
śoṅge dækha kør-	meet with, visit a person (with genitive of person)
śuru kør-	begin (i.e., "make a beginning") arāmbho kør-	begin
lag-	begin (with infinitive), a colloquial usage
i.e.,
śe porte lage	"he begins to read"
śe kaj korte lage	"he begins to work"

beśi	very much	təkhon	then kəm	less
bəro	big	ae	revenue, income
choŋo	small	ʔaka pəeśa	make money
moŋa	fat, plump	ae kər-
roga	lean	uparjon	earning, gain
lɔmbe	tall	uparjon kər-	earn bēŋe	short	upae kər-	earn cooŋa	wide
śoru	narrow, thin
klanto	tired

Lesson 15, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and translation

Bengali

1. noun, festival of the goddess Durga, which takes place in early October
conditional particle, "if";
see Grammar, 2.
"if I go"

durga pujo    দূর্গা পূজো jodi    যদি
ami jodi jai    আমি যদি যাই

- A. If I go to my village house for Durga-puja, will you be able to go with me?

- A. দূর্গা পূজোর সময় আমি যদি গ্রামের
বাড়ীতে যাই তা হলে তুমি কি আমার সঙ্গে যেতে পারবে ?

durga pujor somoe ' ami jodi ' gamer barite jai ' ta hole ' tumi ki ' amar songe ' jete parbe "

2. alternative stem of verb /ja-/, "go" see
Grammar, 1.
conditional conjunctive
ending

ge-    গে-
-le    -লে

- B. If you go, I'll go with you.

- B. তুমি গেলে আমি তোমার সঙ্গে যাবো । tumi gele ' ami ' tomar songe '

jabo "

3. pronoun "self, one's self"
noun, "that which is related to one's self, a relative"
nominal plural,
"relatives"

atto    আত্ম

attio    আত্মীয়

attiora    আত্মীয়রা

"if relatives come"
negative prefix, "not in-,
un-"
"convenience"
"inconvenience"

āttiora jodi aśen আম্মীয়রা যদি আসেন অ- অśubidhe, śubidha সন্নিবিধে, সন্নিবিধা ośubidhe, ośubidha অসন্নিবিধে, অসন্নিবিধা

A. If my relatives come, will that be an inconvenience for you?

A. আমার আম্মীয়রা যদি আসেন তা হলে তোমার অসন্নিবিধে হবে কি ?

amar āttiora ' jodi aśen ' ta hole '
tomar ośubidhe hobe ki "

4. Note the position of the negative particle, before the verb in the conditional clause; see Grammar, 3.
adjective, "any"
"none at all"

kono কোন
kono ... na কোন....না

B. If it is no inconvenience for you, it will be no inconvenience for me at all.

B. তোমার অসন্নিবিধে না হলে আমার কোন অসন্নিবিধে হবে না । tomar ośubidhe ' na hole ' amar '

kono ośubidhe ' hobe na "

5. noun, "end"
loan word, "mile"
PAP of verb stem /hāt-/,
"walk"
compound verb, "walk, go by walking"
"if we walk"

śeś শেষ
mail মাইল hēte হেঁটে

hēte ja- হেঁটে যা-

amra jodi hēte jai আমরা যদি হেঁটে যাই

A. If we walk the last five miles of the way, will you be able to walk with us?

A. আমরা যদি পথের শেষ পাঁচ মাইল হেঁটে যাই, তা হলে তুমি কি আমাদের সঙ্গে হাঁটতে পারবে ?

amra jodi ' pōther ' śeś pāc mail ' hēte jai ' ta hole ' tumi ki ' amader sāṅge ' hātte parbe "

6. "cart, wheeled vehicle"
"motor-car, automobile"
"arrangements"
"make arrangements"

gari গাড়ী
moṭor gari মোটর গাড়ী bābostha ব্যবস্থা
bābostha kor- ব্যবস্থা কর-

B. No. But if you make arrangements for a car, I can go with you.

B. না । কিন্তু একটা মোটর গাড়ীর ব্যবস্থা করলে আমি তোমাদের সঙ্গে যেতে পারি । na " kintu ' ækta motor garir ' bæbostha korle ' ami ' tomader sange jete pari "

7. Note position of negative particle.

A. All right. If we are not able to make arrangements for a car, then what?

A. अच्छा । আমরা যদি মোটর গাড়ীর ব্যবস্থা করতে না পারি , তা হলে ?

accha " amra jodi ' motor garir bæbostha korte na pari ' ta hole "

8. "bullock"
"bullock cart"

goru গোরু
gorur garī গোরুর গাড়ী

B. If you make arrangements for a bullock cart, I'll go with you.

B. তোমরা একটা গোরুর গাড়ীর ব্যবস্থা করলে আমি তোমাদের সঙ্গে যাবো । tomra ' ækta gorur garir ' bæbostha korle ' ami ' tomader sange jabo "

9. negative prefix,
"non-, in-, un-"
"flesh, fish, meat"
"vegetarian (food)"
"if we eat vegetarian food" nir- নিরamiś আমিস niramiś নিরামিস

amra jodi niramiś khai
আমরা যদি নিরামিস খাই

A. If we eat vegetarian food during the Durga-puja, then will you also eat vegetarian food?

A. আমরা যদি দুর্গাপূজার সময় নিরামিস খাই , তা হলে তুমিও কি নিরামিস খাবে ?

amra jodi ' durga pujor somoe ' niramiś khai ' ta hole ' tumi.o ki ' niramiś khabe "

10. "certainly"

niścoi নিশ্চয়ই

- B. Certainly. If you eat vegetarian food, so shall I.
11. adjective, "the whole"
verb stem, "be awake, stay awake"
"if we are awake"
- A. And if we are awake the whole night, then will you stay awake the whole night?
12. B. Yes. If you stay awake the whole night, I shall also stay awake the whole night.
13. noun, "fast"
verb, "fast, make a fast"
"if we fast"
- A. And if we fast on Durga-puja day, then will you also fast?
14. B. If you fast, I shall also fast.
15. "Wednesday"
- B. নিশ্চয়ই । তোমরা নিরামিষ খেলে আমিও নিরামিষ খাবো । niścoi "tomra niramiś khele 'ami.o' niramiś khabo "
- śara সারা
jag- জাগ-
amra jodi jagi আমরা যদি জাগি
- A. আর আমরা যদি সারা রাত জাগি , তা হলে তুমিও কি সারা রাত জাগবে ?
ar ' amra jodi ' śara rat jagi ' ta hole ' tumi ki ' śara rat jagbe "
- B. হ্যাঁ , তোমরা সারা রাত জাগলে আমিও সারা রাত জাগবো । hæ " tomra ' śara rat jagle ' ami.o ' śara rat jagbo "
- upoś, upobaś উপোস , উপবাস upoś kor-, upobaś kor- উপোস কর , amra jodi upoś kori আমরা যদি উপোস করি
- A. আর আমরা যদি দুর্গাপূজোর দিন উপোস করি , তা হলে তুমিও কি উপোস করবে ?
ar amra jodi ' durga pujor din ' upoś kori ' ta hole ' tumi.o ki ' upoś korbe "
- B. তোমরা উপোস করলে আমিও উপোস করবো । tomra upoś korle ' ami.o ' upoś korbo "
- budhbar বুদ্ধবার

A. Good. In that case, we shall go on Wednesday.

A. বেশ । তা হলে আমরা বুধবার দিন যাবো ।

beś " ta hole ' amra budhbar din ' jabo "

16. "before"
adjective, "prepared"
"if you are ready"

age আগে
toiri তৈরী
tumi jodi toiri hoo
তুমি যদি তৈরী হও

B. All right. If you are ready before (then), will you call me?

B. আচ্ছা । তুমি যদি আগে তৈরী হও , তা হলে আমাকে ডাকবে কি ?

accha " tomi jodi ' age toiri hoo ' ta hole ' amake dakbe ki "

17. A. All right. If I am ready before (then) I shall call you.

A. আচ্ছা । আমি আগে তৈরী হলে তোমাকে ডাকবো ।

accha " ami age ' toiri hole ' tomake dakbo "

Lesson 15, part 2. Grammar.

1. The verb stem /ja-/, "go", is irregular in the conditional conjunctive. The stem of the conditional conjunctive is /ge-/.

2. Note that there are two ways of forming a conditional sentence.

2.1. The first is that which we have already covered in Lesson 14: the use of the non-finite conjunctive in the conditional clause, with an indicative verb of appropriate tense in the main clause. Remember that the conditional clause always stands first in the sentence.

2.2. The second type of formation uses the form /jodi/, "if, when". The position of /jodi/ can be either first in the sentence or following the subject, depending upon style. Note that when /jodi/ is used in the conditional clause, the main clause is usually introduced by /ta hole/.

3. The position of the negative particle in conditional clauses, as in sentences 4 and 7.

In a conditional clause, whether formed with /jodi/ or by the conditional conjunctive, the negative particle always stands before the verb.

tumi'sekhane na gele'ami jabo na"	If you do not go there, I shall not go.
tumi jodi'sekhane na jao'ta hole'ami jabo na"	If you do not go there, I shall not go.

4. There are various ways of making negative nouns and adjectives in Bengali. Two of the most common are represented in sentences 3 and 9.

4.1. /o/:	śombhob	"possible"	ośombhob	"impossible"
	jana	"known"	ojana	"unknown"
	śustho	"healthy"	ośustho	"ill"

This prefix takes the form /on-/ before vowels:

acar	"conduct"	onacar	"bad conduct"
abośśok	"necessary"	onabośśok	"unnecessary"
aeaś	"labor"	onaeaś	"without labor, easily"

4.2. /ni-/:	rog	"disease"	nirog	"free of disease"
-------------	-----	-----------	-------	-------------------

This prefix takes the form /nir-/ before vowels and voiced consonants except /r/. Examples:

jon	"people, man"	nirjon	"without people, alone"
akar	"form"	nirakar	"formless"

Such forms, however, are mostly found in the śadhu-bhaśa. They are found in the colit-bhaśa only as loans.

5. Form possible Bengali sentences.

5.1.

Clause I

Clause II

Subject	Cond.	Verbal Modifiers	Verb	Conj.	Subject	Modifiers	Verb
ami		oi dine	hēṭe ja-		ami	amader	hēṭe ja-tumi		ḍurga pujor dine	ghumote ja-		tumi	tomader śonge	khaapni		gramar baṛite	khete ja-		śe	śara rat	baśśe	jodi	śara rat		ta hole	tini	śara rat	baḷtini		age	hāṭ-		amra	takhon	ja-
amra		śekhane	ghuma-			śei śomoe	aśśohore	kha-			śekhane	baṛa-
		nodir dhare	baṛa-			gramer baṛite ei pothe	ghorjag-

5.2.

Clause I

Clause II

Subject	Modifiers/Object	(Neg.)	Verb	Subject	Modifiers	Verb	(Neg.)
ami	śekhane	(na)	gele	ami	amar śonge	thak-	(na)
tumi	śara rat		korle	tumi	tomar śonge	baś
apni	baṛite		jagle		amader śonge	jag-
śe	age		aśle		ekhane	dāṛatini	pore		bośle		śekhane	kor-amra	baire		ghumale		bhetore	ja-tomra			ḍile			ḍe-
	khobar		khele		khobar	khaniramiś				niramiś	ne-

Lesson 15, part 3. Patterns.

1. Pattern: sentence 1.

- a. If I go home tomorrow, will you be able to go with me?
- b. If I come back tomorrow, will you be able to come with me?
- c. If I do not go home next week, will you be able to stay with me?
- d. If I am not able to come back tonight, will you come to my house?
- e. If you do not stop on the way to India, will you get there before Durga-puja?

2. Pattern: sentence 2.

- a. If you go home tomorrow, I'll go with you.
- b. If you come back tomorrow, I'll come back with you.
- c. If you don't go home, I'll stay here with you.
- d. If you cannot come back tonight, I'll come to your house.
- e. If I do not stop on the way, I'll get there before Durga-puja.

3. Pattern: sentence 3.

- a. If my mother and father are there, will that be an inconvenience for you?
- b. If my relatives come with us, will that be an inconvenience for you?
- c. If my brothers also stay with us, will that be an inconvenience for you?
- d. If my friend wants to come with you, will that be an inconvenience for you?
- e. If you do not get there before Durga-puja, will that be an inconvenience for you?

4. Pattern: sentence 4.

- a. If it is no inconvenience for them, it will be no inconvenience for me.
- b. If it is no inconvenience for your relatives, it will be no inconvenience for me.
- c. If it is no inconvenience for them, it will certainly be no inconvenience for me.
- d. If he will be ready before eight, it will be no inconvenience at all.
- e. If I do not get there before Durga-puja, it will be a great inconvenience for me.

5. Pattern: sentence 5.

- a. If they cannot walk, will you be able to take your car?
- b. If we walk, will you be able to walk with us?
- c. If they cannot take their car, will you be able to pick them up?
- d. If he cannot be ready before eight, will he be able to come?
- e. If you get there before Durga-puja, will you be able to go to my village?

6. Pattern: sentence 6.

- a. No, but if you make arrangements for a car, I can pick them up.
- b. No, but if you make arrangements for a car, I can go with you.
- c. No, but if I can make arrangements for a bullock-cart, they will be able to come.
- d. No, but if you can make arrangements for a car, he can come later.
- e. No, if you cannot make arrangements for a car, I shall not be able to go?

Pattern: sentence 7.

- a. If you cannot make arrangements for that, I shall not go.
- b. If you cannot make arrangements for a car, I shall not be able to go.
- c. If I can make arrangements for that, they can come afterwards.
- d. If you cannot make arrangements for that, he will not be able to come.
- e. If you cannot make arrangements for that, I shall stay in Calcutta.

7. Pattern: sentence 9.

- a. If we eat Indian food, will you be able to eat it?
- b. If my relatives eat vegetarian food, will that be an inconvenience for you?
- c. If we do not eat vegetarian food, will you be able to eat with us?
- d. If we eat meat, will you also be able to eat meat?
- e. If they eat only vegetarian food, will you also eat only vegetarian food?

8. Pattern: sentence 10.

- a. If you give me Indian food, I shall eat it.
- b. If you do not give me meat, I shall eat vegetarian food.
- c. If you do not give me vegetarian food, I shall not eat anything.

- d. If you do not give me vegetarian food, I shall eat meat.
- e. If they give me only vegetarian food, I shall eat it.

9. Pattern: sentence 11.

- a. If we talk the whole night long, will you be able to stay awake?
- b. If we sing the whole night long, will you be able to stay awake?
- c. If we dance the whole night long, will you also dance?
- d. If we sing the whole night long, will you also sing?
- e. If they stay awake all day and all night long, will you be able to stay awake?

10. Pattern: sentence 12.

- a. If you talk the whole night long, I also shall talk the whole night long.
- b. If you sing the whole night long, I also shall sing the whole night long.
- c. If you dance the whole night long, I also shall dance the whole night long.
- d. If you sing the whole night long, I shall stay awake easily.*
- e. If they dance and sing the whole day and night, I shall stay awake easily.

Lesson 15, part 4. Sentence Drills:

Use conditional conjunctive and /jodi/ constructions alternatively.

Drill 1

- If I go home at the end of next month, will you be able to come with me?
- If your wife says that it is all right, I'll go with you. If it is an inconvenience for her, I won't come.
- If you don't come, it will be an inconvenience for her. She expects you.
- If she is expecting me, then of course I shall come. How shall we go?
- If I can make arrangements for a car, then we shall go by car.
- If you cannot make arrangements for a car, then what?
- Then we shall go by train.
- If you go by train, I'll meet you there. I do not like trains.
- If you do not go by train, how will you go?

* Either /śohoje/ or /ṇaeae/.

--I shall go by plane. If I go by train, I shall not be able to sleep the whole night.

--All right. Then we shall go at the end of next month.

--Good. If you are ready to go before that, will you call me?

--All right. When I get ready, I shall call you.

Drill 2

--If you come to India, will you come to Calcutta?

--Yes, if I come to India, I shall come first to Calcutta.

--When you come to Calcutta, will you visit us?

--All right. If I stay with you, will it cause you an inconvenience?

--If you stay with us, it will not be an inconvenience. It will be a pleasure for us.

--If I want to stay in Calcutta for a long time, where will I live?

--If you want to live in old Calcutta, you can live on Citpur Road.

--But if I don't want to live in old Calcutta, what then?

--If you want to live in the new city, you can live in Ballygunge.

--If I decide to live in Ballygunge, will I be able to find a house?

--Yes. But if you want to live in North Calcutta, it will be difficult to find a house.

Lesson 15, part 5. Vocabulary.

ṭren	train	notun	new
rel gaṛi	train	śukhi	happy
śukh	happiness	śara	whole, complete ṇpekkha	waiting	purono	old
maṇśo	meat	bharotio	Indian (adj.)

kiśe	how, by what means ki kore

Idioms:

ṇpekkhae ach-	be in a state of expectation (with genitive)
ṇpekkha kṛ-	wait (with /jṇno/, "for", and preceding genitive)
--śṇge dākha kṛ-	visit with ṭhik kṛ-	decide; fix
ṇek din	many days, a long time

Lesson 16, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and translation

Bengali

1. adjective, "past"
"last month"
PAP of verb /ja-/ "go",
base of past completive
tense past completive tense
suffix
2nd person ordinary past tense ending
"(you) did go"

gato গত
gato mas গত মাস

gie- গিয়ে-
-chil- -ছিল-
-e -এ giechile গিয়েছিলে

A. Robi, where did you go
last month?

A. রবি, তুমি গত মাসে কোথায় গিয়েছিলে ?

robi 'tumi gato mase 'kothae giechile "

2. noun, "vacation"
Note: conditional conjunctive plus /-i/ emphatic suffix can mean
"just as, as, since"
"as it began"
PAP of verb /ja-/, "go",
base of past completive
tense
past completive tense
suffix
1st person past tense
suffix
"(I) did go"

chuṭi ছুটি
śuru holei শুরু হলেই

gie- গিয়ে-
-chil- -ছিল-
-um -এম
giechilum গিয়েছিলুম

B. As I began my vacation last month, I went to Delhi.

B. গত মাসে ছুটি শুরুর হলেই আমি দিল্লীতে গিয়েছিলুম।

gato maśe ' chuṭi śuru holei ' ami dillite giechilum "

3. PAP of verb /śon-/, "hear" base of past completive tense śune- শূনে-

past completive tense suffix

-chil- -ছিল-

1st person past tense suffix

-um -ম

"I heard"

śunechilum শূনেছিলুম

A. I heard that you went home to Calcutta.

A. আমি শূনেছিলুম যে তুমি কলকাতাতে তোমার বাড়ী গিয়েছিলে ?

ami śunechilum je ' tumi kolkatate ' tomar bari giechile "

4. Note: the conditional conjunctive plus /-o/ emphatic suffix means "even though" or in some circumstances "even if".

"even though they stay"

tara thakleo তারা থাকলেও

B. No, even though my mother and father live in Calcutta, I went to wander around Delhi and Agra.

B. না, আমার মা-বাবা কলকাতায় থাকলেও আমি দিল্লী আর আগ্রাতে বেড়াতে গিয়েছিলুম। na " amar ma-baba ' kolkatae thakleo ' ami dilli ar agrate ' berate giechilum "

5. PAP of verb /bæra-/, "wander about, visit", base of past completive tense particle, "then, so, if that be so"

berie- বেড়িয়ে-

ta তা

A. Then what various places did you visit in Delhi?

A. তা, তুমি দিল্লীতে কোথায় কোথায় বেড়িয়েছিলে ?

ta ' tumi dillite ' kothae kothae ' beriechile "

6. "(it) fell"
idiom: "get hot"

porlo গড়লো

garom par- গরম গড়-

"suddenly"

idiom: "no more"

- B. Suddenly it got very hot in Delhi, and so I did not wander around much any more.

hoṭhat হঠাৎ

ar ... na আর ... না

- B. হঠাৎ দিল্লীতে খুব গরম পড়লো, তাই আমার আর বেশী বেড়ানো হল না। hoṭhat ' dillite ' khub garom porlo ' tai amar ' ar beśi bærano holo na "

7. PAP of verb /dækh-/, "see"

dekhe- দেখে-

- A. Still, which places in Delhi did you see?

- A. তবু, তুমি দিল্লীতে কোন কোন জায়গা দেখেছিলে?

tobu ' tumi dillite ' kon kon jaega ' dekhechile "

8. noun, a carriage drawn by one horse
"in, by"; for this usage, see Grammar, 4.

ṭonga টাঙ্গা

kore করে

PAP of verb /ghor-/,
"tour, visit"

ghure- ঘুরে-

- B. I only toured Delhi for one day in a ṭonga.

- B. আমি কেবল একদিন টাঙ্গা করে দিল্লী শহর ঘুরেছিলাম। ami kebol ækdin ' ṭonga kore ' dillī śohor ' ghurechilum "

9. A. Did you see the Birla Temple in Delhi?

- A. দিল্লীতে বিড়লা মন্দির দেখেছিলে কি?

dillite ' birla mondir ' dikhechile ki "

10. "enough"
idiom: "have time"

beśi বেশী

hate śomoe ach- হাতে সময় আছে -

- B. No, I did not have enough time.

- B. না, হাতে বেশী সময় ছিল না। na " hate ' beśi śomoe chilo na "

"hour"

post-position, "within"

"within two hours"

"mosque" ghonṭa ঘণ্টা

moddhe মধ্যে

du ghoṇṭar moddhe দু ঘণ্টার মধ্যে

mośjid মসজিদ

B. So I saw the Delhi Fort and the Jumma Masjid within two hours.

B. তাই দু ঘণ্টার মধ্যে দিল্লী ফোর্ট আর জুম্মা মসজিদ দেখেছিলাম। tai ' du ghoṇṭar moddhe ' dilli phort ar jumma mośjid ' dekhechilum "

11. "other"

onno অন্য

A. What did you do on all the other days?

A. অন্য সবদিন কি করেছিলে ?

onno śob din ' ki korechile "

12. "remaining"

baki বাকী

B. On all the remaining days, I sat in the house and read a book.

B. আমি বাকী সবদিন বাড়ীতে বসে একটা বই পড়েছিলাম।

ami ' baki śob din ' barite bośe ' ækṭa boi ' porechilum "

13. A. How many days were you in Agra?

A. তুমি আগ্রাতে কতদিন ছিলে ?

tumi agrate ' kotodin chile "

14. B. I was in Agra only two days.

B. আমি মাত্র দুদিন আগ্রাতে ছিলাম।

ami ' mattro du din ' agrate chilum "

15. A. What did you see in Agra?

A. তুমি আগ্রাতে কি দেখেছিলে ?

tumi agrate ' ki dekhechile "

16. B. In Agra I saw the Taj Mahal and the Agra Fort.

B. আমি আগ্রাতে তাজমহল আর আগ্রা ফোর্ট দেখেছিলাম।

ami agrate ' taj mohol ar agra phort ' dekhechilum "

17. A. How did you like the Agra Fort?

A. তোমার আগ্রা ফোর্ট কেমন লেগেছিলো ?

tomar ' agra phort ' kaamon
legechilo "

18. "extreme, extremely"
"good, well"
emphatic suffix '
"very much indeed"

beś বেশ
bhalo ভাল
-i -ই
bes bhaloi বেশ ভালই

B. I liked the Agra Fort
very much indeed.

B. আমার আগ্রা ফোর্ট বেশ ভালই লেগেছিলো ।

amar ' agra phort ' beś bhaloi
legechilo "

19. A. And the Taj Mahal?

A. আর তাজমহল ?

ar taj mohol "

20. B. Wonderful!

B. চমৎকার !

camotkar "

Lesson 16, part 2. Grammar.

1. The formation and use of the past completive.

1.1. The most frequent use of the past completive tense is to refer to an action which has been completed before the time stipulated in the context of the utterance. A rule of thumb for the use of the tense is that whatever is expressed in English with the use of the auxiliary "had" is expressed in Bengali by the past completive, as:

śe barite giechilo"

he had gone home

śe kaj śeś korechilo"

he had finished his work

1.2. The past completive is also used to designate an action completed in the distant past:

śe barite giechilo"

he went home (a long time ago)

pāe bāchor age śe
kolkatae eśechilo"

he came to Calcutta five years ago

1.3. The past active participle forms the base of the past completive tense. To this base are added the past suffix /chi-/, the past tense sign /-l-/, and the past tense personal endings.

ami kine-chi-l-um	I bought, I had bought tumi kine-chi-l-e	you (ord.) bought, you had bought apni kine-chi-l-en	you (hon.) bought, you had bought śe kine-chi-l-o	he (ord.) bought, he had bought tini kine-chi-l-en	he (hon.) bought, he had bought

2. Additional uses of the conditional conjunctive, as in sentences 2 and 4.

2.1. The conditional conjunctive plus the emphatic suffix /-i/ can mean, as it does in sentence 2, "as", "just as", "just when", or "since". The conditional conjunctive plus this /-i/ suffix can also mean "if only", as:

tumi'śekhane jete parlei'	If only you could go there, you would tar śonje dækha hōbe"	meet him.

-or-

As soon as you can go there, you will meet him.

ami'car ṭaka pete parlei'	If only I could get four rupees, I
boiṭa kinbo"	would buy the book.

2.1.1. The infinitive plus the emphatic suffix /-i/ is in some circumstances used in this same way, to mean "as" or "just as". The infinitive plus /-i/, i.e., /hotei/ could also have been used in sentence 2.

2.2. The conditional conjunctive plus the emphatic suffix /-o/ carries the meaning "even if", as:

śe ekhane aśleo'ami	Even if he comes here, I
take'kichu debo na"	shall give him nothing.

2.2.1. If the conditional with /jodi/ is used, the emphatic suffix can be added to the verb form with the same result:

jodi śe aseo ' ta hole	Even if he comes, I shall take'kichu debo na"	give him nothing.

2.2.2. If, however, the emphatic /-o/ is added to the /jodi/ particle, the meaning is "even though he comes (i.e., in spite of the fact that he comes ...)":

jodio'sé ekhane ase'	Even though he comes here,
ami take'kichu dii na"	I give him nothing.

2.2.2.1. The morpheme /jodio/ meaning "even though" can be thought of as entirely different from the conditional morpheme /jodi/, "if". An indication that this is grammatically sound is that the negative particle follows the verb when /jodio/ is used, while it precedes the verb in a clause with /jodi/:

śe jodio jae ni'ami	Even though he didn't go, I went.
giechilum"
śe jodi na jae'ami	If he doesn't go, I won't go.
jabo na"

3. Verb stems of shape CVCa- form their verbal nouns by the addition of the suffix /-no/. The most common of these include:

bəra-no	wander about
hara-no	defeat; be lost
lapha-no	leap
douro-, दौरा-no	run
poũcho-, पोँचा-no	reach, arrive at ghumo-, घुमा-no	sleep
bāka-no	bend
kamra-no	bite

4. The use of the PAP /kore/ in sentence 8.

4.1. The PAP /kore/ is frequently used to form a phrase expressing means, particularly means of transportation. Other examples:

śe nouko kore'eśechilo"	He came by boat.
ami moṭor kore'eśechi"	I have come by car.

4.2. The locative ending with this usage is optional; you will find both /nouko kore/ and /noukote kore/ or /noukoe kore/.

4.3. Other PAPs are also used in the same way. For example:

śe'rasta dhore'jae"	He goes along the path.
---------------------	-------------------------

śe take'churi die'
merechilo

He killed him by means of a knife.

4.4. Another usage of /kore/ should be mentioned here, though it will be mentioned again later. That is the so-called adverbial formation, noun or adjective + /kore/:

śokto kore firmly śe'śokto kore'dhore"

He holds it firmly.

jor kore

forcibly

śe oṭa'jor kore'kere nilo" He snatched it away forcibly.

4.4.1. In certain circumstances the adverbial function of a word is defined only by its position in the order of words in the sentence:

tumi'kharap gan'gao"

You sing bad songs.

tumi gan'kharap gao"

You sing badly (habitually).

The use of /kore/ may alter the meaning of the sentence:

tumi gan'kharap kore'gao" You sing badly (on this particular occasion; i.e., you have the capacity to sing well, but are not doing it).

Lesson 16, part 3. Patterns.

1. Pattern: sentence 1.

- a. Robi, where did you stay last week?
- b. Robi, where did you go last month?
- c. Robi, where did you go in India?
- d. Robi, what did you see in the village?
- e. Robi, what did you buy at the store?

2. Pattern: sentence 2.

- a. As I began work last week, I went to Calcutta.
- b. As I finished my work last month, I went on my vacation.
- c. As I finished seeing Agra, I went to Delhi.
- d. As I came to the village in Asvin [aśśin], I saw the Durga-puja.
- e. As I arrived there late, I was not able to buy anything.

3. Pattern: sentence 3.

- a. I heard that you did not stay in Delhi.
- b. I heard that you had gone to Delhi.
- c. I heard that you also went to Bengal.
- d. I heard that you had lived in a village before.
- e. I heard that you had bought a new car.

4. Pattern: sentence 4.

- a. Yes. Even though I live in Delhi, they sent me to Calcutta.
- b. No, even though I live in Calcutta, I went there this time.
- c. Yes, even though I didn't go to Calcutta, I saw Bengal.
- d. No, even though I lived in India, I always lived in cities.
- e. No, even though I want a new car, I have never been able to buy one.

5. Pattern: sentence 5.

- a. What things did you like in Calcutta?
- b. What people did you meet in Calcutta?
- c. What places did you go in India?
- d. What cities have you visited in India?
- e. What other things did you see at the store?

6. Pattern: sentence 6.

- a. Nothing. Suddenly it got very hot in Calcutta, and I wasn't able to rest.
- b. No one. Suddenly it got very hot in Calcutta, and my travelling about was hampered.
- c. Nowhere. Suddenly it got very hot in May, and my travelling was stopped.
- d. Many. It gets very cool in Delhi, and I always went there in winter.
- e. Many things. But I had no money, and I was not able to buy.

7. Pattern: sentence 7.

- a. Still, did you see any places in the city?
- b. Still, did you meet any people there?
- c. Still, did you go to many places in Bengal?
- d. But did you go to the mountains in the summer?
- e. But did you not go to the bank?

8. Pattern: sentence 8.

- a. Yes, I went around the Hugli one day by boat.
- b. Yes, I went around the city one day by taxi and saw people.
- c. Yes, I went to Konarok in Orissa by bullock-cart.
- d. Yes, I went to the mountains by train.
- e. Yes, I went to the bank by tram this morning.

9. Pattern: sentence 9.

- a. Did you see the Kali temple in Kalighat?
- b. Did you meet any painters or writers?
- c. Did you see the temple at Puri?
- d. Did you go to Dehra Dun?
- e. Did you get some money there?

10. Pattern: sentence 10.

- a. Yes, I had time to see that.
- b. No, I did not have time to meet them.
- c. No, I did not have time to go there.
- d. Yes, I went to Dehra Dun and Mussoorie [muśuril].
- e. No. The bank was closed, and I had no time to wait.

11. Pattern: sentence 11.

- a. What did you do on the other days?
- b. Where did you go on the other days?
- c. What did you do for the remaining time?
- d. What did you do in Dehra Dun?
- e. Where did you go after that?

12. Pattern: sentence 12.

- a. The remaining days I sat on my veranda and slept.
- b. The remaining days I sat in my chair and read.
- c. The remaining days I went and looked at paintings.
- d. I rested and talked with people.
- e. I went and looked in some book shops.

13. Pattern: sentence 13.

- a. How many weeks were you in Calcutta?
- b. How many months were you in Bengal?
- c. How long were you in India?
- d. How many years were you in India before?

- e. How long were you in India before?
- f. How long were you in the book shops?

14. Pattern: sentence 14.

- a. I was in Calcutta only five weeks.
- b. I was in Bengal exactly two months and three days.
- c. I was in India five months.
- d. I was in India almost five years before.
- e. I was in the shops about two hours.

15. Pattern: sentence 17.

- a. How did you like the trip?
- b. How did you like Bengal?
- c. How did you like India?
- d. How did you like coming home?
- e. How did you like the shops?

16. Pattern: sentence 18.

- a. I liked the trip very well.
- b. I didn't like Calcutta at all.
- c. I liked the country very well.
- d. I liked coming home.
- e. I didn't like the shops very well.

Lesson 16, part 4. Sentence Drills.

Drill 1

- I did not see you last month. Were you not in the city?
- No, I went to Calcutta.
- I thought perhaps you had gone there. Did you see your brother and sister there?
- No, even though they live there, I did not have time enough to see them.
- Did you see many places in the city?
- No, if only I get my vacation next month, I shall go back and wander around the city.
- Did you like it, then?
- Yes, I liked it very much. But it got very hot in the city and I could not wander around very much.

- Were you able to see the Jain temple?
- No. I had heard about it, and I wanted to go. But I did not have the time.
- What did you do there, then?
- When it was not too hot, I worked. When I could not work, I stayed in my room and read a book.
- How many days were you there?
- I stayed there only three days. Then I went on to Cuttack.

Drill 2

- Did you go to a village for Durga-puja?
- Yes, I went to the house of a friend of mine in a village near Bankura.
- How did you like it?
- Wonderful. The people were very open-hearted and took good care of me, even though I was a foreigner.
- What did you do?
- In the morning and the evening we went to the temple. In the afternoon we often went for a walk.
- There is a Santal village nearby, isn't there? Did you see the Santals?
- Yes, there is a village there in the jungle. One night we went there to see a dance.
- And did you hear any Baul songs?
- Yes, one afternoon a Baul came and sang for us. Even though he was very old, he sang beautifully.
- If only I could collect those Baul songs, people would be able to hear their sweetness.
- Rabindranath did collect a few. They are beautiful.

Lesson 16, part 5. Vocabulary.

bideśī	foreigner	śaṅgraho kār-	collect
madhurjo, miśṭota	sweetness
buṛo, briddho	old man	biśeś	special, especially ador	love, affection	prankhola	open-hearted
śit kal	winter	pran	heart
parbot	mountain	khola	open, frank, candid
jāṅgol	jungle	apurbho	unprecedented, very wonderful ebar, eibar	this time	bāndho	hindered, stopped, closed

śommondhe

post-position, "in regard to", with genitive

Idioms:

--ke odor jōtno kār-

to take good care of, to treat with great kindnesshate beśi śōmoe achśōmoe pa-

to have enough time

tai na

is it not so? (note intonation)

Lesson 17, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and translation

Bengali

1. stem of verb "remain"
past habitual tense
suffix
2nd person ordinary
past tense ending
"(you) used to remain/live"

thak- থাক-

-t- -ত-

-e -এ thakte থাকতে

- A. Where did you used to live?

- A. তুমি আগে কোথায় থাকতে ?

tumi age ' kothae thakte "

2. past habitual tense
suffix
1st person past tense ending
"(I) used to remain/live"

-t- -ত-

-um -ম thaktum থাকতুম

- B. I used to live in Syam-bazar before. Now I live in Bhowanipur.

- B. আমি আগে শ্যামবাজারে থাকতুম । এখন ভবানীপুরে থাকি ।

ami age ' sambajare thaktum " ekhon ' bhowanipure thaki "

3. high stem of verb
/por-/, "study"
past habitual tense
suffix
2nd person ordinary
past tense ending
"(you) used to study"

por- পড়-

-t- -ত-

-e -এ porte পড়তে

"university"

biśśobiddalṇe বিশ্ববিদ্যালয়

A. Did you used to study at Calcutta University?

A. তুমি কলকাতা বিশ্ববিদ্যালয়ে পড়তে কি ?

tumi ' kolkata biśśobiddalṇe ' porte ki "

4. "study for the B.A."

bi.e paṛ- বি.এ. পড়-

B. Yes, I studied for the B.A. at Calcutta University.

B. হ্যাঁ, আমি কলকাতা বিশ্ববিদ্যালয়ে বি.এ. পড়েছিলাম ।

hæ " ami ' kolkata biśśobiddalṇe ' bi.e porechilum "

5. loan word, "university" iunibharśiṭi ইউনিভার্সিটি

A. At which college of the University did you used to study?

A. তুমি ইউনিভার্সিটির কোন কলেজে পড়তে ?

tumi ' iunibharśiṭir ' kon koleje ' porte "

6. name of a college of Calcutta University, "City College" siti kolej সিটি কলেজ

name of a college of Calcutta University, "Presidency College"

presidensi kolej প্রেসিডেন্সী কলেজ

B. First I used to study at City College, after that at Presidency College.

B. আমি প্রথমে সিটি কলেজে, তার পরে প্রেসিডেন্সী কলেজে পড়তাম । ami prothome ' siti koleje ' tar pare ' presidensi koleje ' portum "

7. A. Did you used to go to see many football games in Calcutta?

A. তুমি কি কলকাতায় খুব ফুটবল খেলা দেখতে যেতে ?

tumi ki kolkatae ' khub phutbol khæla ' dekhte jete "

8. "often"
emphatic suffix
"very often"
- prae প্রায়
-i -ই praei প্রায়ই
- B. Yes, when friends went with me, I used to go to watch the game very often.
- B. হ্যাঁ, বন্ধুরা আমার সঙ্গে গেলে আমি প্রায়ই খেলা দেখতে যেতুম।
- hã " bondhura ' amar sãnge gele ' ami praei ' khæla dekhthe jetum "
9. loan word, "coffee house";
there are several in Calcutta, very popular with students and intellectuals "conversation, gossip"
- kaphi haus কফি হাউস
- gãlpogujob গল্পগুজব
- A. And did you used to go to the coffee house to talk very often?
- A. আর তুমি কি প্রায়ই গল্পগুজব করতে কফি হাউসে যেতে ?
- ar tumi ki praei ' gãlpogujob korte ' kaphi hause ' jete "
10. "between"
"from time to time"
- majhe মাঝে
majhe majhe মাঝে মাঝে
- B. When I had no more studying, I used to go there from time to time.
- B. পড়াশোনা না থাকলে আমি মাঝে মাঝে সেখানে যেতুম।
- parašona na thakle ' ami majhe majhe ' sêkhane jetum "
11. "vacation, day off"
- chuṭi ছুটি
- A. What did you used to do on your days off?
- A. ছুটির দিনগুলোতে তুমি কি করতে ?
- chuṭir dingulote ' tumi ' ki korte "
12. "field", a large common in the middle of a city like Calcutta
- mãedan ময়দান

B. When my sister used to come to see me, I used to take her for a walk on the maidan.

B. আমার বোন দেখা করতে এলে, তাকে আমার সঙ্গে নিয়ে মাদানে বেড়াতে যেতুম। amar bon ' dækha korte ele ' take ' amar sange nie ' mædane bærate jetum "

13. "heat, hot season"

grissó গ্রীষ্ম

A. What did you used to do in the long summer vacation?

A. গ্রীষ্মের লম্বা ছুটিতে তুমি কি করতে ?

grissér lamba chutite ' tumi ki korte "

14. "body"
"be in good health"
hill station in North India

śorir শরীর

śorir bhalo thak- শরীর ভাল থাক-śimla সিমলা

B. When my mother and father were in good health, we used to go to visit Simla.

B. আমার মা-বাবার শরীর ভাল থাকলে সিমলাতে বেড়াতে যেতুম। amar ma-babar ' śorir bhalo thakle ' śimlate bærate jetum "

15. idiom: "didn't you?, isn't that so?"

tai na তাই না

A. You used to write poetry in college, didn't you?

A. তুমি কলেজে কবিতা লিখতে, তাই না ?

tumi koleje ' kobita likhte ' tai na "

16. noun, "journal", a common name of journals compound verb, "be published, come out" potrika পত্রিকা

bar ho- বার হ-

B. Yes, my poetry used to be published in the college journal very often.

B. হ্যাঁ, আমার কবিতা কলেজ পত্রিকাতে প্রায়ই বার হতো।

hæ " amar kobita ' kolej potrikate ' praei bar hoto "

17. A. You used to do other things in college, didn't you?

A. তুমি কলেজে আর কিছু করতে নাকি ?

tumi koleje ' ar kichu korte ' naki "

18. B. Yes, I used to play tennis when I got a little time, and I used to play cricket often.

B. হ্যাঁ, আমি একটু সময় পেলে টেনিস খেলতুম, আর অন্য সময় ক্রিকেট খেলতুম। hã " ami ektu somoe pele ' tenis kheltum ' ar prae somoe ' kriket kheltum "

19. "job"
"games"
compound verb stem,
"give up, leave"

cakri চাকরী khæladhulo খেলাধুলো

chere de- ছেড়ে দে-

B. But now I have a job. That is why I have given up games.

B. কিন্তু এখন আমার চাকরী আছে। তাই খেলাধুলো ছেড়ে দিয়েছি।

kintu ækhon ' amar cakri ache " tai khæladhulo chere diechi "

Lesson 17, part 2. Grammar.

1. Formation and use of the past habitual:

1.1. The most common use of the past habitual is that which we have seen in this lesson -- reference to action which was customary in the past; the tense can be used wherever English can use the phrase "used to".

1.2. The formation of the past habitual is by the high stem of all verbs except verb stems of (C)VC- shape where the vowel is /a/, and stems of CVCa- shape. These two types of stems preserve their low vowels. The sign of the past habitual is /-t-/, which is affixed to the verb stem. To the tense sign /-t-/ are then added the past tense personal endings.

ken- "buy"

ami kin - t - um tumi kin - t - e tui kin - t - is apni kin - t - en
se kin - t - o
tini kin - t - en

	khæl-	"play"	ami khel - t - um, etc.
	kôr-	"do"	ami kor - t - um, etc.
	śon-	"hear"	ami śun - t - um, etc.
But:	jan-	"know"	ami jan - t - um, etc.
	bæra-	"wander about"	ami bæra - t - um, etc.
<hr/>
	de-	"give"	ami di - t - um, etc.
	hō-	"be"	ami ho - t - um, etc.
	kha-	"eat"	ami khe - t - um, etc.

The verb stem /ja-/ is regular, having the stem /je-/ in the past habitual.

1.3. This tense and the simple past are the only tenses which permit the formation of the negative with /na/:

I used to play                      kheltum
I did not used to play      kheltum na

2. As in sentence 4, the Bengali usage is to make /bi.e/ the direct object of /pōr-/, "study (or "read") B.A.", where English usage will be "study for the B.A."

Lesson 17, part 3. Patterns.

1. Pattern: sentence 1.

- Where did you used to go?
- Where did she used to live?
- Where did they used to meet you?
- Where did you (pl.) used to study?
- Where did he used to live?

2. Pattern: sentence 2.

- I used to go often to Kalighat (/kalighat/) before.
- She used to live in Ballygunge before.
- They used to come to my house, a long time ago.
- We used to study in that room.
- He used to live in Calcutta.

3. Pattern: sentence 5.

- a. What part of Kalighat did you used to go to see?
- b. In what part of Ballygunge did she used to live?
- c. In what part of the city did they used to live?
- d. In what field of study did you (pl.) used to work?
- e. In what part of the city did he used to live?

4. Pattern: sentence 6a.

- a. I used to go to see the Kali temple.
- b. She used to live near Ġariahat (/goṛiahata/).
- c. They used to live in Citpur Road (/citpur roḍ/).
- d. We used to study Bengali literature.
- e. He used to live near the river.

Pattern: sentence 6b.

- a. After that I used to walk along the river.
- b. After that she used to live near the lake.
- c. After living there for ten years, they went to Poona.
- d. After that we began to study Sanskrit (/śaṇśkrit/).
- e. After that he used to live with me most of the time.

5. Pattern: sentence 7.

- a. Did you used to see many boats on the river?
- b. Did she used to be able to see the lake from her home?
- c. Did they used to be able to come back to Calcutta?
- d. Did you used to be able to read Sanskrit well?
- e. Did you (pl.) used to meet Sipra often?

6. Pattern: sentence 8.

- a. Yes, when my friends went with me, we used to go in a boat to Shalimar.
- b. Yes, when she lived in that house, she used to see the lake very clearly (/śpaśto/).
- c. No, when they went there, they didn't used to come back often.
- d. Yes, when we were studying, we used to read very well.
- e. Yes, when my friend went with me, I used to go to her house often.

7. Pattern: sentence 9.
- Did you (pl.) used to go in the boat often?
  - Did she used to go to the lake often?
  - Did you used to see them very often?
  - Did you (pl.) used to read kavya (/kabbo/)?
  - Did you used to meet her parents often?
8. Pattern: sentence 10.
- When I had no more studying, we used to go from time to time.
  - When she had no more studying, she used to walk there.
  - When we had the time, we used to go to see them.
  - When we had learned enough, we used to read kavya.
  - When we went there, her parents always used to be there.
9. Pattern: sentence 11.
- What did you used to do on the trip?
  - Where did she used to walk there?
  - Where did you used to stay in Poona?
  - Where did you (pl.) used to study Sanskrit?
  - What did her father used to do?
10. Pattern: sentence 12.
- When we used to go on the river, we used to read and sleep all the time.
  - When she used to walk there, she used to walk along the lake shore.
  - When we used to go to Poona, we used to stay with my sister.
  - When we studied Sanskrit, we used to study with a pandit (/pondit/ -- see vocabulary).
  - When we knew him, her father used to write poetry.

Lesson 17, part 4. Sentence Drills.

Drill 1

- Have you been to Calcutta?
- Yes, I used to live in Calcutta, a few years ago. I used to study at Calcutta University.
- At what college of the University did you used to study?
- I studied for the B.A. at Presidency College. Then I studied for the M.A. at St. Xavier's College.
- Did you like the city?

- Yes. When I had no studying, I used to walk through the maidan (/mædaner bhetor die/) and along the bank of the river.
- Did you used to stay in Calcutta during the summer also?
- No, when my friends would go with me, I used to go to Darjeeling. We also used to go to Puri from time to time.
- You used to play cricket in college, didn't you?
- Yes, I used to play cricket when I got the chance, but usually I had too much studying.
- Did you used to go to the movies very often?
- No, not often. From time to time I used to take my sister there.
- Did your sister used to live in Calcutta too?
- No, she lived in Delhi. But she used to come to Calcutta often to see me.

Drill 2

- We used to be able to buy a seer of rice for four annas. Do you remember?
- Yes, I remember. Prices are not what they used to be (i.e., what price was, now that is not).
- And we used to be able to buy a silk sari for fifteen rupees.
- Yes. When we used to live in the village, things were much cheaper.
- We used to sit on the veranda, in our village house, and people used to come and talk.
- Yes, the old men used to gossip incessantly.
- They used to say that the old days were good, and that modern times are bad.
- They used to tell stories from the Ramayana (/ramæon/) and Mahabharata (/māhabharot/).
- Yes, I used to like those stories. But in the village we did not used to be able to go to the movies.

Lesson 17, part 5. Vocabulary.

bibhag	department, division
śujog	chance, opportunity
cal	rice (husked rice)
jiniśpəttro, jiniśpəttor	things (in general)
jiniś	thing
pəttro, pəttor	suffix, "and such"
kagojpəttro, kagojpəttor	papers and other such things
ciṭhipəttro, ciṭhipəttor	letters and other such things
golpo	story

bortoman (somoe)	present (time)
nouko	boat
lek, dighi	lake
bhromon	trip
ser	seer (about two pounds weight)
baś kar-	live (make dwelling)
golpo bal-	tell a story
golpo kar-	gossip
mone rakh-	remember purono din	olden times
śpaśto, paśto	clear, clearly śasta	cheap
khek	a few, several panero	fifteen
śab somoe	all the time, incessantly
praei	usually, very often
ponḍiter kache	with a pandit (scholar)
baerate (gie)	(going) on the trip
æk ser cal	a seer of rice

Lesson 18, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and translation

Bengali

1. high stem of verb
/por-/ , "read"
past tense suffix
2nd person ordinary
past tense ending
past continuative,
"you were reading"

por- পড়-
-chil- -ছিল-

-e -এ

porchile পড়ছিলে

A. John, what book were you reading?

A. জন , তুমি কি বই পড়ছিলে ?
jon 'tumi 'ki boi porchile "

2. noun, "novel"
high stem of verb
/dakh-/ , "see"
past tense suffix
1st person past tense ending
past continuative,
"I was looking at"

uponnaś উপন্যাস

dekh- দেখ-
-chil- -ছিল-

-um -এম

dekhchilum দেখছিলুম

B. I was looking at a Bengali novel.

B. আমি একটা বাংলা উপন্যাস দেখছিলুম । ami ækṭa 'banla uponnaś ' dekhchilum "

3. interrogative pronoun stem, "who"
"whose, of whom"
verb stem, "write"

ka- কkar কার lekh- লেখ-

verbal noun/adjective
"writing, written"
"written by whom"

lekha লেখা
kar lekha কার লেখা

A. Who wrote the novel you were looking at?

A. কার লেখা উপন্যাস দেখছিলেন ?
kar lekha uponnaś ' dekhchile "

4. name of a 19th century Bengali novelist name of a Bengali novel bonkim বঙ্কিম anondomath আনন্দমঠ

B. It was Anandamath, written by your Bankim-babu.

B. তোমাদের বঙ্কিমবাবুর লেখা আনন্দমঠ । tomader bonkim babur lekha ' anondomath "

5. "is it not so?"

naki নাকি

A. You read Bengali books, don't you?

A. তুমি বাংলা বই পড় নাকি ?
tumi ' banla boi poro naki "

6. a stem of irregular verb "go" (/ja-/) an adjectival suffix "gone, past"
high stem of verb, "learn"

ga- গ-
-to -ত gato গত
śikh- শিখ-

B. Yes, in the past two years I have been learning a little Bengali.

B. হ্যাঁ, আমি গত দু বছর একটু বাংলা ভাষা শিখছিলাম । hã " ami ' gato du bochor ' ektu banla bhaśa ' śikhchilum "

1st person present of stem /dakh-/, "see";
"I see" or "let me see"
question marker negative
"whether or not"

dekhi দেখি
ki কি na না
kina কিনা

B. So I thought, "Let me see whether or not I can read the writing of Bankim-babu."

B. তাই ভাবলুম যে দেখি বঙ্কিমবাবুর লেখা পড়তে পারি কিনা ?

tai ' bhablum je ' dekhi ' bonkim babur lekha ' porte pari kina "

7. untranslatable particle which transmits a feeling of condition or doubt on the part of the speaker "strike, or seem or be difficult (for)"

to তো

śokto lag- (with genitive)

শক্ত লাগ-

A. I think that his writing will be a little difficult for you.

A. আমার তো মনে হচ্ছে যে তাঁর লেখা তোমার ঐকটু শক্ত লাগবে । amar to ' mone hocche je ' tār lekha ' tomar ' ektu śokto lagbe "

8. - B. Why do you say that?

B. কেন বলো তো ?

kaeno bolo to "

9. "because"
"Sanskrit"
noun, "word"
noun, "use"
compound verb, "use"

karon কারণ śaṅśkrito সংস্কৃত
śabdō শব্দ bæbohar ব্যবহার
bæbohar kor- ব্যবহার কর-

A. Because at the time when Bankim was writing, almost all the writers were using Sanskrit words.

A. কারণ যে সময়ে বঙ্কিম লিখছিলেন সে সময়ে প্রায় সব লেখক সংস্কৃত শব্দ ব্যবহার করছিলেন । karon ' je śamoe ' bonkim likhchilen ' se śamoe ' prae śab lekha ' śaṅśkrito śabdō ' bæbohar korchilen "

10. B. That is why I was finding the book so hard.

B. তাই বইটা আমার এত শক্ত লাগছিলো ।

tai ' boita ' amar eto śokto ' lagchilo "

11. adjective, "current"
name for colloquial Bengali language adjective, "pure"
name for literary Bengali language
"or"
- colit চলিত colit bhaśa চলিত ভাষা śadhu সাধু
śadhu bhaśa সাধু ভাষা
na, ba না , বা
- A. When you were learning Bengali, were you learning the colloquial or the literary language?
- A. তুমি যখন বাংলা ভাষা শিখছিলে তখন তুমি কি চলিত ভাষা শিখছিলে না সাধু ভাষা শিখছিলে ?
- tumi jakhon ' banla bhaśa śikhchile ' takhon ' tumi ki ' colit bhaśa śikhchile ' na śadhu bhaśa śikhchile "
12. "two, both"
emphatic suffix
- dui দুই
-i -ই
- B. I was learning both the colloquial and the literary language.
- B. আমি চলিত ও সাধু ভাষা দুই শিখছিলুম ।
- ami ' colit o śadhu bhaśa ' duii śikhchilum "
13. A. Look, if you learn a little Sanskrit it will be very expedient for you.
- A. দেখ , তুমি যদি একটু সংস্কৃত শেখ তা হলে তোমার বড় সুবিধে হবে ।
- dekho ' tumi jodi ' ektu śaṅskrito śekho ' ta hole tomar ' baro śubidhe hobe "
14. noun, "India"
stem of verb, "go"
past tense suffix
(with vowel-stem verbs)
1st person past suffix
"I was going"
"another"
adjective, "cultivated"
"person"
"gentleman"
- bharot, bharotbarśo ভারত , ভারতবর্ষ
ja- যা-
-cchil- -ছিল-
-um -লুম jacchilum যাক্ষিলুম
ar ek আর এক
bhaddro . ভদ্র lok লোক bhaddrolok ভদ্রলোক

"that"

ta তা

"that (emphatic)"

ta.i তাই

B. When I was going to India last year, another Bengali gentleman told me the same thing.

B. গত বছর আমি যখন ভারতবর্ষে যাচ্ছিলুম তখন আর একজন বাঙালী ভদ্রলোক তাই বলছিলেন। gato bāchor 'ami jōkhon 'bharotbārse jacchilum 'tōkhon 'ar ekjon banali bhaddrolōk 'ta.i bolchilen "

15. A. Why were you going to India last year?

A. তা তুমি গত বছর ভারতবর্ষে যাচ্ছিলে কেন ?

ta tumi 'gato bāchor 'bharotbārse jacchile keno "

16. "speech, address"

boktrita বক্তৃতা

B. To give speeches in your country.

B. তোমাদের দেশে বক্তৃতা দিতে। tomader deśe boktrita dite "

17. post-position, "concerning" (preceding genitive optional)

biśne বিষয়ে

A. To give speeches about America?

A. আমেরিকার বিষয় বক্তৃতা দিতে কি ?

amerikar biśne 'boktrita dite ki "

18. stem of verb, "read" causative stem of verb
"read" (i.e., "teach") past suffix (with vowel stems)
1st person past suffix
"I was teaching"
"connection, relation"
post-position "in regard to, about" (preceding genitive optional)

par- পড়-

para- পড়া-

-cchil- -চ্ছিল-

-um -ম

paracchilum পড়াচ্ছিলুম

śammondho সম্বন্ধ

śammondhe সম্বন্ধে

B. Yes. I was teaching (about) American literature.

B. হ্যাঁ, আমি আমেরিকান সাহিত্য সম্বন্ধে গড়াই লুম।

hãe "ami 'amerikan śahitto śommondhe 'poracchilum "

19. "wish, desire"
"government"

icche ইচ্ছে
śarkar সরকার

B. That is why the government's wish was that I give a speech about that.

B. তাই সরকারের ইচ্ছে ছিল আমি এ বিষয়ে বক্তৃতা দিই।

tai 'śarkarer icche chilo 'ami oi biśoe 'boktrita dii "

20. "whereabouts, in which different places"

kothae kothae কোথায় কোথায়

A. In which different places in India were you giving speeches?

A. তুমি ভারতবর্ষে কোথায় কোথায় বক্তৃতা দিচ্ছিলে?

tumi bharot borsē 'kothae kothae '
boktrita dicchile "

21. "the greatest, the most"
"of the greatest"
"part, portion"
"the majority, the greatest part"

beśi বেশী
beśir বেশীর
bhag ভাগ

beśir bhag বেশীর ভাগ

B. The greatest part of the time I was giving speeches in Calcutta itself.

B. আমি বেশীর ভাগ সময় কলকাতাতেই বক্তৃতা দিচ্ছিলুম।

ami 'beśir bhag śomoe 'kalkatatei ' boktrita dicchilum "

22. A. How did you like Bengal?

A. তা তোমার বাংলা দেশ কেমন লাগছিলো?

ta tomar 'banla deś 'kamon lagchilo "

23. "extremely"
"special, particular"
function word; see
Grammar, 3.

bhari ভারী
biśeś বিশেষ
kore করে

"especially"

biśeś kore বিশেষ করে

B. I think that Bengal is an extremely beautiful place, especially Calcutta city.

B. আমার মনে হয় যে বাংলা দেশ ভারী সুন্দর জায়গা । বিশেষ করে কলকাতা শহর । amar mone hoe je ' banla deś ' bhari śundor jaega ' biśeś kore ' kolkata śhor "

24. "mouth"

mukh মুখ

A. I like very much to hear this (word) from your mouth.

A. তোমার মুখ থেকে এ কথা শুনলে আমার ভারী ভাল লাগছে । tomar mukh theke ' e kotha śune '

amar bhari bhalo lagche "

Lesson 18, part 2. Grammar.

1. The formation and use of the past continuative.

1.1. The use of the past continuative (sometimes termed past imperfect) is to indicate that an action had begun in the past and was continuing at the past time referred to by the speaker. A rule of thumb is that wherever the form "was/were ...ing" is used in English, the past continuative is used in Bengali. Thus:

śunchilum	"I was listening"
dekhchile	"you were looking"
khelchilo	"he was playing", etc.

1.2. The tense is formed by the addition of the past tense suffix and past personal endings to the high stem of the verb, except where the stem-vowel is /a/ or the shape of the stem is CVCa-. Where the stem-vowel is /a/ and where the shape of the stem is CVCa-, the low stem is retained. Thus:

śon-	"hear"	ami śun-chil-um tumi śun-chil-e tui śun-chil-i apni śun-chil-en
		śe śun-chil-o

		tini śun-chil-en
phæl-	"drop"	ami phel-chil-um, etc.
bṛś-	"sit"	ami boś-chil-um, etc.

/a/-stems retain their low forms:

jan-	"know"	jan-chil-um, etc.
------	--------	-------------------

as do CVCa-stems:

jana-	"cause to know"	jana-chil-um, etc.
śona-	"cause to hear"	śona-chil-um, etc.

1.3. CV-stems follow this same pattern: all stems are high except where the stem-vowel is /a/. CV-stems, however, also double the /-c-/ of the /-chil-/ suffix:

ne-	"take"	ami ni-cchil-um, etc.
hṛ-	"become"	ami ho-cchil-um, etc.
ja-	"go"	ami ja-cchil-um, etc.

2. Formation of verbal adjectives, as in sentence 3.

2.1. Verbal adjectives may be identical in form with verbal nouns; only their syntactical function separates the two classes. Some examples of verbal adjectives:

e'amar hate lekha boi"	this is my hand-written book (this book is written by my hand (i.e., in my hand-writing))
akaś kalo kṛa dhōa"	the smoke making the sky black (i.e., the sky-black-making smoke; /akaś kalo kṛa/ is an adjectival complex modifying /dhōa/.)
oṭa'kharap lekha boi"	that is a badly written book (extremely colloquial)
eṭa'bhalo āka chobi"	that is a well painted picture (extremely colloquial)

2.2. It should be mentioned that there is another type of verbal adjective, which functions somewhat differently syntactically. This second type of formation is much less frequent (except in certain stylized idioms) than the one above. Note the śadhu-bhaśa vocabulary in the following examples:

e boi'amar hōsto likhito"      this book is written by my hand
o boiṭa'mondobhabe likhito"      that book is badly written

2.2.1. This form is called in traditional grammars "past passive participle"; it should be noted that the construction /akaś kalo kora dhōa/ cannot be transformed in this way; "past passive participles" form a limited class in modern spoken Bengali.

3. Function word /kore/, as in sentence 23.

3.1. It should be noted that in this situation, as in that mentioned in lesson 16, the form /kore/, while it has the same form as the PAP of the stem /kār-/, "do", does not act in the same way. A PAP has a verbal function in a sentence:

śe kaj kore'gālo"      He did the work and went.
śe baṛite phire'boślo"      He returned home and sat down.

The function word /kore/ occurs either in immediate relation as a noun:

śe nouko kore'aśe"      He comes by boat.

or, as in the present case, as an adjective:

śe biśeś kore'śōhorta'      He especially likes the city.
pōchondo kore"
śe śōkto kore'dhore"      He holds it firmly.

Lesson 18, part 3. Patterns.

1. Pattern: sentence 1.

- a. What picture were you looking at?
- b. What song were you listening to?
- c. What stories were you reading?
- d. What songs were they singing?
- e. What novels was he reading?

2. Pattern: sentence 2.

- a. I was looking at a picture by a Bengali painter.
- b. I was listening to a song by a Bengali writer.
- c. I was reading some Bengali short stories.
- d. They were singing some Bengali songs.
- e. He was reading some Bengali novels.

3. Pattern: sentence 3.

- a. Who painted the picture you were looking at?
- b. Who wrote the song you were listening to?
- c. Who wrote the stories you were reading?
- d. Who wrote the songs they were singing?
- e. Who wrote the novels he was reading?

4. Pattern: sentence 4.

- a. It was a picture painted by Jamini Roy.
- b. It was a song written by Rabindranath.
- c. They were stories written by different people.
- d. They were songs written by kaviwallas (/kobiaala/).
- e. They were novels by Saratcandra (/sarotcandro/).

5. Pattern: sentence 5.

- a. You like Bengali pictures, don't you?
- b. You like Rabindranath's songs, don't you?
- c. You have studied Bengali a lot, haven't you?
- d. You listen to all kinds of folk songs, don't you?
- e. You can read that kind of Bengali, can't you?

6. Pattern: sentence 6.

- a. Yes, for the past ten years I have been studying Indian painting.
- b. Yes, for the past few years I have been listening to many Indian songs.
- c. Yes, for the past six years I have been studying Bengali.
- d. Yes, for the past twenty years I have been listening to folk songs.
- e. Yes, for the past several months I have been learning to read śadhu-bhaśa.

Pattern: sentence 6.

- a. So I thought, "Let me see whether or not I like Bengali painting."
- b. So I thought, "Let me see whether or not I can like Rabindranath's songs."
- c. So I thought, "Let me see whether or not I can read short stories easily."
- d. So I thought, "Let me see whether or not I can understand kaviwalla songs."
- e. So I thought, "Let me see whether or not I can read Saratcandra's writing."

7. Pattern: sentence 7.

- a. I think that you will like Bengali painting very much.
- b. I think that you will like Rabindranath's songs very much.
- c. I think that you will read these short stories easily.
- d. I think that these songs will be a little hard for you to understand.
- e. I think that his writing will be very difficult for you to read.

8. Pattern: sentence 8.

- a. Why do you think that?
- b. Why do you do that?
- c. Why do you say that?
- d. Why do you say they will be difficult?
- e. Why do you say that it will be hard to read?

9. Pattern: sentence 9.

- a. Because at the time when modern painters were learning, many painters were using folk art.
- b. Because when Rabindranath was writing songs, he liked folk songs very much.
- c. Because when writers write short stories, they often use colit-bhaśa.
- d. Because the poets who wrote those songs were not often educated people.
- e. Because when Saratcandra was writing, many writers were using difficult language.

10. Pattern: sentence 10.

- a. I like folk art. That is why, when I was looking at the picture, I liked (i.e., "was liking") it very much.
- b. I like folk songs. That is why, when I was listening to Rabindranath's songs, I liked them very much.

- c. That is why, when I was trying to read the stories, I was finding (use /lag-/) them so easy.
- d. That is why, when I was listening to the songs, I was not able to understand the language.
- e. That is why, when I was looking at the books, I was finding (use /lag-/) them hard to read.

11. Pattern: sentence 11.

- a. When you were studying painting, were you studying ancient or modern painting?
- b. When you were studying folk songs, were you studying Indian or European folk songs?
- c. When you were studying Bengali, were you studying the colloquial or the literary language?
- d. When you were learning Bengali, what kind of Bengali were you learning?
- e. When you were studying śadhu-bhaśa, whose writing were you studying?

12. Pattern: sentence 12.

- a. I was studying ancient and modern painting.
- b. I was studying both Indian and European folk songs.
- c. I was studying both the colloquial and the literary language?
- d. I was studying only the literary language.
- e. I was studying Bankim-candra.

13. Pattern: sentence 13.

- a. If you learn a little about Indian sculpture, it will be very helpful to you.
- b. If you learn a little about Indian classical music, it will be very helpful to you.
- c. If you are studying the śadhu-bhaśa, learning a little Sanskrit will be very helpful to you.
- d. If you are studying the colit-bhaśa, speaking the language will be very helpful to you.
- e. If you want to learn the literary language, studying a little Sanskrit will be helpful to you.

14. Pattern: sentence 14.

- a. When I was in Calcutta last year, my professor said the same thing to me.
- b. When I was studying music, my teacher said the same thing to me.
- c. When I was living in Bengal, my friends said the same thing to me.

- d. When I was going to India, many people said the same thing to me.
- e. When I was studying Bengali, other people said the same thing to me.

15. Pattern: sentence 15.

- a. What were you doing in Calcutta last year?
- b. Where were you studying Indian music?
- c. Where were you living in Bengal?
- d. When were you going to India.
- e. Why were you studying Bengali?

16. Pattern: sentence 16.

- a. The government was sending me there to teach at the University.
- b. The government was sending me to Madras to study music.
- c. The government was sending me; therefore I was living on Park Street.
- d. The government was sending me to India last year.
- e. The government was sending me to study; also, I wanted (i.e., was wanting) to read Bengali literature.

17. Pattern: sentence 17.

- a. To teach about folk art?
- b. To teach about folk music?
- c. The government sent you to study the language?
- d. They were sending you to learn Bengali?
- e. They were sending you to study only Bengali?

18. Pattern: sentence 18.

- a. Yes, I was teaching a little about folk art.
- b. Yes, I was also learning to play the vina (/bina/).
- c. Yes, I was studying the language and the literature.
- d. Yes, I was also teaching a little.
- e. No, I was studying other languages also.

19. Pattern: sentence 20.

- a. In what different places were you teaching?
- b. What other instruments were you learning to play?
- c. In what various places were you living in Bengal?
- d. In what various places were you teaching in India?

e. What other different languages were you studying?

20. Pattern: sentence 21.

- a. The greatest part of the time I was teaching in Calcutta itself.
- b. The greatest part of the time I was learning to play the vina itself.
- c. The greatest part of the time I was living right in Calcutta.
- d. The greatest part of the time I was teaching in Calcutta itself.
- e. The greatest part of the time I was studying Bengali; I was learning a little Hindi also.

21. Pattern: sentence 22. (use past continuative)

- a. How did you like Calcutta?
- b. How did you like playing the vina?
- c. How did you like living in Calcutta?
- d. How did you like teaching in India?
- e. How did you like learning Indian languages?

22. Pattern: sentence 23.

- a. I think that Calcutta is a wonderful city, especially at night.
- b. I think that all Indian instruments are beautiful, but especially the vina.
- c. I think that all Bengal is beautiful, but especially Calcutta.
- d. I think that teaching is wonderful, especially in India.
- e. I think that learning all languages is hard, but especially Indian languages.

Lesson 18, part 4. Sentence Drills.

Drill 1

- What were you doing when you went to India last year?
- I was studying Indian languages, especially Bengali.
- Before going, were you studying Bengali in the United States?
- Yes, I was studying Bengali for about two years before going.
- Where were you living for most of the time when you were in India?
- I was living most of the time in Calcutta, though I was able to go from time to time to other parts of the country.
- Which parts of the country did you like particularly?
- I particularly liked Bengal. I was able to speak with people in Bengali and to read the literature.

--With whom were you studying?

--I was studying with Professor Sen, at Calcutta University.

--How long were you working with Professor Sen.

--About a year. I was learning a great deal, and I was having wonderful fun, but then I became ill.

--Why? Were you eating bad food?

--Perhaps. Whatever other people were eating, I ate. Maybe that is why I became ill.

Drill 2

--What were you doing when I came in?

--I was working on my book.

--What book are you writing?

--I am writing a book about religion in India, especially Bengal.

--You were doing work on the Śaktas (/śakto/) when you were in Bengal, weren't you?

--Yes, but I was also reading the biographies of Caitanya (/coitanno/) and the Vaisnava padaboli (/boisnob padaboli/).

--I have heard people say that Vaisnavism (/boisnob dharmo/) ruined Bengal. What do you think of that?

--I have also heard people say that Vaisnavas are too peace-loving. People say that those who do not eat meat, etc., do not fight well.

--Do you think that this is true?

--I don't know. People say that the terrorist movement against the British was the work of the Śaktas.

--But I do not think that anyone has ever proved that, is that not so?

--I do not know whether or not anyone has tried to prove it. But until someone does, we will not know for certain.

Lesson 18, part 5. Vocabulary.

markin jukto
raśtro

United States of America

sthapotto uccango songit sculpture classical music

majhe majhe, śamoe śamoe

from time to time

śikkha śikkhito education educated bibhinno different, various dharmo jiboni religion biography

onno

other, different śantipprio andolon

peace-loving movement

Idioms:

oms:		śontraśbaḍ	terrorism
onek kichu	a great deal	śontraśbadi	terrorist jōkhono	until	pōdaboli	Vaiṣṇava religious lyrics
porjonto,		dhōṇśo kār-	(to) ruin
jōtokkhon		nōśto kārniścito bhabē	for certain,	proman kār-	prove certainly	ceśṭa kār-	try bhab-	think
		biruddhe	post-position, "against"

Lesson 19, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and Translation

Bengali

1. "worthless, rotten, insignificant"

baje বাজে

Note: when refering to "your city", "your country", etc., the plural of "your" is always used.

- A. Amiyababu, your Calcutta is a very miserable city.

- A. অমিয়াবাবু , আপনাদের কলকাতা বড় বাজে শহর ।

amiobabu ' apnader kolkata ' boro baje shohor "

2. stem of verb, "come"
past conditional suffix
honorific personal
ending
"if you had come"
"such"
high stem of verb
/bol-/, "say"
past conditional suffix
honorific personal
ending
"you would have said"

aś- আস-

-t- -ত-

-en -এ ন

jodi aśten যদি আসতেন

amon এমন

bol- বল-

-t- -ত-

-en -এ ন

bolten বলতেন

- B. Mr. Smith, if you had come to Calcutta fifteen years ago, you would not have said such things.

- B. স্মিথসাহেব , আপনি যদি পনের বছর আগে
কলকাতায় আসতেন তা হলে এমন কথা বলতেন না ।

smithsaheb ' apni jodi ' ponero bachor age ' kolkatae aśten ' ta hole ' amon kotha bolten na "

3. noun or form of address,
"gentleman" or "sir"
"even if I had come"

māśae মশায়
ami aśleo আমি আসলেও

- A. No sir, even if I had come to Calcutta fifteen years ago, I would have seen that same crowd of people.

- A. না মশায় , গনের বছর আগে কলকাতাতে আসলেও এ লোকের ভাঁড় দেখতাম । na māśae ' ponero bāchor age ' kolkata aśleo ' oi loker bhir dekhtum "

"rotten, putrid, sticky" paca পচা

- A. And this sticky heat would have been here.

- A. আর এই পচা গরম থাকতো । ar ei paca garom ' thakto "

4. loan word, "partition"
"be partitioned"

partīśan পার্টিশন
partīśan ho- পার্টিশন হ-

Note the position of the negative particle in the conditional clause.

- B. No sir. If the country had not been partitioned, you would not see such crowds of people.

- B. না স্যার , দেশ যদি পার্টিশন না হতো তা হলে এত লোকের ভাঁড় দেখতেন না । na sar " deś jodi ' partīśan na hoto ' ta hole ' eto loker bhir dekhten na "

5. loan word, "refugee" rephiuji রোফিজী

- A. Then is that crowd all of refugees?

- A. তা হলে এ ভাঁড় কি সব রোফিজীদের ?

ta hole ' oi bhir ki ' sab rephiujider "

6. "thousand"
"thousands and thousands"
noun, "refuge"
"take refuge"

hajar হাজার
hajar hajar হাজার হাজার assrae আশ্রয়
assrae ne- আশ্রয় নে-

B. Yes, when the country was partitioned, thousands and thousands of refugees came to Calcutta and have taken refuge here.

B. হ্যাঁ, দেশ পার্টিশন হলে হাজার হাজার রিফিউজী কলকাতাতে এসে আশ্রয় নিয়েছে। hã " deś. partiśan hole ' hajar hajar repñiujji ' kolkatate eśe ' assro'e nieche "

7. "then, in that case"
emphatic suffix
"even then"
"that kind, in that way"
"filthy"
"so filthy"

ta hole তা হলে
-o -ও
ta holeo তা হলেও oi rōkom এ রকম
nonra নোংরা
oi rōkom nonra এ রকম নোংরা

A. But sir, even if the refugees had not come, your city would be so filthy.

A. কিন্তু মশায়, রিফিউজীরা যদি না আসতো তা হলেও আপনার শহর এ রকম নোংরা থাকতো। kintu mośae ' repñiujira jodi na aśto ' ta holeo ' apñader śhor ' oi rōkom nonra ' thakto "

8. "how"

ki kore কি করে

B. How can you say that?

তা কি করে বলছেন?

ta ' ki kore ' bolchen "

B. If there were not such a crowd of people, Calcutta would not be so filthy.

B. এত লোকের ভিড় না হলে কলকাতা এত নোংরা হতো না। akto loker bñir na hole ' kolkata śhor ' ato nonra hoto na "

9. honorific imperative,
"look, please look"
"habit"
"perhaps"
"more, in addition"
"a little more"
"clean"

dekhun দেখুন obbheś obbhæś অভ্যেস, অভ্যাস hacto হাতো
ar আর ar ekñu একটু
poriśkar পরিষ্কার

Note: here the use of /apñader/ indicates that the speaker wants to be considered remote from the hearer's concern; students should be wary of using such a form.

- A. Look, if your Bengalis did A. not have so many bad habits, perhaps the city would be a little cleaner.

দেখুন , আপনাদের বাঙালীদের কতগুলো খারাপ অভ্যাস যদি না থাকতো তা হলে হয়তো শহরটা একটু পরিষ্কার হতো ।

dekhun ' apnader banalider kōtokgulo kharap obbhās ' jodi na thakto ' ta hole hōeto ' śhorta ' ar ektu poriskar hoto "

10. "only"

śudhu শুধু

- B. Why only Bengalis?

- B. শুধু বাঙালীরা কেন ?

śudhu banalira keno "

noun, "state, place"
verb stem, "abandon,
leave"

prodeś প্রদেশ

char- ছাড়-

- B. If people of other places would abandon their bad habits, the city would become cleaner.

- B. অন্য প্রদেশের লোকেরা যদি তাদের খারাপ অভ্যাসগুলো হাত্তো তা হলে শহরটা আরো পরিষ্কার থাকতো । onno prodeśer lokera ' jodi tader kharap obbhāsgulo ' charo ' ta hole ' śhorta ' aro poriskar ' thakto "

11. "street"

rasta রাস্তা

"bull"

śār ষাঁড়

verbal noun, "walking, moving"

cala চলা

noun, "prevention, hindrance"

bandho বন্ধ

compound verb,
"prevent, stop"

bandho kar- বন্ধ কর-

"genteel, civilized"

bhōddro উদ্ভ

A. Still, sir, if you would prevent the wandering of bulls about the streets, the city would become a little civilized.

A. তবে , মশায় , আপনারা যদি রাস্তাতে ষাঁড়ের চলা বন্ধ করেন তা হলে শহরটা একটু ভদ্র হতো ।

tobe mośae ' apnara jodi ' rastate sārer cola ' bondho korten ' ta hole ' śohorta ' ektu bhaddro hoto "

12. noun, "side"
"side by side"
negative prefix
"uncivilized"

paś পাশ paśapaśi পাশাপাশি
o- ও-obhaddro অভদ্র

B. Look, we don't consider that walking side by side with bulls in the street is uncivilized.

B. দেখুন , আমরা ষাঁড়ের সঙ্গে রাস্তায় পাশাপাশি চলা অভদ্র মনে করি না । dekhun ' amra ' sārer śonge ' rastae paśapaśi cola ' obhaddro mone kori na "

13. "can you say, can you imagine" generalizing nominative suffix
"people (in general)"
"bulls (in general)"

bolte paren বলতে পারেন
-e -তে loke লোকে
śāre ষাঁড়ে

A. Can you imagine, if bulls wandered about the streets of New York or Paris, what people would say?

A. বলতে পারেন , ষাঁড়ে যদি নিউইয়র্ক বা প্যারিসের রাস্তাতে ঘুরে বেড়াতো তা হলে লোকে কি বলতো ?

bolte paren ' śāre jodi ' niuiork ba pariser rastate ' ghure baxato ' ta hole ' loke ki bolto "

14. B. I don't know what people would say, sir.

B. লোকে কি বলতো জানি না , স্যার । loke ki bolto ' jani na sar "

noun, "gentleman"
noun, "European lady"
compound noun, "ladies and gentlemen"

śaeb, śaheb সায়েব , সাহেব mem মেম śaeb-mem সায়েব-মেম

verb stem, "run"
verb stem, "flee"
compound verb,
"run to escape"

choṭ- ছোটpala- পালা-

chuṭe pala- ছুটে পালা-

B. But I think that if they saw a bull in New York, the ladies and gentlemen
would run to escape.

B. তবে আমার মনে হয় যে সায়েব-মেমেরা নিউইয়র্ক শহরে বাড় দেখলে ছুটে পালাতো । tobe ' amar mone hoe je ' saeb-memera ' niuiork shohore ' sar dekhle ' chuṭe palato "

verb stem, "stand, stand around"
noun, "fun, amusement"
compound verb, "be amused, look on with amusement"

dāra- দাঁড়া- moja মজা

moja dakh- মজা দেখ-

B. And in Paris, the people would probably stand around and be amused.

B. আর প্যারিসে ছাতো লোকেরা দাঁড়িয়ে মজা দেখতো ।

ar pariśe hoeto ' lokera dārie '
moja dekhto "

Lesson 19, part 2. Grammar.

1. Formation and use of the past conditional tense.

1.1. The past conditional is formed by the addition of the sign /-t-/ to the high stem of verbs except verbs of CaC- and CVCa- shapes. The personal endings are identical with those of other past tenses

Stem	Gloss	Past conditional
ken-	"buy"	kin - t - um kin - t - e kin - t - iś kin - t - en kin - t - o kin - t - en
khæl-	"play"	khel - t - um, etc.
śon-	"hear"	śun - t - um, etc.

kər-	"do"	kor - t - um, etc.
de-	"give"	di - t - um, etc.
pa-	"get"	pe - t - um, etc.

But:

jan-	"know"	jan - t - um, etc.
jana-	"cause to know"	jana - t - um, etc.
dækha-	"show"	dækha - t - um, etc.
khæla-	"cause to play"	khæla - t - um, etc.

1.2. The past conditional is identical in form with the past habitual tense, but functions differently. It is used to express past action which was not realized:

If you had come before, I would not have gone.	apni jodi'age aśten'ta hole'ami jetum na"
---	--

1.3. The past conditional may be used on two types of constructions:

1.3.1. When the conditional clause of the sentence includes the conditional particle /jodi/. When /jodi/ is used, the past conditional is used in both clauses of the sentence; the second clause of the sentence is introduced by /ta hole/:

If he had given me the book, I would have read it.	śe amake'jodi boiṭa dito' ta hole'ami'oṭa poṛtum"
---	--

1.3.2. When the conditional aspect of the sentence is expressed by the non-finite conditional conjunctive stem-le. Since the conditional conjunctive is non-finite, the tense of the sentence is carried wholly by the finite past conditional verb in the second clause.

If he had given me the book, I would have read it.	śe amake'boiṭa dile'ami oṭa poṛtum"
---	--

2. Form possible Bengali sentences:

Clause I		Clause II
Subject	Modifier	Conditional	Object	Verb
ami tumi apni tāra śe apnara	śohore śekhane ekhane  paraśona kajṭa	jodi (na) aśt- jet- thakt-  śeś hoto korten śeś hoto korten	ta hole     amon katha take oṭa gan kobita śśuśtho klanto eśṇb tar śṇnge	bolt- (na)  dekht- śunt-  hot-  jant- jete partaśle gele thakle hole korle		bolt- dekht- śunt- hot- kort- jant- jete part-

Lesson 19, part 3. Patterns.

1. Pattern: sentence 1.

- a. Your city is a very beautiful place.
- b. Your Bengali conversation is very good.
- c. The habits of Bengalis are very good.
- d. Your room is very dirty.
- e. Your country is very uncivilized.

2. Pattern: sentence 2.

- a. If you had not come in the summer time, you would not have said such things.
- b. If you had heard me in class today, you would not have said such things.
- c. If you had lived in Calcutta, you would not have said such things.
- d. If my wife had cleaned it today, you would not have said such things.
- e. If you had come before the partition, you would not have said such things.

3. Pattern: sentence 3.

- a. Even if I had come in the winter time, I would have liked the city.
- b. Even if I had heard you in class, I would have liked your Bengali conversation.
- c. Even if I had lived in Calcutta, I would like Bengalis.
- d. Even if she had cleaned it today, it would have been dirty.
- e. Even if I had come before partition, I would have thought (use /bhab-/) it uncivilized.

4. Pattern: sentence 4.

- a. No, sir. If you had come in the winter, you would have been very cold.
- b. No, sir. If you had come to class, you would have heard very bad Bengali.
- c. No, sir. If you had lived there, you would have seen the bad habits of Bengalis.
- d. No, sir. If she had cleaned it, it would not be so filthy.
- e. No, sir. If you had come at that time, you would not have seen the city so dirty.

5. Pattern: sentence 5.

- a. Then is the place so cold in the winter?
- b. Then why is your Bengali so good out of class?
- c. Then are the habits of Bengalis so bad?
- d. Then are your habits so good?
- e. Then is the dirt the fault of the refugees?*

6. Pattern: sentence 6.

- a. Yes, when it gets cold, people stay in their houses.
- b. When I speak Bengali to you, I speak more easily.
- c. Yes, when you go to Bengal, you will see.
- d. Yes, when you come to see me again, you will see.
- e. Yes, when the refugees came, the city became dirty.

7. Pattern: sentence 7.

- a. But even if I had not come in the summer, I would not have been cold.
- b. But even if you had not learned to speak, your Bengali would be good.
- c. But even if I had not known so many Bengalis, I would have liked then.
- d. But even if your wife had cleaned, you smoke (/kha-/) cigarettes.
- e. But even if the refugees had not come, the bulls would be in the streets.

8. Pattern: sentence 8.

- a. How can you say that? If it were not so cold in the winter, more people would like the city.
- b. How can you say that? If I had not learned to speak Bengali, I would not know the language well.
- c. How can you say that? If you have not gone to Bengal, how can you know Bengalis?
- d. That is true. If I did not smoke so many cigarettes, perhaps my room would be neater.
- e. How can you say that? If there were not so many people the city would be clean.

9. Pattern: sentence 9.

- a. Look, if people did not like the place, they would not come here.

---

* a possible construction is /ta hole nonra rephiuji der doše hoeche/.

- b. Look, if people do not learn to read Bengali, they do not know the language.
- c. Look, if there were not so many Bengalis here, I would not know them so well.
- d. Yes. If you did not smoke so many cigarettes, your room would be cleaner.
- e. Look, if people would abandon their bad habits, the city would be cleaner.

10. Pattern: sentence 11.

- a. Still, if we could prevent people from coming here in the winter, we would do so.
- b. Still, if we could prevent people from learning only reading, we would teach them better Bengali.
- c. Still, if Bengalis would stop talking of Bengal, they would be more popular.
- d. If I would stop my cigarette smoking, my wife would be happier.
- e. If you would tell us how to prevent people from sleeping on the streets, we would be very happy.

11. Pattern: sentence 12.

- a. I don't consider that coming here in the winter is so bad.
- b. I don't consider that speaking a language is enough.
- c. I don't consider that speaking of one's own country is so bad.
- d. I don't consider that smoking cigarettes is good.
- e. I don't consider that stopping people sleeping on the street is enough.

12. Pattern: sentence 14.

- a. Can you imagine, if someone from Ceylon came here in the winter, what he would say?
- b. Can you imagine, if someone could not speak a language, what people would say?
- c. Can you imagine, if you talked only about your country, what people would say?
- d. Can you imagine, if you smoked cigars, what your wife would say?
- e. Can you imagine, if people slept on the streets of New York, what people would say?

Lesson 19, part 4. Sentence Drills.

--Nareshbabu, your Calcutta is a very beautiful city.

- Mr. Jones, if you had lived in Citupr Road or in Sealdah (/séalda/), you would not have said that.
- Even if I had lived in those places, people would have taken care of me.
- If you had not lived in Park Street, you would certainly have become ill.
- Even though I lived in Park Street, I became ill.
- Then why do you think that Calcutta is such a pleasant place?
- Even if I had found it ugly, I would have liked it.
- But there are so many people. If there were not so many people, the city would be cleaner.
- If the city were cleaner, it would not be such an interesting place.
- Mr. Jones, you are a strange American.

Drill 2

- That is a big old house.
- Yes, Rabindranath Tagore and his family used to live in that house.
- Really? If we had lived fifty years ago, perhaps we would have come to see him there.
- Yes, if we had lived in those days, perhaps we would have been invited to meet him.
- I have heard that there used to be two hundred people in his family.
- Yes, and they all lived here. We would have been very fortunate, if we had been born into that family.
- Why would we have been so fortunate?.
- Because we would have grown up among writers and painters and musicians.
- But it is not always good to be surrounded by great men.
- Why do you say that? If we had lived in this house, we would ourselves be great writers or painters.
- Perhaps not. If our friend Satyen (/sätten/) had not been the son of a great painter, perhaps he would be a better painter today.

Lesson 19, part 5. Vocabulary.

jaega	place	gire thak-	be surrounded
śilpi,		poribeśṭito thakkolaśilpi	artist	jonma-	be born śaṅgitoggō	musician	baṛo ha-	grow up
aśukh	illness	gore oṭh-	be built up nonra	dirt, filth	bhab-	consider
dos	fault	śigaret kha-	smoke cigarettes

śundor	beautiful	nimontrito
ṇśustho	ill	amontrito	invited ṇdbhut
ajob	strange
mṇhot	great
bhaggoban	fortunate, lucky
śotti	really, truly
śṇb śṇmoe	always

Note:

He becomes ill.	tini ṇśustho hṇn
	tār ṇśukh kṇre

Lesson 20, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and translation	Bengali
1. high stem of verb /de-/, "give" 2nd person singular imperative ending future imperative, "give"; see Grammar, 1.	di- দি- -o -ও dio দিও
A. When you go to Calcutta, give this money to my brother.	A. তুমি কলকাতাতে গিয়ে আমার ভাইকে এই টাকাগুলো দিও ।  tumi ' kolkatate gie ' amar bhaike ' ei takagulo ' dio "
2. Note that /hole/ is not conditional here. The conditional conjunctive can be translated by "when", depending on context.
B. All right. And when I meet your brother, shall I tell him anything?	B. আচ্ছা , আর তোমার ভাইয়ের সঙ্গে দেখা হলে তাকে কিছ্ বলবো কি ?  accha " ar tomar bhaier sange ' dekha hole ' take kichu ' bolbo ki "
(a)
3. A. No, just give the money to him.	A. না , কেবল তাকে টাকাগুলো দিও ।  na ' kebol take ' takagulo dio " variant stem of verb /ne-/, "take" 2nd person singular imperative ending present imperative "take"	na- না- -o -ও nao নাও verb stem, "place, guard, keep"

2nd person present imperative, "guard"

"carefully"

rakh- রাখrakho রাখো

śabdthane সাবধানে

(b)

A. Take the money in a box and guard it carefully.

A. তুমি টাকাগুলো কোন বাস্তুতে নাও আর সাবধানে রাখো ।

tumi takagulo ' kono baksote nao ' ar śabdthane rakho "

conjunctive, "that,
lest"; see Lesson 21,
Grammar, 2.

verb stem, "be lost"

jano যেন

hara- হারা-

(c)

A. See that it doesn't get lost (i.e., keep it carefully lest it get lost).

A. দেখ যেন হারায় না ।

dækho jano ' harae na "

4. high stem of verb
/kha-/, "eat"
2nd person singular
imperative ending future imperative, "eat"
"how, how about that?"

khe- খে-

-o -ও kheo খেও

kamon কেমন

B. All right. But before I leave the country, come to my house and eat one day.
How about it?

B. আচ্ছা । কিন্তু আমার দেশ ছাড়ার আগে
তুমি আমার বাড়িতে এসে একদিন খেও , কেমন ?

accha " kintu ' amar deś charar age ' tumi amar barite ese ' akdin kheo " kamon "

5. "instead" baron বরং

A. No, instead, you eat with us tomorrow.

A. না , তুমি বরং , আগামী কাল আমাদের সঙ্গে খেও ।

na ' tumi baron ' agami kal amader sange ' kheo "

A. I am going now, OK?

A. এখন চলি, কেমন?

ekhon coli 'kaemon "

6. noun, "rain"
high stem of verb
/ja/, "go"
2nd person singular
future imperative, "go" brísti বরিস্টি

je- যে-

jeo যেও

B. No, don't go home in this rain.

B. না, এই বরিস্টিতে বাড়ী যেও না। na 'ei brístite 'bari jeo na "

B. Instead stay here today.

B. এখানে বরং আজ থাকো।

ekhane baron 'aj thako "

7. verb stem, "stop"
compound verb stem,
"come to a stop"

tham- থাম-

theme as- থেমে আস-

A. Look, the rain outside has almost stopped.

A. দেখ, বাইরে বরিস্টি থাম থেমে এসেছে। dakho 'baire 'brísti prae 'theme esheche "

"umbrella"

chata ছাতা

"easily (without difficulty)"

onaease অনায়াসে

A. Only give me an umbrella, then I'll be able to get home easily.

A. আমাকে কেবল একটা ছাতা দাও, তা হলেই আমি অনায়াসে বাড়ী যেতে পারবো। amake kebol 'ekta chata dao 'ta holei 'ami onaease 'bari jete parbo "

8. B. I have no umbrella.

B. আমার তো কোনো ছাতা নেই। amar to 'kono chata nei "

"raincoat"

barsati বর্ষাতি

- B. Take my raincoat instead. B. তুমি বরং আমার বর্ষাতিটা নিয়ে যাও । tumi boron ' amar borsatita ' nie jao "
9. A. Good. In that case, give me your raincoat. A. বেশ । তা হলে তোমার বর্ষাতিটা দাও । bes " ta hole ' tomar borsatita dao "
- A. I shall return it tomorrow morning. A. কাল সকালে আমি ফেরত দোবো । kal sokale ' ami pherot dobo "
10. high stem of verb
 /ken-/, "buy"
 2nd person singular future imperative, "buy" kin- কিনkino কিনো
- B. All right. Before you come tomorrow, buy these things for me, OK? B. আচ্ছা । কাল আসবার আগে আমার জন্যে এই জিনিসগুলো কিনো , কেমন ?
accha " kal asbar age ' amar jonne ei jinisgulo ' kino " kemon " 11. A. Look, tomorrow I will not have the time. A. দেখ , আমার তো কাল সময় হবে না । dækho ' amar to kal ' somoe habe na "
- "self"; see Grammar, 4.
 high stem of verb
 /an-/, "bring, fetch"
 2nd person singular
 future imperative,
 "bring, fetch" nije, nijei নিজে , নিজেই
 -en এন-
 eno এনো
- A. Instead, go and get them yourself. A. তুমি বরং নিজে গিয়ে কিনে এনো । tumi boron ' nije gie kine eno " 12. B. All right. Then I shall go myself. B. আচ্ছা , তা হলে আমি নিজেই যাবো । accha " ta hole ' ami nijei jabo "

Lesson 20, part 2. Grammar.

1. Formation and use of the future imperative. As there is no future imperative in English, both present and future imperatives in Bengali have only one translation.

1.1. The future imperative of the 2nd person ordinary of all verbs is formed by the addition of the 2nd person imperative ending /-o/ to the high stem, thus:

Stem	Gloss	Future Imperative
ken-	buy	kin-o
dækh-	see	dekh-o
kɔr-	do	kor-o
śon-	hear	śun-o
jan-	know	jen-o
de-	give	di-o
ja-	go	je-o
dækha-	show	dekhi-o

1.2. The future imperative in the honorific form is identical with the simple future honorific:

ken-	buy	kinben
------	-----	--------

1.3. The future imperative is used to indicate that a command or wish is to be carried out at some future time, thus:

After eating, read this.	khabar por'eṭa poro
When you get there, call him.	śekhane poũche'take ḍeko"

1.4. Be wary of the use of negatives with imperative expressions. The negative imperative will be treated in Lesson 21.

2. The formation of "adverbs" in Bengali.

2.1. The class of words called "adverbs" by western grammarians is sometimes paralleled in Bengali by a formation consisting of a noun or adjective with the suffix /-e/ or the suffix /bhabe/. Of the former type we have two examples in this lesson:

carefully, care	śabdhan
carefully, (in care)	śabdhane easy, ease	śohoj
easily, in ease	śohoje

2.2. The suffix /-bhabe/ means "in the condition of". Therefore:

silence, silent	mouno
silently, (in a condition of silence)	mounobhabe

This /-bhabe/ formation is more frequent in śadhu-bhaśa or literary Bengali than it is in the colloquial language. Note that the two morphs, /-e/ and -/bhabe/, are not always substitutable for one another.

3. The particle /to/.

3.1. The particle /to/ has a great variety of uses. It sometimes implies doubt on the part of the speaker. But perhaps the most common use is a purely stylistic one: the particle is used in the sentence simply because it sounds good to the ear of the speaker. There has been much speculation on the use of this particle, some people feeling that it is used to lengthen a breath-group to proper portions. But it seems as if all that can be said about it is that it has an esthetic rather than a semantic value. Thus, its use is difficult to teach. The student will simply have to listen to enough Bengali to allow his ear to become sufficiently adjusted to the rhythms of the language to tell him when the particle should be used.

3.2. It should be noted, however, that in some cases /to/ does have definite assignable semantic value. For example, it can have the force of the English expressions "so, at any rate, whatever else happens", as:

So you'll go anyway.	apni to jaben"
So you'll go whether anyone else else goes or not.
So you're well?	apni bhalo achen to"
You're well, aren't you?

Take careful note of the intonation of the above expressions.

3.3. The particle may have the force of "since, but, although" relating to the previous and subsequent utterances in the discourse.

An example of this is in sentence 8.

But/since I have no umbrella, amar to'kono chata nei'baron amar take my raincoat instead barśatita nao"

3.4. The particle may also function for /ta hole/:

If you will come tomorrow, tumi jodi'kal aśo'to bhalo hae"
that will be good.

4. The use of /nije/.

The form /nije/, "self", is uninflected for person (though it agrees in case with its noun or pronoun, as we shall see), and can be used with all nouns or pronouns:

I myself shall go. ami nije jabo"
You yourself buy it. tumi jije oṭa keno"

Lesson 20, part 3. Patterns.

1. Pattern: sentence 1.

- a. If you go to Delhi, take this letter to my sister.
- b. If you go to Calcutta, take this book to my father.
- c. If you go to Calcutta, send these things to my brother.
- d. If you go to Delhi, tell my brother that I am well.
- e. If you go to Calcutta, tell my brother that I shall come home soon.

2. Pattern: sentence 2.

- a. When I meet your sister, what should I tell her?
- b. When I take the book to your father, shall I take him anything else?
- c. When I send them to your brother, shall I send him a letter also?
- d. When I meet your brother, shall I give him anything from you?
- e. When I meet your brother, shall I ask him to send you anything?

3. Pattern: sentence 3(a).

- a. Nothing. Just take the letter to her.
- b. No, just take the book to him.
- c. No, but bring back a letter from him.
- d. No, just tell him that he must write soon.
- e. No, just go and meet him.

Pattern: sentence 3(b).

- a. Take the letter with you and guard it carefully.
- b. It is a valuable book; guard it carefully.
- c. Bring the letter carefully; see that it doesn't get lost.
- d. Tell him that I want a letter from him; see that he understands.
- e. Tell him that I will write him soon.

4. Pattern: sentence 4.

- a. All right. But before I go to Delhi, come to my house and see me.
- b. All right. But before I leave Delhi, come to my house and bring the book.
- c. All right. But before I go to Calcutta, go and tell Ram that I want to see him.
- d. All right. But before I reach Delhi, call your brother and tell him that I am coming.
- e. All right. But before I leave here, come and give me your brother's address.

5. Pattern: sentence 5.

- a. No, instead, you come to my house. Now I have to go home.
- b. All right. I shall come tonight. Now I have to go home.
- c. No, instead you go and see Ram. Now I have to go home.
- d. No, instead you call him when you reach Delhi. Now I have to go home.
- e. No, instead you come to my house. Now I have to go home.

6. Pattern: sentence 6.

- a. No, don't go outside in this rain. Stay here for a while.
- d. No, don't come tonight. Come and stay tomorrow night.
- c. No, don't go outside in this heat. Stay here today.
- d. No, don't go outside without a hat. Take my hat.
- e. No, don't go home now. Stay here tonight.

7. Pattern: sentence 7.

- a. Look, the rain has stopped. Only give me a little money, and I'll be able to get home on the tram.
- b. Look, I must come tonight. Only give me your key, and I will come and wait for you.
- c. Look, the heat outside is not so bad. Only give me your hat, and I'll be able to get home easily.

- d. Look, the sun is not hot. Only give me a piece of cloth and I'll be able to get home easily.
- e. Look, I have to go now. Only give me your address, and I'll be able to come back easily.

8. Pattern: sentence 8.

- a. I have no money. Walk instead.
- b. I have no key. Come tomorrow night instead.
- c. I have no hat. Take my umbrella instead.
- d. I have no cloth. Take my hat instead.
- e. I have no pencil. You write it down instead.

9. Pattern: sentence 9.

- a. In that case, give me your umbrella. I will return it tomorrow night.
- b. In that case, give me your brother's key. I will return it tonight.
- c. In that case, give me your umbrella. I will return it tomorrow.
- d. In that case, give me your umbrella. I will return it soon.
- e. In that case, give me your pen. I will return it immediately.

10. Pattern: sentence 10.

- a. All right. Before you come tomorrow, call me at the office.
- b. All right. Before you come back, call my brother and tell him.
- c. All right. Before you return it, call me at home.
- d. All right. Before you come back, buy these things for me.
- e. All right. Before you write, shake the pen.

11. Pattern: sentence 11.

- a. No, I will not have the time. Call me yourself.
- b. No, I will not be able to. Call him yourself.
- c. No, I will not be able to call. Call me yourself.
- d. No, I will not have the time. Buy them yourself.
- e. No, shake it yourself.

Lesson 20, part 4. Sentence Drills.

Drill 1

- When you come to my house tomorrow, bring your sitar with you.
- All right. Shall I also return the book you gave me?

- No, I don't want the book. Just bring the sitar. We'll listen to some music.
- All right. You bring the food tomorrow night, and I'll bring my instrument.
- When you get home, ask Mathur whether or not he will come.
- I won't see him tonight. He has gone to a movie.
- Then ask him when you see him in class tomorrow.
- All right. Come and eat with me tomorrow night, before the party.
- No, I can't. My friends are coming. You come and eat with us instead.
- Perhaps. I'll tell you tomorrow.
- All right. Tell me tomorrow.

Drill 2

- Tipu, when you finish cooking, shine my shoes.
- Yes, saheb, when I finish cooking, I shall shine your shoes.
- When you finish shining my shoes, go to the market. And when you go, don't put any money in your own pocket.
- Yes, saheb, I shall go to the market. I shall not steal any money.
- When you get back from the market, clean the room.
- Yes, Saheb, when I get back, I shall clean the room.
- When you finish cleaning the room, make some luci.
- Yes, saheb, I shall make some luci for you.
- After that, I want you to clean the brassware.
- Yes, saheb, I shall clean the brassware.
- All right. Have you anything to say?
- Yes, saheb, starting tomorrow, find another bearer.

Lesson 20, part 5. Vocabulary.

ranna	cooking
paliś	shine, polish
kāśar-baśon	brassware
thikana	address
roddur	heat (of day), sunshine
ṭupi	hat
ṭram (gaṛi)	tram
cabi	key
ækkhana kapoṛ	piece of cloth
kōlom	pen

dani valuable poriśkar korjhar pherot de clean shake (an object) return (an object)

kal theke

from tomorrow

Lesson 21, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and translation

Bengali

1. Note the use of /amader/ without a noun or post-position; substitutable would be /amader sange/, /amader barite/, etc.
The negative particle /na/ with present imperative:
"why don't you ..."
"why don't you stay ..."      thako na থাকো না
- A. Bob, why don't you stay here with us today?      A. বব , আজ আমাদের এখানে থাকো না ?
bob ' aj amader ekhane ' thako na "
2. "objection"      apotti আপত্তি
- B. Look, Faruk, I have no objection, but do you know ...      B. দেখে ফারুক , আমার তো কোন আপত্তি নেই । তবে কি জানো ...
dækho pharuk ' amar to ' kono apotti nei " tōbe ki jano ...
3. noun, "matter, trouble"
"why don't you tell ..."
emphatic      bæpar ব্যাপার bolo na বলো না
boloi na বলোই না
- A. Why don't you say what the trouble is?      A. কি ব্যাপার বলোই না ?
ki bæpar ' boloi na "
4. "again and again"
"ever"; see Grammar, 2.
"village"      barbar বারবার jæno abar যেন আবার
gã গাঁ
- The negative particle /na/ with future imperative = negative imperative, "Do not ...".

"Do not stay ..."

theko na থেকো না

B. Mr. Dunn has said again and again, "Do not ever stay in a village at night."

B. মিস্টার ডান বারবার বলে দিয়েছেন 'রাত্রে যেন আবার গাঁয়ে থেকো না ।' mistar dan ' barbar bole diechen ' rate ' jano abar ' gāe theko na "

5. A. Why is that?

A. কেন বলো তো ?

kæno bolo to "

6. "very great" (emphatic of /bɔ̃ro/)
noun, "inconvenience"
"apart from that"

bɔ̃dɔ̃do বড়ো
ɔ̃subidhe অসুবিধে
ta chara তা ছাড়া

B. He was saying, "In the village there is very great difficulty of food and accomodation, and apart from that ..."

B. তিনি বলেছিলেন, 'গাঁয়ে থাকা খাওয়ার বড়ো অসুবিধে, তা ছাড়া ...'

tini bolchilen ' gāe thaka khaoar ' bɔ̃dɔ̃do ɔ̃subidhe " ta chara ...

7. Note the word order. The place of the pronoun subject is a matter of style.

A. What did he say apart from that?

A. তা ছাড়া আর কি বলেছেন তিনি ?

ta chara ' ar ki bolechen tini "

8. "snake"
"snakes and other such things"
"very much" (used with quantities measurable but not countable) noun, "trouble, danger, disturbance"

śāp সাপ

śāp-khop, śāp-tap সাপখোপ, সাপ-টাপ bejae বেজায়

upodrob উপদ্রব

- B. He was saying that in the village there is lots of trouble with snakes and such.
- B. তিনি বলছিলেন যে গাঁয়ে সাপ-খোপের বেজায় উপদ্রব ।
tini bolchilen je ' gāe ' sāp-khoper ' bejae upodrob "
9. "perhaps"
- A. Look, perhaps he's right about that.
- A. দেখ , তা তিনি হয়তো ঠিকই বলেছেন । dækho ' ta tini hōeto ' thiki bolechen "
- A. But still, we live among the snakes and such.
- A. তবে আমরা তো সাপ-খোপের মাঝেই বাস করছি ।
tōbe amra to ' sāp-khoper majhei ' baś korchi " 10. B. That's true. But do you know ...
- B. তা ঠিক । তবে কি জানো ...
ta thik " tōbe ki jano ...
11. reflexive pronoun, "one's self" Note agreement with noun or pronoun.
- A. I understand -- you yourself will be greatly inconvenienced, isn't that it?
- A. বুঝেছি -- তোমার নিজের খুব অসুবিধে হবে , তাই না ?
bujechi " tomar nijer ' khub ōsubidhe hōbe ' tai na "
12. For uses of /kōtha/, see Grammar, 3.
- B. No, no, I'm not thinking about inconvenience.
- B. না , না , আমি অসুবিধের কথা ভাবছি না । na na ' ami ' ōsubidher kōtha ' bhabchi na " 13. compound verb stem, "spend (time)"
- kaṭie ja-, kaṭa- কাটিয়ে যা- , কাটা-

- A. In that case, why don't you spend the night here with me?
- A. তা হলে , রাতটা আমার এখানে কাটিয়ে যাও না ?
ta hole ' ratta ' amar ekhane ' katie jao na " 14. "true, honest"
- aśol আসল
- B. All right, Faruk; in that case, let me tell you the true story.
- B. দেখ ফারুক , তা হলে আসল কথাটা বলি । dekho pharuk " ta hole ' aśol kothata boli " 15. A. What's the matter then?
- A. কি ব্যাপার বলো তো ?
ki bāpar bolo to "
16. "belly, stomach"
 "today, these days"
- pet পেট
 aj আজ
- B. My stomach is very bad these days.
- B. আমার পেটটা আজ বেজায় খারাপ । amar petta ' aj bejae kharap "
- B. And do you know what the doctor said to me?
- B. আর ডাক্তার আমাকে কি বলেছে , জানো ?
ar ' daktar amake ' ki boleche jano " 17. A. What did the doctor say?
- A. ডাক্তার কি বলেছে ?
daktar ' ki boleche "
18. Note use of /jano/; see Grammar, 2.
 "this and that"-- derogatory feeling
- ja-ta যা-তা
- B. The doctor told me, "Look, don't go into a village and eat this and that."
- B. ডাক্তার বলে দিয়েছে , 'দেখ , গাঁয়ে গিয়ে যেন যা-তা খেও না ।' daktar bole dieche ' dekho ' gāe gie jano ' ja-ta kheo na "

- A. Look, Bob, don't pay so much attention to Mr. Dunn's stories.
- A. দেখ বব , ডান সাহেবের কথায় অত কান দিও না । dækho bɔb ' dan śaheber kɔthae ' o to kan dio na "
- A. Listen to me a minute.
- A. আমার একটা কথা শোনো । amar ækta kɔtha ' śono " 24. B. What is it?
- B. কি কথা বলো তো ?
ki kɔtha bolo to "
25. For this use of /kɔtha/, see Grammar, 3.
 "east"
 "know this for sure, believe me"
- purbo, pub পূর্ব , পূব
 e kɔtha jeno এ কথা জেনো
- A. Believe me, it's important that you spend a little time in an East Bengal village.
- A. এ কথা জেনো যে তোমার পূর্ব বাংলার গাঁয়ে কিছুকাল কাটানো দরকার । e kɔtha jeno je ' tomar ' purbo banlar gāe ' kichukal kaṭano ' dorkar " 26. B. Why?
- B. কেন বলো তো ?
kæno bolo to "
27. "exactly, perfectly"
 "exactly, perfectly"
- ṭhik ঠিক
 ṭhikbhabe ঠিকভাবে
- A. Because you want to know East Bengal thoroughly.
- A. কারণ তুমি তো পূর্ব বাংলাকে ঠিকভাবে জানতে চাও । karon ' tumi to purbo banlake ' ṭhikbhabe jante cao " 28. B. Right.
- B. তুমি যা বলছো তা ঠিক । tumi ja bolcho ' ta ṭhik "
- B. But I'm not coming here again in the rainy season.
- B. তবে বর্ষাকালে আর এখানে আসছি না । tɔbe ' bɔrśa kale ' ar ekhane ' aschi na "

29. A. OK, next time come in the cool season.

A. বেশ , তা হলে , পরের বার শীত কালে এসো ।

beś ' ta hole ' porer bar ' śit kale ' eśo "

A. And bring your wife then too.

A. আর তখন তোমার স্ত্রীকেও এনো ।

ar tōkhon ' tomar strikeo ' eno "

30. B. Yes, I'll bring her then.

B. হ্যাঁ , তাই আনবো ।

hã ' tai anbo "

31. A. Good. Then let's go to my house now.

A. বেশ । তা হলে এখন আমার বাড়ীতে চলো ।

beś " ta hole ' ækhon ' amar barite colo "

loan word, "train"

tren ট্রেন

loan word, "ticket"

tiket টিকেট

A. Buy the train ticket tomorrow instead.

A. কাল বরং ট্রেনের টিকেটটা কিনো । kal baron ' trener tiketta ' kino "

32. B. Let's go.

B. চলো যাই ।

colo jai "

Lesson 21, part 2. Grammar.

1. Negative imperatives.

1.1. It was noted in Lesson 20 that the future imperative (high stem plus imperative endings) can be used to indicate an action that is to be carried out at some future time. Imperatives both present and future can be used with the negative particle /na/; in such cases, however, the logic of English grammar cannot be applied. The situation is as follows:

1.2. A negative form of the future imperative indicates a prohibition in either present or future time. Examples are sentences 4, 18, 21, 23; other examples:

take'kichu dio na" Don't (ord.) give him anything.
 tar kachtheke'kichu kino na" Don't (ord.) buy anything from him.

1.3. The use of the negative particle /na/ with the present imperative indicates a positive request, which might be translated by the English "Why don't you ..."; for example:

oṭa dao na" Why don't you give it (to me)?
 śṇdeśṭa khao na" Why don't you eat the śandeś (i.e., please eat it)?

1.4. The same situation holds for the honorific imperative:

kichu khan na" Why don't you eat something?
 kichu khaben na" Don't eat anything (with intonation of command).

1.5. Pay special attention to the taped drills. It will be clear that intonation helps to make clear the distinction between command and request.

1.6. The form /khabe na/ can be used to specify a future negative ordinary; but the same distinction exists between /kheo na/ and /khabe na/ as in English between "do not do something" and "you will not do something", the latter being a command made in the form of a statement. Such a form can be used only in certain situations, as when speaking to a subordinate in rank.

2. The form /jæno/, as in sentence 4.

/jæno/ as used here is a difficult form to translate. The significance is, in sentence 4, "see that you don't have to stay ...", "take care lest you stay ...". Another example:

take khṇborṭa'jæno deoa na (Take care) lest he be given the news.
 hṇe" (See that) he is not given the news.

See also Lesson 20, part 1, sentence 3.

3. The form /kṇtha/:

Again, the word varies rather widely in terms of lexical meaning.

3.1. It can mean "about, relating to", and in such cases can be replaced by /biśṇe/ or /śṇmondhe/. Sentence 12 could read, without change of meaning:

ami'ṅśubidher biśṅe'bhabchi na"

3.2. It can mean, literally, "story" or "word", as in sentence 14.
Another example:

śotti, śottikṅtha                      truth, (lit. "true word")

3.3. It can mean, as a noun, "matters" (or as in the general sense in English, "things"); see for example sentences 21, 25.

4. You will have realized by this time that there are in Bengali a large number of what might be called "filler words" which sometimes have definable lexical meaning and sometimes not. A Bengali speaker will sometimes say in regard to these words that there is a slight emotional content which is lent to the utterance by their use, but that this content is very difficult to specify. In other words, by leaving them out, literal meaning is not changed, but some suggestive element is lost. Such words are /to/, which we have met frequently before, and, as in sentence 4 here, /abar/. By omitting /abar/ in sentence 4, the meaning of the utterance would remain the same, but an overtone would be lost. It is difficult, if not impossible, to teach students when to use these forms. Their use has to do with the natural rhythm of the language, a sense of which can be gained only by listening to Bengali speakers over a long period of time.

5. Any word in Bengali can be reduplicated, the second part beginning with /ṭ/. Examples:

boi-ṭoi	"books and such"
dækha-ṭækha	"looking around and so on"
āttio-ṭāttio	"relatives and such"

Frequently this type of reduplication indicates a slightly derogatory or informal attitude on the part of the speaker.

5.1. There are more polite and formal ways to express "and such"; polite forms of the above would be:

dækha-śakha	"looking around and so on"
āttio-śṅjon	"relatives and such"

Lesson 21, part 3. Patterns.

1. Pattern: sentence 1.

- a. Why don't you spend the night here with us?
- b. Why don't you spend some time in Bengal with us?
- c. Why don't you spend the week there with them?
- d. Why don't you rest here a while with us?
- e. Why don't you come and live with us?

2. Pattern: sentence 2 and 4.

- a. I have no objection; but my father has said, "See that you do not stay out tonight."
- b. I have no objection; but my instructions are: "See that you do not stay too long in one place."
- c. I have no objection; but my father has said, "See that you do not go to their house."
- d. I have no objection; but my mother has said: "See that you do not delay at all."
- e. I have no objection; but my father has said: "See that you do not stay outside the hostel."

3. Pattern: sentence 5 and 8.

- a. Why is that? Does he think there are dangers here?
- b. Why is that? Does he think that there are lots of dangers in Bengal?
- c. Why is that? Does he think that there will be trouble at their house?
- d. Why is that? Does she think that there is inconvenience to us?
- e. Why is that? Does he think that there is danger in staying outside the hostel?

4. Pattern: sentence 9.

- a. Yes, and perhaps he's right. You live among snakes and other such things.
- b. Yes, and perhaps he's right. There are lots of dangers of snakes and such.
- c. Yes, and perhaps he's right. They live in the middle of a constant uproar.
- d. Yes, and perhaps he's right. You live with all kinds of relatives and such.
- e. Yes, and perhaps he's right. There are dangers from robbers and such.

5. Pattern: sentence 11.

- a. I understand. He thinks that you yourself will be greatly inconvenienced; isn't that it?
- b. I understand. He thinks that we ourselves will be inconvenienced; isn't that it?
- c. I understand. He doesn't think that they themselves will be inconvenienced, does he?
- d. I understand. She thinks that we ourselves will be inconvenienced; is that it?
- e. I understand. He doesn't think that we ourselves will be inconvenienced, does he?

6. Pattern: sentence 12.

- a. No, he's not thinking about my own inconvenience.
- b. No, he's not thinking about inconvenience at all.
- c. No, he's not thinking about their own inconvenience.
- d. No, she's not thinking about your own inconvenience.
- e. No, he's not thinking about anyone's inconvenience.

7. Pattern: sentence 13.

- a. In that case, why don't you stay here with us?
- b. In that case, why don't you spend some time in Bengal with us?
- c. In that case, why don't you stay with them?
- d. In that case, why don't you stay here a while?
- e. In that case, why don't you stay here; there are no dangers.

8. Pattern: sentence 14, 16, 18.

- a. All right. Let me tell you the true story. My stomach is very bad. The doctor told me: "Don't eat this and that."
- b. All right. Let me tell you the true story. My health is bad, and the doctor told me: "Don't stay in hot places."
- c. All right. Let me tell you the true story. My health is bad, and the doctor told me: "Don't go where there is trouble."
- d. All right. Let me tell you the truth. My mother is angry, and she told me: "Don't go to Kabir's house."
- e. All right. Let me tell you the truth. My father doesn't like you; he told me: "Don't go and stay with them."

9. Pattern: sentence 19.

- a. Why will you eat this and that? You will eat good food.
- b. Why does he say that? In Bengal the weather will not be hot.

- c. Why does he say that? There will be no trouble at his house.
- d. Why does she say that? In my house we will feed you well.
- e. Why does he say that? In our house perhaps you will be very happy?

10. Pattern: sentence 20.

- a. But won't you be inconveniencing yourselves on my account?
- b. But you should not inconvenience yourselves on my account.
- c. But they should not inconvenience themselves on my account.
- d. But don't inconvenience yourselves on my account.
- e. But you will inconvenience yourselves on my account.

11. Pattern: sentence 21.

- a. Don't even consider such things.
- b. There will be no inconvenience for us; don't even consider it.
- c. Don't worry about all that.
- d. Don't even talk about it.
- e. Don't even mention such things.

Pattern: sentence 23.

- a. Don't pay so much attention to the doctor's stories.
- b. Don't pay so much attention to his stories.
- c. Don't pay so much attention to his stories; listen to me a minute.
- d. Don't pay any attention to such things.
- e. Don't pay any attention to such stories.

12. Pattern: sentence 25.

- a. Believe me, I know it's important for me to spend some time in a Bengal village.
- b. Believe me, I think it's necessary for me to spend some time in Bengal.
- c. Believe me, I know it's necessary for me to spend a little time there
- d. Believe me, you know I want to spend a little time with you.
- e. Believe me, you know that I think it's necessary for me to spend a little time in a village.

Pattern: sentence 27.

- a. I want to know Bengal thoroughly.
- b. I want to know one part of India thoroughly.

- c. I want to know them well.
- d. I want to know you better.
- e. I want to know village life thoroughly.

Lesson 21, part 4. Sentence Drills.

Drill 1

- Don't take all those things to India. You won't need them.
- But everyone says: "Do take that with you," or "Won't you take this to my friend in Bombay."
- Tell them that you cannot. Don't tell them that you are going to Bombay.
- What shall I take, then?
- Take only what you need. Many things you will be able to buy cheaply in India.
- What shall I eat in India?
- Do not eat uncooked things or drink water. Drink tea instead.
- But if someone says, "Why don't you eat this," what shall I do?
- Say that you are ill and cannot eat all those things.
- How shall I get a servant in India?
- After you reach India, write a letter to a friend of mine. He will give you the name of a good servant.
- If someone comes to the door, should I give him a job?
- No. Give a job only to someone whom you know.
- Where shall I live in Calcutta?
- Decide that after you reach there.

Drill 2

- What are you studying at the university?
- I'm studying Bengali literature.
- Have you read the poems of Chandidas? If not, do read them. They are very beautiful.
- Tell me the names of some other well-known Bengali writers.
- Read Rabindranath, of course. But don't read his work in English translation. Read it in Bengali.
- What other writers of that period should I read?
- Read Bankim-candra. Read Sarat-candra only afterwards.
- What writers of the older period should I read?
- Read Bharat-candra's Bidya-sundar (bidda-sundor). But don't expect it to be a religious poem.

--Should I read the Vaisnava writers also?

--Yes, their poetry is very sweet. But don't read Dina Candidas now.

--Why not?

--His poetry is very difficult. Read it after reading other Vaisnava poets.

Lesson 21, part 5. Vocabulary.

dor̥kar	need, necessity	ś̥sta	cheap
proeojon		ś̥sustho	ill
cakor	servant	namkora	well-known cakri	job	modhur	sweet
ciṭhi	letter	ś̥seddo	uncooked
dor̥ja	door	khuśi	happy
dhormer kobita	religious poem
nirdeś	instruction	aśa kor-	(to) hope, expect hostel	hostel, dormitory	cinta korjhamela		deri kor-	(to) delay
jhaṇjhaṭ	trouble muśkil
āttio-ś̥jon		b̥aron	instead
(polite)	relatives and such	tar b̥odole āttio-ṭāttio
ḍakat-ṭakat	robbers and such

Idioms:

agekar ś̥moe	older times
rege ache/en	is angry
haṭṭogoler majhkhane	in the middle of constant uproar

Lesson 22, part 1. Conversation.

Analysis and translation

Bengali

Note: the conversation is between two women.

1. verb stem, "eat"
causitive suffix for vowel-stems; see
Grammar, 1.
causative stem, "feed"
verbal noun suffix
"feeding"

kha- খা-
-oa- -ওয়া khaoa- খাওয়া-
-ba- -বা- khaoaba- খাওয়াবা-

- A. I heard that you have made arrangements to feed many people at Minu's wedding.

- A. আমি শুনলাম যে তোমরা মিনুর বিয়েতে অনেক লোকজন খাওয়াবার ব্যবস্থা করেছো। ami sunlum je ' tomra ' minur bieta ' anek lokjon ' khaoabar babostha ' korecho "

2. 3rd person nominative honorific pronoun; the reference here is clearly to the speaker's husband.
alternative form of causative verbal noun stem,
"feeding"; see Grammar, 1.
verb stem, "bring"
causative form of PAP,
"causing/having caused to bring"
"he has caused to be brought"; see Grammar, 1.3.

uni উনি khaoano- খাওয়ানো-
an- আন-
anie আনিয়ে
aniechen আনিয়েছেন

B. Yes, he has had many kinds of food and sweets brought from Calcutta to feed the people.

B. হ্যাঁ, উনি কলকাতা থেকে অনেক রকম খাবার ও মিষ্টি লোকজন খাওয়ানোর জন্যে আনিয়েছেন। hã ' uni kolkata theke ' onek rokom khabar o mišti ' lokjon khaoanor jonne ' aniechen "

3. type of śari made in Benares verb stem, "wear"
causative verb stem, "dress, cause to wear"
"you will dress"

benarośi বেনারসী

por- পর-

para- পরা-

porabe পরাবে

A. In which Benares śari will you dress Minu on her wedding night?

A. মিনুকে বিয়ের রাতে কোন বেনারসীটা পরাবে?

minuke ' bier rattre ' kon benarośita porabe "

4. "the other day"
"aunt" -- mother's sister verb stem, "send"
"(she) has sent"; see Grammar, 1.3.
verb stem, "see"
causative verb stem, "show" causative PAP, "showing, having shown"
"I have shown"
alternative objective case ending
"you (objective) "

śe din সে দিন maśi মাসী

paṭha- পাঠা-

paṭhieche পাঠিয়েছে

dakh- দেখdakha- দেখা- dekhie দেখিয়ে

dekhiechi দেখিয়েছি

-e -ট

tomae তোমায়

B. Have I shown you the red Benares śari which Minu's aunt sent the other day?

B. সে দিন যে লাল বেনারসীটা মিনুর মাসী পাঠিয়েছে সেটা কি তোমায় দেখিয়েছি। śe kin ' je lal benarośita ' minur maśi ' paṭhieche ' śeta ki ' tomae dekhiechi "

5. "day before yesterday" porśu পরশু

superlative degree, "best,
most of all", see Grammar, 3.

"is liked by her"

śob cee সব চেয়ে

or pochondo ওর পছন্দ

- A. Minu herself showed it to me day before yesterday;
Minu said she likes that sari best of all.

- A. প্রশ্ন মিন্‌ নিজেই আমাকে দেখিয়েছে মিন্‌ বললে এ শাড়ীটা ওর সবচেয়ে পছন্দ। porśu ' minu nijei ' amake dekhieche " minu bolle ' oi śarita or śob cee pochondo "

6. verb stem, "flatter, become (as clothes)"

mana- মানা-

- B. Do you think that the sari will become her?

- B. তোমার কি মনে হয় শাড়ীটা ওকে মানাবে ?

tomar ki mone hoe ' śarita
oke ' manabe "

7. verb stem, "dress"
conditional conjunctive,
"if you dress"
verb stem, "see, appear"
"you will cause to appear"
"rose-colored" loan word, "veil"

para- পরা- porale পরালে dækh- দেখdækhabe দেখাবে golapi গোলাপী

bhel ভেল

- A. If you dress her in that, you will make her appear most beautiful; if there were a rose-colored veil with it, it would be even better.

- A. ওটা পরালে ওকে খুব সুন্দর দেখাবে, এর সঙ্গে একটা গোলাপী ভেল হলে আরো ভালো হয়।

ota porale ' oke khub śundor dækhabe " er śonge ' ækta golapi bhel hole ' aro bhalo hoe "

8. informal address, used only between intimates;
see Grammar, 4.

go গো

pipes and drums played at weddings

nəhobət নহবত

verb stem, "bring"

an- আন-

causative verb stem
"cause to bring"

ana- আনা-

B. Yes. You are having the instruments brought, aren't you?

B. হ্যাঁগো , নহবত আনাচ্ছে না?

hãgo " nahobat ' anaccho na "

9. "husband's eldest brother"
causative verbal noun,
"causing to bring"
noun, "consent"
causative verb stem,
"cause to do"
"persuade"

boṭṭhakur বটঠাকুর anano আনানো

raji রাজী

kora- করা-

raji kora- রাজী করা-

A. (husband's eldest brother) and (husband's younger brother) both want to have the instruments brought, but he (i.e., speaker's husband) cannot be persuaded at all.

A. বটঠাকুর আর ঠাকুরপো দুজনেরই ইচ্ছে নহবত আনানোর কিন্তু ওকে কিছুতেই রাজী করানো যাচ্ছে না । boṭṭhakur ar ṭhakurpo ' dujoneri icche ' nahobat ananor ' kintu oke kichutei ' raji korano ' jacche na "

10. "seventy"
"eighty"
"bridegroom"
"trip, pilgrimage"
"traveller"
compound noun, "bridegroom's companions" verb stem, "sit"
causative verb stem,
"seat, cause to sit"

śottor সত্তর

aśi আশী bor বর

jattra যাত্রা

jattri যাত্রী

borjattri বরযাত্রী

boś- বস-

bośa- বসা-

B. I see. I hear that about seventy or eighty people are coming in the groom's party; where are you going to put them?

B. আচ্ছা , শুনছি দ্বায় সত্তর আশীজন বরযাত্রী আসছে , তা ওদের বসাতো কোথায় ?

accha " śunchi ' prae śottor aśijon borjattri aśche " ta oder bośaccho kothae "

11. diminutive suffix
"such a little"
"both ... and ... "
noun, "son-in-law"

-ṭuku -টুকু ætoṭuku এতটুকু

ba ... ba ... বা... বা ...

jamai জামাই

compound noun, "daughter and son-in-law"

verb stem, "rest,
lie down"

causative verb stem,
"cause to rest"

meejamai মেয়েজামাই

śo- শো-

śoa- শোয়া-

A. I'm also wondering about that -- both where in this little house I'm going to put the groom's party, and where I'm going to have the bride and groom rest.

A. আমিও তাই ভাবছি — এই এতটুকু বাড়ীতে
কোথায় বা বরযাত্রীদের বসাবো আর কোথায় বা মেয়েজামাইকে শোয়াবো । amio tai bhabchi ' ei etotuku barite ' kothae ba ' borjattrider bosabo ' ar kothae ba ' meejamaike śoabo "

12. "apart from that"

"young"

noun, "sleep"

verb stem, "lay (something)down"

causative, "cause to lay down, put to sleep"

causative, "cause to go to sleep, put to sleep";
see Grammar, 2.3.1.

"quiet, private"

ta chara তা ছাড়া

koci কচি

ghum ঘুম

par- পাড়-

para- পাড়া-

ghum para- ঘুম পাড়া- niribili নিরিবিলি

B. Apart from that, it would be a good thing if there were a secluded room in your house for putting the many little children to sleep.

B. তা ছাড়া , তোমাদের বাড়ীতে তো
ওনেকগুলো কচি বাচ্চা , তাদের ঘুম
পাড়াবার জন্যেও একটা নিরিবিলি ঘর হলে ভাল হয় ।

ta chara ' tomader barite to '
onekgulo koci bacca ' tader ghum parabar jonneo ' ækta niribili ghor hole ' bhalo hœ "

13. verb stem, "arrange,
put in order"

"what can be done"

gocha- গোছা-

ki kora jae কি করা যায়

A. You're right. If you could come one day, we both could arrange and prepare the rooms and see what could be done where.

14. "with my help, by means of me" verb stem, "laugh"
"cause to laugh"
"let it be"

B. You will arrange the house with my help. That makes me laugh.

15. post-position, "from" (a person); see Grammar, 5.
"insignificant"
noun, "help"

A. Why? Can't I get even this trifling little help from you?

16. expression of reproach
"neat, fastidious"
"untidy, sloppy"
"appropriate"
verb stem, "increase"
"(to) overrate (someone)"
-- lit. "increase the price of"

A. ঠিক বলেছো । তুমি যদি একদিন আসতে পারতে তা হলে দুজনে ঘরগুলো সাজিয়ে গুছিয়ে দেখতে পারতাম কোথায় কি করা যায় । thik bolecho "tumi jodi 'ækdin aste parte 'ta hole 'dujone 'ghorgulo sãjie guchie 'dekhte partam 'kothae 'ki kora jae "

amake die আমাকে দিয়ে has- হাসhasa- হাসা-

ja hok যা হোক

B. আমাকে দিয়ে ঘর গুছোবে । তুমি হাসালে যা হোক ।

amake die 'ghor guchobe "tumi hasale 'ja hok "

kach theke কাছ থেকে

samanno সামান্য

sahajjo সাহায্য

A. কেন ? তোমার কাছ থেকে কি আমি এই সামান্য সাহায্যটুকু পেতে পারি না ?

keno "tomar kach theke ki 'ami ei samanno sahajjotuku 'pete pari na "

chi chi ছি ছি gochal গোছাল

ogochal অগোছাল

upojukto উপযুক্ত

bara- বাড়ি-

dam barie de- দাম বাড়িয়ে দে-

B. Come now. It's not that. You overrate me, thinking it appropriate for a sloppy person like me to arrange the house.

B. ছি, ছি, তা নয়। আমার মত অগোছাল লোককে ঘর সাজানোর উপযুক্ত ভাবে তুমি আমার দাম বাড়িয়ে দিলে। chi chi ' ta nœ " amar moto ogochal lokke ' ghar sajanor upojukto bhebe ' tumi amar ' dam barie dile "

17. noun, "joke"
verb stem, "cry, weep"
causative, "cause to cry"

ṭhatṭa ঠাট্টা kāḍ- কাঁদ-kāḍa- কাঁদা-

A. It's not a joke; tell me when you are coming. But if it upsets the baby, don't come.

A. ঠাট্টা নয়, কখন আসছো বলো। তবে ছেলে কাঁদিয়ে এসো না। ṭhatṭa nœ " kōkhon aścho bolo " tobe chele kāḍie ' eśo na "

18. colloquial form, "night"
verb stem, "eat"
causative stem, "feed"
causative PAP, "having fed" compound stem, "cause to be fed"
"while listening"; see Grammar, 6.

rattir রাতির
kha- খা-
khaoa- খাওয়া-
khaie খাইয়ে
khaie de- খাইয়ে দে- śunte śunte শুনতে শুনতে

B. I can go tonight even; when I have the baby fed, he falls asleep while listening to a story from his father.

B. আজ রাতিরেই যেতে পারি, ছেলেটাকে খাইয়ে দিলে ওর বাবার কাছে গল্প শুনতে শুনতে ঘুমিয়ে পড়ে। aj rattirei jete pari " cheleṭake khaie dile ' or babar kache ' gōlpo śunte śunte ghumie

pore "

noun, "bother, nuisance"
causative verb stem,
"cause to take"
"will have to cause to take"; see Grammar, 7.
verb stem, "reach"
compound verb, "cause to reach"

jhamela জামেলা neoa- নেওয়া-
neoate hōbe নেওয়াতে হবে
poũcho-, poũcha- পৌছো-, পৌছা-
poũche de- পৌছে দে-

"will have to cause to reach"

poũche dite hobe পৌছে দিতে হবে

B. The bother will be only this, that you will have to have someone take me
and bring me back (i.e.,
"cause me to reach home").

B. বামোলা শুধু এই যে তোমাকে কাউকে
দিয়ে আমাকে নেওয়াতে হবে আর পৌছে দিতে হবে।

jhamela sudhu ei ' je tomake ' kauke die ' amake neoate hobe '
ar poũche dite hobe "

19. A. We'll talk about taking you home later; I'm wondering about who will bring you.

A. পৌছে দেবার কথা পরে হবে , কাকে দিয়ে তোমায় আনাই তাই ভাবছি। poũche debar katha ' pore hobe " kake die ' tomae anai ' tai bhabchi "

Lesson 22, part 2. Grammar.

1. Causative verbs.

1.1. It will have been noted that the causative stem is formed by the addition of /-a-/ to consonant-final stems, and /-oa-/ to vowel-finals. Thus:

Consonant stem:	por-	"wear"	Causative:	pora-	"cause to wear, dress"
	por-	"read"		pora-	"cause to read, teach"
Vowel stem:	kha-	"eat"	Causative:	khaoa-	"cause to eat, feed"
	ja-	"go"		jaoa-	"cause to go"

1.2. The causative verbal noun is formed by the addition of /-no/ to the stem + /a/ or /oa/ complex, thus:

dækha-	"show"	dækhano	"showing"
ana-	"bring"	anano	"bringing"
paoa-	"cause to get"	paoano	"causing to get"

1.2.1. The verbal noun suffix /-ba-/, used in the genitive, is also affixed to the stem + /a/ or /oa/:

pəra-	"dress"	pərabar	"of dressing"
khaoa-	"feed"	khaoabar	"of feeding"

1.2.2. The case endings are affixed to the /-a-/, /-oa-/, or /-ba-/ suffixes, as in other types of verbal nouns.

1.2.3. Tense suffixes for the simple tenses and conditional conjunctive suffix are added to the low stem + causative suffix complex.

dəkhabo	"I will show", etc.
bəśalum	"I caused to sit", etc.
kəracchi	"I am causing to do", etc.
jaoacchilum	"I was causing to go", etc.
khaoale	"If (I) feed"

1.3. Tenses formed on the base of the PAP (present completive, past completive), the PAP itself, and the future imperative are somewhat different.

1.3.1. The PAP is formed by the high stem of consonant-stem verbs, except where the stem-vowel is /a/, plus the suffix /-i-/ plus the PAP ending /-e/:

kena-	"cause to buy"	kinie	"having caused to buy"
kəra-	"cause to do"	korie	"having caused to do"

1.3.2. The PAP of consonant-final stems where the stem-vowel is /a/ and of vowel-final stems preserves the low stem, and adds the suffix /-i-/ and the PAP ending /-e/:

haśa-	"cause to laugh"	haśie	"having caused to laugh"
paoa-	"cause to get"	paie	"having caused to get"

1.3.3. The stems /de-/ and /ne-/ form a separate class, taking high stems /di-/ and /ni-/:

deoa	"cause to give"	diie	"having caused to give"
------	-----------------	------	-------------------------

1.3.4. The verb formations based on the PAP add the regular tense and personal ending complex to this causative PAP:

koriechi	"I have caused to do"
khachiechi	"I have fed"

1.3.5. The future imperative causitive adds the imperative ending /-o/ to the high stem + /i/ complex:

bośio	"seat (him)"
diio	"give (it)"

2. Non-causative derivative stems:

2.1. There is a class of verbs in Bengali which is derived from noun stems; the shape of the stem-forms of these verbs is CVCa-, or, sometimes in the colloquial, CVCo-. These are similar to causative stems in shape, but do not have causative meaning. Some of them we have already met, for example:

Noun	Gloss	Verb Stem	Gloss
ghum	sleep	ghumo-, ghuma-	(to) sleep
dour	run	douro-, दौरা-	(to) run

2.2. This class of verbs has several peculiar characteristics.

2.2.1. The non-finite PAP may be formed from either the CVCo- or CVC-stem:

śamlie or śamle	"having restrained"
poũchie or poũche	"having reached"

The stem /ghumo-/ forms a subclass; only /ghumie/ occurs in PAP.

2.2.2. /poũcho-/ presents the following three possibilities of causative formation:

2.2.2.1. PAP + causative auxiliary:

poũche deoa-	"cause to reach"
take poũche diiechi	"I caused him to reach"

2.2.2.2. Causative PAP + suffixes, poũchie + chi, etc.:

take poũchiechi	"I caused him to reach"
-----------------	-------------------------

2.2.2.3. Causative PAP + non-causative auxiliary:

pouchie + de-	"cause to reach"
take poũchie diechi	"I caused him to reach"

2.2.2.4. The formation in 2.2.2.1. occurs in one type of idiolect and those in 2.2.2.2. and 2.2.2.3. occur free-variantly in other types of idiolects.

2.2.2.5. Forms such as:

śamla-	"restrain"
hatra-	"grope"
śatra-	"swim"
kamra-	"bite"

though of different canonical shape, class with /poŭcho-/, as above.

2.3. The forms /douro-/ and /ghumo-/ also form a separate class presenting the following possibilities of causative formation:

2.3.1. Noun stem + causative auxiliary, /kora-/, /ana-/, /para-/, etc.

dour kora-	"cause to run"
dour deoa-	"cause to run"
take दौर koriechi	"I caused him to run"
take दौर diiechi	"I caused him to run"
ghum paro-	"cause to sleep"
take ghum pariechi	"I caused him to sleep"

2.3.2. Causative PAP + suffixes = दौरie + chi, etc.

take दौरiechi	"I caused him to run"
---------------	-----------------------

2.3.3. However, the form /ghumiechi/, though it occurs, has non-causative semantic value.

3. Comparative and superlative degrees of modifiers:

3.1. The comparative degree is formed by the use of the connective /cee/, "than" and the adjective /aro/, "more". Note that that to which the subject is being compared stands first in the clause or sentence:

amar cee'śe lamba"	He is taller than I.
amar cee'śe aro lamba"	He is even taller than I.

3.2. The superlative degree is indicated by the use of /śab cee/, "than all".

śe'śṇb cee'lṇmba

He is tallest (i.e., he is taller than everyone).

amader chattro-chattrira'
śṇb cee bhalo"

Our students are the best (of all).

4. The form /go/.

/go/ is a form of address, or, if you prefer, a vocative particle, which is used between close friends or intimates in informal situations. A husband might use the form in addressing his wife, for example, or a wife her husband. It is not a form which a foreigner can often use.

5. The form /kach theke/.

"From (a person)" is always expressed by /kach theke/:

ami'tar kach theke'śunechi"

I have heard it from him.

ami'tar kach theke'peechi"

I have gotten it from him.

There is another possible use. /kach/ means "near"; thus the expression /ṭebiler kache theke/, "from near the table", is possible.

6. Reduplicated infinitive, as in sentence 18.

A reduplicated infinitive gives the meaning "while (doing something) ":

bṛate bṛate

while wandering around colte colte

while going bhabte bhabte

while thinking (reflecting)

7. The infinitive plus a third person form of the verb /hṇ-/ has the force of "have/has to"; note the case inflection of the pronoun which in the English sentence is the subject.

tomake amae'eṭa paṭhate hṇe"

You have to send it to me.

amake'ækhon bari'jete hṇbe"

I have to go home now.

Lesson 22, part 3. Patterns.

1. Pattern: sentence 1.

- a. I heard that you have made arrangements to decorate the room.
- b. I heard that you have made arrangements to feed me tonight.
- c. I heard that you have made arrangements to put the children to sleep here.

- d. I heard that you have made arrangements to have the food brought from home.
- e. I heard that you have made arrangements to show your pictures to me.

2. Pattern: sentence 2.

- a. Yes, I have had many kinds of colors and cloths brought to decorate the room.
- b. Yes, I have had many kinds of food brought to feed you tonight.
- c. Yes, I have had many rooms arranged to put the children to sleep.
- d. Yes, I have had arrangements made to have the food brought from there.
- e. Yes, I have had many pictures brought to show to you.

3. Pattern: sentence 3.

- a. In which colors will you decorate the room on the night of the celebration?
- b. In which sari will you dress Lila on the night of the puja?
- c. In which rooms will you put the children to sleep tonight?
- d. In which rooms will we feed all the people tonight?
- e. In which places will you show me the pictures?

4. Pattern: sentence 4.

- a. Have I shown you the red cloth which my sister sent me the other day?
- b. Have I shown you the new Benares sari which I had (i.e., caused to be) bought the other day?
- c. Have I shown you the south rooms, which I had decorated the other day?
- d. Have I shown you the rooms which I had arranged the other day?
- e. Have I shown you this picture, which I had brought from Calcutta the other day?

5. Pattern: sentence 5.

- a. You showed it to me yourself day before yesterday; I like that cloth best of all.
- b. Lila showed it to me yesterday; I like it better than this one.
- c. Ram showed them to me this morning; I like them better than these rooms.
- d. You showed them to me yourself yesterday; I like them best of all.
- e. You have not shown me that one; I like it best of all.

6. Pattern: sentence 7.

- a. Yes, if I decorate the room in that color, I will make it appear very beautiful.
- b. Yes, if I dress her in that, I will make her appear very beautiful.
- c. Yes, if we put the children to sleep in there, it will be very good.
- d. Yes, if we feed the people in these rooms, it will be very convenient.
- e. Yes. If I showed you my new pictures, you would like them even better.

7. Pattern: sentence 8.

- a. You are having lamps and such brought, aren't you?
- b. You are having food and such brought, aren't you?
- c. You are having beds and such brought, aren't you?
- d. You are having mats and such brought, aren't you?
- e. You are having the pictures brought, aren't you?

8. Pattern: sentence 9.

- a. He wants to have them brought, but I cannot be persuaded at all.
- b. I want to have the food brought from Calcutta, but he cannot be persuaded at all.
- c. I want to have new beds brought, but he cannot be persuaded at all.
- d. We want to have them brought, and he is being persuaded.
- e. I want to have them sold, but the painter cannot be persuaded at all.

9. Pattern: sentence 10.

- a. I hear that fifty or sixty guests are coming. Where are you going to put them all?
- b. I hear that hundreds and hundreds of people are coming from the city; where are you going to put them all?
- c. I hear that many children are coming; will you put them all to sleep in there?
- d. I hear that thirty or forty people are coming; will you feed them all in here?
- e. I hear that many people are coming to see the pictures; will you show all the pictures to them?

10. Pattern: sentence 11.

- a. I'm wondering both where to seat them all and how to feed them.
- b. I'm wondering both where to seat them all and where to have have them rest.
- c. I'm wondering both where to put them to sleep and how to feed them.
- d. I'm wondering both where to feed them and where to seat them.
- e. I'm wondering both how and where to show the pictures to them.

11. Pattern: sentence 13, 14.

- a. If I could come one day, we both could arrange the rooms.
- b. If I could come one day, we both could see what could be done where.
- c. If I could come one day, you could arrange the room through me.
- d. If I could come one day, you could get a little help from me.
- e. Let it go. If I could come one day, we both could arrange the rooms for showing the pictures.

12. Pattern: sentence 16.

- a. I cannot keep from laughing; you overrate me, thinking it appropriate for me to arrange the rooms.
- b. I cannot keep from laughing; you overrate me, thinking that I could give you even a little help.
- c. I cannot keep from laughing; you overrate yourself, thinking that a person like you could help me arrange the room.
- d. I could not help laughing; you overrate me, thinking it appropriate for a person like me to arrange the rooms.
- e. I could not help laughing, when I heard that two sloppy people like us would arrange the rooms.

13. Pattern: sentence 18.

- a. Come now. It's not that. But I will have to have someone bring you and take you back.
- b. It's not a joke. I will have someone bring you here and take you back.
- c. It's not a joke. But it will be a bother to you, that you will have to have someone bring me and take me back.
- d. Come now. We'll talk later about taking me home; but you will have to have someone bring me here.
- e. Come now. We'll talk about arranging the rooms later. Now we will have to talk about who will bring me here and take me back.

Lesson 22, part 3. Sentence Drills.Drill 1

- Have you fed the baby?
--Yes, I fed him an hour ago.
--And have you dressed him?
--Yes, I have dressed him in his new clothes.
--Has he been good today?
--Yes, he has slept most of the day. Some people came this afternoon and tried to make him laugh.
--Why do people always make babies laugh or dance?
--I don't know. I decorated his room today with two new pictures and some flowers.
--Have you shown Nina the new decorations?
--Yes. She doesn't like them.
--Why don't you make her feed the baby once in a while. She is old enough.
--I made her feed the baby today. She didn't like it.
--What does she like to do?
--She likes to make the baby laugh and dance. She dressed him in my new sari today.
--I've been standing all day long. I think I'll go to sleep.

Drill 2

- Why are you lifting that chair? It's too heavy for you.
--I'm not lifting it. I'm only trying to move it over there.
--Let me move it for you. You rest for a while.
--All right. I bent the leg of it a little when I was trying to move it.
--Show me the place. I'll make it right.
--There is where I bent it. Can you fix it?
--Yes, I'll fix it right away. Has the dog been sleeping all day?
--No, he bit the postman this morning.
--Is he all right now?
--No. When the dog bit him the postman jumped and fell down the stairs.
--I'm not talking about the postman. Is the dog all right?
--Yes, he's all right.

Lesson 22, part 5. Vocabulary.

khoka	baby	ghum-, ghuma-, sleep
koci chele	baby	oṭha-
bacca chele		tola- lift
sīri	stairs	nṛa-
pion	postman	śṛa-
kukur	dog	bāka-
jṛtheśṭo	enough	kamṛa-
kṛkhono kṛkhono	once in a while	lapha-lagano- (to) fix
		māramot kṛra- (to) repair ceśṭa kṛra- (to) try

With English as the teaching medium, these texts are designed for Western students studying Asian languages, and for Asian students studying neighboring languages.

A Premchand Reader

by Norman H. Zide, Colin P. Masica, K. C. Bahl, and A. C. Chandola

Premchand (1880-1936) was probably the best Hindi short-story writer of his generation. The stories in this volume provide the second-year student of Hindi with a broad sample of Hindi prose — both narrative and conversational languages — but with little difficult or specialized matter. Glossary and notes are included.

8½ x 11    312 pages    paper $5.00

Readings in Urdu: Prose and Poetry

by C. M. Naim

Urdu, which is related to Persian, the Indo-European languages, and Sanskrit, is one of the official languages of Pakistan. However, it is spoken in India as well. In addition to a glossary, notes have been produced for each selection, including special grammatical features, cultural information, idioms, and dialectal features.

8½ x 11    408 pages    paper $5.00